THE REVIEW

Durham, Sept. 13th, 1894

An unusual amount of stir was observed in Conservative circles in Montreal one day last week. A visit of Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Minister of Public Works, was the exciting cause. He was in conference all day with the leading Conservatives of the city and District. Mr. Ouimet, in answer to a reporter said the elections would probably be held on the lists now under revision.

—Another fatal accident is reported, by which three persons—D. C. Christie, A. P. Northwood and F. Rispin were drowned in the French River while attempting to shoot the rapids at the Five Mile Pass. These gentlemen were from Chatham, and on a pleasure excursion canoeing from Lake Nipissing to North Bay. The French River is a succession of lakes, bays and inlets, and it is said that only experienced voyageurs could escape losing their way or being upset in the rapids. These gentlemen lacked the experience and perished in their perilous undertaking.

—The Dominion Government has issued a statement of its receipts and expenditures for the year ending 30th June last. Briefly it is as follows:—

Revenue	$36,296,753
Expenditure	37,353,373
Deficit	1,056,620

In addition to this Government has added $4,483,948 to the public debt during the twelve months, bringing the total debt up to $245,163,920.

This is getting on with a vengeance. In a time of peace, a depression existing, and great need of retrenchment, our debt is rolled up by the millions, and what have we to show for it? No new C.P.R. is on hand now, but then we have had a "Curran Bridge," and other iniquities to lessen the amount to the credit of the public purse.

THE RECENT DROUTH.

(Intended for last week.)

The dry weather which has prevailed for many weeks has been exceptional, not only because of the absence of rain but also because of the high temperature which has been the rule during the dry spell. The grain crops have suffered, straw being generally light although fortunately the grain itself is found to be equal to the average if not above it. Roots, a very important crop now getting to be, and rightly so, are suffering somewhat, but let us hope that the rains which have begun will come abundantly before they are past recovery. In all this there has been a compensating advantage. If the weather has been dry the grain crops have ripened evenly and steadily and have been well garnered. Then there is another satisfactory outlook, although not consistent with the best philosophy, that we, in this northern peninsula are not so badly off as our fellow citizens in other parts of the country. We have here a light gravelly soil which favors radiation from below. We have an abundance of swamp land which gives good pasture in such dry weather as this, and we have an abundance of the best running water in the world which of itself is of the greatest advantage to stock in dry weather especially. And then with all these advantages over our neighbors living on the hard clay soils in the neighborhood of Lake Ontario we have had frequent showers all through the dry spell. In the first, second and fourth weeks of August we had a rainfall of one inch and a half. In July, in the first, second and fourth weeks, there was rain to the depth of one inch and a third and increased very much in the previous months of June and May. Then as to the temperature the thermometer here rose indeed occasionally above 90° F. in the shade, and on one occasion, the 19th of July, it reached 95° F. an exceptionally high point, but the maximum temperature generally ranged between 80 and 85. Thus on twenty one days in July it ranged between 80 and 85 and only on seven days from 85 to 95, whereas in August it reached 85 to 90 only on five days, on fifteen days from 80 to 85. On the other hand taking the country at large the records of the Toronto Observatory show, that there has not been so dry a summer in Canada within the last 55 years and taking June, July and August together the rainfall was low beyond all precedent. But the rain has reached Toronto and a few other points, and there are some indications that it is nearing us also. On Sunday week evening it poured down upon the Queen City in torrents, accompanied with thunder and lightning. This storm centre however seems to have formed over Toronto alone and ended there, for in the country adjacent the face of nature remained undisturbed. But in the city itself the storm was terrific. Several buildings were struck and one young man Emery Soneraft was killed with the lightning as he was walking along the street. On the same evening a severe thunder storm passed over Owen Sound, several barns having been struck by the lightning, and light showers fell at some other points. It may be therefore fairly concluded that the drouth has practically been broken, and that though it has been exceptionally severe all over this continent, as for instance, in Dakota where scarcely a green blade is to be seen, in the Middle and Western States where the corn crop is a great failure, and in Kansas where the farmers are leaving their homesteads and fleeing to Oklahoma or elsewhere, we have reason to be thankful that our immediate neighborhood has not suffered so severely as elsewhere.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE

Some ten years ago the several branches of the Methodist Church in Canada four in number, united together for the common good, forming the Canadian Methodist Church. The united body meets once every four years, and last week the fourth Quadrennial Conference was held in London. The general Superintendent, the Rev. Dr. Carman, presided, and in his opening address referred to the great success which had in late years followed the labours of the Methodist Church. The membership of the Church now numbers 260,692, an increase of over 60 p. c. in ten years. There are 252,546 scholars in the Sabbath Schools. In the same period the contributions of the church to missions, home and foreign, have increased 30 p. c., the annual missionary income for last year having been $249,000. Such progress in material things is gratifying, and to the important question how had this prosperity been brought about Dr. Carman gave an explicit answer. The main cause of the victories of the decade, said he, rested in the fact, that they had in some measure striven together for the faith, submitting themselves to one another in love, endeavoring of honest intent to preach the pure simple effective truth of God, and honestly trying to stand in the old paths'. Great attention has been given to missions to the N-west. A flourishing expensive Foreign Mission is carried on in Japan and a new departure has been made in this department in opening a mission to the Chinese in Western China.

The Methodist Church has always given special attention to the work of Home Missions. By her elaborate organization in this field, her large staff of lay preachers and exhorters, she has been able to extend her work into outlying and sparsely settled districts and to place the preaching of the Gospel within the reach of many, who, but for her efforts would be denied this inestimable priviledge. It was in this field of work that the Premier of the Dominion, Sir John Thompson, reaped his first laurels as a public speaker. The amount contributed for connexional purposes salaries of preachers etc. etc. during the last year was $357,088, being an increase of $88,843 in the receipts of that department over those of the past year. It thus appears that the Canadian Meth. Church is not only growing in numbers but is growing also in that higher test, the grace of liberality.

FIRE PROTECTION.

The delegates to Preston and Hespeler came home with their object only partially attained. Preston engin was examined and exhibited; Hespler only examined. This was not giving the Ronald engine justice and the town said so. It was felt to be a pity the delegation did not stay till 7.15 the time announced to the public of Hespeler.

The reports of Messrs Calder and Hunter agreed in most points. Calder was Woterous out and out. Hunter admitted it made a fine show, while both gave Ronald's the palm of excellence. Calder thought Woterous sufficient for a class D. rating. The council, or rather some of them were in a mood for resigning. Some plain talking was indulged in. A motion was carried embodying an attempt at a conciliatory arrangement between the people of the town and the Council, and asking the Council not to decide till the Ronald had been put to the same tests as the other. It is claimed by some that this motion played into the hands of the Council. It was intended, however, to secure fair play, and we believe if fair play were given, the Ronald's superiority would be so apparent that the council would never sign a contract with the Waterous people, and especially when such action on their part would be so completely out of harmony with the voice of the people. The Council are nominally our rulers for the time being but only nominally—in all such matters. For the people, be it observed, are virtually masters of the situation and ultimately have the power in their hands. And in matters of this kind in which the pockets and property of the ratepayers are so very directly and so largely interested, it would be an outrage did the Council ignore the expressed wishes of the people and follow the lead given from any other quarter. It is not at all probable that the Council will so far forget their responsibility as to do so.

The Priceville Courier,

AND

FLESHERTON, CORNABUS. EUGENIA, MAXWELL and DURHAM ADVOCATE.

Such was the pretentious title surrounding the Royal Arms, which headed the now historical "Priceville Courier", and as the Editor of the REVIEW has a vivid personal recollection of its short existence, he intends from time to time to get into a reminiscent mood and give his readers an account not only of the defunct paper, but of the Priceville and neighborhood of that time.

Sometime in January 1868, Mr. John Hall 3rd con. S.D.R., Glenelg informed me that I was wanted in Priceville. Through Mr. Hall, the projectors of the "Courier" had learned that a boy typo lately from Scotland, was struggling with an axe, beaver fashion, in the woods of North Egremont. He was secured at a compensation of $10 a month and board, and in the month of February 1868, I found myself installed as the case, or revelling in ink in all the glory of a printer's Devil.

To me it seemed an Utopian idea to begin the publication of a paper in a snow covered hamlet, as it then appeared to me, but that was none of my business, my interests were secure, for was not my employer the Editor and Proprietor of the "Courier" the great David Loudon of whom more anon.

Priceville at that time enjoyed a had aspirations to the position of County town. And, as far as position went, the claim was a good one. It was about the geographical centre of the then South Grey, and bade fair to become much greater than the lapse of time has exhibited. Its non-progression may to some extent be owing to the railway being too near and yet too far. It possesses excellent water power within the village limits yet unutilized, and this, together with the resources of the surrounding country may in the near future tempt some shrewd business man to step in and secure the advantages of the position. When that time comes there may be another "Priceville Courier" in a new Priceville promising a steady prosperity, if not a brilliant future. To return to the "Courier." The staff was composed of S. L. M. Luke, Jefferson Wright and myself with for a short time later on, another boy Albert Dowling. In due time, on the 28th day of February, 1868, the 1st issue appeared, being duly christened by the projectors from the flowing bowl.

As will be seen by the prospectus which we publish this week, the Courier was moderate in politics, David was inclined to feel his way; and if one might judge from hints he occasionally gave, had ambitious if indeed not covetous designs upon the County representation in Parliament. The prospectus, and indeed by far the greater part of the editorial work, was from the pen of Mr. Luke, who furnished the brains of the concern. This much forms our instalment for this week: here follows the prospectus.

Prospectus of the Priceville Courier.

The Proprietors of the Priceville Courier, in projecting a new weekly Journal, beg to inform an intelligent Public, that in commencing a Newspaper in this place, they do so, both at the request of many persons of influence, and also under the firm conviction that a First-rate local paper is much needed, and would be cordially sustained by the community.

1. In size, the Courier will contain Twenty-eight columns of reading matter, including a well selected and condensed epitome of the latest Foreign, Provincial and local news, which they possess every facility for receiving.

2. Special attention will be given in each number to the advancement of Agricultural Science, practical and theoretical, by inserting the best articles on the subject, both original and selected.

3. The proprietors of the Courier aware that "TRUTH" lies just midway between extremes, have resolved that their paper in its tone and bearings, shall be strictly independent, both in Politics and Religion, wielding the mighty influence of the Press in defence of morality, virtue, social prosperity and advancement, friends of all, enemies of none.

4. As far as practicable each number will contain useful and interesting articles on Domestic Economy, for the special and entertainment of our numerous lady readers.

5. The proprietors of the Courier will spare neither labor nor expense in making the paper both useful and interesting to the young, for as an eminent British lyric poet has said:—

"Sounds which address the ear are lost and die
In one short hour, but that which strikes
the eye,
Lives upon the mind; the faithful sight
Engraves a knowledge with the pen of light."

So the most fastidious may rest assured that nothing scurrilous or impure shall be permitted to defile the columns of the Courier, or to corrupt the minds of its readers.

6. In conclusion, emanating as it will from the most central part of the South Riding of the County of Grey, enriched by contributions by the pens of several correspondents of well known talent, radiating in its weekly visits to every homestead, and published every Friday at the low price of One Dollar and fifty cents per annum (in advance), the Courier will unquestionably constitute the very best advertising medium for merchants, and the community, as well as a Paper in every way worthy of the support of every son of the Rose, the Thistle, the Shamrock and the Maple Leaf.

PRESBYTERIAN CLOSING SERVICES.

The Presbyterian Church proved inadequate on Sunday night to accommodate the crowds who came to hear Rev. Mr. Henry's farewell sermon. Many went home or to other churches and a number, who had an eye to position if not of privilege occupied the bank to the north of the church and were comfortably within hearing of the preacher's voice. The text was from Acts 24, 32 and formed an appropriate basis for the farewell words. These were marked with intense earnestness, and formed a most fitting close to his able sermon's utterances. The surrounding country for many miles was represented.

THE RECEPTION.

On Monday night was a unique affair. The committee had the basement most tastefully decorated with a profusion of flowers, and of more solid comforts there was abundance. Every denomination in town was represented and the warm Christian cordiality pervaded all. After two hours or so of refreshing the inner man, a move was made upstairs, and the body of the church was comfortably filled.

The chair was occupied by Mr. C. Ramage as President of the Christian Endeavor Society and a programme of considerable length and of a dual nature was gone through with successfully.

The visiting Clergymen present were Rev. Messrs. Stewart, Pomeroy, Connor and Little, who all, after music by the choir and prayer by Rev. Mr. Little, spoke words of welcome to Mr. Jansen and good wishes and regrets to Mr. Henry. The address to Mr. Jansen, read by the chairman was as follows:—

REV. MR. JANSEN,

Respected Pastor and Dear Friend,

Your many friends associated with you in Congregational and Society work have made this opportunity unitedly to offer you words of welcome on your return from your Fatherland.

We are gratified to know the trip has been a pleasant one, and while welcoming you once more among us think this is a fitting time to assure you of our interest in your welfare, and our appreciation of your earnest labors in the gospel in this field. We indulge the hope that as long as we are associated as pastor and people our relations will ever be harmonious and that we and others will continue to profit by your earnest ministration, and devoted pastoral labors.

In conclusion we wish you personally long continued vigor and well preserved health and strength, and hope when the great Welcomer of Heaven "Come ye blessed of my Father" is given, you and we may be found among the welcomed ones.

Mr. Jansen's reply was appropriate and well received.

After being welcomed by the clergy, Mr. N. W. Campbell, Chairman of board of managers and Dr. Gun representing the session, Mr. Henry was called to the front and Mr. Allen read the following address:—

MR. HENRY,

Dear and Respected Friend,

As the time approached for our separation, we have felt growing upon us a desire to express to you in some united way the warmth of our feeling towards you.

Coming amongst us as a perfect stranger you have in three months by your ability, devotion to duty and social qualities made an enduring impression on our minds and upon be erased from our memories. The warmth of your counselling words, which are still ringing in our ears, have been well fitted to stir in us all a desire for higher attainment in the Christian life, and amongst the factors which tend to advancement in our Congregational and individual spiritual progress must be reckoned your short pastorate here.

As the gates of the future open before you, we hope and believe you will have an increasing field of usefulness, and we beg to assure you that your success will ever give pleasure to your Durham friends.

Wishing you in the future all spiritual blessings and temporal prosperity we hope to meet you in that bright home where partings never come—"Together found of him in peace, without spot and blameless."

Mr. Henry who was deeply moved replied briefly, yet most appropriately. There is no gainsaying the fact, Durham has made a great impression on Mr. Henry, and Mr. Henry has made a deep impression on Durham. Mr. C. Moffat addressed the meeting briefly. We wish we could reproduce some of the excellent speeches, rich with profitable words yet spiced with racy humor, but space forbids.

THE electrice storm of last Saturday caused the destruction of Mr. B. Hartford's barn and contents. Some machinery is also gone. A loss like this is a serious one, when a season's work is destroyed. Another storm passed over our district on Sunday night doing considerable damage, and we see by our exchanges that the whole country has a similar tale.
