Rainey family reunion held at Willow Springs

Forty-two member of the Rainey family enjoyed a reunion Aug. 3 at Willow Springs Camp, Whitchurch-Stouffville.

Co-organizers of the event were Ed Raymer of Stouffville and Gordon Reesor, Port Perry.

It was Robert and Elizabeth (Scott) Rainey, natives of Northern Ireland, who initiated the clan. They came to Canada in the 1840s, a period in history commonly referred to as 'The Potato Famine'.

To the couple was born two sons, John and Robert, and a daughter Liza-Jane.

John established a home at Cashel in Markham Township. Robert took up residence at Orono.

Ed Raymer and Gordon Reesor were the most senior of those persons present, Wednesday. The youngest was one-year-old Nikki Jackson, daughter of Ken and Terry Jackson, Box Grove.

Repeat attacker jailed

PICKERING — On April 1, 1987, Roland Boyd Janes, 26, of Pickering was released from penitentiary after serving two-thirds of a three-year sentence for sexual assault.

Two month following his release, he attacked two Pickering women, one on Glenview Street and the other in the area of Valley Farm Road and Hwy. 2.

Last week, in Whitby district court, Janes pleaded guilty to charges of sexual assault and attempted sexual assault.

He was sentenced to an additional seven-year penitentiary term.

According to evidence, the accused approached a 21-year-old Pickering woman as she walked along Glenview Street. He dragged her into a ditch. Her screams awakened a nearby resident who shouted at the man. He ran away.

On June 6, he grabbed a second woman on Valley Farm Road. He clamped his hand over her mouth and forced her into tall grass. Her screams attracted the attention of a passing motorist. Janes was frightened off. The driver took the victim to the Durham Regional Police station in Pickering. She was able to provide a good description of her attacker. A half-hour later, Janes was arrested as he walked along Hwy. 2.
