ANOTHER HEAVY ORDER

Has Been Given For Canadian Hay

GOING TO SOUTH AFRICA

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT HAS BEEN BUSY.

In Sending Forward Over Seven Million Dollars Worth of Stuff for the Soldiers—The Contract Extended For Another Five Years.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—The department of agriculture has received an order for 15,000 long tons of hay, equal to 16,780 Canadian tons, to be shipped to South Africa during the month of March. The department has already placed the contracts for the supplying of the order.

As agent for the purchase of agricultural products to the war office, the department had forwarded the following to South Africa; Hay, 96,320 tons; flour, 38,285 bags; oats, 50,200 bags; beef, 40,722 cases; jams, 11,743 cases.

The expenditure of the imperial war office through the agriculture department for these products, including transportation, etc., has been four million dollars, and by the time the contracts now in hand have been completed, the amount will have been increased to seven millions.

The dominion government has extended the contract with the American bank note company for the printing of bank notes, stamps, etc., for another five years.

THE TALK OF LONDON.

Is Lord Rosebery's Latest Fling At Liberals.

London, Feb. 22.—The press is absorbed with the bombshell that lord Rosebery has dropped into the liberal camp. The comments are copious; and are what were to be expected according to the tenets of the individual papers. The Daily News and other papers supporting Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman try to meet the incident with smiling indifference. One of the News' captions is "No Disruption papers gloat over the dilemma in papers gloat over the dilemma in which they think the liberals have been placed.

Rumors in the lobbies of the house of commons, in the clubs, and other political circles are plentiful, but none seems to demand special credence or to be worthy of record. Attempts to draw opinion from prominent politicians have failed. The whole position at the moment suggests that a hive of bees has over-turned and that its occupants are buzzing around aimlessly.

One of the most noticeable phases is the curious effect the letter produced on the wording of the Times' editorial on the subject. Its friendliness to the ex-premier might easily be explained on the ground of unionist delight at a definite split in the opposition ranks. Its declaration that "what the country wants is not a brand new set of principles, but a new set of men capable of replacing the present set, without upsetting the policy of the empire," precedes the significant demand that lord Rosebery's party must prove that they can be trusted to infuse business energy and capacity into the prosecution of an impe ial policy. Concluding, the Times says: "If the fruition of efforts in that direction may seem to be remote, we can only say it may come sooner than anybody expects."

This cryptic utterance has started rumors of a new coalition between the unionists and imperial liberals under the leadership of the duke of Devonshire and lord Rosebery, besides the possible defection of the Times in its support of the present parliament.

LOOKING FOR SPOILS.

Poking Around The Debris Of The Keeley Institute.

Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 22.—Five hundred thousand dollars in diamonds and jewelry in a space 300 by 100 feet. This beats a Klondyke mine, yet such is the condition which confronts the people of Battle Creek. The latest estimate on the losses of the guests in the sanitarium fire places them at the above figure. Many of the valuable diamonds were undoubtedly consumed in the fierce flames, but others probably fell to the basement and are now in the debris. The gold in the jewelry, even if melted, will make exceedingly rich picking, and the question arises who will it belong to if found. Certainly the guests would be unable to recognize their own if pulled out in the shape of nuggets, and it is questionable if the laborers would be allowed to keep what they find.

SECURED CONTROL.

Probably Of the Dominion Steamship Line.

London, Feb. 22.—The Daily Telegraph's Liverpool correspondent says there is reason to believe that another transaction of the same nature as the American acquisition of the Leyland line has just taken place. American interests have, it is rumored, gained something like the control of the Dominion steamship company. If the rumor is true it is necessarily important for the amount of tonnage thus coming under the controlling power, largely leavened if not absolutely directed by American financiers, must have a powerful influence on the Atlantic trade.

AMAZON TOMB DISCOVERED.

Prof. Goldberg Finds Woman Viking's Remains.

Christiania, Feb. 22.—Prof. Goldberg's discovery of an Amazon tomb at Solor, in western Norway, containing the remains of a woman between twenty and thirty years of age, along with a complete set of arms and the skeleton of a horse, has excited intense interest in the learned world. The discovery is pronounced the first of its kind, notwithstanding that the old sages speak often of women warriors.

The tomb dates from the viking age, and it is thought the woman whose remains have been found must have been a person of some celebrity, as the ancients deemed it a great honor to be buried with horse and arms. Further excavations are proceeding.

GREAT JOHNS HOPKINS.

Celebration of Its Quarter Centennial

NEW PRESIDENT REMSEN

WAS FORMALLY INAUGURATED TO-DAY.

Prominent Educators Present—Impressive Ceremonies—The University's Remarkable Growth And Influence.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 22.—The celebration of the quarter centennial of Johns Hopkins university, which began yesterday, culminated to-day in brilliant exercises attending the inauguration of Prof. Ira Remsen as the new president of the institution. The ceremonies took place at eleven o'clock in music hall, the interior of which was tastefully decorated in black and old gold, the university colors. The seating capacity of the hall was taxed to accommodate the many students, members of the faculty, alumni and others who sought admission.

Among the invited guests were prominent educators representing scores of the leading colleges and universities of the United States and Canada. Included in the number were president Conaty, of the Catholic university; president Wiggins, of the University of the South; president Harris, of Bucknell; president Starr, of Randolph-Macon; president Pritchett, of the Massachusetts institute of technology; Prof. C. L. Edwards and president Smith, of Trinity college; president Wheeler, of the university of California; president Quirk, of Loyola college; principal Peterson, of McGill university; president Warfield, of Lafayette, and dean Thomas F. Crane, of Cornell.

The ceremonies were opened with prayer, followed by several musical selections. Addresses were delivered on behalf of the trustees, faculty, students and alumni of the university. Daniel C. Gilman, president emeritus of Johns Hopkins university, and now president of the Carnegie institution, presented the symbols of authority, the keys, to the university, and a bible, to the new president, whom he formally introduced to the assembly. President Remsen responded with his inaugural address, which was full of interest and listened to with close attention by his auditors. In the course of his remarks the new president recited the history of the university from the time of its foundation to the present. Warm tribute was paid to Prof. Gilman, the first and only president of the university, and to whom, more than any one else, its remarkable growth and influence, its flourishing condition and present high standing among educational institutions, are due. The speaker said that the university had been hampered in the past by the conditions regarding its finances imposed by its founder, but that, thanks to recent acts of philanthropy, the gloomy prospect had been suddenly illumined by a burst of sunshine.

Johns Hopkins university was endowed by its founder, Johns Hopkins, of Baltimore, with a bequest of $3,000,000, its philosophical department being opened in 1876. Pending the erection of suitable buildings at Clifton, libraries, lecture rooms, laboratories, etc., have been provided in Baltimore. The design of the university, which is entirely unsectarian, is to promote the higher pursuit of special branches of study. At the present time the university has nearly 700 students.

Dr. Ira C. Remsen, the new president, was born in Baltimore in 1846, and has been associated with Johns Hopkins university since its foundation. He is a graduate of the Columbia college medical school, a postgraduate student of Munich and Goettingen, and for four years was professor of chemistry in Williams' college. In 1879 he founded the American Chemical Journal, and has ever since been its editor. He is a member of the national academy of sciences, and foreign member of the chemical society of London. By all who know him he is looked upon as a thorough scholar and most able educator.

MAY HAVE A TRIBUNAL.

To Decide Matters Affecting Electric Companies' Rights.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—In the Ontario legislature, yesterday, the attorney-general announced that the electric railway problem would be grappled with during the present session. He would not commit the government to it, but gave it as his own opinion that a tribunal, analogous in functions to the railway committee of the privy council, should be established. The attorney-general's remarks were called for by the second reading of a bill, introduced by Dr. McKay, of South Oxford, providing that any electric railway connecting any city, or town, or village, with any other city, or town, or village, should have connection with and running rights over railways existing in the terminal municipalities upon properly compensating the existing companies for these privileges. The bill went to the railway company.

Death Of John Scott.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—John Scott, who about sixteen years ago came to Canada from Scotland and resided for one year in Quebec, where he managed the business of the late Hon. James Ross, of Quebec, and then came to Toronto, where he continued to manage the business of the Ross estate, died yesterday, aged eighty-two. The immediate cause of death was a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Scott is survived by three sons and four daughters. Mr. Scott claimed to be a relative of Sir Walter Scott.

RUSSIAN ANGLOPHOBIA.

Russia's Answer To The Late Declarations.

London, Feb. 22.—The Berlin correspondent of the Standard learns that the United States' note on Manchuria, after being handed to the Russian government, was communicated to all the other powers interested. Russia's first answer to the policy, which may be read between the lines of the American note and the Anglo-Japanese agreement, has just been given. The Russian government has allotted extraordinary credit to the amount of 50,000 roubles for the construction for war ships of new types. All the vessels will be built in Russia.

St. Petersburg newspapers say Russia will keep her troops in Manchuria regardless of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, until China guarantees the protection of Russian interests. There is a bad outbreak of Anglophobia in Russia.

SPION KOP.

Some Fresh Light On The Famous Despatches.

New York, Feb. 22.—The Tribune's London correspondent says: "Indefatigable as ever, Henry Norman has succeeded in inducing Mr. Balfour to throw same fresh light on the famous Spion Kop despatches. It now seems that Gen. Buller contented himself with forwarding Gen. Warren's account of the battle, with two opinions on Gen. Warren's conduct. In both of these Gen. Buller adversely criticized his second in command, but the one in which he really spoke his mind was marked, 'Not necessarily for publication.' Gen. Buller refused to write a connected story of the whole affair. Mr. Balfour indignantly repudiated the suggestion that Gen. Buller was asked to tamper with the truth in order to please the war office."

INQUIRY TO GO ON SOON.

Leading Medical Men Get Together, Under King's Sanction.

London, Feb. 22.—The official heads of the medical profession of Great Britain are determined to unite for systematic investigation into the causes, prevention, and treatment of cancer. The king has given his countenance to the movement, and it is likely interesting developments will follow shortly. The councils of the Royal college of surgeons and the Royal college of physicians have adopted a resolution empowering delegates to draw up a detailed scheme of work. Sir William Church, Sir William Broadbent, and others equally well known are on the committee.

Huge Cost Of English Campaign.

London, Feb. 22.—A blue book just issued contains a list of expenditures of parliamentary candidates at the last election. As an instance of the large amounts paid, Sinclair, member for the Romford division of Essex, spent £1,926 2s. in getting the seat, while his opponent, Hon. L. R. Holland, disbursed £2,133 10s. 6d. The average cost of each vote polled was 5s. 9d.

The total amount spent in England was £597,186 13s. 11½d. This falls short of the scale allowed by the corrupt practices' act by £425,000.

Killed By Cigarettes.

Syracuse, Feb. 22.—William S. Strauss, of Clyde, N.Y., died in a hospital here as the result of cigarette smoking. Strauss was thirty-nine years old. Half a dozen years ago he became addicted to cigarettes and the habit grew rapidly and with such disastrous results that he was soon under almost constant treatment. He gave up employment, shrank from society and lost his power of self-control, but smoked incessantly. He died, his friends say, in indescribable agony.
