Kipling's Faith.

Church Record.

Bishop Brewster, of the Episcopal diocese of Connecticut, in his talk to Yale students on Robust Religious Faith, referred to the case of Rudyard Kipling, when he was dangerously ill in New York. The bishop said: "I suppose you young men are more or less readers of Rudyard Kipling. There is no name in English literature that stands more truly for masculinity than Kipling. In fact he is said to be not ladylike enough to suit some of his critics. The story that I am to relate about Kipling, and I suppose none of you have heard it, comes to me first hand, and shows the strong, vigorous faith which is at the back of the man's writing.

"A trained nurse was watching at the bedside of Mr. Kipling, during those moments when the author was in the most critical stage of sickness, and she noticed that his lips began to move. She bent over him, thinking he wanted to say something to her, and she heard him utter these words, 'Now I lay me down to sleep,' that old familiar prayer of childhood days. The nurse, realizing that Kipling did not require her services, said in an apologetic whisper: 'I beg your pardon, Mr. Kipling, I thought you wanted something.'

"'I do,' faintly observed Kipling, 'I want my Heavenly Father. He only can care for me now.'"

Bishop Brewster said that it was this masculine, robust, religious faith that we see in Kipling's writings, and it was a faith which the young men of Yale university might well carry with them in the performance of their daily work.

Sore Feet

Chafed, Blistered, Burning, Swollen Feet, Sore and Healed and Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

You may know of the exceptional merit of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and still not think of using it for sore feet. It is remarkably effective for this trouble, which is so annoying to many people during the warm weather.

Mrs. J. Brunton, Allandale, Ont., states: "I can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a sure cure for sore feet. I stand a great deal on my feet, and have been troubled for some time with chafing and blisters. My toes were often raw and very painful.

"I had tried nearly everything recommended for sore feet, but Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only remedy that did me any real good. It soothed the burning and stinging, and thoroughly healed and cured the sores."

The News Put Into Condensed Shape—The Episodes That Create Talk in the Country and Hereabouts.

Belleville's tax rate is two-tenths over twenty-three mills.

The taxable property of Ogdensburg is valued at $4,358,865.

Picton's tax rate this year is seventeen and a half mills on the dollar.

Judge Reynolds, Brockville, has resigned the town solicitorship. The position has been offered J. A. Hutcheson, K.C.

A public reception will be held in Brockville, Thursday night, when the citizens will say farewell to Rev. Mr. Beamish.

The death of an old and highly esteemed resident of South Bay, South Marysburgh, occurred on Monday, in the person of George Farrington, after a brief illness, aged seventy-five years.

A number of Brockville ladies who came to Ogdensburg on Monday's excursion were searched by a female customs officer upon their return and many valuable souvenirs and other articles were seized.

Truman Parish died at his home in Elizabethtown, on Monday, aged fifty-nine years. He is survived by his widow and seven children. Deceased was born in the township of Yonge, near Athens, and resided on his highly cultivated farm in that township until March last, when he removed to Elizabethtown.

An Interesting Number.

The Montreal Gazette finds Queen's College Quarterly, just issued, worthy of special note. Dr. C. K. Clarke contributes a chapter of a work soon to appear, devoted to the study of nature. This instalment, if a fair specimen, ought to guarantee its success. The illustrations from photographs by Dr. Clarke show the nests of short-eared owl, gallinule and pied-bill grebe. A pleasant and instructive record—especially to the river lover—is Dr. Adam Shortt's account of his voyage "Down the St. Lawrence on a Timber Raft," with views from photos by D. D. Calvin and sketches by the writer. A story of events and sights that never happened or came within any ken on land or sea, is told by S. A. Mitchell, of Columbia University. To some older readers the title, "Moon Hoax," will doubtless recall a mystification of the years that preceded the coming of Mark Twain. Younger readers will mostly find it new. Following up a suggestion of Dr. A. T. Drummond, Professor W. L. Goodwin approves of the scheme of establishing a forestry college for Ontario. The beet sugar industry is advocated by Professor John Waddell. Professor John Macnaughton writes of Johannine Theology as the needed complement of the divinity known as Pauline—the former representing our Hellenic, as the latter, our Hebrew heritage. John was "not a philosopher but a man of creative religious insight." He dealt with facts, not abstractions, and for him the overwhelming fact was the person of Jesus, and its power as mediating between man and God. The truest symbol for that infinite worth of the Redeemer was the Greek Logos. And thus, John presented his Saviour and Master as the Incarnate and Eternal Word of God. Professor Watson continues his explanation of the system of Thomas Aquinas—the keynote of which is that "both dogma and practice harmonize with reason, even when they transcend its unaided powers."

Paying For Premature Criticism.

London Globe.

The proprietors of the Lady's Realm are to be congratulated on having got off with an apology and the payment of £100, which is to go to King Edward's hospital fund, for the extraordinary criticism by "A Peer's Daughter" of the gala performance of the opera which did not take place. Most people, considering the nature of the criticism, will think that the Grand Opera syndicate have behaved very well in not exacting more onerous terms.

Blacksmith's Backache.

Swinging heavy hammers, frequent stooping over shoeing horses, getting a wrench once in a while from a refractory horse, bending at all sorts of odd jobs that the average blacksmith does—any wonder that in time the strongest man begins to find his back give out and his kidneys trouble him.

The progress of medical science has produced nothing that is a greater boon to the blacksmiths throughout this country than Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They get at the origin of the backache in the kidneys and make a thorough and radical cure.

THE RESULT OF A STRAIN.

A. Soper, blacksmith, John Street South, Aylmer, states his case as follows: "A blacksmith's work is always hard and mine is no exception. I strained my back some time ago, and the trouble settled in the small of my back and kidneys, laying me up. I have been subject in times past to an attack of backache, and took different kidney pills, but got little relief after long use. This time I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and they stopped the attack in a hurry. They acted far differently and away quicker than anything I ever took. I am pleased with them, and consider them satisfactory in every way."

TOURISTS ARE PLENTIFUL.

At Battersea—Good Fishing—Personal Notes.

Battersea, July 29.—Our pretty little burg is swarming with tourists this summer, mostly United Statesers. Over one hundred have sojourned at the Granite already and some of them have remained for two weeks. The majority of them have been regular annual visitors here for some years. However, this year many new faces are seen, showing that the excellency of our lovely lake as a fishing resort is becoming more widely known. Experienced anglers among them claim that the black bass, so numerous in this lake, are the gamiest fish they have ever taken, and that's the sort of of sport they are after.

Rev. Joseph Follick, Kingston, paid us a short visit last week. He was pastor of the Methodist church here over twenty years ago. By invitation of Rev. Mr. Wood, he filled the pulpit on Sunday and discoursed very acceptably. His son, Thomas H., head master of St. Mary's high school, accompanied him. Their many old time friends here were delighted to meet them, after so long an absence.

Visitors: W. H. Anglin and wife, Kingston, at W. J. Anglin's; Miss Annie Clark, Kingston, at Isaac Lake's; Mrs. Ferguson and sister, Miss Bessie Eby, Kingston, at Mrs. Kirkpatrick's; Misses Norma Knapp and Nellie Smeaton, city, and Miss Lillie, Athens, at W. E. Lillie's; Dr. and Mrs. Hubbert, Fulton, N.Y., and Miss Woods, Pittsburg, Pa., at Dr. Lake's; Miss Annie Elmer, Kingston, at N. H. Williams'; Vern. Gilbert, Seeley's Bay, at Mrs. Abernethy's; Mrs. (Rev.) Ebersole, of Toronto, at J. L. Sears'; Miss Fannie Anglin, Kingston, and Russel Wilson, Ottawa, among friends.

Mrs. W. Merriman and son Harold have returned from a visit with friends at Poland, N.Y. Mrs. (Rev.) Wood is visiting her mother at Apple Hill. Mrs. C. B. Van Luven is visiting friends at Smith's Falls.

The Man Who Is Wanted.

Who with pleasant face and words, cheers the hours he is at home. Who, loves his wife well enough to help her, if necessary, without grumbling.

Who is not selfish and enjoys sharing his pleasures with others.

Who does not quarrel, even if things are not always satisfactory.

Who has "a place for everything, and everything in its place," not leaving shoes, coat, hat or other wearing apparel for his wife to put away.

Who does not make a practice of relating obscene stories.

Who is as kind and courteous to his own wife as he is to other men's wives.

Who gets angry sometimes, but never "flies into a temper," or "goes into a passion," or "has the pouts."

Who does not stay uptown until 10 or 12 o'clock at night, leaving his wife at home alone.

Who will appreciate his wife's efforts to make home tidy and happy for him.

Who always has "company manners" even when nobody but his wife and the children are around.
