WHAT THEY BELIEVE.

Veneration of Father John of Cronstadt.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—The ignorance and religious fanaticism of the Russian peasantry are illustrated by the persistent veneration of the famous Father John, of Cronstadt, against his will. Portraits of him are frequently used as sacred images, and several sects have been formed to uphold the doctrine of the divinity of the Cronstadt priest, despite his vehement protests. He has been compelled to go personally to Kost Roma to stop the growth of his worshippers. A peasant there wrote a hymn in honor of Father John, placing him almost on an equality with the persons of the Trinity. During services in Cronstadt the peasants openly maintain their conviction that he is Christ.

CROWDED OUT.

Ald. Behan's Charge At Council Meeting.

MADE PROTEST.

CATHOLICS BEING CLEARED OUT OF CIVIC OFFICES.

His Church People Resent This Attitude—Ald. King Replied Saying Religion Was Never Considered in Appointments——Qualification Alone the Desirable Thing.

The discussion of the evening was centred upon the report of the committee on water works, presented to council last night by Ald. King. The discussion arose over clause three, which recommended that no appointment be made forthwith to the position, made vacant by the retirement of F. G. Smith from the position of book-keeper of the department. Alds. King and Graham moved that the report be received only, though several aldermen wanted the report taken up clause by clause.

In moving that the report be received, Ald. King spoke highly in favor of the appointment of W. A. Newlands to the vacant position in the water works department. The department could not very well do without a book-keeper for another two weeks.

Alds. Sears and Mallen moved, in amendment, that the report be adopted.

Ald. Graham wanted a clerk appointed to the department forthwith. He objected to Mr. Newlands receiving the appointment, and pressed that John Walker be accepted.

The amendment offered by Ald. Sears was put and lost on a show of hands.

Ald. King's motion was amended to read "and be taken up clause by clause." Clauses one and two were adopted without discussion. The third clause was to the effect that no action be taken on the matter of appointing a successor to Fred G. Smith.

Alds. King and Tait moved in amendment that W. A. Newlands be appointed at a salary of $750 a year.

Alds. Behan and Graham moved in amendment to the amendment that John Walker's name be substituted for that of W. A. Newlands.

In referring to the amendment he had offered, Ald. Behan stated that he did not mean to cast any reflection upon the young gentleman who had already been named for the position. But a circumstance existed which compelled him to introduce another name for the vacant position. He was adverse to introducing the question of religion, but the fact remained, and Roman Catholics felt it keenly, that Roman Catholics were being slowly crowded out of the city buildings. He had been speaking to some aldermen about the matter and they admitted that a Roman Catholic should be appointed to this position. He had urged that a Roman Catholic should be appointed to allay the feeling aroused in the ranks of Roman Catholics, and asked that this office, being vacated by a Roman Catholic, should be refilled by a Roman Catholic. He did not urge that the appointee should be a liberal, but merely that he be a believer in the Roman Catholic faith. However, the matter had been taken out of the hands of the council and settled by a caucus consisting of twenty-one persons, some of them not being members of the council. By ballot it was there and then settled who should be supported for the position. It was a most unfair and unjust proceeding. To their credit be it said, some of those present had voted in favor of a Roman Catholic. It was painful to him to bring up this question. He could remember years ago when the present feeling of good will to all men did not prevail in the council. The members of council had come to agree one with the other when they could on questions of the day and had agreed to allow one another worship at the altar of their choice. None wanted to go back to the days of bitter hatred and ill feeling. He had offered the amendment as a protest in behalf of one-third of the population of the city whose rights were being violated.

Ald. King, in reply, stated that he was one alderman who had taken action which had led to Ald. Behan's speech. He liked plain speech, and thanked Ald. Behan for his plain, straightforward explanation. The speaker would give an answer from his heart and which would contain the views of his colleagues around the board. There was not one iota of hard feeling in the hearts of those gathered around the board towards those who attended Ald. Behan's church. The matter of church counted no more with the committee than the snap of one's fingers; it was a question of fitness; the question of church did not weigh with the speaker in the selection of Mr. Newlands. It might be that it was the question of church that counted so much with the Roman Catholics and caused hard feelings, but he could sincerely say that the question of church never entered into the consideration of the appointment of a successor to Mr. Smith, and the speaker asked Ald. Behan to accept that statement as sincere and true. The fact remained that the committee had to deal with a large number of applications, and what would first strike an alderman would be a feeling of friendship towards some particular applicant. The speaker brushed aside two friendships, and chose to support Mr. Newlands, because of his ability and qualifications for the position. In doing so he had also put the question of church to one side. Mr. Newlands had twelve years experience in the

A GREAT SIGHT

Muster Of Guards Serving In South Africa.

THE KING'S VIEW

PROUD OF THEIR PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

A Splendid Spectacle Shadowed With Pathos — Chamberlain's Visit to South Africa Has Aroused Great Interest.

London, Oct. 28.—The coronation aftermath flamed up with an expiring gleam of scarlet at the review of five battalions of Foot Guards. The six battalions did not arrive in time to make a complete muster of the Guards who had served in South Africa, taking part in the frontal attacks under Lord Methuen, at Gras Pan and Modder River, in the long forced march from Kimberley to Bloemfontein and Pretoria, and afterwards to Komatipoort, in the tightening of the cordon around Gen. Prinsloo, and the guarding of the block house lines on the Orange and the Vaal Rivers. There were nearly 4,000 veterans of the Grenadiers, Scots and Cold Stream Guards massed in the Horse Guards parade, and they represented the entire fighting army of over 25,000. The king inspected the ranks and thanked the officers and men for their patriotic services, while the queen behind him looked on and smiled. The review was a representative act, like the inspection of Guards on the same parade ground by Queen Victoria after the Crimea, and the entire army was thanked, in the one instance as the other for the fortitude, gallantry and cheerfulness with which its arduous work had been done. It was a splendid spectacle, with a solid mass of scarlet flashing under a dull grey London sky and the background was shadowed with pathos, for among the reservists and discharged soldiers drawn up behind the battalions were men on crutches and cripples who had lost a leg or an arm.

The announcement of Mr. Chamberlain's visit to South Africa has aroused extraordinary interest in Cape Town, and is the sole topic of conversation there. It is hailed with enthusiasm as marking an entirely new departure in the relations between Great Britain and her colonies. Mrs. Chamberlain, being intensely interested in her husband's work, will accompany him.

The liberals have been so unsuccessful in mustering their full strength against the education bill that they reluctantly decided yesterday, to reinforce the Irish members in the attempt to waste the time of house in side issues, not connected with the measures for which the autumn session is being held. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has not led them with spirit, and Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Bryce are the only men on the front benches who appear to be sincere and earnest in offering resistance to the bill which has been so violently denounced by the Nonconformist ministers. The unionists are now forecasting a vigorous application of closure and the shortening of the session.

The comment in the lobbies on Mr. Chamberlain's visit to South Africa indicates Premier Balfour's confidence in the passage of measure long before Christmas, owing to the weakness of the opposition, otherwise he could not have spared his chief lieutenant.

There was a full muster of titled society at the wedding, yesterday, of Hon. Henry Anson and Lady Audrey Rider, at St. Mark's church, North Dudley street, since the bride and bridegroom were related to scores of great families. The eight bridesmaids in white satin wore white beaver hats adorned with tea roses and chiffon and two little train-bearers reproduced the colors of the bride, in green coats faced with buff and white silk breeches.

New Bishop Of Cheyenne.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 28.—The Roman Catholic cathedral in this city was the scene of notable ceremonies to-day on the occasion of the consecration of Rev. Father Keane, as Bishop of Cheyenne, Wyoming. Long before the hour set for the beginning of the service, 9:30 o'clock this morning, the edifice was crowded to the doors and many persons desirous of witnessing the ceremonies were unable to obtain admission.

The procession which preceded the opening of the services included priests and prelates from all parts of the North-West. Archbishop Ireland acted as consecrator, assisted by Bishop McGolrick, of Duluth, and Bishop Shanley, of Fargo. The sermon was delivered by Bishop O'Gorman, of Sioux Falls. An elaborate musical service was rendered by the cathedral choir.

Married Seventy-One Years.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. William Kierstead, of Collina, Kinas county, yesterday celebrated the seventy-first anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Kierstead is ninety-four years of age and Mrs. Kierstead ninety. There was a large gathering. G. W. Ganong, M.P., St. Stephen, a nephew, was in attendance.

A Settlement Reached.

London, Oct. 28.—The libel suit of Miss Dora Neale against her aunt, Lady Henry Gordon Lennox, has been settled out of court. The charges have been withdrawn and Miss Neale is to receive £2,000 in addition to the costs. Miss Neale charged that her aunt had made some remarks which were a reflection on her character.

AN EXPERT FORGER.

He Worked Ten Years at Job in Australia.

Vienna, Oct. 28.—An extraordinary trial has been begun at Prague. The accused is Alers Muller Von Mildenberg, described as an economic expert, aged sixty-four years. He is charged with wholesale forgeries of titles of nobility. Twenty-three separate charges have been brought against him, involving hundreds of forgeries of state documents, rescripts of emperors and certificates of births, marriages and deaths. His clients included many well-known officials and private citizens and his operations extended over ten years. It is believed that he obtained large sums of money. In one case he demanded a fee of £3,000.

PROMOTES SOLDIER.

Rewards a Private During the Coal Strike.

Shenandoah, Pa., Oct. 28.—Upon the recommendation of Maj.-Gen. Miller, Col. Rutledge has promoted Arthur Wadsworth from a private to sergeant.

Wadsworth shot and killed William Durnham on the night of October 8th, while on guard duty, Durnham not heeding the order to halt given by Wadsworth, and the latter believing Durnham was about to attack the house of a non-union miner.

The major-general says he deplores the killing of Durnham, but the promotion of Wadsworth is a reward for the faithful performance of duty.

WANTED IN CHICAGO.

Woman Arrested at Toronto Charged With Shoplifting.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Mrs. August A. Lauberg, who, the Chicago police believe to be Mrs. Augusta Meyer, who left Chicago suddenly while inquiries were being made into the fate of her husband, and arrested here for shoplifting, has been remanded for another week. Among the things found on the woman was a rent receipt for No. 285 North Frankland street, Chicago, where Mrs. Meyer lived. The receipt is made by N. Greig. She admits having lived in Chicago for two years. She will fight extradition.

Fights Thugs With Knife.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—With a small pocket knife as his only weapon W. K. Halverson, a wealthy farmer of Leland, Ill., fought a battle with three highwaymen. One of the assailants, according to Halverson, received a severe knife wound in the right shoulder, but, notwithstanding the fact that the others were also slightly injured, they overpowered their victim and robbed him of a cheque for $1,000 on the National bank, of Somonauk, Ill.; a gold watch and chain, valued at $80, and $120 in bills.

Ground Slack Smokeless.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—A novel departure in fuel feeding, with a view of obtaining smokeless results, is being tried at a large manufacturing plant in this city. With two huge mill stones slack coal is ground to dust and this is fed into the fire-box by an automatic feeding gear and air blast. The dust, when blown into the fire, burns with the freedom of a spray of oil and produces a surprising heat. One ton of slack is said to do the work of two used in the old way.

Are In British Territory.

Constantinople, Oct. 28.—Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British ambassador, has informed the Porte that Turkish troops have advanced into British territory, near Aden, and that unless they are withdrawn Great Britain is bound to expel them. A ministerial commission deliberated on the question, Sunday. The second dragoman of the British embassy has started for Aden. A boundary commission is now delimiting the Anglo-Turkish frontier.

Anniversary Of A Consecration.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 28.—To-day was the ninety-second anniversary of the consecration of the Right Rev. Michael Egan, first bishop of Philadelphia, and the event was observed at the cathedral with low mass celebrated by Archbishop Ryan. After Philadelphia became the seat of a bishop in 1808, Dr. Egan was consecrated by Archbishop Carroll of Baltimore, October 28th, 1810. He died, July 22nd, 1814.

Killed While Cycling.

New York, Oct. 28.—Frank E. Elwell, Brooklyn, an international authority on motor cycling and a frequent contributor to the magazines devoted to this sport, was killed near Hicksville, L.I., while participating in a club run. The headstem of his machine broke as he was speeding along at a fast clip, and he was hurled to the ground with such force that his neck was broken.

A Scheming Scoundrel.

Winnipeg, Oct. 28.—A dispatch from Melita, Man., says Robert Pelgraro, a young farmer of that place, has skipped out with $1,400 in cash. During the summer he bought a farm under crop, making a small payment. He sold the proceeds of the crop as well as his stock and effects, leaving his creditors in the lurch.

Only a Slight Touch.

London, Ont., Oct. 28.—It is learned from Judge Elliott's house that the attack of paralysis which he was reported to have sustained, was only a slight one and that, otherwise, the judge is very well and the doctors say will be able to get up within a day or two.
