IT'S THIS WAY:

You are sure to die. It is not a very pleasant thought, but true. You know as well as anybody that you need insurance—that you have intended taking it, but just haven't taken time. Now, just stop and think; you will be gone a long while when you do go, and your family will need three meals a day, just the same as now. Perhaps you haven't the time to grant an agent an interview; but it won't take you hardly any time to read over a sample policy that I will make out for you at your age and mail you, if you will only drop me a card, or 'phone, to-day. Suppose you were the wife and she the husband, and you knew that in case of his death you would be left nothing. Wouldn't you insist upon his carrying life insurance? Different when you think of it in that way, isn't it? Now is the time to act—to-morrow may be too late. To-day, and now is the time. Yetterday was, to-day is, to-morrow—who knows?

It will pay you to get our rates.

TOLD OF PAUL

THE SERVANT OF THE LORD JESUS CHRIST.

Canon Cody Gave An Eloquent Address At Queen's—He Gave A New Life To The Church.

Rev. Canon Cody, M.A., D.D., of Wycliffe College, preached a very eloquent and instructive sermon in old Convocation hall yesterday afternoon, his subject being, "Paul the Servant of Jesus Christ" and his text Romans 1., 1. The preacher in his opening remarks made personal reference to the honor he considered it, to have the opportunity of addressing a sermon on such an all-important theme, to an audience at Queen's University. In passing he passed a glowing tribute to the memory of the late Rev. D. J. Macdonnell.

The speaker dealt with the life of Paul in its many and varied phases and activities. St. Paul, he said, will come to his own again as truth is truth. Paul's whole life seems to have been a battle; he is the superlative of Jesus Christ. It took more to change Saul of Tarsus into St. Paul, the servant of Christ, than was necessary to change the water into wine. He was a man for a crisis a man for the time in which he lived. He was given to Christianity at its critical time, when Christianity was in need of such a man.

The first century, said the preacher, was more or less like our own and it is at eras such as these in the history of the church, that most men drift along like leaves in a stream. A strong man is needed to lead and St. Paul was such a man. He bore a threefold title to the position of leader. He was a Roman citizen, a Greek citizen and a birthright member of the Hebrew race. Combining all three, of each he had a comprehension and with each he had a sympathy. He gave the church a new life and sent it on down through the ages, working out God's desired ends.

St. Paul was a Master Christian. He was a remarkable man; had he never been a Christian he would have been heard from in any event. Christ found the opportunity to show in Paul the grand possibility of the new manhood. Christ proved his power to stamp His own type on this grand nature, Paul would never have been an echo, he would always have been a voice; and yet this man lost his great personality in that of Christ. Paul's needs were satisfied, by Christ, for all time. The character of Jesus Christ was perfectly reproduced in that of Paul. He was a master theologian of his time, a born thinker.

Paul loved Christ's doctrine for a practical reason. He was a great logician, but his faith safeguarded his logic. He believed that the doctrine was from God and for men and as such he believed it himself and preached it to men.

Paul was a great type of the propagandist, the missionary, not only a thinker but a worker. His great task was to evangelize the Gentile world and the history of Paul is the history of missionary work in the Graeco-Roman world. He was the master builder of the church and he organized his conquests building a glorious spiritual temple.

Paul, said the speaker, was characterized by his many sidedness and his singleness of purpose. He could adapt himself to any man and to any audience. He became all things to all men if by any means he could win them. There is no power so strong as that of sacrifice and this power, Paul possessed in the greatest sense. Paul did many things under the power of one overmastering purpose. His devotion to Jesus Christ was the great secret of Paul's power and this devotion is the great seqret of power over mankind.

Canon Cody preached a powerful sermon on the character and motives of Judas Iscariot, in St. George's cathedral on Sunday night, taking the middle course between the two extremes, one of which treats the traitor as a misguided, but well-meaning patriot; the other which sets him on such a pinnacle of badness that he is useless as a warning to the sons of men. "Are there not many," asked the preacher, "who only hesitate long enough between monetary gain and right, to give what they call their 'cherished principles' decent interment."

"Artie" Davidson, for years prominent in local baseball circles and former president of the Toronto amateur baseball league, has been appointed business manager of the Toronto baseball club.

The Dawson City hockey team did not arrive in the city Saturday or Sunday as was reported. The visiting junior aggregation from Cobourg who celebrated their victory over Queen's by driving through the city in hacks, Saturday afternoon, were mistaken for the Klondykes and in this way the rumor was started.

David H. Slayback, of Verona Lake, who refereed championship skating races at Montreal, declares that contrary to the supposed statements of several of the contestants no unfair tactics were used. He says the Canadians did everything in their power to be impartial, and the truth of the matter was that only one M.A.A.A. skater deliberately fouled, and he was put out of the races. Kearney, he said, received an accidental cut, but finished the race, and was not laid up.

The Toronto News has this to say of Marlboros' trimming here Thursday night: The Marlboros returned from Kingston Friday morning, where they were beaten by Queen's. The players have no excuse to offer for the defeat. They all admit that Queen's won on their merits, although Winchester being off made a difference. The Toronto boys speak in the highest terms of the treatment they received at the hands of the Kingston crowd and team. From the time they arrived in the limestone city until they left they were looked after in the most hospitable manner. In speaking of the game Teddy Mariott said that the champions did not play up to the standard, and that Queen's certainly beat them on their merits. They have a great line, and the defence is equally as good. "I think we can do better against them when they come here to play us at the Mutual street rink."

Before a crowd of seven thousand spectators at the Arena rink, Montreal, Saturday night, the Ottawa champions defeated the Wanderers by the score 4 to 2. Up to a very few minutes before the call of time, the score was a tie, two all and the Wanderers had the advantage of the play. Suddenly the magnificent defence of the Wanderers seemed to open up and McGee broke the tie in Ottawa's favor. Scarcely a minute after Westwick scored another for Ottawa, giving them a lead of two and after that they played a defence game. The game was rough throughout and Referee "Weldy" Young, of the Klondykes, was unable to stop the slaughter. No one was killed, but there was hardly any one of the fourteen players, who at the end of the match could not show some bruise or cut, or whose blood at one time or another had not stained the ice or the floor that leads to the dressing room.

WILL IT CLOSE?

COST OF SNOW REMOVAL HEAVY ON CITY.

City Council Will Consider Question Of Letting Street Railway Close—A Few More Blizzards Will Bankrupt Board Of Works.

At the meeting of the city council to-night, the chairman of the board of works intends broaching the question of allowing the street railway to close its line till the spring. The winter has been a hard one, and the city has suffered in having to remove snow from the roads several times. When the present snow is removed, the city's share of the cost will amount to $1,500. Then there may be a few more blizzards before the severe winter ends, and hundreds of more dollars would have to be taken out of the board of works' meagre appropriation for the streets. The city is certainly up against a big proposition. Over a month ago, the Whig called attention to the question of whether or not it was advisable for the city to insist on the street railway being kept open during a winter when there were very heavy snow falls. A month passed, however, before there was another bad blockade. Now, another has followed a few days later. The question is one that the city council will have to carefully consider. The majority of citizens have altered their opinion about keeping the street railway line open when the snows are so heavy as this winter. The city has to pay, as well as the company.

There is another big proposition in connection with snow removal, on Union street, from the junction to Ellerbeck street. The banks on each side of the tracks are so high that the plough and sweeper can no longer throw the snow clear when running over the tracks. The snow falls back again. If the line is to be kept open, the banks will have to be removed, and that will cost some hundreds of dollars, not a very cheering thought when the board of works' appropriation is disappearing. To-day there are 100 men and twelve teams at work removing snow from the main streets on which the railway tracks run.

HOSPITAL COLLECTIONS

The Amounts Given By City And County Churches.

The following church collections have been received at the General Hospital. Half a dozen churches have not sent in their contributions. They are Cooke's, Zion, St. George's, Brock street Methodist, Bethel and St. Luke's. So far, the city churches have contributed about $600. The collections of the other six should raise this amount to $800. The county churches have so far given $243.41. The total will be at least $200 more than last year.

The amounts are:

City churches—Sydenham street Methodist church and Sunday school, $165.23; Chalmers', Presbyterian, $157.10; St. Andrew's, Presbyterian, $125; Queen street Methodist, $65.25; St. James', Anglican, $33.45; First Baptist, $17.50; St. Paul's, Anglican, $20.09; Princess street Methodist, $6.47; Calvary, Congregational, $5.78; First Congregational, $5.67.

ANOTHER SNOW STORM

Blockades The Street Railway Trains Were Late.

The blizzard of yesterday caused a further check to railway traffic. Snow fell lightly all day and the wind blew strongly, the drifting being severe. The street railway sweeper was run over the line, and kept it open, though a number of places had to be dug out this morning. The streets, along the railway line, which were only cleared Saturday, are again ready for more city money to be spent in removing the piles of snow, so as to render traffic easy.

The G. T. R. trains during the night were several hours late, arriving here at five o'clock. It was expected that they would be very little behind this afternoon. The K. & P. railway is pretty well blocked. The Bay of Quinte train did not reach here on Saturday as was expected, and will certainly not to-day. That line has been closed since Wednesday last.

The Warden Of Lennox And Addington.

W. A. MARTIN.

Napanee Beaver.

W. A. Martin, warden of the county of Lennox and Addington, was born in the township of Richmond in 1860. He is a son of the late William Martin, who years ago removed from Richmond to the township of Camden, near Moscow. The present warden has taken an active interest in municipal politics since 1892, when he was elected first deputy reeve of the township of Camden, and has represented that township almost continuously ever since, either as reeve or county commissioner since the enactment of the new county councils act. In 1900 Mr. Martin was the liberal candidate to represent the riding in the Dominion parliament, but was defeated by J. W. Bell. The warden is a man of good education, genial, a good speaker, and well up in parliamentary procedure, and has earned the honor which has been conferred upon him, and which he is amply qualified to fill.

Be Well This Winter

Take Time By the Forelock and Build Up New Strength Now.

"A stitch in time saves nine," is an adage that can well be applied to the consideration of health. At this season of the year exclusion from fresh air, sunshine and exercise renders the body an easy victim to disease. The blood is impoverished and lacking in those red corpuscles that denote strength and purity. Hard work seems an impossibility, and even a slight exertion produces dragging weariness and depression.

How baffling the effort to obtain sleep, how distressingly poor the appetite has become—how the heart and nerves flutter and twitch—A dangerous condition surely, because there is no power to resist disease when the constitution is so terribly run down.

If you're to be well this winter you must start now and build up with Ferrozone, which is the most nutritive and vitalizing tonic made. This is how Ferrozone will make you well. First, it will increase the appetite, and at the same time give you the power to digest and assimilate food. Then by strengthening the stomach it will convert everything you eat into nourishment. Such an abundance of well-digested food means an increased supply of strong, red blood, which will circulate vitality and energy into every organ of the body. Ferrozone assists nature to do her work, and in so doing accomplishes wonders for those in ill-health.

To clearly show just how Ferrozone acts we give here the statement of John McNichol, of Turbull, Man., who says:

"Last spring I was terribly run down. I was so completely fagged out I couldn't do any hard work. In the morning I was tired—my limbs ached all over. Appetite?—I simply didn't have any. Sleepless?—Yes, nervous and unhappy, too. I braced up at once after taking Ferrozone. It put new life and vitality into my body. My nerves are strong, I eat heartily, I sleep well. Now I know the joy of health."

It's the nourishment in Ferrozone that makes you feel good. It puts life into the blood, energy into the nerves, makes you rejoice in new-found health; try Ferrozone, 50c. per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers in medicine.

SNOW CLEARING

BETTER REGULATIONS ARE REQUIRED.

Prof. D. H. Marshall Gives His Views On The Matter—Kingston Is Badly In Need Of a New System.

Kingston, Feb. 11.—(To the Editor): Snow cleaning is a subject which will not rest until a proper regulation is framed and carried out. The by-law is an absurdity, and if carried out is flagrantly unjust. It was Judge Britton, I think, who long ago pointed out that such a by-law could not be legally enforced. I don't know whether at the framing of it there were any lawyers in the council, but if so they must have been some very poor ones. We cannot say that, I hope, of the lawyers in the council now, and let us hope that between them and the new city engineer we shall have a change which will be satisfactory to all.

John F. Baker, a few weeks ago, wrote an excellent letter to your paper, pointing out the utter inefficiency of the present system, and suggested the only satisfactory solution of the problem to be for the council to attend to its own property, for the walks are its, and not to leave the work to all and every Tom, Dick and Harry, as is the case at present. We have around us towns and cities, some larger and some smaller than Kingston, which manage to clear their walks properly. Surely the city engineer can be asked to look into the methods adopted, and if he cannot improve on what he considers to be the best of these, then let him adopt that method. There is no doubt that Prof. A. K. Kirkpatrick, who was managing the streets so well, would have solved this civic problem. Now that we have in his place a graduate of Queen's, we needn't fear but that by next winter Mr. Craig will solve it, too.

I have spoken of the injustice of the present by-law. As an illustration: Why should the residents on the west side of Centre street have all the shovelling to do, and the property owners on the other side, not take their share or turn, one of these being one of the richest men in the community? Surely the board-walk is for the property owners of both sides. Personally, I would rather have the boardwalk on the east side of the street for its present position gives wicked boys a better chance to deface and destroy your gates and fences.

As another illustration, why should Prof. Shortt have always to clear his frontage on King street, when the proprietor of a much richer property just opposite does nothing? And why, because Prof. Shortt's property happens to be at one end of Ellerbeck street, and one end of Livingston avenue, should he have to clear parts of those streets, although he has no frontage on them, and the property-owners opposite to him on the same streets who may have frontages on those streets do nothing? Mr. Baker pointed out the great inconvenience it often was to factory hands and others not to have the snow cleared in the early morning. No doubt this is true, but would it not be more reasonable for the factory-owners and merchants to make arrangements to have the walks cleared for their employees who use the walks much more than the owners of property which adjoins the same. There are two sides to every qestion. The position of my own house is similar to Prof. Shortt's, and, recognizing the real difficulty the council has, have quietly submitted for twenty-one years to an unjust by-law, but surely that is long enough in a city of which its citizens are so proud. A city whose noble situation on one of the grandest sites of the greatest fresh water roads in the world her university students sing of with enthusiasm. Let our city fathers wake up and show that they are equal to the situation.—Very sincerely yours, D. H. MARSHALL.

CIVIC SALARIES.

The Finance Committee Has A Task Before It.

The civic finance committee has now to face the adjusting of salaries in the treasury department. A bonus of $500 has been given the city treasurer and his assistant for their work in collecting last year's taxes, but now their salaries must be fixed. Then there will be the adjusting of the light and water collectors' salaries. The heads of several other departments have applied for increases, and the finance committee will have to say yes or no to their requests. The following are the salaries now being paid to the officials at the city buildings:

City Treasurer	$1,300
Assistant Treasurer	700
City Clerk	1,200
Waterworks Superintend.	1,100
Waterworks Collector	750
Light Plant Collector	1,200
City Engineer	1,200
