HOW YOU GET CONSUMPTION.

Most "huggers" allowed their power of resistance to fall very low. Favorable conditions were provided for the development of the baccilli. Consumption was the result.

But in a healthy body Consumption can't take root. The most potent health-maker is Ferrozone. Take it regularly and you needn't fear tuberculosis.

FERROZONE

Supplies exactly what the man verging on Consumption needs. It forms rich, nutritious blood, strengthens the nerves, puts vim and endurance into every organ of the body.

For the tired, weak—anyone in poor health—Ferrozone is worth its weight in gold. Avoid substitutes!

Will Leave New York Mansion for Museum.

Special to the Whig.

New York, May 6.—C. M. Schwab's announcement that it is his intention, when he and his wife are no longer alive, to leave to the city of New York for a museum the magnificent palace on Riverside Drive, which is approaching completion, is hailed as something new in American gift giving. While Europe is covered with great palaces which have passed with their priceless collections from private hands to the public, American millionaires have almost, without exception, kept their houses for their descendants. Mr. Schwab, by the way, is negotiating for the largest insurance policy ever written on a private dwelling, and it is probable that his Riverside Drive mansion and its furnishings will be insured for $5,000,000. When the place is finished it will have cost $9,000,000. It will be filled with works of art, and Mr. and Mrs. Schwab have been ransacking Europe for tapestries, bric-a-brac, pictures and antiques to fill it.

BROADBRIM'S

Letter From Greater New York.

GREAT PROSPERITY

IS CONSPICIOUS ALL OVER THE COUNTRY.

Trouble in New York's Political Camp—Military Leader and Aristocrat Gone—Gen. Lee a Great Man and Soldier.

Special Correspondence Letter, No. 1,458.

New York, May 5.—Our holiday season is ended and we must now settle down to square and honest work. The general report of our entire country is one of unbounded prosperity; one thing that almost startles the masses from their propriety, is the accumulation of those tremendous fortunes which have amazed and electrified the world. Within the memory of millions of living men, the accumulation of a single million of dollars represented the success of a long and fortunate mercantile life. On looking over a newspaper this morning I saw an account of the benefactions of Andrew Carnegie which amounted to the enormous sum of $130,000,000, and this colossal fortune has been built up within the last thirty years. Another instance is placed upon the fortune of the Astors. It almost exceeds belief, the imagination can hardly grasp it, for it has been placed by those who are supposed to know, at $1,000,000,000. If that be true, this wealthy citizen could have paid at the close of the war of the rebellion one-third of the national debt, and remember that the sum would have sustained our armies for four years in the field, it would have kept our warships afloat upon the sea, and would have helped materially in the extinguishment of many of our other liabilities. If a doubt arises in our minds, as to whether the picture I have drawn is only a passing dream, we have only to look around us to realize the hard granite facts of the tremendous change that has been going on around us, and of which we are the living witnesses. To the name of New York we have added the adjective greater, but even that description falls short of our realization. The house that forty years ago was high at four stories, has sunk to insignificance, for we have, looking down upon the Tribune office, where Horace Greeley once worked and lived, a building twenty-eight storeys high, reaching up toward heaven. Our city is being honey-combed in every part, and our elevated roads are no longer equal to the demands of travel. The subway, which was opened to travel only a few months ago cost 850,000,000. New bridges are spanning our rivers, and new lines of communication with the outside world command capital wherever it is demanded, and we are burrowing under our rivers in the hope of achieveing a more intimate connection between the city's different parts. Coney Island, which a few years ago was a barren waste of sand, the resort of gamblers, thieves, and soiled doves, is fast becoming the resort of millions, and in the attractions offered for a summer respite it has no parallel on the face of the globe.

We have trouble in the political camp; Senator McCarren, of Brooklyn, and Charles Murphy, the chief of Tammany Hall, are still far from enjoying "that peace which passeth all understanding." Peace may be a blessed thing that looks toward political success, but Mr. Murphy announced as a fact that Senator McCarren had been guilty of acts well-known to the police, which, if equally well known by the public would have landed this matchless senator in state's prison. Senator McCarren is a "canny-chiel" and he has wisdom fully up to his day and generation; he never can forget that assault upon his honor made by Mr. Murphy; I very much doubt if for any consideration he would pardon that infamous attack upon his integrity; the borough of Brooklyn stands by him to a man and those who are now trying to solidify the democratic vote in the greater New York will discover before next election day that, if by chance he should forgive, they will realize that in the gall of bitterness and the bond of iniquity he never will forget.

A military leader representing the highest aristocracy which is known to our democratic republic, has crossed the silent river and reached "that bourne from which no traveller returns." I confess it is with a tinge of grief that I read of his death, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, by the force of circumstances over which he had no control, was on the wrong side in our great rebellion. The traditions of his state were for unquestioned primacy, the United States was but a servant to do the expressed will of the thirteen states that made up the federal compact. Like his uncle, Robert E. Lee, he was a soldier and the soul of honor. During that dreadful contest, there is no doubt but every blow struck against the union went to their hearts but when the compact was made under the old apple tree at Appomattox, both accepted the result truly, honestly and faithfully, and from that hour, there was no treason in the heart of either. Our great military leader, Gen. Grant, recognized the loyalty of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, and he was his steadfast friend up to the last hour of his life. He knew that Gen. Lee had lost everything in the war, and later, he presented him with one of the best offices in the gift of the federal government, the councilship at Havana, worth twenty-five or thirty thousand dollars a year.

The changes that have taken place in the trial of Nan Patterson have been one of the marvels of our criminal courts. One day we read that the prosecuting attorney is certain of her conviction; he had discovered the pawn-shop where the brother-in-law of Nan Patterson purchased the pistol that killed Caesar Young, and like a hundred pound shot, down goes the Nan Patterson stock; the pawn-broker goes upon the stand, but when he looks upon Mr. Smith, he is not quite sure that he is the man, and up goes the Nan Patterson stock to one hundred and fifty, and she is just as positive as the day succeeds the night that she will never be called upon to take her seat in the electric chair.

A circumstance took place in the trial which was to me a shocking perversion of justice. The district attorney realized that the prosecution was weak, and he offered Nan's sister a release from prosecution and the withdrawal of the charge of conspiracy if she would only testify against her sister, whose life was trembling in the balance, but even this alluring promise never shook the sister's loyalty, and taking Nan by the hand she declared her willingness with her to "sink or swim." The district attorney's representative disgraced himself when he made this infamous offer. It is rather unfortunate that, for his offense there is no "punishment that fits the crime."

Improving The Dairy Herd.

The constant aim of the dairyman should be to grade up his herd to a high standard of productiveness. Nothing but a pure bred sire should be used and when commencing the farmer should choose one particular breed, and then stick to it. Changing from one breed to another was the cause of many a failure. Calves intended for the dairy herd should be selected from dams with a good record as milk producers. The dam should be of good dairy formation, of strong constitution and have a good udder, and large, well formed teats. Having selected the calf, the next point was the rearing. If a calf was not properly attended to during the early period of its existence, it was frequently stunted in its growth, and the chances of it becoming a profitable dairy cow materially lessened. The following is a good food for calves during the first year: A porridge made from meal mixed in the following proportions: 100 lbs. ground oil cake, 25 lbs. ground flaxseed and 50 lbs. low grade flour. Make the porridge by mixing the ingredients together with warm water to about the consistency of cream. Owing to the strength of the food, the calves should not be fed much of it at first, but as they become accustomed to it, feed a larger quantity if necessary.

Dr. Hamilton Cures Rheumatism

You Use His Mandrake and Buttermilk Pills—He Guarantees a Lasting Cure.

Rheumatism begins and ends in the blood which at no time is ever free from poison. But if the kidneys are healthy, they will filter out the wastes and poisons.

In case of rheumatism, the kidneys are not doing their work, as a result, poisons crystalize around the joints and cause pain almost akin to torture.

There can be no cure, no permanent relief until the kidneys are stimulated. First get them into working order. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills excel all other remedies; they heal and strengthen the kidneys as no other poisons depart from the blood and all medicine can do. Once the kidneys are renewed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills the trace of rheumatism disappears.

No Case is Too Chronic to Yield to the Marvellous Influence of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I spent nearly three years' experimenting with rheumatic remedies," writes George E. Sunbury, of Portland, "I had almost given up hope, when I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they completely cured me. No remedy could be better."

You will never regret using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a supply to-day from your druggists, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING.

Our Leading Statesmen Operating A "Sunshine" Furnace.

With this issue of the Whig the McClary Manufacturing company, of London, Ont., commence what promises to be one of the most interesting series of newspaper advertisements ever run in Canadian papers.

The series consists of a dozen ads., showing twelve of Canada's leading statesmen attending the well-known McClary "Sunshine" furnace. The sketches were drawn by a cartoonist who is well up in character sketching and the illustrations are true representations of the different politicians. These ads, will not only be interesting, but should prove educative as they will give the readers of the Whig an opportunity to become familiar with the men who are guiding the affairs of Canada. The text in the advertisement is very brief and quite in keeping with the cartoon style of the drawings. Only a phrase is used and they are all interesting as each one is particularly applicable to the politician to whom it refers. For instance the phrase in the ad. in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier is used, refers to the prime minister's sunny ways, for which he is noted on two continents. The advertisement in which the Hon. R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition at Ottawa, is used, refers to the Sunshine Furnace as being conducive to genial manners and tidiness in the house, characteristics, for which Mr. Borden is so well known. The rest of the series is along similar lines and will doubtless prove interesting and educative.

The McClary Manufacturing company is one of Canada's oldest makers of stoves, ranges, furnaces, enamel and tinware of all kinds. Their business was established nearly sixty years ago, and their works have grown from a small shop with three employees to an immense plant with over eleven hundred employees. Their "Sunshine" Furnace has proved a wonderful success and is a popular heater from Halifax to Vancouver.

NEW YORK CASINO CAFE

Has Gone Into Temporary Oblivion.

Special to the Whig.

New York, May 6.—The famous Casino cafe is a thing of the past, or at least it has gone into temporary oblivion. Since the fire in the Casino theatre several months ago, the much bepictured cafe has continued to do business, but now the building department, has decided that it is unsafe to allow business to be carried on in the cafe, while the rebuilding of the theatre is going on. Consequently it has been closed, and possibly has passed forever into Broadway history. The Casino cafe has been the resort of men about town for several years. The proprietor has spent thirty-five years in collecting theatrical pictures of all kinds, and 3,400 of these plastered the walls of the cafe. There are many valuable relics in the collection, which is valued at $4,000.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the Local Agent for the District in which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 50 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead the requirements of this act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the saidland. The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township. A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced. The price of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homsteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd June, 1889. Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may be again thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent, the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-West Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba; or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-West Territories.

W. W. CORY, Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.
