AFTER ALD. ANGROVE

PARKS' COMMITTEE MEMBERS ANNOYED.

Because He Acted Without Their Sanction—Ald. Meek's Motion on Behalf of the Y.W.C.A Was Defeated on Chairman's Vote.

It is seldom that the parks committee has a breezy time at its few and far between sessions, but it had one yesterday afternoon. There were "doings" and all because the present chairman had followed an old custom inaugurated by a predecessor of transacting business without consulting his committee. There were present Alds. Angrove, (chairman), Carson, Meek, Sears and Mallen.

A report was submitted regarding the necessary repairs to seats in the parks. The chairman stated that he got a price from S. Grimshaw for repairs. It amounted to $23, and the chairman gave instructions for the work to be done. The work, he said, had to be done at once. Ald. Meek pointed out that the committee did not authorize the work. The cost was over $20 and the by-law required that tenders be called and a contract awarded by the committee. The auditor would not pass the account as there was no authority for it. He for one objected to the account being passed. Ald. Sears thought that the case was one of emergency. The action taken by the committee several weeks ago was to authorize tenders to be called for. This had not been done, Ald. Carson pointed out. The duty of the chairman was to do as the committee ordered, but he had not done this. The discussion dropped here.

A deputation was present from the Y.W.C.A. regarding a tennis court in the cricket field, which had been taken away from the association after being allotted to them. It seems that those who played on the court last year claimed it, after it had been occupied this spring by the Y.W.C.A. The chairman stated that he had never been opposed to the Y.W.C.A. having the court. The trouble had arisen over a misunderstanding. The parties who played last year on the court, that has caused the dispute, came to him before the snow was off the ground, and made application again for the court. This application was before that made by the Y.W.C.A. He told the players of last year to go ahead and play on the court. Hence they had the right. The caretaker had alloted the Y.W.C.A. the court belonging to the others, by mistake. That was the whole story, but he could not convince some of the Y.W.C.A. authorities of this, though others of them thought the matter too small to speak about, because the court next was quite suitable to them. The chairman said he had done everything possible to accommodate the Y.W.C.A., and to straighten matters out, but they didn't seem to appreciate it.

Ald. Sears thought that the chairman's explanation was quite satisfactory, and that he was justified in awarding the court in question to the other parties.

Ald. Meek pointed out that some time ago, the committee decided that written applications must be received for courts, and applications would be granted in order of their coming in. The Y.W.C.A. made the first written application, and had a prior right to the parties who had made verbal application to the chairman. He moved that the court in question be awarded to the Y.W.C.A. It was an organization with 200 members, and was to be considered before a club of half a dozen.

Ald. Carson claimed that the chairman's verbal promise to the other parties could not hold, because the committee had taken other action. The chairman, in view of this, should have informed the parties he promised, and relieved himself of any responsibility by throwing the matter upon the committee. The vote upon Ald. Meek's motion was :

Yeas—Alds. Meek and Carson.

Nays—Alds. Angrove, Sears and Mallen.

The chairman broke the tie by voting against the Y.W.C.A., and thus the Y.W.C.A. do not get the court they put into condition and were allotted. Ald. Sears moved that the association be granted the court near the car. track. This motion was carried. Alds. Meek and Carson refused to vote upon it. As the city council gave the parks committee power to act, the matter is at an end.

Caretaker Phillips applied for increase of salary. The amount in the budget is $500. Ald. Meek asked if the committee would have a surplus with which to pay an increase. The city clerk said the caretaker received a bonus of $50 at the end of last year and the understanding then was that his salary this year was to be $550. On Ald. Mallen's motion the matter was allowed to stand for the present to see if there was likely to be any surplus at the end of the year.

The chairman brought up the question of putting permanent lights in the band stand in Macdonald park. The cost would be between $20 and $25. Ald. Meek claimed that this cost should be defrayed by the city as a whole, and not by the parks' committee. Ald. Carson held that the city property committee should attend to the matter, and moved that it be referred to that committee for its consideration. Ald. Sears moved in amendment that the parks' committee put an arc light in the band stand. The motion was carried, but Ald. Sears stated that his committee would not likely go to any expense of putting in the light required. At present, one is arranged temporarily for band concerts.

CAN THEY RUN.

An Alderman Claims Cars Cannot Be Made to Pay.

In connection with the all-absorbing topic as to whether the street railway will be doing business this summer or not, a member of the city council, and one in close touch with all the workings of the lighting plant, etc., approached the Whig representative the other day, his countenance o'erspread with troubled look

"I may be very dense perhaps, but nevertheless I can't get a few facts through my head with the degree of satisfaction I could wish," was his opening remark.

"Lay bare your heart and your conscience will trouble you no more," retorted the scribe.

Well, the whole argument in a nutshell was as follows :

According to the city father's contention, the bondholders have been making strenuous efforts (since the offer of Dr. Ball of Detroit), to retain their charter and franchise. Why? The road didn't pay. "Well," he continued, "the company formerly claimed that the reason it went behind was that the city did not offer sufficient advantages and inducements. Let us consider that contention. According to the company they have lost some $60,000, during the past ten years. Mr. Cross places the amount at $67,000. Now what inducements do the company at present wish in the way of snow clearing, etc. The city solicitor and the city engineer have both been consulted by me and the matter fully discussed, and we find that the proposed advantages to be extended them aggregate a corresponding outlay of something over $2,000. I will give them ample margin and place it at $3,500 per year. Now they have formerly lost $6,000 a year, hence the difference will necessarily still be found on the deficit side of the books. Of course this is all provided the statements of the company are true, and they lost the amounts supposed. How much better off will they be then under the inducements asked, and will they run the railroad at a loss again? If so for how long can they stand it? Besides, he concluded, Mr. Campbell has said the city cannot run the road to make it pay under present conditions, so I would like to know if there isn't a nigger on the fence somewhere."

ONLY ONE RUNNING IT.

The Rear Merchants Do Not Favor It.

Despite the fact that the local officials know nothing of the proposed withdrawal of the Thursday morning train over the Kingston & Pembroke railway, and allowing that no orders have been received here to that effect, there, nevertheless, seems to be good grounds for the persistent rumors afloat. It appears that considerable pressure has been brought to bear upon the management of late by the merchants doing business in the villages along the line of the railway. They claim that their trade is being carried to the city and that they feel the effect considerably. They also contend that they have as much right for consideration at the hands of the road as the city merchants and hence the contemplated action. In speaking of the matter one of the employees of the road stated that the average citizen had no idea of the volume of business brought to Kingston from the territory covered by the Kingston & Pembroke railway, and that while no orders had been received to cancel the Thursday trip there certainly had been considerable agitation towards that end. There is another contention which enters into the case as well, namely, that the local road is the only one running the Thursday morning train. Everything considered, therefore, the question seems to be a live one and in this case as in others, forewarned should be forearmed.

BAND IN PARK.

Quite a Pleasant Scene Was Witnessed.

Macdonald Park presented a scene of old-time animation, last evening, when the band of the 14th Regiment, treated the citizens to a complimentary concert. Some time ago, through the generosity of a number of residents, the bandsmen were enabled to secure new uniforms, and they are returning good for good, by giving a series of weekly band concerts of which last night's treat was the first. It is two years since the band has been engaged during the summer and, judging from the number of people who turned out to listen to the music, the citizens have indeed missed this pleasure. The tower hill and the park on both sides, down to the shore was a mass of attentive listeners, while the water was black with small craft of every description, which lay idly upon the surface. Steamyachts and motor boats buzzed in and out, midst canoes and skiffs, while several searchlights illuminated the scene. Nor were those who enjoyed the evening's pleasure just the nearby residents. People flocked from all parts of the city, and thoroughly appreciated the reappearance of the bandsmen, only too sorry when the music ceased. The next concert of the series will in all probability be held on Thursday evening next.

A QUEER BUSINESS

MR. MACGILLIVRAY'S OPINION OF STREET CARS.

Why the Sudden Somersault? He Asks—Usual Procedure With Insolvent Business Concerns—"Remember the Smelter Deal," His Warning.

Kingston, June 23.—(To the Editor.)—I, doubtless, in common with most residents of the more outlying portions of the city, would like to see the street cars again in running operation, but like Alderman Carson would like to know with whom we are doing business, and are not prepared to be stampeded into any transaction that will not perhaps bear the light of day, and that will involve us in extra taxes in the shape of extra monetary concessions and leave us in the end as liable to be without a street car service, when perhaps most needed, as before.

The council hitherto seemed to be acting in a prudent and businesslike way, and their sudden somersault is, to say the least, remarkable.

If an ordinary business concern becomes insolvent, the stock-in-trade is sold to the highest bidder, or if a mortgage is foreclosed, there is a similar sale. Such a sale it seems has not yet occurred, and it is rather curious if the "Bondholders" or original "Company" can, without more ado, resume operations, when it suits them, with the assistance of the city. If these parties can, with the concessions now asked from the council make a profit out of the road, why cannot the council, by using the $1,500 or thereabouts, of concession money, run the road, and make the same profit?

The road must be sold to the highest bidder. The "Bondholders" have already kindly offered it to the city for $125,000, a queer way of doing business. The city might now offer, say $75,000, a good offer, get the road, and run it for its own profit and convenience. We have already walked four months in all sorts of weather. We can walk two more when the present franchise expires.

As for the gentleman from Detroit, who has been promising such fine things for our good, and acting so mysteriously, it would be well to remember the smelter scheme of sacred memory and the smelter site deal.—J. MACGILLIVRAY.

Art In The Drug Stores.

Some attention is being attracted lately to a series of etchings in the leading drug stores. Close examination shows that they were issued by the Abbey Effervescent Salt Company. These etchings are little gems in nature studies and are practical demonstrations of art in advertising. They are by two famous American artists, Randall and King, and are quite worthy of a place in one's library or den. The Abbey Salt Company are to be commended for sending out advertisements so artistic. They are far above the usual store hanger and merit a prominent place in every first class pharmacy.

Cure Lame Back and Weak Heart

What Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pills, Did for a Hardworking Carpenter of Simcoe.

Here is what a resident of Simcoe, Ont., writes regarding "Bu-Ju," the Kidney Pill. The immediate effect of this remarkable specific is worthy of special attention. There is no other "kidney remedy" offered the public at all comparable with Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pill.

Simcoe, Ont., March 23rd, 1905.
Clafiin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—I have been using "Bu-Ju" Kidney Pills for some time, and can say that I have been greatly benefited by them, and that when I began my back was very lame, my heart working badly and I simply had to force myself to work; more than that, as a proof that they have curative powers, I will say that the work I was doing when I began their use was very hard and trying on the back (hardwood floor work), but the lameness decreased and on the second or third day I could work as hard as I wished. You may add this to your other testimonials if you wish, as I believe they will do as much for others as they have done for me.

Yours truly,
ARTHUR OWEN.

The change from a lame back, a disordered heart and an inability to work was very welcome in the case of a man who had to work for his living; and that change came in two or three days. It was due to Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pill. These pills cure lame backs and strengthen weak hearts, because they act directly on the kidneys. A weak or deranged condition of these sewers of the body prevents the throwing off of poisons from the system. The blood thus becomes infected and a number of diseases are the result. "Bu-Ju" cleanses and invigorates the kidneys, enabling them to do their work of elimination properly. What this sovereign specific did for Mr. Owen it will do for all others afflicted as he was. The effect of this remarkable remedy is felt at once in a measure of relief, and faithful adherence to directions will bring about a cure. Bu-Ju kidney Pills are for sale by druggists generally. Ask for them and refuse substitutes.
