VERY UNEASY

Over Disaffection Among Russian Troops.

MAY BE A MUTINY

WHEN THE KRONSTADT MUTINEERS ARE SENTENCED.

10,000 Cossacks From Russian Turkestan March to St. Petersburg to Release Czar—Some in Battalion Mutinies—Jews Somewhat Blameworthy.

London, Nov. 22.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says regarding the ugly rumors of disaffection among the troops, in St. Petrsburg, that this statement has been made to him by an officer of the guards: "There is no use denying the fact that the intervention of the workmen, on behalf of the Kronstadt mutineers had a deplorable effect on the morale of our soldiers. We are doing our utmost to counteract it by a strict watch over the barracks, and the curtailment of leave, but nevertheless the greatest anxiety prevails." Other officers, the correspondent says, are more pessimistic, and fear some regiments will get out of hand, and join the workmen, if as is feared, they declare another strike, when the Kronstadt mutineers are sentenced.

Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch, the correspondent continues, is investigating the origin of letters written by officers to the Russ, protesting against the brutalities perpetrated on November 1st. Some of the authors have confessed, but no punishments have yet been announced.

10,000 Cossacks March.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 22.—An afternoon paper quotes a man who has just arrived in St. Petersburg, as saying that ten thousand Don Cossacks are marching from Tashkend to St. Petersburg, with the object of releasing the emperor. Tashkend is the capital of Russian Turkestan, and as the crow flies, is thirteen hundred miles from St. Petersburg.

Private advices received from Gomalin, the government of that name, say that a battalion of reservists, a thousand strong, mutinied, following a demand for better food.

Jews Somewhat Blameworthy.

London, Nov. 22.—22.—The correspondent of the Times cables that in an interview touching on the Jewish outrages, Ursuoff, the new assistant minister of the interior, said the Jews were to a certain extent to blame, on account of too open exultation over their new found liberties.

THE TURKISH THRONE.

To Make Favorite Son of His Successor.

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—According to information secretly received there is a project on foot at Yildiz Kiosk to make the favorite son of the sultan, Prince Burhan-Eddine, his immediate successor. This would constitute a violation of the law of succession hitherto observed in Turkey by depriving of their rights to the throne, the legitimate heir, Prince Rechad, the sultan's brother, and Prince Yussuf Izzeddine, the next heir in the line of succession. The object in view is not the introduction into Turkey of the rule of primogeniture in the succession to the throne as it exists in other states, the eldest son of Abdul Hamid, Prince Selim, being set aside in favor of a younger brother. In reality the system which it is sought to establish would surrender in future the Turkish throne to the cupidity of court intriguers and the caprice of the militia. Popular feeling is said to be ready for revolution at the mere idea of this infringement of the ancient tradition, and there is a belief here that Germany is behind the intrigue. Prince Burhan-Eddine has been carefully brought up by German tutors and imbued with German ideas.

PERFORMED CEREMONY.

Curate Begged the Girl to Marry Him.

Geneva, Nov. 22.—A romantic scene took place at the altar of the little church of Claro, a village in the canton of Tessein.

The curate, a young man named Guetta, fell in love with a farmer's daughter, but although his suit was favored by the father, the girl repeatedly refused the curate's offer of marriage, and subsequently she became engaged to some one else.

The marriage day arrived, and the curate was obliged to perform the ceremony. When the bridal couple arrived at the altar, Guetta lost control of his feelings and passionately pleaded with the girl not to take the irrevocable step which would ruin his life.

At last Guetta, realizing his false position, asked to be excused for a few minutes, which he spent in prayer. Returning to the steps of the altar he performed the marriage ceremony in a voice suppressed with emotion, but without breaking down.

Good Returns.

Amherstburg, Ont., Nov. 22.—It is estimated that the crop of tobacco grown in Essex county, last season, was about twelve million pounds. The crop averaged 1,200 pounds per acre in Essex county. The average yield in Kentucky is 300 pounds per acre.

Gripp Tablets are in great demand these days. They are fresh at Gibson's Red Cross Drug Store.

DISPERSED THEM.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Two or three hundred Laval students marched to the house of Mr. Langlois, editor of Le Canada, on Tuesday night, and made a hostile demonstration. They were dispersed by the police and one man was arrested.

HOODOO FOLLOWS FARMER.

Drives Victim to Seek Death Sleep.

Winsted, Nov. 22.—Cephas Roberts, an aged citizen of Barkhamsted, attempted suicide by taking laudanum. Villagers took turns all night walking him to keep him from going to sleep, and physicians who have been in constant attendance upon him since he swallowed the poison, say he is not yet out of danger.

Several years ago Roberts advertised for a thief to occupy one of his farms. Since then ill luck has pursued him; five of his buildings were destroyed by incendiaries and he has had other misfortunes which have made him practically poor.

His last venture was to purchase a valuable water power in Riverton, and thrice high water has carried away newly constructed dams. He came to the condition that this world had no further use for him and decided to leave it.

BUYS HER OWN COFFIN.

Woman Prepared for Burial Before Reaper Comes.

Reading, Pa., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Margaret Hartel, one of the oldest residents of this city, who died several days ago, made all the preparations for her funeral a number of years ago.

On July 6th, 1900, she called on a local undertaker and said she had come to make arrangements for her burial. She was eighty-five years of age at the time, but in good health. She said that she wanted to be buried in the same kind of casket as her husband who died in 1899. She wanted the Rev. G. W. Roth to conduct the services in the German Lutheran church at Swamp, and to be buried in the cemetery adjoining.

She asked the price and paid the entire bill. All her wishes will be carried out.

ABSCONDS WITH $60,000.

Clerk Believed to Be En Route for America.

Brussels, Nov. 22.—A serious theft has been discovered in one of the large banking establishments here. An employee who had charge of the bond department had not appeared at the bank for a week. The deposits were examined, and it was found that there was a shortage of $60,000. The young man resides in the country, and the authorities visited his home and learned that when he arrived there he kissed his parents and left without saying a word. It is supposed that he went to a French port and embarked for America.

MOURNS THE STORK

Catholic Priest Drapes Baptismal Font.

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 22.—When the congregation of St. Peter and St. Paul's Roman Catholic church assembled they were surprised to find the baptismal font draped in mourning. Father Francis H. Sinclair, the priest, had ordered the font draped as a protest against the dearth of births in families attending his church, there not having been a christening in the church for six weeks.

FOUND WILL

It Was Located In A Hand Bag.

LADY INVERCLYDE

HAS BEE BEQUEATHED A BIG ESTATE.

The Widow of the Late Chairman of Cunard Lines Made a Very Gratifying Discovery — After the Widow's Death Money Will Become a Public Bequest.

London, Nov. 22.—Under circumstances worthy of a sensational novel Lady Inverclyde has discovered a hitherto unsuspected will written by her late husband, who was chairman of the Cunard company, and it is stated that the validity of the document is likely to be tested in a court of law.

Lady Inverclyde was looking through the contents of a handbag which her husband had left at his business office in Glasgow, when she found the will, the family solicitor and the present Lord Inverclyde being present at the time.

The will hitherto believed to be the last Lord Inverclyde made was dated March 30th, 1901, and consisted of a single sentence, which ran: "I leave everything I possess of every description to my wife, the Rt. Hon. Mary Baroness Inverclyde, and I appoint her my sole executrix."

The newly discovered document, which covers three sheets of paper, only one of which is signed, is dated November 9th, 1902, and it directs that the property be held in trust for his wife during her lifetime, and that after her death it should go to the Merchants' house of Glasgow, for the creation of a fund to be known as "the Inverclyde bequest," the income from it to be devoted to the benefit of aged or infirm seamen and their families.

This money is to be spent in various towns in Great Britain, and one-fifth of it is to go to New York and Boston. Lord Inverclyde shows interest in the steamship company of which he was chairman by saying he wishes in particular that assistance should be given to distressed seamen who have been in the employ of the Cunard company or G. and J. Burns.

TEXAS HAS A HELEN KELLER

Girl Shows Wonderful Progress in Studies.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 22.—A case which is attracting much notice from those who are aware of the circumstances is that of Ruby Rice, "Helen Keller, of Texas," who is now a pupil at the state institute for the deaf and dumb. Miss Rice was born in October, 1887, and lost sight, hearing and voice as the result of an attack of meningitis. Her home is at Venus, Texas, and she was fourteen years of age when her parents sent her to the state school. She is exceptionally bright and active, but her age at the time she was first placed under the care of trained teachers has been a great handicap. The Braille system has taught her her letters, and she can print with a lead pencil in a manner whereby she can express herself intelligently. She uses a typewriter for her correspondence, essays, and various articles which she writes, and she makes few errors except in punctuation. Miss Mamie Heflybower, of Austin, her teacher, is one of the leading educators in her chosen branch of teaching, and she expresses the earnest belief that Ruby Rice will easily master the higher studies in the course of a few years.

MAKES DENIAL.

Evidence of Girl Who Was Sold For $50.

Winnipeg, Nov. 22.—The statement of Mrs. Chisholm, of Winnipeg; at the recent W.C.T.U. convention at Hamilton, that young Galicians and other Slav girls in the North-West are frequently sold for $25 or $50 to husbands they do not know, is emphatically denied by Father Kulawy, Polish priest, and others having intimate knowledge of Galician settlements. Father Kulawy says it is a pure invention.

In spite of these denials, however, it is said the W.C.T.U. officials have secured information which fully justifies the remarks of Mrs. Chisholm and the last of the controversy has not been heard.

The case is cited where a servant of a well-known family here was compelled to leave at two hours' notice to marry a man she had never seen, but who had paid fifty dollars for her.

Spurns Woman; Dies Alone.

Bridgeton, N.J., Nov. 22.—Benjamin Mulford, a bachelor of this place, died here, aged sixty-five years. He was quite wealthy, having inherited a large estate, and was known for his eccentricities all over this section. Mulford lived alone, and had for many years shunned the society of women. The story goes that in his younger days he was cast aside by a beautiful young woman whom he was engaged to marry, which caused him to have an aversion to the female sex the rest of his life.

Died At Port Perry.

Port Perry, Ont., Nov. 22.—Samuel Honey, Mitchell, died here, last night, in his eighty-seventh year. He was visiting William Jerwood, when he was taken sick. Rev. George E. Honey, Drayton, is a son. The remains will be taken to Mitchell for interment.

SKULLS FOR OCEAN CARGO.

Will Be Shipped From Michigan Town.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 22.—Human skulls are to be shipped from here to Scotland. The gruesome shipment will be made by W. Knox, of Cleveland, Ohio, senior member of the firm of Knox & Elliott, the architects for the power house of the Detroit, Flint & Saginaw railway.

While inspecting the plant at Bridgeport he became greatly interested in the excavations in the Indian burying ground which was uncovered in the operations there, and eagerly gathered up relics.

The work of digging up the skeletons is still going on. The bones are being thrown up continually and while in Bridgeport, Mr. Knox was able to secure two practically perfect skulls. These he will send to his brother, Dr. D. M. Knox, who is a surgeon connected with the University of Glasgow, Scotland. The skull of the American Indian, he thinks, should prove very interesting to those in the old world, as it differs very materially from that of the white man.

STABS BALKY HORSE.

Plunges Knife Into Animal and is Arrested.

New York, Nov. 22.—"Can't make that balky nag move, hey?" said Warren T. Bentley, "I'll move him for you, all right." He did it, but by such means that the driver, instead of thanking him had him arrested for cruelty to animals.

Bentley lives in 680 Twelfth avenue. He was at Eleventh avenue and Fiftieth street when Richard R. Morris of 427 West Fiftieth street drove along in a light waggon. The horse balked, and all efforts to make him move on were unavailing. Finally Bentley said: "I'll show you how to do it."

He opened a penknife and thrust the blade deep into the horse's thigh.

The animal, in agony, leaped forward. Then the unappreciative Morris called a policeman.

"That's thanks, I don't think," grumbled Bentley. "You never can please some men."

GIRL ELUDES HAREM.

Worker in Armenia Escapes From Captors.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 22.—Miss Elizabeth Domboraben will return next week to Armenia, where she has been a Christian worker for several years. She has been in this country for the last three or four months visiting relatives in this city and in Detroit.

Miss Domboraben, since her last visit to this country, had a narrow escape from a harem. She and a sister were made prisoners in a Turkish town. They were taken from the prison to the palace of the kurd, the wealthiest man in the city, in which he lived.

They were told at first that he took them from the prison to give them protection from the outrages. Later they learned that he was making preparations and intended to put this young lady in his harem. She succeeded in escaping with the aid of Turkish women with whom she had become friendly.

A GOOD THING

To Let the Commission Have Absolute Powers.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 22.—Hon. R. F. Sutherland thinks President Roosevelt is taking the right course when he tries to obtain autocratic powers for the inter-state commission in the regulation of railroad freight rates. "If it is like the Canadian scheme," said Mr. Sutherland, "I am sure it will be popular. There has never been any trouble with the dominion commission, and, although it has been in operation but a year, it has worked many reforms. I think the very fact that the board has absolute power helps to keep it out of politics and make it more efficient."

A HALL CONDEMNED.

Meeting Held There, on Sunday, Was Illegal.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—Building inspectors have placarded, as unfit for habitation, the hall occupied by Evangelist Mage, riots at whose meetings precipitated troubles between Le Canada and Laval students. The building department state the hall was condemned October 30th, and that the meeting held there, last Sunday, was in violation of the order.

Was Not Widow, After All.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Ada C. Kepp, of this city, has discovered that her first husband, whom she had supposed dead for many years, is alive and well. He, Herman Steele, left her, it is said, seventeen years ago.

Seven years later, having been informed by his brother that he was dead, she married Benjamin F. Kepp, of this city, and not until a few days ago did she learn that Steele was alive.

To-day she went to Chase, twenty miles from here, found him, and at once commenced proceedings to have her marriage with Kepp annulled. She may then ask for a divorce from Steele, who is now a charge on the poor district.
