

SPANKING NEW BRIDGE: The Indian Trail which connects the Guelph Line to Wellington Rd. 29 has a new span over the Eramosa River between Rockwood and Eden Mills. It opened to traffic last week. The new span replaces the picturesque one lane structure over the river in Spirit Valley which conjured up many spirit stories from nearby residents. - Marie Shadbolt photo

Volunteer training workshops available

Halton Hills Recreation and Parks has planned several training opportunities this fall geared towards the many non-profit groups, sport organizations and volunteers within the Town. Sports groups will be especially interested in the training programs designed for coaching.

Training kicks off September 9th and 11th with the NCCP – Fundamental Movement Skills Workshop. This workshop focuses on the Active Start and Fundamentals stages of development in the Long-Term Athlete Development Model. It is designed to suit basic principles of growth and maturation during the critical early years of development when physical literacy is crucial. The course is designed for parents, coaches and youth leaders who are working with children ages 3-10.

Recreation & Parks is also partnering with Community Development Halton and Volunteer Halton for a series of 12 workshops focused on working with volunteers. Workshops will cover topics such as accessing resources in the community, changing volunteer demographics, building productive working relationships, as well recruiting and retaining the right people for the right position. On the day of the workshops, Volunteer Halton will be available as an on-site resource to individuals and their organizations.

For program details and information on how to register please visit the Town website at www.haltonhills.ca/recandparks or contact the Community Development Supervisor at 905-873-2601 ext. 2262 or email frankp@haltonhills.ca

Birdhouses by Renée Schwartz supplies instructions for building simple birdhouses with easy to find or recycled materials that you can build with your kids. Once you've built the birds a home, Backyard Birdwatching for Kids by George H. Harrison describes and identifies some favourite birds, planting to create a welcoming habitat and which birds are attracted by certain feeders and houses.

Cross the bridge on River Street and visit the Halton Hills Public Library, Acton Branch for these and other informative titles on birds and birdwatching or you can visit our website at www.library.hhpl.on.ca.
