REMARKABLE STORY

AS TO THE THEFT OF RELICS FROM CHURCHES.

Antiquarians Went Into the Business to Recover Valued Articles —Thomas Went Into Business on Own Account.

Paris, Oct. 9.—A sensation has been caused by the remarkable confession of Antonine Thomas, who was arrested, with his mother and sister, charged with complicity in the theft of the famous cope of Orth, valued at $120,000, from the church of Ambasea, near Limoges. Thomas declares that after the passage of the separation law antiquaries of Paris, some of them millionaires, hired him and others to bribe the parish priest to surrender the relics and substitute counterfeits, which could be later turned over to the state. This plan continued for months, and Thomas finally went boldly into wholesale burglary. Thomas estimated the amount of his robberies at about $400,000. Thomas was a rich and respected local magnate to the public, but it seems that, privately he was a practitioner of illegal operations, and even, it is alleged, a murderer. In his house the police found an array of deadly poisons, a blood-stained stiletto, illegal surgical instruments, and a mass of correspondence implicating some of the best known families in France.

If not sweet enough add more sugar. Put in pie plate which has been lined with crust and bake until a rich brown. Remove from oven and cool, then cover with the whites of the three eggs which have been beaten to a stiff froth.

AT ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE

The Lieutenant-Governor Visited It To-Day.

Upon invitation of Col. Taylor, commandant, Sir Mortimer Clark to-day visited the Royal Military college, being received by the military and civil staff in a body. The mayor, Col. Gordon and the Eastern District staff, the local member and chairman of hospital board were invited to share in the visit. The buildings were inspected, the senior cadets reviewed on parade, and seniors and juniors gave gymnastic exhibitions of the very best order, with a precision that seemed faultless. Sir Mortimer complimented them in warm terms, commended the admirable discipline, a valuable asset in after life, and felt that the combination of close intellectual and physical courses were the acme of beneficial education. After the visit he could understand why Canada was proud of the Royal Military college, and why its graduates were distinguished in many walks of life for ability, courage and judgment. He asked for a special favor for the cadets, as a personal concession. At noon His Honor returned to Toronto, without having visited the penitentiary, the only thing his fellow citizens can think of when speaking of Kingston. Let us hope he will be forgiven.

The Napanee people at the fair are not only liberal in their politics, but very liberal every other way. Prominent in their booth are photographs of the old chieftain, the late Sir John A. Macdonald, taken from portraits of him at thirty years of age.

BATTERSEA LOSES PASTOR.

Rev. J. A. Waddell Goes to Victoria College.

Battersea, Oct. 8.—Rev. J. A. Waddell, after a pastorate of two years and five months in the Methodist church here, severed his connection with the same on the 3rd inst. and took his departure for Victoria College, Toronto, where he intends spending the next two years to complete his studies. During his sojourn here he fully sustained his reputation as an earnest, zealous and faithful pastor, and his departure is deeply regretted. Joseph Moorehouse, of Smith's Falls, who succeeds him on the charge, arrived last week and began his duties at once. Mrs. Moorehouse came up with him and they have already settled comfortably in the parsonage.

The many friends here of the late Mrs. John Hughes, of Kingston, but for manyyears a resident of this community, were much pained to hear of her death. Her husband has the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends here. Dr. S. K. Lake and Mrs. Lake have returned from an extended tour among friends at Picton, Bloomfield and Belleville.

Battersea's leading horsemen, Messrs. J. and C. Anglin, W. J. Merriman and D. Ames secured many first prizes at the surrounding fairs. W. Ormsbee and Fred. Matthews also carried off second prizes. F. Balls attended the Ottawa exhibition.

The following visitors have been in our midst of late: James Johnston and wife, Miss Kate Anglin, Lloyd Buck, L. Vanluven and E. W. Vanluven, Kingston; Otto Vanluven, C. Blakesley and Grand, Sydenham; W. Miller, Illinois; S. Campbell, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Compton, Keeler-ville; J. Moore, Seeley's Bay; R. A. Vanluven and wife, Smith's Falls.

The Free Soul.

Surely God can take no pleasure in a slave soul, whose servile obedience is only the outcome of its selfish fear. Surely God desires man to assert their freedom; and to act at least the manly part. The coward is just as contemptible in religion as he is anywhere else. He only is worthy of our respect who is brave enough and strong enough to assert his right to his own belief. He only is able to achieve anything in life worth the doing. To be free is to be forceful. Refuse to be fettered. Stand up and assert your right to liberty. It is your privilege. Claim it.

Address, Mr. Casson for free literature.

"Peerless" Oven Damper Gives Absolute Control.

Most oven dampers have only two positions. They are either wide open or tight shut.

The "Peerless" dampers are adjustable. If the oven is too hot, you can open the damper and keep on adjusting until you get the proper temperature.

This means economy in fuel consumption. With the ordinary oven damper to keep the oven from getting too hot, the heat must be all thrown up the chimney. Then the drafts have to be turned on again, because the temperature drops too rapidly.

Ask your dealer to show you this special damper. Also the "Peerless" Drop Oven Door, Daylight Oven, and Duplex Grates. These points of advantage over other stoves, are exclusive. Write for catalogue. 54
