GOOD MONEY

Given by Cortelyou to National Banks.

GROUP OF BANKERS

HEADED BY MORGAN, BACK THE TRUST CO.

Trading on Change Still Excited, But No Violent Crash in Prices As Yesterday—Buyers at All Times.

New York, Oct. 24.—Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou deposited substantial sums of government money in national banks, yesterday and a group of bankers, headed by J. P. Morgan, stood behind the Trust company of America, while this institution stoutly withstood the strongest run that any banking house in this city has encountered since the run on Union Trust company and two national banks in 1884.

Trading on the stock exchange was still fitful and excited, but there was no such violent crash in prices as on the preceding day, and banks which were calling loans thus had a market on which to place securities. It was a weak market, but at all times there were buyers for the standard investments, stocks and bonds.

Besides the run on the Trust company of America, there was a run, though of much less magnitude on the Lincoln Trust company located in close proximity to the suspended Knickerbocker Trust company, but the company weathered the storm in safety.

WILL CARRY THEM.

New York, Oct. 24.—Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou decided, last night, to deposit $2,500,000 of government money in the national banks of New York. It was also decided, late last night, that the bankers would carry the trust companies through the present crisis.

Fear Of The Big Stick.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 24.—Major Henry L. Higginson, a leading banker of this city, says regarding the financial conditions:

"The financial conditions are due to a combination of causes. Chief among them is the publicity given the methods of some of the large operators and the fear endengered by the big stick policy of the administration. It is hard to say what the effect will be. I have not heard of a Boston bank that is expecting the slightest trouble. We are right in the midst now of a panic worst than the panic of 1893, so far as the stock market is concerned. It has lasted longer. I look to see it affect industrial conditions. It may not go to the extremes of hard times, but I look to see business dull and times slack. There is not enough money to carry on business in the country at the rate it is progressing to-day. The amount of money and the amount of business must be equalized, no matter how painful the process, if we want the financial conditions straightened out."

THROWN DOWN STAIRS

In Ferment Over Reinstatement of Detective.

Winnipeg, Oct. 24.—Detective Smith, at liberty on $20,000 bail for shooting to death a suspected thief, fleeing from arrest, was restored to his official position by the chief of police, and at once made two arrests. The papers editorially denounce the chief's action as high-handed, and call on the police commission for immediate action. The whole city is in a ferment over the incident. So bitter are the police that an officer threw the assistant editor of the Free Press down a flight of stairs at a fire, though he knew the man and his duty.

Legacy For Orphan Girls.

Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—It is announced that the will of Robert N. Carson, who died last week, provides for a $5,000 institution for orphan girls, patterned after Girard College. The will provides that the institution shall not be controlled by any religious denomination.

European countries, especially in Germany and Switzerland, where the work along this line is far advanced over this country. He began the first practical scientific forestry work in this country in North Carolina in 1892. He was one of the organizers of the national department of forestry, and has published a number of books on his specialty. Mr. Pinchot is a bachelor.

PREFERENCE TO MOTHER.

Australia Adopts Proposals Without Division.

Melbourne, Oct. 24.—In the House of Commons, yesterday, the preference proposals, regarding Britain, were adopted without a division.

Discussing the proposals Premier Deakin said the recent imperial conference made it clear that no reciprocity was possible, at present, with the mother country. The present proposals, therefore, offered the gift of a preference as a tentative one, to be extended and adapted according to experience so as to render it more effective.

The premier strongly urged the gift of a preference as a means of diverting trade from foreign to British goods, and as a manifestation of attachment to the mother country.

SOLD TO THE INDIANS.

Bishop Requests Government to Enforce Laws.

Toronto, Oct. 24.—Right Rev. G. Holmes, Bishop of Moosonee, called upon Hon. Mr. Hanna, provincial secretary, with the complaint that an increasing sale of intoxicants, together with a distribution of essences containing alcohol, is going on among the Ojibway and Cree Indians, and the Eskimos in his diocese, the headquarters of which are at Chapleau, on the C.P.R., and extend as far north as the Arctic circle. The provincial secretary promised to see what could be done towards regulating the sale of these liquors among the semi-civilized peoples of the Northern Ontario wilds.

They were found negligent in making their examination.

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 24.—Turnkey James Forbes has resigned. Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisons, said the rule requiring the turnkey to sleep in the jail must be enforced. BURNING WORDS

CHICAGO PREACHER AGAINST VIOLATORS OF VOWS.

Hits at the Divorce Evil and Suggests a Method of Cure—A Great Enemy of Pure Life.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—"Of all the base bloodhounds of hell that have slipped their leashes, these are the meanest. Compared with them the common murderer would make a good Christian Endeavor president." That was the characterization of men recently figuring in the news of the day as "affinity" seekers voiced by Rev. James T. Marshall in the Second Presbyterian church, Oak Park.

He also had something to say about the prevalence of divorce in the United States, and declared that the only solution of the divorce evil would be to restrict the issuance of marriage licenses.

"We have been hearing a great deal lately about affinities," said Rev. Mr. Marshall. "The papers are reporting cases of men who suddenly discover affinities in the wives of other men and put their discoveries into practice."

Then, following his characterization of "affinities,' he continued:

"For the wretch who in hunger steals; for him who in anger strikes a blow; for him who falls under the temptation to drink, let us have charity. But for the low libidinous leper who deserts his wife, to whom he has sworn eternal love, and seeks to cover up his nastiness with such adulterous sentimentality, let us keep nothing but vials of vitriolic wrath. I would hang every one of these fellows. They are the worst enemies of decency and order and should be lashed to the utmost limit of the law. It is to be hoped that our judges will realize their privileges."

Rev. Mr. Marshall's sermon was on the seventh commandment. From a discussion of the commandment he led up thus to the question of divorce:

"The seventh commandment forbids everything that tends to degrade family life. The lowering of our moral sense is evident from the way in which we issue our divorces. We have the worst record of any nation upon the earth. In twenty years we in the United States divorced 328,000 couples, thus affecting the destinies of 656,000 married persons and thousands of children. This is on an average of 16,000 couples yearly. In ten years Chicago has divorced 16,388 couples. New York stands next of our cities with 5,231.

"We need more uniformity in our state laws. We need an effort to limit the number of marriage licenses issued. Do we not begin our reformation at the wrong end of the line? Should one who is sure to transmit disease, or one who is mentally deficient, or one who is sure to remain a pauper or habitual drunkard be allowed to contract such a relationship as marriage implies?

"On the other hand, a great enemy of pure life is found in the increasing tendency on the part of those eligible to remain single and to live in clubs or boarding houses, rather than in homes. Our stores and offices are being filled with thousands of bachelors and maidens. The inordinate expenses of living, the vexations of the servant problem, keep persons from marrying. Yet there can be no happiness like that described as four feet as a fender.' Nor can morals be kept as pure as in the married state."

DELMAR BEAT SWEET MARIE.

Crack Trotters Meet in Match at Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Oct. 23.—Major Delmar defeated Sweet Marie in a match race here for a purse of $2,500, winning two out of three heats. The race was the three fastest heats ever trotted on the track in a race. Major Delmar drew the pole and had a length's advantage at the quarter. The Major led all the way and led by a neck.

In the second heat Delmar broke on the word and lost ten lengths. He was fast, however, when he caught, and was a little more than a length back at the half. Sweet Marie led by two lengths at the upper turn, and maintained the distance to the finish.

McDonald stole the pole for the third heat on the turn, and was two lengths in the lead at the quarter. Andrews moved up a little on the back stretch and was only a length back at the half. At the three-quarters the horses were on even terms, but entering the stretch the mare broke, and Delmar won easily by two lengths. The times—2.07¼, 2.06, 2.06¼.

ALD. NICKLE'S ATTACK

Upon Ald. Toye Smelled Strongly of Politics.

An amusing incident occurred at the city council meeting on Monday evening, the recital of which was overlooked. Alderman Nickle had been criticising Alderman Toye, as chairman of the light and power committee, for the unsatisfactory street lighting, and declared that the chairman was trying to protect himself by throwing the blame on the chief of police. Alderman Nickle said that as he understood the agreement, the chairman had full power to order the lights on and off.

Ald. Toye then quoted City Solicitor McIntyre as saying that only the chief of police had that authority, by reason of the agreement made, and declared that he was not trying to throw any of his responsibilities on the chief of police.

Mayor Mowat followed, and read the clauses of the agreement bearing on the point at issue. He agreed with the city solicitor that the chairman had not the authority. That was clear. "With all his ingenuity," said the mayor, "Alderman Nickle has not attempted to show why he should throw the blame on Alderman Toye."

"How can I," replied Alderman Nickle, laughing.

And the aldermen understood fully what Alderman Nickle had been trying to do. It was just a political attack on an alderman who is likely to be a mayoralty candidate and didn't reflect any credit upon Alderman Nickle, who shouldn't stoop to such tactics.

STIFF PRICES ON MARKET.

Eggs Sell at 35c., and Butter at 30c.

The price of butter and eggs is the topic of much conversation among the good housewives these days. And there is ample excuse for all the talk. On the market this morning eggs sold at 35c. per dozen and butter at 30c a pound. Last Saturday some farmers received 34c. for their butter, and received quite a shock when offered only 30c.

"That man had the nerve to offer me only 30c.," one lady was heard to remark.

There has been such an increase in the cost of living that some of the boarding house keepers have raised the price of board, and it looks as if the advance will be a general one, if the present state of affairs does not take a change for the better.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Eating Ability of a Family is Questioned.

Kingston, Oct. 24.—(To the Editor): In yesterday's issue I noticed a letter from "Housekeeper" telling how the poor suffer from the increased cost of bread. I agree thoroughly with her on that point, but think her illustration is a little overdrawn. According to her statement a mother and five children, of whom one is an infant of two months, have to now use eight loaves a day, or ten pounds of bread. Leaving out the infant this would be two pounds of bread each. Even if the family used nothing else than bread they would hardly require that much. Surely they must be terrific eaters if they consume ten pounds of bread, besides porridge, milk and meat. Such eating is not conducive to the best of health.—READER.

ENGINEERS COMING

To Give Information on the Water Power Question.

This morning, Alderman Toye, chairman of the light, heat and power committee, received word that the engineers of the Hydro-Electric commission of the Ontario government would visit Kingston during the first week in November to give all information as to the cost of bringing water power for electrical purposes to this city. At the city council meeting two weeks ago, the commission was asked to take up the matter as it concerned Kingston. In response, it is sending its engineers here, and they will first confer with J. M. Campbell and the civic light committee.

Death Of John Raven.

Alfred John Raven, 333 Montreal street, passed peacefully away at the Hotel Dieu, this morning, after a long illness. The deceased, who was sixty years old, was well known in the city and vicinity. He was formerly night clerk at the Randolph Hotel, and was a bookkeeper and accountant for many leading houses before his health demanded that he give up office work.

The late Mr. Raven was an Anglican in religion and a liberal in politics. A wife and four children are left to mourn his loss. For several years Mr. Raven was engaged as clerk in Henderson's grocery, and was well known throughout the city. He came to Kingston from Brockville, where he was engaged in business.

The War Department Will Give Decision.

New York, Oct. 24.—The great international balloon race for the Bennett cup, ended yesterday with the German, the Pommern and the French Isle of France cars so equally divided as to honors that it will be necessary to await a decision from the war department, at Washington, to tell which wins.
