Tips For The Farmers

BY UNCLE JOSH.

With the price of butter and eggs going up, it has been making the city people think a little. Eggs at 35c. and butter at 30c. is no mean figure, and some of the farmers have been receiving as high as 34c. for butter. But then, Kingston is not the only place where the prices have been advanced. At other markets the prices have taken a jump just the same. A drop in these quotations would indeed be welcome news to the good housewives.

A number of hogs were boarded in Kingston at the meeting on Thursday, but as there were no buyers present, there were no bids. This board will be open to all farmers who wish to board their hogs. The board will be run on exactly the same principles as the cheese board, the hogs being allowed to go to the highest bidder, if the price suits the salesman.

Credit is due the members of the cheese board who suggested starting a hog board, and now that it has been given a start, it should be continued. Of course the season is now well-advanced, but there is no reason why it should not be made a success.

Members not present at the cheese board meeting on Thursday, will bear in mind that owing to next Thursday being Thanksgiving day, that the next meeting will be held on Thursday, November 7th, at 1.30 p.m.

We believe, says the Nor'-West Farmer, that one of the great evils of our present day is the desire to acquire farms that are too large. No doubt speculative profits are very alluring, but speculation is often the enemy of real and substantial progress. There are many large, weed-grown farms, upon which men are today struggling to make payments and extract a livelihood, that will yet furnish a good living for two families in the place of one when they are cut in two and given proper cultivation and attention. Too large farms are a detriment to the communities and to the men owning them. If a farmer's land grows weeds because he lacks the force at the right time to cope with them properly, he becomes a public nuisance. As an individual living where two might live, he is not likely to build up and maintain the best kind of roads, schools and public utilities. Then, too, the farmer, as everybody else, has a right to enjoy life. If he is always behind with his work, and has too many cares upon his shoulders, he cannot do so. Such a man should alter his arrangements. There is a possibility that the beginner, whether a newcomer or a young farmer just starting out for himself, may make a mistake either by getting hold of too much or too little land; but for the building up of happy homes, the rearing of contented families, and the evolving of permanent successful methods of farming, we believe that nine are making the former mistake for each one that is committing the latter evil.

A United States consul stationed in the Maritime provinces, has reported to his government that one and a half million bushels of potatoes were last year shipped from New Brunswick to Ontario.

A new and most interesting department has been organized in connection with the Ontario Agricultural College. This department has been created in response to requests presented by the Dominion Millers' Association and the Dominion Master Bakers' organization. These requests were based on the fact that millers have found that scarcely any two lots of wheat will yield the same quality of flour, while bakers have found difficulty in obtaining a uniform grade of flour from time to time. In order to meet the demand for investigation into the facts stated a plant has been established at the college to which a miller may send a sample of wheat at eight o'clock in the morning and a loaf of bread will be made from it by two o'clock. Reports will then be prepared as to the strength and expansion of the specimen of flour submitted as compared with a standard flour. This, it is hoped, will enable millers to so mix their wheat that they can secure a uniform quality in flour. The work is under the direction of Prof. Harcourt.

In view of the shortage in the feed supply of this province, the Ontario department of agriculture has been making enquiries from the authorities in the North-West provinces as to the practicability of Ontario farmers securing frosted wheat for feeding purposes. The opinion is general that there will be a large amount of frosted wheat of too low a grade to be used for milling. How much of this wheat will be placed upon the market as feed it is difficult to determine until the threshing is completed, but the deputy minister of agriculture for Alberta states that if the total wheat crop of the North-West reaches the eighty million bushel mark, there will probably be from ten to fifteen million bushels that will be marketed as feed wheat.

As regards the quality of feeding value of frosted wheat, the same authority states that it has been pretty generally demonstrated in the west, and also by experiments at Ottawa, that frosted wheat makes excellent feed. It is the opinion of the secretary of the North-West Grain Dealers' Association that, for the purpose indicated it has all the value of No. 1 wheat, and that it is much safer to use on account of the higher percentage of bran it contains, which would naturally be mixed with it in the grinding.

A FISHERMAN'S LUCK.

Weak, Worn and in Despair Pink Pills Came to His Rescue.

"My strength was almost gone, my breath very short and I could hardly walk. I used many remedies but they did not help me. Finally a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so and to-day, thanks to the pills I am a perfectly well man."

This very emphatic statement is made by R. L. Porter, of Maitland, N. S. Mr. Porter is a fisherman, and naturally a hard working man, subject to much exposure. He further says: "I was in a state of debility and bloodlessness. Sometimes I could attend to my work, but often was too weak and miserable to do so. I was wakeful and restless at night, and could not eat in the morning. I was troubled with pains in my back and shoulders, sometimes I could hardly straighten up. Then indigestion came to add to my misery and my condition was one that made me almost hopeless. I tried several medicines—but in vain. Then one day a friend said why don't you try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills? I tried them and I shall always be grateful for them. In a short time I began to regain my health. I could eat better, and could eat any kind of food. My strength returned, I could attend to my work. I was in fact perfectly well again, and this is actually due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills build up the strength and drive out disease in just one way—they actually make new red blood. That is all they do, but they do it well. They don't act on the bowels—they don't purge and weaken like common pills. They don't bother with mere symptoms, they go right to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why they cure anaemia, with all its headaches and backaches, and dizziness and heart palpitation. That is why they cure indigestion, rheumatism, neauralgia, St. Vitus dance, general weakness and the special ailments that growing girls and women do not like to talk about even to their doctors. But you must insist on getting the genuine pills with the full name "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine company, Brockville, Ont.

New York Times.

In a certain New England college one of its most eminent professors was lecturing. His class was for some reason restless, and after fidgeting for a time a number of the students took no pains to conceal their weariness.

The professor remained a while in apparent unconsciousness of their attitude, but suddenly he stopped. After an instant's pause he leaned forward, his face taking on a charming and characteristically quizzical expression and said:

"Gentlemen, I must ask that you be patient and bear with me a few moments longer; I still have a few more pearls to cast."

FOR LITTLE MOTHERS

SCHOOL TO TEACH CARE OF BABIES IN PARIS.

Taught Also Household Economy and Hygiene—A Great Success—Composer Has Statue in His Honor in Lifetime.

Paris, Oct. 26.—Mme. Jeanne Girard and Prof. Pinard, of the Paris Academy of Medicine, have founded a school for little mothers here which is developing with great success.

For, after all, maternity does not of necessity bring knowledge with it, and not only the mothers of the babies of the poor, but often, too, their little sisters, have solid need of teaching. We all know how many accidents occur daily to babies, owing to a carelessly adjusted pin, an ill-washed bottle, fruit given for a treat, draughts, dirty sponges, which cause twenty-five per cent. of infant blindness, and many other things which nursing education would prevent.

And when the baby grows a little older the little sister should have learned to teach it, and this teaching is of no use unless it has been practically taught to the teacher.

The school for little mothers has been started in the very thick of the working quarter of Paris, and is run in connection with L'Union Familiale, which is a school for older mothers. Here these are taught household economy and hygiene. They are taught how to feed themselves, their husbands and their children, and how to make their homes pleasant ones. The union has reduced economy to so complete a system that it has proved by numerous experiences among the pupils the possibility of living, and of living well, at an expense of $5 a month for food. And food is considered dearer in Paris than it is in London.

In the school for little mothers, little girls of ten, and even less, are taught the care of babies. They are taught how to attract baby's attention, how to bring his memory into play, and how to make him think. A visit to the school in the Rue de Charonne is most instructive.

The children sit in groups of five or six round little tables, and every little table is in charge of a little mother. An elder mother, a class mistress, sits in a corner of the room, but she is only there for reference in case the little mothers need assistance. There is a hum of enjoyment in the room, for the babies are learning to model a fowl in clay, and children love pottering about with anything messy as much in Paris as they do in New York or San Francisco.

The Paris detectives, there is no doubt, are the finest in the world. Little escapes them. Perhaps it has to do with the inherent inquisitiveness of the French character, but at any rate the Paris detectives have just accomplished another remarkable feat in the recovery almost within twenty-four hours of another picture stolen in Brussels.

M. Camille Saint-Saens, the famous French composer, is one, of the few men in this world who have over enjoyed the honor of having a statue erected to them during their lifetime.

At the Place Saint-Saens, at Dieppe, a statue is being erected this October to the composer of "Samson and Delila." The maestro, who is a picturesque figure, is represented seated with a music score on his knees, the head is lifted in the attitude of thinking. The reason why Dieppe is thus honoring the composer, is that, although he is himself a Parisian, his family originated at Dieppe.

M. Saint-Saen's mother was an ardent painter of flowers and, says her son, she did them very well. She used often to say to her son, "What will become of all these pictures after I am dead? You had better burn them."

But Saint-Saens did not burn them, and after the lady's death he offered the whole collection to the town of Dieppe, which accepted them gratefully, and placed them in two rooms in the museum along with some old-fashioned furniture, which also belonged to the deceased lady, which her son presented with the pictures. The two rooms are now known as the Saint-Saens collection.

As vengeance for the punishment of his son, who robbed a bank at Brussels and was sent to jail, a bank employee named Loyson has "gone and done likewise."

Both father and son were employed in the same bank, and when the youth was convicted of embezzlement, his father was retained at the bank on swearing that he knew nothing about his son's theft.

A year after this incident, the elder Loyson disappeared with $70,000, telegraphing from a safe distance to the manager as follows: "You were inhuman to my son. I take my revenge. I have stolen 350,000 francs from the bank and am going to a far distant country. This will be your punishment. You will perhaps have me arrested, but never will you find the money."

There are plenty who would rather chain the wheels of the car of progress than to push it along from the rear.

BEER STEADIES THE NERVES

GOOD beer, used as a beverage with meals, makes steadier, stronger nerves because it helps the stomach do its work better.

Your own doctor will tell you that the right use of beer is good for almost every adult,—women especially.

The little alcohol in beer (less than there is in cider) helps digest food. Get the right idea about beer, and be healthier for using it.

BEER is a term which covers lagers, ales, porter, and stout, and, in the province of Ontario brewing, bottling beverages made under most hygienic conditions, both Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops and pure water.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Territories, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person the sole head of a family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for homestead entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

An application for entry or cancellation made personally at any sub-agencies who may be wired to the Agent by the sub-agent, at the expense of the applicant, and if the land applied for is vacant on receipt of the telegram such application is to have priority and the land will be held until the necessary papers to complete the transaction are received by mail.

In case of "personation" or fraud the applicant will forfeit all priority of claim and if entry has been granted it will be summarily cancelled.

An application for cancellation must be made in person. The applicant must be eligible for homestead entry, and only one application for cancellation will be received from an individual until that application has been disposed of.

Where an entry is cancelled subsequent to institution of cancellation proceedings, the applicant for cancellation will be entitled to prior right of entry.

Applicant for cancellation must state in what particulars the homesteader is in default.

A homesteader whose entry is not the subject of cancellation proceedings may, subject to the approval of Department, relinquish it in favor of father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister if eligible, but to no one else, on filing declaration of abandonment.

DUTIES—A settler is required to perform the duties under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of the homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother.)

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line, exclusive of the width of road allowance crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL—Coal mining rights may be leased for a period of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres shall be leased to one individual or company. A royalty at the rate of five cents per ton shall be collected on the merchantable coal mined.

QUARTZ—A person eighteen years of age or over, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1,500x1,500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5. At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, on having a survey made, and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 per acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent on the sales. Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, renewable yearly.

An applicant may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.
