LAW ENFORCEMENT

MAYOR GRAHAM COMMENDED FOR HIS STAND.

Rev. Dr. MacTavish Disagrees With the Chief of Police Regarding Constables' Duty to Enforce the Liquor Law.

Kingston, April 11.—(To the Editor): It was refreshing to hear Mayor Graham declare so emphatically, at the meeting of council, on Monday evening, that he would see that by-laws would be enforced in this city. For this he is to be highly commended. Probably the chief of police will now take a somewhat different view of his duty from that which he has hitherto held. About eighteen months ago it was reported at a meeting of the Moral and Social Reform League that the police officers did not regard it as their duty to enforce the liquor license act. I was deputed by the league to see the chief about the matter. He received me very kindly but said very decidedly: "I do not want my men to go into the bar-rooms at all. If the license inspector desires help to make a raid I shall detail a couple of men to aid him but if he does not ask for assistance he does not get it."

Now, I submit, that this is not the proper stand for the chief to take. If his men cannot be trusted to do their duty faithfully in a bar-room, or in any other place, they ought not to be on the force. But from what I know of the police constables of this city I believe they can be trusted anywhere, and at any time, and that they are willing to do their duty if the chief will only give the word. And he ought to give it, for it is the duty of the police to see that all laws, including the license law, are enforced. Section 129 of the liquor license act, says: "Every officer so appointed under this act, every policeman, or constable, or inspector shall be deemed to be within the provisions of this act, and where any information is given to any such officer, policeman, constable or inspector that there is cause to suspect that some person is violating any of the provisions of this act, it shall be his duty to make diligent inquiry into the truth of such information and to enter complaint of such violation before the proper court without communicating the name of the person giving such information."

Surely that is explicit enough and surely in view of such a law the chief has no right to tell his men that they have nothing to do with the enforcement of the liquor license act.

Mayor Graham's manly declaration may help the chief to see some things in a different light and it may produce activity where there was inertia before.—Sincerely yours, W. S. MACTAVISH.

USE BRITISH MONEY

TARIFF LEAGUE SAID TO BE FINANCING CAMPAIGN.

It Sees in Reciprocity Agreement a Menace to the Protectionist Propaganda.

Ottawa, April 11.—It is stated upon good authority that the anti-reciprocity campaign now being conducted with great vehemence in some sections of the opposition press, and which is being supplemented by a statistical and circularizing bureau, with headquarters at Ottawa, derives a considerable part of its motive power from the Tariff Reform league of England, which is said to have contributed a considerable amount of money to the campaign fund here. It is an undoubted fact that thousands of dollars have already been spent in paying for newspaper advertisements and other forms of arousing the public against the government's reciprocity proposals. The question as to where the money came from has for weeks past been a mystery to those not on the inside. It is now asserted that at least a part of the money is being supplied from the well-financed Tariff Reform league in Great Britain, which professes to see in the carrying out of the reciprocity agreement a menace to the protectionist propaganda they are preaching in the mother country.

Naturally the interference of the British protectionists in Canadian politics is sub rosa, and any details as to active co-operation between the high protectionists of Canada and those of Great Britain are, for obvious reasons, kept closely guarded. But the significant statement is credited to one of the chief men of the anti-reciprocity organization that funds for conducting a campaign against the government were never so plentiful.

FARMERS ALL FAVOR IT.

Ottawa, April 11.—Another return in regard to the reciprocity representations was given to the house of commons yesterday by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It included 64 memorials. Of these 62 were in favor of reciprocity; the other two were against, and they came from the legislative assembly of Manitoba and the conservative association of North Wellington. All the pro-reciprocity memorials came from the west, except four from the liberals of Ormstown, Que., the liberals of Niagara township, the farmers of South Oxford and the farmers of Thorold township.

Men Who "Kicked Up."

Pembroke, Ont., April 11.—Herbert Monette and Alexander McDougall, two Porcupine men, were sentenced to three months' and one month's imprisonment respectively on the charge of assault.

On their way from the north they had become disorderly on the C.P.R. train and resisted and attacked the conductor, and the county constable of Pembroke, who happened to be on the train, was called upon by the conductor to arrest the pair. While Monette's arrest was being effected, McDougall jumped from the train while going at full speed and escaped temporarily. However, a C.P.R. detective sent after him succeeded in arresting and landing him safely behind the bars in Pembroke.

Sacramento, Cal., April 11.—Governor Johnson, yesterday, signed a bill providing that in case of a conviction for non-support, a husband may be sentenced to jail and be required to work on the public roads or other public works, and the county paying $1.50 to his wife and children for each day the non-provider works.

Chicken Takes Diamond.

Richmond, Va., April 11.—There is a very proud chicken loafing around the country place of Whitney B. Davie, on the Petersburg turnpike, because somewhere in his or her gizzard is hidden a $200 diamond plucked from the ring on the hand of Miss Mary Davie.

Miss Davie was feeding a flock of pet chickens from her hand, when she felt a sudden tug at the finger, and glancing down saw the stone gone from the ring. There were sixty chickens in the flock, so it was impossible to identify the thief.
