Crowds of rural residents near the Kharkiv railway station waiting for a chance to take a train (PD230)

*James Abbe Archive. No. 1147.

Caption: "FORBIDDEN. Kharkov. Peasants waiting for a train. Abbe arrested for this."

Abbe, James E. I Photograph Russia. New York: R.M. McBride & Co, 1934. f.p.53.

Caption: "Forbidden. I was arrested for taking this railway scene. Starved peasants wait week-long for trains to some objective they vainly imagine is the Promised Land where they may find enough food to keep alive." (FORBIDDEN! is also stamped across the mid-right portion of the photo in the published version).
