ABOLISH ALL THE TAXES ON FOOD

"If Reciprocity Were to Be Settled by Women It Would Just Walk In"---What Leading Steward Says About Food Stuffs.

Will reciprocity reduce the cost of living in Canadian towns and cities? Listen to what the steward of a leading hotel in Toronto says. He is a man who knows market conditions in the big cities of America and Europe. To the Star to-day he said:

"I am importing fresh provisions from the United States practically all the time. I simply can't get the stuff here in Canada except for a couple of months in the year. So reciprocity means that I'll save up to thirty per cent. duty.

"We import all our vegetables and practically all our fruit, except at this fall season," he told the Star. "We used to import our steaks from Chicago, too, but we have a good Canadian connection now. They cost twenty per cent. more here than in Chicago, but I don't have to pay the duty. It works out to about the same thing when I count duty, or, maybe, just a few cents dearer. But the convenience of having the supply right here makes up for that.

"We actually need the Southern vegetables. There's nothing grown up here in the winter. We've got to feed our people winter and summer, all the year round, every day. They want fresh vegetables in the winter, in the spring—all the time. They want them most just when they couldn't get them if we had to depend on Canadian stuff.

"Take head lettuce. We use that every day, 365 days in the year. We can't get it in Canada except for a short season. Take tomatoes. We need them all the year round. There is only ten weeks for Canadian tomatoes. Cucumbers, another line we serve all the year round. Only two and a half months of Canadian cucumbers. Green peppers here last only six weeks. We import them by the fifteen-dollar crate in winter and give the government five dollars. Canadian celery lasts only until December 1st. We have to import carrots, onions, turnips, beans, squash, and peas, except for a couple of month in the fall. Our tenderloin steaks come mostly from across the line. They don't cut many tenderloins here. We will save twenty cents a bushel on our potatoes, for we've got to serve new potatoes all the year round. Canadian strawberries don't begin until the middle of June. We use Ingersoll hams and bacon, but we pay more than we would in Chicago. The Swift hams cost us twenty cents in Toronto and eighteen cents in Buffalo. Canned stuff is cheaper over there, too," said the steward, "and fish also, generally speaking.

"If this reciprocity question were taken out of politics, taken out of the hands of the men and left to the women, the housekeepers, I tell you, it would just walk in. It wouldn't need any boosting," said the steward.

WARNING OF FUEL FAMINE IN WEST

Saskatchewan Government Notifies Householders to Get Supplies in Immediately.

Regina, Sask., Sept. 14.—The provincial government is scattering broadcast throughout Saskatchewan, a warning to householders to at once place their orders for the winter's fuel supplies. Attention is drawn to the fact that for the coming winter's supply this province must this year depend upon the Pennsylvania mines, and that with the limited storage facilities at the lake ports it is necessary that dealers in Saskatchewan should place as much coal as possible before the close of navigation, so that any stock held then either at Fort William or by the dealers, can be held as reserves.

The situation is believed to be such that should the people fail to heed the warning and not stock up now, nothing can prevent the occurrence of a disastrous fuel famine during the approaching winter.

BORDEN'S ALLIES.

"The English have never done anything for the French-Canadians. We owe them nothing. The French-Canadians do not want to bother themselves about what may be said or done in the other provinces on this question of the navy. They can and must settle the questions which interest them without occupying themselves with others. Those who disembowelled your fathers on the Plains of Abraham ask you to-day to go and get yourselves killed for them."—P. E. Blondin, conservative for Champlain, at St. Louis, Blandford.

WILL NEED HIGH SLITS IN SKIRTS.

Women Propose to be Encased in Gowns Like Sausage Coverings.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Along with the weather reports and the dope drifting out of the camps of prize fighters cames the thrilling information from the headquarters of Dame Fashion now located at the Chicago Dressmakers' clubs, that skirts are to be worn tight this year; so tight, in fact that fur-trimmed slits as high as the social position of the wearer will permit will be necessary to enable the victim to walk.

This year Chicago has wrestled the maelstrom of style from Paris and New York and the momentous question "What to wear" will be decided at the fall meeting of the Chicago Dressmakers' club to be held September 18th to 22nd. There will be a three-day session with Mme. Belle Armstrong Whitney, now of Paris as the oracle of the occasion.

Things, or rather the women at the meetings of the club will not move so fast as has been their wont for all will be handicapped by the tight-fitting garments. It is absolutely essential to one's position to wear a gown that clings like a glove.

Ruches will be fashionable as trimming, and especially about the bottom of skirts. Everything must be snug and fit close to the form. Street dresses will be low at the top short at the bottom and open at the sides or front.

Prohibitionists Claim Win.

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—Complete returns from every one of 521 cities, towns and plantations in state indicate that "drys" have been successful in their effort to retain the prohibitory amendments in the state constitution. After a day of fluctuations, the figures favoring first one side and then the other, it was announced last night that with reports from 350 of the 521 places in Maine, verified, the prohibitionists had won by 515 votes.

The ministry of marine has drawn up its programme which will give China at the end of seven years a fleet of eight battleships, twenty cruisers, ten smaller vessels, and fifty torpedo boats and destroyers. It also provides for four naval arsenals.

W. B. Carroll has returned from a short visit in London. Miss Annie Shaneman, Tanner street, left this week to spend the winter with relatives in the far west provinces. Mrs. John Lasha and family, Charles street, have returned from a few weeks' visit at Chaffey's Locks.

Miss Eulalie Salter, Garden street, spending the past few weeks with relatives in Brampton and Toronto, has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Briggs, Watettown, N.Y., are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Heaslip, Victoria avenue.

At Lavant Station.

Lavant Station, Sept. 12.—Mrs. E. McFarlane and family are spending week in Montreal with her sister, Mrs. Reager and Mrs. Lattin. Mrs. Ross Alcorn has gone to Renfrew to spend a few days with her husband, who is working there. William Thomas is spending a couple of weeks among relatives around Middleville and Renfrew. Norval and Clara Lee left last week for Edmonton, Alberta, also Miss Maggie Mundell left for Plumkett, Sask., to visit her father and mother and brothers. A. E. Jackson and E. J. McFarlane spent the week-end at the Lanark fair and visiting friends around Lanark. Rev. J. Binnie, of Tweed, was here yesterday on his way to Poland and Clyde Forks, where meetings will be held arranging to have those places under the Lanark and Renfrew presbytery instead of the Kingston presbytery, as they formerly have been. Since the closing down of the Wilbur iron mines nearly all the residents have gone away. Quite a number got work in Renfrew and some have gone to Porcupine, where they found good jobs awaiting them.

The destruction of the house fly is a public duty. Almost every American State Board of Health is carrying on a crusade against him.

His filthy origin and habits, and the fact that his body is generally laden with disease-producing germs, makes him one of the greatest enemies of the human race.

If the housekeepers of Canada will use persistently, this peril would be tremendously reduced.
