HEART DISEASE CURED

Kingston Girl Saved by "Fruit-a-tives"

Heart Weakness and Heart Irritation are the common outgrowth of Indigestion. Gas is formed in the stomach and this accumulation of gas bulges out the walls of the stomach and presses against the heart. Palpitation, pain over the heart, and sometimes a feeling of smothering and dizziness, all are caused by the stomach and not because of any organic heart disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always cure this weak, irritated condition of the heart by curing the stomach.

91 CLERGY ST., KINGSTON, ONT.

"I suffered for some years with a dangerous form of Heart Trouble. My heart beat violently, and I had pain over the heart and down the arms. I also suffered with Constipation and Indigestion. I was treated by physicians and took many remedies, but nothing did me any good. Then I began taking "Fruit-a-tives", and this medicine completely cured me of all the heart trouble, constipation and indigestion, and gave me back perfect health." (Miss) MABLE TODD.

LAMENT OF A FARMER

OVER THE YOUNG MEN LEAVING THE FARMS.

No Wonder the Cost of Living is High—Canada Should be Praised to the Canadian Youth.

Mountain Grove, Nov. 27.—(To the Editor): I was very much interested in Dr. Gibson's letter of recent date. He touches upon a few facts which are hitting the farmers of Ontario pretty hard at present. I have been a resident of Central North Frontenac for forty-five years, and what little education I ever got was in a little old stone school house, over fifty odd years ago. That is the time when we used Murray's geography (published in New York), in the public schools of Ontario. It was a book, American throughout, a book that pictured Canada to the youth of that time as a cold, barren country, noted for its fur-bearing animals, and with the exception of a few scattered settlements along the great lakes, thinly inhabited by Eskimos, Indians and Polar bears. The United States is represented as one of the finest country's in the world, with great advantage and a colored map of every state in the union.

What was the result of that kind of teaching to the youth of that time? Thousands of our best Canadian boys went to the States. Thousands of them enlisted in the American army, and thousands of them sold their lives for a few paltry dollars, and died fighting for a foreign country, and many a Canadian father and mother were left to mourn the loss of a son, and now we have another problem confronting the farmers and people of Ontario generally, and especially the towns and cities. Let us see where the real fault lies. Go where you may over Ontario, among the farmers, and what will you find. You will find that the young men and women have been educated on the farms in Ontario by the thousands in the last few years. They have been taught to believe that farming is a disrespectful job and does not pay. They have gone to the towns and the cities, and the railroads, and the old men and women are left to work the farms and produce enough to feed the ever-increasing number of consumers in the towns and cities.

No wonder they are kicking about the high cost of living. It has not yet reached its limit. Thousands of our young men who have left the farm for fancy jobs in the cities might better be on the land improving the country with better buildings, clearing up the land, etc., for not one out of every ten succeeds in the city to anything more than a living.

Dr. Gibson speaks about the cost of labour on the farm. Certainly no farmer can pay what the railroads and some other industries of the country pay for labor. If the farmer sold his produce at a price that would give him a fair profit after paying the wages for help that is paid by the railroads, what would be the result in the towns and cities regarding the high cost of living. The doctors says that laborers have their unions. Yes, doctor, we have laborers non-payers in every village and the farmers are compelled to pay taxes to educate their children. We also have a board of health law which compels the farmer if an epidemic of chicken-pox or scarlet fever breaks out among them to be taxed to support their families and pay their doctor's bills. The farmer has to pay his own bills if he happened to be quarantined for a few weeks.

In conclusion I would say hold up Canada to the Canadian youth. We are going to make it the best country in the world. A man who will run down his own place and country and brag of the United States as such a great country had better go there and stay. We like good neighbors, but like our country first.—J. R. M.

Salt Rheum of Ten Year's Standing Healed as if by Magic

Hands Cracked, so Could Not Work—Cures Effected by

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

It does not take long for Dr. Chase's Ointment to prove its magic healing power. A single night is often sufficient to produce the most startling results.

Internal treatment for skin diseases is nearly always disappointing. By applying Dr. Chase's Ointment to the diseased parts relief is obtained almost immediately, and gradually the sores heal up and disappear. Here are two letters which will interest you:—

Mrs. Charles Gilbert, Haystack, Placentia Bay, Nfld., writes: "I was a sufferer from Salt Rheum, for ten years, and had about despaired of ever being cured, so many treatments had failed. Reading of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment, I commenced using it and was entirely cured by eight boxes. I want to express my gratitude for Dr. Chase's Ointment, and to recommend it to all sufferers."

Stanley Merril,, Delaware, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with my hands cracking, often becoming so sore that I could hardly do any work. I got some of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and happily find that one or two applications of same to the affected parts make them well. I have had no trouble since using the ointment for sore hands."

U.S. LIQUOR RECORD.

Production in 1910-11 Exceeded All Previous Figures.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The annual report of Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue, given out here yesterday, shows that fiscal year in the production of alcoholic liquor.

The smoking of opium is a widespread vice in this country and opium "joints" exist in every city of considerable size.

The double system of taxing oleomargarine is corrupting grocers, and gross frauds are being perpetrated on the better-buying public.

Corporations making returns under the new corporation tax law numbered 270,202, with an aggregate capital of 867,886,430,519. The aggregate net income to the stockholders was $3,360,250,642.

The year's production of distilled spirits amounted to 175,402,395 gallons, nearly 7,000,000 gallons more than in the previous banner year, 1907. The production of beer, ale, etc., amounted to 63,216,851 barrels, nearly 4,000,000 barrels more than in the previous record year, 1910.

The amount of liquor held in bonded warehouses for ripening now reaches the enormous total of 249,279,346 gallons.

To remedy the oleomargarine situation, Mr. Cabell suggests that fraud would be wiped out if a single standard of taxation for the colored and uncolored product be established, and if the manufacturers be required to put their product in small sealed packages instead of selling it in bulk.

THE NEWMARKET CANAL.

Famous Watercourse Within a Mile of Completion.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The celebrated Newmarket canal is within a mile of completion, and unless the federal department of public works rules otherwise, the present staff of engineers with one hundred men will complete the job within six months.

W. B. Russell, who has the work in charge, stated this morning that he had received no orders to discontinue the digging of the canal, and expected none. Mr. Russell said that during the past four years the York Construction company, of which he is the head, had carried the work four and one-half miles from Newmarket to within a quarter of a mile of Holland Landing, including the construction of three locks, and 900,000 yards of earth excavation. When Holland river is reached the canal will then be opened.

Brewer's Mills Wedding.

Brewer's Mills, Nov. 27.—At nuptial mass, at 9.30 o'clock this morning, Rev. Father Traynor united in marriage Rose Anna, daughter of John Murray, and T. J. Reid, son of Andrew Reid, Escott Centre. The bride was becomingly attired in brown velvet, with white picture hat with willow plume. The bridesmaid, Miss Lillie Murray, was dressed in navy blue venetian broadcloth, with velvet hat to match. The groom was assisted by his brother, Grover. The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls; to the bridesmaid, a gold bracelet; to the groomsman, a signet tie pin. The many costly presents received testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held.

NO UNITY OF EFFORT

ANGLICAN CHURCH FALTERING IN ITS TASK.

Outstripped by the Other Churches at Every Point—Eloquent Mission Address by Rev. A. P. Shatford, of Montreal.

The banquet held in St. George's hall, Tuesday evening, by the Anglican branch of the Laymen's missionary movement, of Kingston, was a success in every way. There were present about two hundred laymen from the city and Portsmouth churches, as well as many of the clergy of the diocese, especially of the deanery of Frontenac. The speeches were all excellent, and that of Rev. A. P. Shatford, of St. James the Apostle, Montreal, the chief speaker, was one of the most eloquent missionary addresses ever given in the city, inviting the attention of his audience throughout.

An excellent repast was prepared by Marshall Reid, caretaker, assisted by the ladies of the different Anglican churches, who also served. During the banquet, C. B. S. Harvey played piano solos, which were very highly commented upon. Among those at the speakers' table were: The Lord Bishop of Ontario, Rev. A. P. Shatford, Dean Bidwell, Frederick Welch, president of the local Anglican L.M.M. branch, and R. J. Carson.

The chairman was Frederick Welch, who made an excellent address. He said he was glad to see the lord bishop, and so many of the clergy of the diocese present, as it showed that their sympathies were with the L. M. M. And he also expressed the thanks of all to Rev. A. P. Shatford, for coming to Kingston under such trying circumstances, as Mr. Shatford had been in constant attendance at the bedside of his rector, Canon Ellegood, for the past five days. At the same time he tendered his thanks to the laymen for electing himself their chairman.

The chairman went on to speak strongly of the great work the L. M. M. is doing all over Canada in bringing home the laymen's responsibilities. He had attended the great laymen's missionary convention, recently held in Ottawa, and he said he felt that all present had received a great uplift from the spiritual men who lead there, and the missionary atmosphere which prevailed. Their allegations were brought home to laymen, and all realized that the world had awakened to a sense of the need of Christ. Great movements require years to accomplish their aims, but we must do all in our power to bring the gospel of Christ to all in this generation. In closing, the chairman placed the motto, "Pray, read, give, go and serve," before the gathering. He then called upon Rev. A. P. Shatford for his address.

Mr. Shatford voiced his appreciation of the part the ladies had taken in the banquet. The women had always been first in mission work, and the men are only now realizing their obligations. The speaker said the chairman had urged the practical character of the subject of missions, and had struck a very high note, which he hoped he would be able to sustain throughout his address. It was only the great cause of missions that had brought him to Kingston on this occasion, as all through the afternoon he had any minute expected to receive a telephone message announcing the death of his beloved rector.

Mr. Shatford said that he would take for his subject two great discoveries that had been made in connection with missions, "The Smallness of the World, and the Bigness of Man."

Scientifically and commercially the world is very small. The time is not far past when China was considered a great way off, but now, geographically, the world is very small. The doors of all nations are open to the foreigner. The English language is almost universal. It is the work of the twentieth century to make the world a common brotherhood, there being no divisions, and a unity of the human family. The world is awakening to a sense of responsibility. In Japan, the missionary and his influence are accepted and acknowledged, and the emperor was the first one to sign a subscription list for founding Y.M.C.A.s in his country, because he believed the principles of that institution are in the interests of the future of his people. There is a marvellous transformation in that country. And in Korea, where twenty years ago there were no missionaries or any desire for Christ, thousands of Christian workers are laboring to-day. China, one hundred years behind the times, is awakening, and turning to the west, and challenging us to give them the gospel. India, dissatisfied with the old superstitions, is crying, "Give us the Christ." From the Turkish empire we hear the same call.

If the English nation is to remain supreme, it must have more than principles to stand on. God is challenging the twentieth century man to a tremendous task.

The speaker went on to deal with the second part of his subject, "The Bigness of the Modern Man." True chivalry is being awakened in men, and humanity is being touched with the cries from heathen lands. Mission work is a big task, and requires big men, and to be operated on big lines, and everything must take the background, in preference to it. We are concerned with making money (all right in its place) rather than with planting the cross of Christ. Any advance made in heathen countries has been due to the work of the missionary.

The first call Mr. Shatford made for the sympathy of his audience for missions was from a humanitarian basis, and secondly as Britishers. God gave us this supreme position among the nations, and certainly expects something in return. It is an everlasting blot on the British nation, the introducing of opium into China, and also a blot on Christians, the present exporting of rum into Africa. The third call was as Canadians, and the Canadian church has splendid opportunities. Standing half way between east and west, God expects us to take care of the immigrants. We have a terrible lot to account for at judgment.

And the fourth call came as Christians and churchmen. The church had always been a missionary church, and God always a missionary God. The speaker said the Anglican church boasted of its apostolic succession, while other churches were having apostolical success. The Anglican church is faltering in the task and is outstripped by the other churches at every point. There is no unity of effort. The low, high, and the broad churchmen are continually hairsplitting, instead of standing shoulder to shoulder. We have abundant resources, and millions are in bondage and we refuse to give. God never creates a need without a man to rectify it.

"How many fathers urge their sons to invest their lives in the mission field or the ministry," said the speaker. The call of the world is too strong and attractive

The speaker cited four ways in which to advance the cause of missions. First, information. Mission study is not dead. Obtain facts and figures, found study classes. Secondly, organization. The women are twenty-five years ahead of the men in this respect. There should be a missionary committee in every parish. "If there is one particular thing in which I glory in the Laymen's Missionary Movement it is in its inter-denominational character," said the speaker. Thirdly, contribution. We must have system in mission giving, and a personal yearly canvass.

In closing the speaker said he would like to strangle that old superstitition that when a church gives to missions it is a detriment to its local work. We must have a system of propagation and extension. And fourthly, intercession. Pray more to God, Your great resource. The speaker said the present prayer book lacks missionary prayers.

The bishop, in moving a vote of thanks, to Mr. Shatford for his address, said the chairman's words were justified, and we had heard one of the most eloquent, touching and thoughtful of missionary addresses. R. J. Carson, in seconding the vote of thanks, said he hoped something practical would follow such an inspiring address, and the laymen, he thought, had been aroused, to a sense of their duty.

A vote of thanks was moved to the ladies by Archdeacon Carey, and seconded by Francis King, and also to C. B. S. Harvey by Rev. J. O. Crisp, and seconded by Dean Bidwell. The evening closed with the singing of the doxology and the pronouncing of the benediction by his lordship.

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGHT

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10c. box from any drug store means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

The Rise in Tea Prices.

W. A. W. Melville, chief representative of Thomas J. Lipton for Canada and the United States, when asked for the cause of the increase in the price of tea, said:

The day of good tea at a cheap price has passed—more particularly of British grown teas—their increasing popularity having created a greater demand than the supply. Russia and Australia are buying tremendously of these instead of China teas, and the consumption in Great Britain is larger than ever. The shutting out of over fifteen million pounds of colored China green tea by the United States—this with greater acreage given to rubber in Ceylon, the shortage in the Japan tea crop this year, and the labor problem in tea growing countries are all factors which account for the much higher primary markets. The revolution in China may mean smaller Chinese crops next year. These conditions either mean lower quality at the same prices or the same quality at higher prices. Our experience shows the public prefer the latter. Future indications are for still higher prices. Yet even with the advance, tea will still be by far the cheapest popular beverage.

Late Oris Cole, of Cloyne.

Cloyne, Nov. 27.—On November 23rd Oris Cole, of this place, passed peacefully away. He was one of the pioneers, aged eighty-one years, three months and seven days. His wife predeceased him twelve years ago. He leaves five daughters and one son, viz., Frederick Cole, of Wilton; Mrs. A. H. Jones, Lethbridge, Alta.; Mrs. William Hicks, of Swan River, Man.; Mrs. Peter H. Storey, of Moscow; Mrs. W. G. Lowes, of Manvers, Ont., and Mrs. D. Spicer, of this place. His intense suffering, which lasted some six weeks, was borne with Christian fortitude. His remains were followed by a large concourse of friends to Haslowe cemetery. In politics he was a conservative.

On the 20th inst., Mr. Denison, of "Bon Echo," returned from a business trip to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James Roy and Mrs. Levi Snider have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Foot, of Violet.

Dalhousie University.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 29.—Dalhousie University is engaged in an active canvass to raise an addition of $350,000 to the endowment fund.

Judge not your neighbor until you stand in his shoes.

INCREASE IN TEA PRICES

THE REASON WHY!

The ever-increasing consumption of tea throughout the world—particularly of British Grown Tea—has created a demand much greater than the supply, which among other causes, prevents really good tea being sold at former low prices.

Russia and Australia are buying tremendously of British grown teas in place of China teas, and the consumption in Great Britain is larger than ever.

The shutting out of over 15 million pounds of colored China Green Tea by the United States Government, the increased use of tea due to higher prices of coffee, the greater acreage given over to the planting of rubber in Ceylon, the shortage in the Japan crop this year and the labor problem in all tea-growing countries are all factors which account for the much higher primary markets.

The present revolution in China may also mean much smaller crops there next year and present indications are for still higher prices in the future. All these conditions either mean a lower quality at the same prices, or the same quality at higher prices.

Our experience shows that the tea drinking public prefers the latter.
