TOWN OF GANANOQUE

CHILDREN'S DAY IN GRACE METHODIST CHURCH.

Increases in the Salaries of High and Public School Teachers—Business Men Beautifying Their Windows.

Gananoque, June 17.—Children's Day was celebrated in Grace church yesterday. Great banks of potted plants and cut flowers were artistically arranged with ferns and palms presenting a very pretty appearance. The Sunday school pupils attended in a body at the morning service and were addresses by Rev. F. J. McClement. The unique part of the day's proceedings were in the afternoon, when the adult Bible class and mothers' department attended in a body. In the evening a fine musical programme was rendered by the choir, with an address from Rev. F. J. McClement, it being his farewell service here.

The schooner Horace Taber arrived on Saturday with a cargo of chestnut coal for Taylor & Green. The schooner Briton arrived yesterday with a cargo of soft coal for the D. F. Jones Manufacturing Co.

The local banks, hotels and business offices of the town are again decorating with handsome window gardens. The local police force have received instructions to watch carefully for any one plucking the flowers or mutilating them, and take action against any such person or persons.

Gananoque lodge, No. 114, I.O.O.F., has postponed its annual decoration day until next Sunday.

The new Harte cottage near No. 1 government pavilion at Red Horse, is completed, and now in the hands of the painters and decorators. The shoals in this section were marked with buoys during the past few days.

The rural mail delivery among the islands and summer resorts of this section started, Saturday. George Funnell being again in charge of the delivery, which has been considerably augmented for this season.

H. Hawke purchased the Kettle property on John street. A picnic party went down to the island cottage of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Henne, a few miles east of the town, on Saturday afternoon.

The property committee of the local board of education has arranged for necessary repairs to the various schools, which will aggregate about $700 expenditure.

The pupils of Miss Robertson's class in the King street school had a picnic at the river front on Friday afternoon. Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Young, of Rochester, N.Y., have arrived and taken possession of their summer home on Hay Island.

At its session last week, the local board of education made the following increase in salaries for the coming year: $100 to each of the staff of Gananoque high school; their salaries now being, R. G. Graham, principal, $1,600; Miss R. Edwards, arts and English, $1,000; Miss A. A. Houson, moderns, $1,000; Miss A. McAllister, science, $1,000; and to J. C. Linklater, principal of the public schools, an increase of $200, making his salary now $1,400. The clerk was also instructed to call upon the town council for $11,500 for the current year, being the same as that asked for last year.

One Way to Keep a Woman Silent.

A woman well-known for her talkativeness called upon her family doctor a few days ago and was instructed by the doctor to show her tongue. After waiting a few minutes she exclaimed:

"Well, doctor, why in the world don't you look at my tongue if you want to, instead of writing away like a newspaper editor? How long do you expect I am going to sit here with my mouth wide open?"

"Just one moment more, please," said the doctor. "I only wanted you to keep still long enough for me to write this prescription.—Kansas City Star.

Recalling Chapleau's Kick.

Hamilton Times.

According to La Presse, Chapleau tendered his resignation as a member of the Macdonald cabinet in 1885 rather than agree to the execution of Louis Riel, but subsequently withdrew his resignation in order to avoid civil war, which was threatened by Sir John A. It is an interesting bit of history, if true, and serves to add to Chapleau's reputation as a patriotic Canadian.

The Place of Lacrosse.

Montreal Star.

If it is true that lacrosse is "taboo" at the Royal Military College at Kingston, a great mistake has been made. Not only is lacrosse our national game, but it is the best preliminary training for war with which the police will not interfere. A charge by lacrosse players would make the effeminate troops of "conscript Europe" turn pale.

By adoption, pure and simple, you and I may be carrying a lot of unnecessary trouble.

Knowing our faults amounts to nothing if we do not make an effort to correct them.

Chafed and Aching Feet

How far can you walk without suffering in one way or another from discomfort to your feet?

Modern footwear is a prison house and the result is chafed, scalded, inflamed feet.

You can get a world of comfort by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment when your feet give you trouble. This treatment is so delightfully soothing and healing that is helps you as soon as applied.

Unlike insanitary powders which clog the pores, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes the skin soft and smooth and prevents corns and bunions.

When the feet are chafed, scalded, itching and tired it takes out the stinging and burning and its benefits are both quick and lasting.

SOME STRONG CRITICISM

Of Medical Schools by Carnegie Foundation President.

New York, June 17.—Three-fourths of the medical schools in America would be driven out of existence if the lowest terms upon which medical schools can exist abroad were applied in this country, according to President Henry S. Pritchett, of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

This is one of the deductions made by Dr. Pritchett in his introduction to the foundation's report, on "Medical Education in Europe," by Dr. Abraham Flexner, which is made public.

The Carnegie foundation published in 1910 an elaborate report describing the conditions of medical education in the United States and Canada. The present, a companion volume on "Medical Education in Europe," by the same author, Abraham Flexner, with an introduction by Henry S. Pritchett, president of the foundation, is based on a personal study in 1910-1911 of representative medical schools in Germany, Austria, France, England and Scotland.

President Pritchett explains in his introduction that the foundation's study of medical education in America led to a demand of an extension of the investigation to the leading European nations. The bulletin, therefore, describes conditions as they now exist in these countries, and draws attention to both their strong and their weak points. Perfection is found nowhere, but all European countries make a definite educational requirement for entrance upon medical education, and permit no schools to teach medicine without the essential laboratory facilities and abundant clinical opportunities.

A Week on the Dead Sea.

The chug-chug of the twentieth century motor-boat now reverberates from the shores of the Dead Sea. Members of the American colony in Jerusalem, who recently explored the Dead Sea, were greatly impressed by a mountain of rock salt 500 feet high, called Jebel Usdum, in which was found a large cave several hundred yards long, hung with great snow white stalactites. Cliffs varying in height from 300 to 1,900 feet, form an almost unbroken wall on the west side of the sea. That wall is of limestone, but the wall on the east side is of beautifully colored sandstone. The members af the party declare that the gorge of the river Arnon contains the finest natural scenery in Palestine. The richly shaded limestone sides of the canon, which are only twenty feet apart, rise perpendicularly about three hundred feet, and the variety and beauty of their veining and tracery is exhaustless.—Youth's Companion

Raising a Town.

In order to raise the level of the town eight feet, nearly all the buildings in Wilmington, near Los Angeles, in California, have been placed on temporary wooden supports. Wilmington stands on low ground. Not long ago, when engineers began the work of dredging the adjacent harbor, it became evident that here was a chance to get, at comparatively little cost, thousands of tons of sand with which to change the grade. A bulkhead was erected round the land to be filled, and the discharge pipes from the dredger carry the sand to all parts of an area about twenty blocks in size. It is estimated that 1,200,000 cubic yards of material will be taken from the harbor bottom. When the grading is done, the town will stand high and dry above the harbor, and the principal streets will be on a level with the docks.—Youths' Companion.

Contest in New Brunswick.

Winnipeg Free Press.

The political contest in New Brunswick is, technically, not on party lines. The Hazen government and its successor, the Flemming government, is nominally a coalition. It includes one liberal member, and had at least one liberal supporter in the legislature. In his election appeal Premier Flemming pleads for liberal support. The St. John Globe, a liberal journal, which supported John D. Hazen when he was leader of the opposition, is steadfast in its loyalty to the government. But, in the main, the division is on party lines, with particular reference to the struggle of last September. The contest is developing great warmth, with the usual confident predictions of victory by both sides.

Modern Maid of Boston.

A little Boston girl with exquisitely long golden curls and quite an angelic appearance in general, came in from an afternoon walk with her nurse and said to her mother: "Oh, mamma, a strange woman on the street said to me, 'My but ain't you got beautiful hair!'"

The mother smiled, for the compliment was well merited, but she gasped as the child innocently continued her account.

"I said to her, 'I am very glad to have you like my hair, but I am sorry to hear you use the word "ain't!"'—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Sudden Finale.

At a mass meeting in a small country town refreshments were distributed to keep the audience in a good humor. The first speaker rose after the noise had ceased to some extent and began his speech by saying:

"The old hall is full to-night," but here his voice was drowned by the confusion. When it had subsided he began again by saying:

"The old hall is full to-night."

He paused for a rhetorical effect and a thick voice in the back of the hall said slowly and deliberately:

"So is old Bill Horn."

The meeting then broke up.

Lacking in Something.

Montreal Gazette.

The management of a theatre in St. John, N.B., has requested its patrons to remain seated until the curtain falls and the band begins to play "God Save the King." It is an old fault of Canadian audiences that is being complained of. What ails the theatre-goers? It cannot be a desire to get to the bars before they close, for the fault was noticed when the closing hour was midnight—and later. And the men are not the only disturbers.

PROF. GREAVES CRITICIZES

The Way Girls Attire Themselves and the Gossips.

Professor W. H. Greaves, when preaching in Sydenham street Methodist church, spoke very strongly on the common practice of people pretending to be what they are not, saying that if the average gossiper would mind his or her own business, he or she would not have the inclination or time to meddle in other people's affairs.

Speaking of the styles that now prevail, the professor said that young ladies now-a-days do not attire themselves according to their purse and comfort, but following, in most cases, absurd fashions that are created, with no regard to either, the result of which is an array which parades our streets, and in only too many cases is hideous in the extreme.

Young girls nowadays will not go out to household service but will serve in factories for a much smaller wage, because they think it is higher employment. Such phrases are made use of as: "There is 'some class' to this or that person, or there is something 'classy.'" regarding individuals who are pretending to be what they really are not. Oh, for the day when human nature will not meddle with the petty differences of others, and a man will be judged according to what he is, rather than what he possesses.

The very attractive idea, fashionable with Paris school girls, is shown in the illustration. A soft band covers the forehead, and the only ornament worn is a wide ribbon bound about the head and tied in a smart bow at the side.
