Raines and——Thoroughgood thereon, and containing one-fifth of an Acre each, admirably adapted for the Building Sites of such gentlemen as may be about to become residents at the Seat of Government. It requires no practised eye to discover the present as being one of the best speculations before the public, much less to observe that from the local advantages with which it is surrounded, and the particular epoch of its being offered for sale, it cannot fail rapidly to increase in value. These Lots are well worthy the attention of persons about to build; as such an opportunity will not soon again occur.

A plan may be seen and terms known on application at the Auction Rooms of the subscriber, two doors south of the Bank of the People, King Street.
