Chronicle & Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1841.

We present our readers to-day with extensive extracts of the news by the "Caledonia." The intelligence furnished by this journal is not important.

Our readers will learn with much pleasure that the health of our gracious Queen is nearly restored, and that the young Prince is doing well.

It will be seen from our extracts that the "Bluetooth," with His Excellency Sir Charles Bagot on board, put into Falmouth on account of tempestuous weather,—and that she got to sea again on the 23rd ultimo, bound for Halifax.

We have inserted as much of the Brevet in this day's paper as our columns will permit—the remainder will appear in our next number.

By the recent Brevet the following Officers stationed in this Garrison have been promoted.

General Clitheron to the rank of Lieut. General, which will remove him from the command in this Province.

Lieut. Col. Everard, C. B., 14th Regt., to the rank of Colonel.

Major Barlow, 14th Regt., to the rank of Lieut. Colonel.

Captains Otway, of the Royal Artillery, Lynch, of the 14th, and Wright of the 23d to be Majors.

Among the many promotions and appointments that have taken place in consequence of the Birth of the young Prince, there is none that affords the Kingstonians greater gratification than that of Col. the Hon. Henry Dundas, C. B., to be one of Her Majesty's Aides-de-Camp. Col. Dundas commanded this Garrison and District (which then extended from Coteau du Lac to Presqu' Isle, and was occupied by between 5 and 6,000 Troops, Regulars and Militia) during the troubles, and no Officer could have given more universal satisfaction than the gallant Colonel, who is a thorough soldier, and possessed the peculiar art of making all with whom he had occasion to act, happy and contented.

That gallant son of Nova Scotia Sir James McDonnell, has been made a Lieut. General, and will retire from the command of the Brigade of Guards.

Under the peculiar press of time in publishing the Chronicle on Friday last—we were unable to notice as fully as we inclined to do, the subject referred to by our Correspondent M., to whose communication we then most willingly gave place, to the exclusion of other matter.—We now take the opportunity of recurring to the subject.

It has been indeed a matter of amazement to us to find the constant exertions used to bring into disrepute, not alone the accommodations to be found in Kingston, but the locality also. A locality which not long since was the theme of newspaper praise throughout the Province—its delightful site for a Town—the beautiful appearance of the Town itself—the salubrity of the climate—its commanding position—its vast natural advantages for all mercantile purposes—placed at the foot of Lake navigation—at the head of the St. Lawrence—at the singular confluence of the navigation of the Lakes, that great River, the extensive Bay of Quinte and the Rideau Canal, all these advantages have been justly eulogized by almost every press in Canada for the past six or seven years—and singularly and absurdly enough, those great advantages must be thrown into the shade—and the colegists lost in the maze of adulation and slander which envious persons and interested prints so industriously circulate.

We unhesitatingly repeat that the spirit of envy which actuates the secret and avowed enemies of our interests, take rise in the deep mortification they feel at Kingston's having been selected as the most central—the most convenient, the most favorable, and consequently the most eligible place for the Seat of Government. And forsooth, because our gracious Queen, in the exercise of her Royal Prerogative, has deemed it advisable to avail herself of these advantages, Kingston and its unoffending inhabitants must be assailed far and near with the most malicious calumnies.

It is, we repeat, plainly perceptible, that self interest is at the bottom of all this; and self interest it is that constrains the calumniators to remain unwilling residents here. But again we say, let the discontented with Kingston and its unprecedeting inhabitants, remove to their favorite positions at Toronto, Quebec or elsewhere, and numerous will be the volunteers who will gladly offer to supply their places.

The enmity evinced against the promotion of the interests of the Midland District alluded to by the Boston correspondent, is not the growth of the day, although the resistance to its improvement is strengthened by the cavillers at its capital being made the Seat of Government. For frequent and urgent were the solicitations for years back to the Executive Government of Upper Canada, to devise some means or concur in some feasible plan of bringing into cultivation the rear Townships of the counties of Lennox and Addington and Frontenac—which to the discredit if not disgrace of the said Executive, yet remains a wilderness, almost to our very doors. The subject shall be again and immediately brought under consideration—we will hope for fair play—we demand it—and we trust it will be no longer delayed under any pretence. We insist upon our right long withheld, to have immediate measures adopted to throw open for settlement, upon easy and encouraging terms, the rear parts of Pittsburg, Loborough, Portland, Camden and Richmond, and the numerous other Townships between this and the great Ottawa River, known only by name—and as yet the secure retreat of the panther, the bear and the wolf. To this subject we earnestly invite the first and best attention of the District Councils, and we respectfully express the hope—that the worthy and justly respected Commissioner of Crown Lands, who as yet is unacquainted with those evils we deplore, and the wrongs we complain of, will assist in the reasonable furtherance of this desirable object, with all the authority and influence he possesses.—

With these few observations we close for the present, reserving to ourselves the right at an early period of reminding some honourable gentlemen of the non-fulfillment of the expectations which they held out to the inhabitants of the District, respecting the settlement of the back Townships; and, if need be, to give an honest and candid opinion of the undue influence which interposed to defeat every measure designed to obtain for Kingston a back country for its agricultural support. If compelled to do so, we shall easily nullify the plea of apathy, and unmask the interested motives which, to our exclusion, the great and blameable disadvantage of emigrants themselves, induced the wasteful means employed to settle other more distant, and less fertile districts.

The distance to the Town of Sydenham, on the Ottawa, along the division line of the Midland District, is but 110 miles—to the vast lumbering establishments on the Madawaska and the Ottawa, but 70 miles:—by a direct road along that line those establishments could obtain their supplies, at a saving of 100 per cent. from Kingston. For instance, by the winter roads a barrel of Prime Pork could be profitably delivered at the Shanties there at about three pounds, while by the circuitous route of the Ottawa, and the necessity of carrying it in bags on men's shoulders, for some great distance, as we are informed is the case, it will cost, independent of the delay, inconvenience and loss of labour, not less than six pounds. This of itself is an object of paramount importance to the great timber merchants in Montreal and Quebec, and should command their serious attention—and they should heartily co-operate with us in demanding the active consideration of the Government to the subject.—We call upon them to do so, and we trust our call will not be in vain.

It will be seen by an advertisement in another column, that Messrs. Carter & Bentley have opened a Large Commission Warehouse in Kingston. We can confidently recommend these gentlemen to the public as trust-worthy and deserving of extensive patronage.

Graham's Magazine.—We have received the January No. of this richly embellished Magazine. In the present number is presented a mezzotinto on steel, "The Shepherd's Love"—a fine and stipple engraving on steel, "Highland Beauty"—a page of Lace work, and coloured Birds—and a plate of the Fashions. There are also 72 pages of original reading matter. The work is altogether very beautifully got up—the spirited publisher having fulfilled all the promises made in his Prospectus, which we recently published.

In consequence of Saturday next being New Year's Day, the Chronicle will be published on Friday.

"Kingstonian," in our next.

DISTRICT COUNCILLORS.

To the Editor of the Chronicle,

Dear Sir,—As next Monday, the 3d of January, is the day on which the choice of Councillors is made, under the new Municipal Act, will you allow me to make use of your columns in order to give a few hints to the Electors in the Townships of the Midland District.

The commencement of the District Councils will be like putting into operation a piece of new machinery. We all hope it is going to work well; but like all other new machinery, it will require clever and intelligent men to watch its movements, and set it right when it goes wrong. The Electors in the Townships will therefore do well to hesitate before they give their votes to men, as District Councillors, who are not well informed, intelligent, experienced men, capable of setting the machinery well a-going, and afterwards of making it run smoothly.

These District Councillors have been called "little Parliaments," and so they are; and it is your duty, fellow-electors, to return Members to the Parliament of the Midland District. This Parliament has almost the entire management of our internal affairs.

1. It owns all the District property and can buy more.
2. It lays on all the taxes, either on the whole District, or any particular part of it.
3. It mends all the roads, lays out new ones, and alters or stops up the old ones.
4. It makes bridges and imposes toll.
5. It provides for all expenses connected with the administration of justice.
6. It provides for the establishment of Schools, and the allowance to be given to them, and also divides the money annually appropriated to them by the Government.
7. It provides for the commutation in money of all statute labour.
8. It provides for the collection and accounting for, of all District money.

And a hundred other things of great importance to the inhabitants of the District.

So you see then that it will never do to send an ignoramus to the District Council. The Councillors ought to be men, independent in their circumstances, well acquainted with the inhabitants and the affairs of the District; they should also be well-informed men, possessing a respectable education, who can write a sensible letter to their constituents without borrowing a neighbor's pen to spell it with.

I drop these few hints because I have heard some names mentioned for the District Council which surprised me not a little, and because I think the Councillors should be selected with more care than seems to have been exercised in some parts of the District.

FRONTENAC.

From the European of Decem. 4.

Her Majesty is now so far recovered as to be able to resume her family dinners, which are as yet confined to the queen, Prince Albert and the Duchess of Kent. Her majesty is rapidly regaining strength and has signified her intention of quitting Buckingham Palace for Windsor Castle on Wednesday, the 15th instant. The Duchess of Kent is constantly at the palace, and her attentions on her royal daughter have been unremitting. The infant prince, who is a fine healthy child, continues well. His patent as Prince of Wales has been prepared, and will probably appear in the Gazette of next week. The christening will take place shortly after the meeting of parliament, and be in a style of regal magnificence. It is rumored that the name will be Edward after the late Duke of Kent—a name that has been borne by the most pious as well as the most able sovereigns connected with British history.

It is with satisfaction we announce that the Queen Dowager is much restored to health, and that for the present the progress of that insidious disease has been arrested, which it was feared would ere this have had a fatal termination. So satisfactory is her progress that bulletins have ceased to be published.

There has been a brevet in the army, and a series of promotions in the navy and in the East India service, on the birth of an heir to the throne. The promotions have not been so comprehensive as many could have wished, but they are more extensive than any which the late ministry made. The number may be thus stated:—In the army, 403; in the artillery and engineers, 48; in the marines, 20; in the navy, 409; and in the East India service, 133; making a total of 1013 officers promoted. This will place in the hands of the ministry a considerable proportion of patronage, which is caused by the preferments, as several of those who have been advanced a step will retire upon full pay, and be succeeded by others, whose advancement will create vacancies and new appointments. The following is a summary of the number of officers promoted by the brevet:—

THE ARMY.

33 Lieutenant-generals to be generals.
29 Major-generals to be lieutenant-generals.
61 Colonels to be major-generals.
73 Lieutenant-colonels to be colonels.
66 Majors to be lieutenant-colonels.
106 Captains to be majors.
14 Lieutenant-colonels to be aides-de-camp to her majesty, and rank as colonels in the army.

ROYAL ARTILLERY AND ROYAL ENGINEERS.

1 Lieutenant-general to be general.
4 Major-generals to be lieutenant-generals.
14 Colonels to be major-generals.
7 Lieutenant-colonels to be colonels.
22 Captains to be majors.

ROYAL MARINES.

2 Colonels to be major-generals.
17 Captains to be majors.

THE NAVY.

9 Admirals of the white to be admirals of the red.
11 Admirals of the blue, and five vice-admirals of the red, to be admirals of the white.
12 Vice-admirals of the red, and four vice-admirals of the white, to be admirals of the blue.
14 Vice-admirals of the white, and five vice-admirals of the blue, to be vice-admirals of the red.
17 Vice-admirals of the blue, and two rear-admirals of the red, to be vice-admirals of the white.
20 Rear-admirals of the red to be vice-admirals of the blue.
23 Rear-admirals of the white to be rear-admirals of the red.
27 Rear-admirals of the blue to be rear-admirals of the white.
40 Captains, appointed flag-officers of her majesty's fleet, to be rear-admirals of the blue.
50 Commanders to be captains.
80 Lieutenants to be commanders.
90 Mates to be lieutenants.

EAST INDIA COMPANY'S SERVICE.

3 Lieutenant-generals to be generals.
5 Major-generals to be lieutenant-generals.
51 Colonels to be major-generals.
2 Majors to be lieutenant-colonels.
69 Captains to be majors.

The following from the Sacketts Harbour Journal, is to good too be lost.

THE YOUNG FRENCH.—The Steamship Acadia arrived at Boston last week and brings intelligence of the birth of a son of the Queen of England, a few weeks since. The nation is in raptures on account of the prospects of a continued succession in the royal family, in a direct line. The Queen was doing well. We may expect to hear of great & expensive preparations for the proper christening of the royal boy, with a minute detail of the ceremonies on the occasion; who officiates, and how, the royal clothes, &c. Is it not well that the good sense of our nation has rendered it unnecessary to make such demonstrations of joy at the birth of sovereigns? American children are all such.

Commencing January 1, 1842.

EDITED BY PARK BENJAMIN.

DURING the two years which have elapsed since "The New World" was begun, it has been the Editor's endeavour to make it the most readable newspaper of the day. To this end the Proprietors have liberally contributed. Neither trouble nor expense has been spared. The most popular books and periodicals have been purchased. The best contributors have been engaged. A correspondence with the most interesting points of the world has been established. In short, the best arrangements have been made to publish an independent literary journal, acceptable to all classes of readers. The success (one third of nothing which has been left unshown to achieve the result) is the best evidence of the fact that it has met a want in the New World.

But it is not to be a hot-house plant. It will outlast the mere nine days of a fashionable existence.

TWENTY FIVE THOUSAND COPIES,

a larger number, it is believed, than are printed of any other weekly paper, in the United States. This success is owing to two causes: First, to its having contained an unprecedented number of excellent articles by the most popular authors; secondly, to its having assumed and observed an elevated moral tone. Its editorials are uncompromisingly party politics, and its single pages essential to good sense and proper taste, valuable allusions, or intelligent quotations, and therefore it finds its welcome in the domestic hearth, and receives its highest approval from that sex, whose rights it has maintained, whose delicacy it has never offended, and whose mental and moral improvement it has laboured to conduct.

About to enter on a new year, with continuous success, we proceed to purchase a few indispensables for old friends to continue with us, and for new friends to join their company. No change whatever will be made in the manner of editing and conducting the New World; but it will receive in all its departments fresh accession of choice. Many able writers will grace our columns. Permanent arrangements have been made to secure the exclusive literary services of

DONALD MACLEOD, FRANCIS J. GRUND, AND ERNSTZ MAYER, ESQUIRES.

Mr. MacLeod, resident in London, will furnish readers fully informed of all events of interest that transpire in England, Ireland and Scotland. Being in constant personal intercourse with the distinguished authors, he will obtain from them immediately, proof-sheets and early copies of the latest publications. These shall be translated, as we have hitherto done, to give to the New World their first or sole edition of volumes of any other newspaper in America.

Mr. Grund, resident on Brussels, will by a regular and continuous correspondence, advise our readers of the social, literary and religious condition of continental Europe.

Baron Mayer, whose name we introduce with great pleasure as that of one of the most accomplished young men of our country, is resident in Mexico, will act as Editor's correspondent, and keep us apprised of events in the Mexican Republic, of its adventurers, their manners, laws and customs, and of all objects of curiosity, who that country or mind can.

His letters will be accompanied by illustrative drawings, which will be engraved and presented in our columns.

ORIGINAL ARTICLES

by the best American writers will enrich our pages in the coming volume. Among the attractive features of this description, we have the pleasure to announce that early in January will be commenced A NEW NOVEL, by an American, written expressly for the New World, and entitled, "ABEL FARSONS, A STORY OF THE GREAT FIRE." It possesses a dramatic interest, and we have read with great pleasure, as it is replete with accurate and broad fully written.

Original discussions by authorities of the General will occasionally appear, among those we indeed to present, during the next year, practical sketches of Dwellings in the United States, as well as from remote chieftains of all denominations.

To add to the attractiveness of the New World, it will continue to be decorated by

ELEGANT ENGRAVINGS ON WOOD,

from six most spirited designs. Two or three of these will often be given in a single paper. It is also intended to devote a column for the special entertainment of juvenile readers, so that the New World shall be, in every respect the best Family Newspaper in America.

CHARLES O'MALLEY.

All subscribers who order from the commencement of the Third Volume (July 3, 1841) will obtain the whole of this splendid and popular story, which is alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The New World (folio or quarto) is forwarded by mail for $2 a year, payable invariably in advance. For $5 it is sent to one person two years, but not in any future instance to two subscribers one year. Notes of solvent chartered banks only should be remitted, and those which are nearest par in New York.

☞ No article now in progress of publication in the New World will be continued into the Fourth Quarto Volume; but it will be commenced with entirely fresh and original works.

Postmasters are hereby authorized to remit money for subscriptions, under their franks.

☞ Any individual procuring five new subscribers, and remitting $15 in New York or Eastern funds, free of postage, shall receive a sixth copy gratis one year.
