In the House of Commons, Mr. H. Berkeley [illegible] the division on the motion of Mr. [illegible] that there is a Reformatory majority in the House, [illegible] the ballot on the principle of the Honourable gentleman. Lord John Russell, on Wednesday evening, intimated that any association for the purpose of effecting a combination of the Irish members would inevitably be illegal if such association were [illegible] purpose of petitioning Parliament for a repeal of the Union, as the House had received [illegible] tions to that effect, he did not consider [illegible] reports have occasional willing [illegible] to be a change in the Ministry. Rumour has it that at the close of the present session [illegible] Lord Clarendon, with a view to the more vigorous conduct of the war, [illegible] has consented to take the direction of Irish affairs. General Hardinge will go to Ireland, not as commander-in-chief, but as second in the Southern District, under Lord Hardinge. Lord John Russell has his growing unpopularity with the Irish people, may [illegible] the very [illegible] of the Wing Minority should he remain in capacity of prime minister, and there is some concern to see the services of Clarendon, whose recent conduct has been fully approved by him in the estimation of aristocratic and middle classes.

[illegible] Hewitson, [illegible] The Bill [illegible] Bulletin [illegible] And now we, [illegible] have [illegible] to convince the writer of the Herald, [illegible] he, that he is as great an ass as [illegible] his own brays, and [illegible] of English and Canadian [illegible] a north-shiner shows the sapler [illegible] as it has provoked us, and [illegible] in a scolding manner. Mr. Hawkes not having [illegible] our bile before, we do [illegible] the Herald a little bit more of our mind; and [illegible] that the very existence of such an [illegible] impudent, radical, treacherous paper [illegible] to the safety of which it is [illegible] whose every interest, political [illegible] commercial, it has betrayed and is betraying [illegible] no principle; faithless to no party [illegible] in attempts at ridicule, of [illegible] and folly of foaming Scotch Tory [illegible] and Irish English Radicalism. The [illegible] forward with [illegible] his master [illegible] hour of his need; with [illegible] the more [illegible] to overtake, as the [illegible] should be kicked; aye, kicked with [illegible] and contumely, wherever [illegible] in the [illegible] instinct, it [illegible] watchful at once to avoid the blow [illegible] bite the hand that fed him.
