MONDAY EVENING, OCT. 6.

RESOLUTIONS FOR GRIT PIC-NICS.—At the Grit Pic-nic held at Niagara on the 30th ult., the following resolution was carried unanimously: "That the thanks of this meeting are due to Mr Huntington for his energy and fearlessness in prosecuting the investigation into the corruption so shamefully practiced by the Government in connection with the Pacific Railway contract." There, we ask, did Mr Huntington display his "energy and fearlessness in in prosecuting the investigation?" Not before the Royal Commission at any rate. There he was only conspicuous by his absence, when he and his friend McMullen, who above all men, should have been present. Perhaps the Picnic party only discarded the resolution as a piece of "sarkasm," as Mark Twain would say. Now, if the Grits, are so hard up for complimentary resolutions, as to have to thank a man for doing what he did not do, we beg to suggest the following to be submitted to future gatherings:

"Resolved,—"That the best thanks of the great and glorious "Reform" Party of this tyrannically governed country are due due and are hereby tendered to the thief who stole a letter out of the Montreal Post office, written by the arch-conspirator, John A. Macdonald and addressed to his co-conspirator J. H. Pope, a member of his Cabinet; to the "honourable" gentlemen, members of the House of Commons, who took counsel together and deprived the said J. H. Pope of his private correspondence, contrary to act of Parliament, which declares their conduct as felony and consigns those found guilty thereof to the Penetentiary; to the "only religious daily" newspaper in the Dominion for justifying the course pursued by the said "honourable" gentlemen contrary to its boasted standard of morality; to the Montreal Herald for having published said correspondence; to the numerous newspapers of our Party who have defended the crime; and to all, before mentioned, for having established such an elastic code of public morality, as will in future be regarded as a safe precedent for us to be guided by."

"And resolved· "That we heartily endorse the doctrine that it is right to do ill that good may come"; that "the end justifies the means;" and, therefore, any person or persons who may hereafter commit a crime, however heinous in the eyes of the law, for the purpose of damaging the private or political character of the present Prime Minister of Canada will not be regarded by us as a felon, but as a benefactor of his country."

GRIT MORALITY.—The Grits would have the country believe that all political virtue is concentrated in their midst; that they never spent a cent of money in order to secure the return of their favourite candidates at elections; that, in a word, they are very paragons of moral and political rectitude; while, on the other hand, the Tories are of all men most wicked; corrupters of the public morals; bribers of "the free and independent." who are not to be trusted to administer the affairs of the country; a party utterly unworthy of public confidence and esteem. "Always have a good opinion of yourself, my dear, lest no one else should have it," was the kind advice of an affectionate mamma to her amiable daughter. In this respect the Grits follow in the course suggested by the foregoing advice. They have the very highest opinions of their own character, but so wrapped up are they in the folds of political partizanship, that they are unable to see any good outside of their own little circle. Now, in the matter of spending money during election times they would have us believe in their innocence, and the chief organ of the Party actually had the audacity recently to request the Conservative press to point to a single case where money was spent to influence the electors. Such a piece of cool effrontery we have not met with for a long time. This request is tantamount to a declaration of innocence, which is the utterance of a deliberate falsehood. That money was spent freely, and subscribed freely to aid the Opposition candidates during the last general election, it is unnecessary to prove at this hour of the day. There is not a single constituency in the country where they did not spend money to a greater or less extent; and none are better aware of the fact than those who are crying for proof of guilt. Now that the charges preferred by Mr Huntington against the Government have utterly failed, the Grits have recourse to the cry of bribery and corruption at elections. If their own hands were clean in this matter their virtuous indignation at the free use of money by their opponents would not not take us at all by surprise; but they having acted precisely in a similar manner to those whom they so loudly condemn, it is hypocrisy of the worst kind for them to assume the garb of innocence. Everybody has heard the story of the Irishman who was placed in the dock of a Court of Justice charged with a serious crime. Of his guilt there was not the slightest doubt. The evidence which was to be given against him was not circumstantial, but direct. When asked to plead "guilty" or "not guilty," the wily prisoner, although quite conscious of his guilt, replied; "How can I tell till I hear the evidence." Now the Grits are just acting much in the same way. They are charged with spending money at the elections, therefore they should be last to condemn in others what they have been notoriously guilty of themselves. They are well aware of the truth of the charge; they know that they spent money throughout the entire country, and, yet, they have the brazen-faced impertinence to ask for evidence before they plead to the charge. It is sometimes the greatest sinner who assumes the most pious appearance—one "who steals the livery of the court of heaven to serve the devil in." The virtuous Grits raise their hands and eyes to heaven and with Pharisaical self-righteousness return thanks that they are not corrupt as the wicked Tories are. But all their assumed innocence cannot shield them from the penetrating gaze of the people. The veil they wear to hide their corruption is too thin to prevent their political deformities from being seen. They are themselves guilty of all they charge their opponents with, and are therefore not the persons to fling the stone of accusation.

The standard of morality recently erected by several leaders of the Grit party in Montreal, and endorsed generally throughout Ontario, does not say much for the fine sense of honour which the private letter publishers possess. Their outrageous conduct has been universally condemned by all who despise the use of a mean act in order to damage a political opponent. The course pursued by certain Montreal "honourables," and the newspapers which justified it has brought everlasting disgrace upon the party with which they are associated, and disgraces the country in the eyes of foreigners. If the Grits could only be got to see themselves as others see them, they might benefit by the sight. But this they are unwilling to do, just as all hypocrites are. For their benefit we make a few quotations from the Chicago Journal of Commerce of a few days ago, reflecting on the Macdonald-Pope letter stealing case:

"We can sympathize at all times with an opposition in Parliament stoutly endeavouring to maintain the rights of the people, advocating economy and speaking in the cause of justice and truth; but the Canadian opposition to the government of Sir John A. Macdonald appears to be actuated more by a morbid desire for office, than patriotic ambition to guard either the exchequer, or those whose taxes contribute thereto. This conclusion is forced upon even the unbased mind by recently received news regarding the purloining of a letter from the Montreal Post office and its pub-publication in the Herald * * * * * A more despeuate game, a more barefaced scheme never polluted the history of any responsibly governed country or any pure minded political party. When the Pacific Corruption Fund trial commenced, there was a strong feeling against the Dominion Government, but now that the Opposition has been driven to commit a crime against the state and an offence against society—by publishing stolen correspondence—it proves to those who are unbiased and unprejudiced, that the leaders thereof do not hold that overwhelming evidence against the Government which has been so loudly proclaimed, and also that those who could be guilty of assisting in or promoting the robbery of Post Office correspondence are now, under any circumstances, unworthy to hold positions as Cabinet Ministers. This disgraceful transaction must alarm all classes of business men; they will feel that what can be done for political, may also be perpetrated for commercial purposes * * * Party rage, partisan bitterness, not even the 'enthusiasn of conviction' can justify so dangerous a doctrine as that to which we referred."

This is only one of many quotations which might be adduced from foreign sources in order to show what others think of Grit morality. Such strong condemnations, coming as they do from unprejudiced sources, must convince us that the game of the Opposition is thoroughly understood outside of our own country—that game being to use every means, however disreputable, in order to create prejudice against the Government to be used as a stepping stone to office.

THE EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.—The Alliance opened its proceedings on Friday afternoon in Madison Square Church, New York, the Hon. W. E. Dodge, President, in the chair. The Rev. Dr. Hodge (Presbyterian), of Princeton College, offered the opening prayer. The Rev. Dr. Rigg (Wesleyan), of London, England, read a scriptural lesson, after which there was prayer by the Rev. Males Precket, of Italy. He was followed by the Dean of Canterbury. The entire conference then arose, and sang, as with one voice, the evangelical hymn, "Coronation." During the course of the session, the Dean of Canterbury read a letter from the Archbishop of Canterbury, praying God's blessing on the Alliance. Fully eight hundred delegates are expected to attend the conference of the Alliance.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS.—Lectures commenced to-day, and we are glad to hear that the attendance of students is considerably increased.

WESLEYAN LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—The first meeting of this popular association for the season is to be held this evening in Sydenham-street Church, when the opening address will be delivered by the President, Rev. G. R. Sanderson, on "Dangers and Duties. The meetings are to be held fortnightly during the season. The officers for the year will be elected to-night after the lecture.

Mr James O'Reilly, Q.C., M.P., arrived at Ottawa on Thursday night to attend the Assizes.

REMINDERS.

Wesleyan Literary Association in Sydenham street Church at half-past seven.

Remember the County Show at the Crystal Palace. Make your entries to-morrow.

THE CHURCHES.—It St. Andrew's Church yesterday the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed in the morning—the Rev. Dr. Snodgrass conducting the service and preaching an eloquent sermon. Professor Mowat preached in the evening. In Chalmers' Church the Rev. E. D. McLaren, M.A., B.D., again preached. In the morning his subject was the safety of those who fear God. The sermon was one of great power. There was no service in Brock Street Church, Mr Wilson having gone to New York to attend the meeting of the Evangelical Alliance. The Communion was also dispensed in the Wesleyan Methodist Churches yesterday. Father Langcake, S.J., preached in St. Mary's Cathedral yesterday morning and afternoon.

TOM THUMB COMPANY.—Young and old will be pleased to hear that Gen. Tom Thumb and his little troupe will give performances in the City Hall on Wednesday next, in the afternoon and evening. The company has just returned from a tour round the world, and consists of Tom Thumb and his beautiful little wife. Com. Nutt, the famous $30,000 Nutt, and the infinitesimal Miss Minnie Warren. The following notice from the London Times speaks volumes for the troupe:

"Many a lady of fashion, even in Court circles, may well envy the Mrs Tom Thumb and her wee sister, Miss Minnie Warren, for the great variety and magnificent richness of their dresses, to say nothing of the more than princely display of diamonds of the first water, which an outlay of ten thousand pounds sterling has secured these charming little ladies from the Great Republic. But "handsome is he who handsome does," is the true old proverb, and all who witness the performances of these most captivating miniature ladies, aided by the heroic General Tom Thumb and the gallant and inimitable Commodore Nutt, will unite in saying that their entertainment is as surprising and delightful as its bewitching and extraordinary."

ROLPH, SMITH & CO.—Mr J. T. Rolph, Draughtsman, Engraver, Die Sinker and Embosser Toronto, has admitted into partnership Mr David Smith and his brother Frank Rolph and the firm will be known by the above name.

EXPORTS.—The following is the amount of exports, as reported at the United States Consul's office for the three months ending 30th September, 1873:—

In July	$ 45,928.73
In August	21,468.45
In September	43,238.79
Total for quarter	$ 110,635.97

POLICE COURT, MONDAY.—Judgment was given in the case of William Spankie, selling liquor without license. The magistrate found him guilty, and inflicted a fine of $20 and costs, or fifteen days in gaol with hard labour There were no prisoners before the court.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Yesterday the pulpit of this church was occupied by the Rev. Charles Chapman, M.A., of Zion Church, Montreal, who delivered two eloquent discourses to large congregations. The rev. gentleman selected as his text the thirty-first verse of the fortieth chapter of Isaiah—"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint.' In the afternoon Mr Chapman gave a brief address to the Sunday scholars. The discourse in the evening was the more eloquent of the two, and was founded upon I. Corinthians x. 13—"There hath no temptation taken you, but such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way of escape that ye may be able to bear it." The close attention which the congregation paid to Mr Chapman's delivery at both services was the best testimony to his ability as a preacher, and it is to be hoped that ere long the people of Kingston will have another opportunity of hearing him. The Rev. K. M. Fenwick is lecturing on Historical Theology before the students of the Congregational College of British North America, Montreal.

CORRECTION.—The man Horan, who was sent to gaol for 60 days on Faiday, was not captured in the house, but in the yard. He was trying to get into the house at the time.

CUSTOM'S RECEIPTS.—The following is a comparative statement of the custom's receipts at Kingston, from January 1st to September 30, in the years 1872 and 1873—January 1st to March 31, 1872, $26,272.32; 1873, $31,793.45. April 1 to June 30, 1872, $40,248.76; 1873, $44,808.34. July 1 to September 30 1872, $48,700.13; 1873, $55,292.73. The net increase of the three quarters of this year as compared with the corresponding period of last year is $16,67 3.31.

MARINE.—The Portsmouth Marine Railway has changed hands, Mr Thomas Kelly having become the proprietor, and solicits orders for overhauling and repairing all classes of vessels.

SIGNS.—The Corporation gives one month's notice to remove overhanging signs and awnings.

The last Ontario Gazette contains among other official announcements the following: 96, "The Napanee Paper Manufacturing Company," with power to carry on business at the village of Napanee Mills, in the county of Lennox and Addington, with the nominal capital of $50,000.

THE INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY GUIDE FOR OCTOBER.—Montreal: C. R. Chisholm and Bros. We have to thank the Messrs. Chisholm for a copy of their Railway and Steam Navigation Guide. A good sized publication of no less than 224 pages containing information concerning all the railways and steamers on the continent. Such a work must be indispensible to travellers.

SLIPPERY JACK.—This notorious individual was playing his pranks on Saturday evening, having attempted to catch a young girl near St. George's Hall on that evening. It is a pity some means cannot be adopted for ridding the city of this scoundrel.

Don't forget the County Show at the Crystal Palace on Wednesday next. Call and make your entries with the Secretary, Mr Simpson, who will keep his office open until eight o'clock on Tuesday evening.

KINGSTON GRAIN MARKET.—We often hear complaints from farmers that the price of grain is lower here than it is anywhere else. There is no doubt that higher prices are got elsewhere, but the farmers have only themselves to blame. We were informed by a prominent grain-dealer on Saturday last, that most of the grain brought into Kingston is in so dirty a condition that it takes the rank of No. 2 grain, and the prices are consequently lower. If farmers would only take some pains with their produce, and clean it a little better, we have no doubt that their cause of complaint would be removed, and better prices obtained.

AGNES WALLACE TROUPE.—The attendance at the City Hall on Saturday evening was very good, considering the wet weather. The performance opened with the farce of "Forty Winks," in which Harry Wilson displayed great humour as "Hans." This was followed by a drama founded on Wilkie Collins' novel of "New Magdalen," in which Miss Wallace took the role of Mercy Merrick. The first scene is laid in France during the Franco-Prussian war, introducing Mercy Merrick as a nurse in the French ambulance train. Grace Roseberry (Miss Sabrie Deshon), an English lady passing through France on her way home, is evertaken by a storm, and seeking shelter in the cottage which is in the possession of the French, and while there learns the story of Mercy Merrick. As the story is being told the Germans approach, and shell comes into the cottage, and striking Grace, she falls insensible. A very fine scene then occurs, in which Mercy Merrick determines to assume the name of Grace Roseberry, and proceeds to England to take up her residence with Lady Janet Roy (Miss Ada Harcourt). At this juncture Horace Holmcroft, a war correspondent, and Dr. Wetzel, a German surgeon, enter, and Mr Holmcroft procures a pass for the English lady, which she accepts, and in doing so confirms her resolution to be Grace Roseberry. After she retires the Doctor restores Grace to life. The scene then changes to England, where Mercy Merrick has established herself in Lady Janet's house as Grace. Horace Holmcroft (Mr Harry Wilson) is her affianced husband, and Mr Julian Gray (Sam B. Villa), a modern clergyman, full of love for all, is introduced. Julian has brought a letter with him, which he reads after Miss Grace has left the room, which astonishes Horace and Lady Janet with the news that the real Grace is at hand, and that the one in the house is an imposter. The usual denoument in such cases follows, and in the end Julian Gray marries Mercy Merrick, and they resolved to proceed to the new world. The acting of Miss Wallace as Mercy Merrick was very fine, and showed her great versatility; while Mr Villa's conception of the eccentric clergyman was also good. An occasional break nearly showed his burlesque powers, but on the whole the character was well sustained. As the jealous lover, Mr H. Wilson showed good acting; and Miss Deshon made the most of Grace Roseberry, dividing the honour with Miss Wallace. Miss Harcourt's Lady Janet was as good as could be made out of an inferior character, and the minor parts were well sustained. Altogether, it gave great satisfaction.

FLOUR INSPECTION. The following groups of counties have been designated by order in Council as inspection districts under the provisions of the Act 36, Vic. 68: 1, Essex, Kent and Lambton; 2, Middlesex and Elgin; 3, Oxford and Norfolk; 4, Perth and Huron; 5, Lincoln and Welland; 6, Brant and Haldimand; 7, Wellington and Waterloo; 8, Bruce and Grey; 9, Wentworth and Halton; 10, York and Peel; 11, Simcoe and Algoma; 12, Ontario and Durham; 13, Northumberland and Hastings; 14, Peterboro and Victoria; 15, Lennox and Prince Edward; 16, Frontenac, Leeds and Addington; 17, Lanark and Renfrew; 18, Carleton and Russell; 19, Grenville, Dundas and Stormont; 20, Glengarry and Prescott. At the Examiners' meeting held in Montreal the following standards of flour were selected and approved, viz.: Superior Extra, Extra Spring, Extra Superfine, Fine, Fine Middlings, Pollards and Strong Bakers'. It was decided to purchase five barrels of each brand, and to recommend to the Government that half a barrel of each be forwarded for the use of the examiners and inspectors of each Board of Trade mentioned in the Act.

Messrs. Henry and Charles Smith, Roselawn, and Professor Dupuis of Queen's College, have arrived in town from the old country.

We learn that the change of gauge was completed on the Grand Trunk Railway on Saturday evening, and that trains were running over it yesterday. On 421 miles there were 1,474 men employed in making the change. On one section of 15 miles the change was effected in three hours and a half. We had no mails on Saturday, the boat from the West, having been detained by the storm on the lake, only arriving here about ten o'clock.

G. T. R.—CHANGE OF TIME.—With a change of gauge on the Grand Trunk Railway has come a change of time table, and travellers will do well to consult our advertising columns for the correct time.

NO GAS.—Church-goers had to plough through the mud last night. There was some misunderstanding between the moon and the gas company. The former "went back" on the company and would not shine, and the public suffered in consequence.

SICK.—There was a general casting up of accounts near the post office early on Sunday morning. The balances were not as heavy since. Where's the scavenger?

We are pleased to learn that Mr Jimuel Briggs is shortly to start on a lecturing tour, when he will relate experiences of Bohemian life He will speak in Oshawa on the 10th. He may expect a rousing meeting in Kingston, where he has many admirers.

EARLY CLOSING.—We are glad to see that the druggists with, we believe, one exception, have agreed to close their places of business at 7 o'clock during the winter months.

Remember the County Show at the Crystal Palace. Make your entries to-morrow.

Weather Report.

Washington, Oct. 6, 1 a.m.—Probabilities for Monday:—In Middle and Eastern States, westerly winds and clear weather; for lower lake region, northwesterly winds, rising barometer, falling temperature, and cloudy or clearing weather.

Washington, Sept. 6, 10:30 a.m.—Probabilities:—For Middle Atlantic States, southerly winds veering to northwest and occasionally increasing to brisk, accompanied by cloud and rain followed Monday night by rapidly rising barometer and clearing weather with much lower temperature. For New England and Lake Ontario, rising barometer northwesterly winds, cloud and rain clearing away Monday night.

NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

A very general desire having been expressed that the proposed National Thanksgiving for the bountiful harvest with which we have been favoured should be held at a later period of the season than that suggested—the 16th of October—we are glad to hear that consultation has been had with the authorities of the religious bodies on the subject, and that some early day in November is likely to be selected. This change will be most acceptable to all business men, as for two or three weeks the pressure to hurry up business before the close of navigation will be keenly felt; and we fear the services of the day would have been but poorly attended.—Globe.

We are at a loss to know what the above means? The Metropolitan, the Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, and President of the Methodist Conference, made arrangements for observing the 16th of October as a day of National Thanksgiving. There was not a word of opposition to it by anyone; on the contrary, it was generally concurred in, and a hope expressed that the Lieutenant Governor would issue his proclamation appointing that day a general holiday. On the faith that this would be done, arrangements have been made by the different churches for carrying out the observance of the 16th of October, and now we are told that "a very general desire has been expressed that the proposed National Thanksgiving should be held at a later period of the season." This is simply bounce. No such general desire has been expressed, not even in a single newspaper in the Province. The time to object to the 16th of October would have been a couple of months ago, when the time was arranged by "the authorities of the religious bodies" referred to, and not now when the arrangements for observing that day are complete.

A CURIOSITY.—A schooner which arrived at this port yesterday reports that, after the late gale in Louisburg Harbour, when commencing to weigh the anchors, she became entangled in something, and with much difficulty the anchor was weighed. When brought to the surface, the obstruction was found to be an old anchor which had attached itself to the anchor of the schooner. It is about twelve feet in length, and is covered with barnacles. It is supposed to have been lost at the seige of Louisburg, in the war between the French and English, which happened over a hundred years ago.—Halifax Paper.

TOWNSHIP LIBRARY.—A large meeting of the ratepayers and trustees of the township of Ernesttown was held at Odessa last week, to discuss the advisability of expending $1,000 for a township library. After considerable arguing for and against, a vote was taken, and was almost unanimously carried in favour of the expenditure. Ernesttown will thus have a $2,000 library, the Educational Department of Ontario adding 100 per cent to the amount voted by the township. The thousand dollars voted is part of Ernesttown's share of the Municipal Loan Fund.—Napanee Beaver.
