THE SITUATION AT OTTAWA.—The London Advertiser is a lucky fellow. He has been on a voyage of discovery and has found a veritable mare's nest. The wish being father to the thought, he asserts that "the signs of an early break up of the present Dominion Government are manifest to careful observers." And the most careful and yet by a seeming paradox the most blundering is the sage of the Advertiser. "The absence of Sir George E. Cartier, and Sir F. Hincks retirement are alone sufficient, apart from the blunders of last session, to break up the Government." We are at a loss to know what this means. Sir George's absence may be a little to be regretted, but our reform friends should remember that they have always held him up as the greatest enemy Ontario had, and instead of lamenting with crocodile tears his forced absence, they ought to rejoice at it, inasmuch as it will allow Sir John to manage things in his own way. For, have we not been told time and again that Sir John would do right, if Sir George were only out of the way?

But how are we to account for the retirement of Sir Francis. We think that the Advertiser is a little premature in making the announcement. Sir Francis has not retired, and still the rumour of it has done one good service for him. The Globe last week in giving currency to the same report said a few words in his favour, and was just for once, and now its feeble London echo discourses in this wise. "With all Sir Francis' faults of recklessness, he was (like E. B. Wood in the Sandfield Ontario government) undoubtedly, next to Sir John A. Macdonald, the brains of the government." Well, now, that is rich, coming from such a quarter. Why, it is the first decent word that has been said of him in a reform journal since his acceptance of office in the cabinet. The Advertiser chap may have been reading the works of one of England's greatest poets, and stumbled on these words:

For it so falls out
That what we have we prize not to the worth
Whiles we enjoy it; but being lacked or lost,
Why then we rack the value, then we find
That virtue which possession would not show us
Whiles it was ours.

But this is not all. The Solon proceeds: "It was hardly to be expected that Sir F. Hincks, pretending to represent the Reform element of Ontario, could remain in the government after the decision of the electoral body in Ontario, and particularly in South Brant." Now that is hard on the Knight. He ought at once to retire, and obtain the unanimous plaudits of the reformers of Ontario, and yet we think he will hardly do so even to earn a guerdon of such weighty price. "His retirement while it is a terrific blow to the tottering Cabinet, could not be avoided on any terms compatible with self respect on the part of Sir Francis." Oh Sir Francis! wont you go after that? See what a noble being you are, when you do what the reformers want you! If you have not already made up your mind, do so at once, whilst the halo of praise from such unwonted sources is bright about your head. But we must tear ourselves away from the sweet imaginative story so neatly got up by our old particular friend Cameron of the Advertiser, and, averting the glass, see Sir Francis busy with Departmental work at Ottawa and with no present intention of giving it up. "Tis true, 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true." Eh, Cameron, do you understand?

SCHOOL BOARD. – The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Public School Trustees takes place this evening in the Council Chamber at the usual hour.

AT LARGE YET.—That scamp—a genuine lady killer—who has been creating such a commotion amongst the fair sex, has not yet been secured. We have heard it said that he has been shamefully jilted by some faithless one, hence his conduct towards the female portion of the community. Another lunatic, labouring under similar hallucinations, has been committed to gaol for safe keeping.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL,—The Whig, speaking of the probability of the establishment of the Normal School in Kingston, points out as the most desirable location the property owned by Mr Livingston. But there is another locality closer by the town, possessing greater advantages than the property alluded to by the Whig. The property now alluded to is a mile nearer, and known as the Herchmer reserve, a sufficient part of which it is understood is still in the market. Moreover, as it is desirable to front the harbour with elegant architectural buildings, the latter property is very much preferable, the former being concealed from the harbour, while the latter is directly in front thereof without any intervention.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—A special service will be held at St. Paul's Church on the evening of Thanksgiving Day. The Sunday School anniversary sermon will be preached on the same occasion.

"DAYS IN THE DOMINION."—This is the title of a lecture to be delivered in connection with the Belfast Church of Ireland Young Men's Society, by Mr William Johnson, M. P.

The Picton Times of yesterday gravely states that "a day of Thanksgiving for temporal blessings has been appointed by the Government of the Province of Quebec. Has Ontario less to be thankful for?" Considering that the proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario bears date the 31st ultimo, we are inclined to think the news travels very slowly to Picton.

Mr Doward is organizing a Choral Society and has already obtained the names of fifty members. The society will meet for practice at St. George's Hall on Monday next. This is a step in the right direction.

THE SOIREE AT THE ORANGE HALL.—Last evening the annual soiree to commemorate the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot took place in the Victoria Orange Hall. There was a fai attendance. Soon after 8 o'clock tea was served, to which ample justice was done to the good things provided, upon the termination of which speeches were delivered by Mr Alderman Livingston, County Master; Mr Snook, Mr Alderman McIntyre, Deputy District Master; Mr Shaw, Wm. Robinson, M.P.P., and the Chairman, Mr Thos. McMahon, District Master. Messrs Cuddeford and Alexander Robbs sang two comic songs in character, and were each honoured by an encore. A humorous reading, entitled "Darby Doyle's Trip from Cork to Quebec," was given by Mr Alexander, which was well received. Mr Mee presided at the piano, and the Garrison Artillery Band, under the leadership of Mr Rackett, performed several favourite pieces of music. The singing of the national anthem concluded the soiree. The room was then prepared for dancing, in which the lovers of Terpsichore indulged to their hearts' content, under the directorship of Mr Perry; and altogether a delightful evening was spent. Mr Swanston was the purveyor for the soiree.

AT IT AGAIN.—We are all familiar with the murmurings of the Grit organs last fall at what they were pleased to call the delay in calling together the House. "Sir John was afraid to meet the House," "He would not call them together until the last moment," "He was certain of being defeated on the Treaty of Washington question," and a hundred other groundless charges, and insinuations were boldly indulged in. When the House did meet the falsity of the Grit statements was apparent, and as for the Grit faction on the Treaty of Washington every one knows that they were not merely defeated—they were completely routed by a majority from every Province of the Dominion. We observe that the London Advertiser has already started this game again. We are told in a recent number that Sir John will postpone the calling of the House as long as possible. Our contemporary may take it for granted that Sir John will call the House together when he is ready, and when the public business requires it, and neither sooner or later. But suppose we vary the amusement a little by asking "When is the Legislative Assembly to be called together? or when is Mr Mowat going to get a seat?"

HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

Laying of the Corner Stone.

This morning at 11 o'clock, the Mayor S. T. Drennan, Esq., in the presence of the Board of Directors and many others, laid the corner stone of the addition now being erected to the handsome "Johnson Property," Montreal Road, which is being converted into a House of Industry. The attendance of citizens was smaller, than we anticipated—much smaller, indeed, than the occasion deserved. The Board of Directors left the Mayor's office in a body and proceeded to the place designated where everything was found in readiness for the performance of the interesting event.

Previous to the inauguration of proceedings the Mayor addressed the assembly, giving a brief retrospect of the House of Industry from the time of its establishment in 1846 to the present time—a period of twenty-six years. When he entered the Board as a Director some fourteen years ago, the Institution was deeply in debt; it was exceedingly dirty and contained considerably more inmates than it could conveniently accommodate. They had labored indefatigably and it was a pleasure to conceive the result they had attained, thanks for the material assistance they had annually received from the government. They were all well aware that at the confederation of the Provinces in 1867 this and all similar Institutions lost some six months of the usual government grant of $3,000. The responsibility of maintaining the House was then transferred from the Dominion Government to the Ontario Legislature, and with that act the annuity was reduced to $2,400. Now, with the balance of funds on hand, and the gift of the "Johnson property"—a property valued at $10,000 at least—and the sale of the building now occupied as such Institution on Earl street, it was proposed to remove the same and resume it on an enlarged scale.—(Hear, hear),—and as such he might state it would no longer be recognised as a refuge for the poor, but a House of Industry in reality. It was well known that $3,000 yearly were paid to the county for the support of prisoners, imprisoned for vagrancy, intoxication and like petty misdemeanours, who could be committed here, enduring punishment but no disgrace, and being engaged in exercise that will tend to be remunerative instead of a pecuniary loss. This site for the institution was admirably located, and possessed excellent and commodious accomodation, by which the sexes would be isolated, the men working, eating and sleeping in different departments from the others. If desirous the Corporation could add another wing to the Institution, carrying out the provisions of the law and that too at much less expenditure than $3,000 making the House one of the most extensive and important in the Dominion at a great saving to the city. (Hear hear.) He observed that the city member in the Local House was present, and as one of the Directors of the Institution one in whose hands he felt sure that its interests were safe; that he would spare no efforts to have the government continue as large a grant to this as any similar Institution in Ontario.

Mr Robinson, M.P.P., said there had been a great deal of talk in Toronto recently that Kingston received more than its due share in the distribution of charities, this city obtaining as much as the "Queen city," a place of nearly thrice its population, and contributing three times as much as Kingston, whose corporation, he regretted, was represented as contributing nothing towards the House of Industry.

Alderman Allen—Think of this splendid property.

Mr Robinson continued that that was very true, but it had inherited a bad name and a bad reputation by an unjust criticism of Inspector Langmuir—for what reason he knew not. He reviewed some of the facts laid by him before the Legislature in setting forth the claims of Kingston for the high grant of $2,400; it passed this year, but was rather a problematical question to calculate and discuss hereafter. He endorsed the sentiments of the Board in asserting that the House of Industry must be maintained; to his knowledge some of its present occupants were once in the highest positions; fortune failed them and they were so humiliated as very reluctantly to be recipients of the bounty and liberality of others. As far as he concerned he would exert his influence to have the grant renewed by the government; but he feared success and counselled action on the part of the corporation to aid this one of the most useful of charitable Institutions.

The Mayor replied that in the cities of London, Hamilton, and Toronto, and elsewhere it was the custom of all denominations, whether Roman Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian, or Episcopalian, to unite in supporting a House of Industry, while here each religious body assits in keeping its own destitute and indigent, a similar course he advised to be pursued here, in which case the Institution would be rendered one of the best in the Dominion.

Mr Robinson was of opinion that each church should keep its own poor. He thought the Mayor should do as he had when in office—see that no strangers are relieved if the maintanance of the Institution depends entirely upon local resources.

The Dean of Ontario asked a blessing, when his Worship with a few dexterous movements spread the morter with a trowel—not a costly or fantastic implement, but of business-like appearance—and applying the square and spirit-level in the name of the Great Architect of the Universe, declared the stone laid plumb and square.

The lead box placed in the usual cavity of the corner stone contained a 25c. shinplaster (Dominion currency), and silver coins of the denomination of 25c., 20c. 10c. and 5c., one penny and one cent, copper coins, copies of the DAILY NEWS and CHRONICLE AND NEWS, and Daily and Weekly British Whig, Mail, Globe and Montreal Witness of date of November 5th, 1872; and a neatly engrossed parchment on which the following was inscribed: Officers of the House of Industry for the year 1872:—Chairman, S. T. Drennan, Esq., Mayor; Secretary-Treasurer, Isaac Simpson, Esq.; Directors, Aldermen Allen, McIntyre, E. Chown, C. Livingston, M. Sullivan, O. Yates, Esq., M.D., J. Harkess, Esq., J. Shannon, Esq., W. Anglin, Esq., J. Brown, Esq.; Superintendent, J. Holmes; Matron, Mrs M. Holmes; Member for the City of Kingston in the Dominion Parliament, the Right Honorable Sir John Alexander Macdonald, K.C.B., Premier; Member for the City of Kingston in the Ontario Parliament, William Robinson, Esq.; also the names of the Corporation of the Council and Officers of the City of Kingston. Kingston, Nov. 6, 1872.

With three cheers for the Queen, three for the Mayor, the City Member, the clergy, etc., the party dispersed.

The party adjourned afterwards to Richardson's restaurant where a handsome spread was provided. The Mayor occupied the chair and after a discussion of the good things provided, the usual loyal toasts were given. In response to his health, Mr Robinson, M.P.P., said he was certain—very certain that Kingston would receive the Normal School; as to Ottawa or any other place he cared not whether they received a School or not. As to the House of Industry he would do all in his power to procure a renewal of the grant in full, but feared it would not be obtained. He concluded by proposing the health of the Mayor which was duly honoured and responded to. The toast of "The Press" was responded to by Messrs. Shannon of the News and Pense of the Whig.

SERIOUS COLLISION ON THE LAKE.—Last night about 10;30 o'clock a collision occurred off Four Mile Point between the schooners Hercules and Medbery, by which the former lost her stem and the latter was stove in and sunk. Yesterday afternoon the Hercules sailed for Hamilton with railroad iron. Finding the weather unfavourable for satisfactory headway, she had "come about," and was returning to this port when she sighted the Medbery, salt laden for Chicago. Both displayed lights but the masters of neither had the least conception they were so near until the vessels struck violently, and the extent of the damage incurred was at once apparent. The Hercules is insured here; the Medbery in Cleveland.

AN ALMOST FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Friday evening, between eight and nine o'clock, as Mr Hugh Campbell was driving homeward in the County of Leeds, he sustained injuries which resulted almost fatally. He had purchased a load of miscellaneous articles, which becoming displaced he stood up in the waggon to arrange, the horses made a sudden plunge and he was thrown out. What transpired he has no recollection of, being rendered unconcious by the severity of the fall he received. He must have been dragged for quite a distance as his head and body are wounded in various places besides having his right ankle broken. The horses wandered along the road as far as the village of Seeley's Bay, where a party went out in search of the owner and found him in the precarious condition described. He was removed to the Kingston General Hospital, remaining insensible until to-day, when he exhibited the most favourable symptoms of recovery.

GAS LAMPS.—Very many of the street lamps require repairing—some are so broken as to be utterly unfit for service, and their absence would be unmissed on a dark night as they seldom remain lighted for any length of time. A goodly number also need cleaning, the reflection sometime being indistinct and lacking the necessary brilliancy. We hope the suggestion will merit the attention of the Gas Company.

SPILT MILK.—Yesterday evening one of the city milkmen's horses moved forward a little in the absence of the driver, and upset the cart and its contents. The deliverer and his customers were alike chagrined and disappointed, but all concurred in the original expression, "there's no use in crying over spilt milk."

OBTRUCTING THE SIDEWALKS.—Complaints are frequently made to the authorities of the manner in which the mercantile portion of our community obstruct the sidewalks in the vicinity of their places of business by publicly exposing goods designed to attract purchasers. Very often, too, offenders in this respect have been brought to task for so doing, but were invariably dismissed on various grounds. Still the object aimed at remains unaccomplished, and to-day we find there were no less than about a dozen grocers and others summoned before the Police Magistrate for continuing a practice which is diametrically adverse to the provision of a by-law which had been repeatedly enunciated and quoted for their especial benefit, but without effect. The Police Magistrate explained at length the nature of the cases before him, and expressed his determination in decided terms to enforce the by-law in future. He had advised and cautioned and admonished the merchants several times to no avail; and he had concluded to no longer deal so leniently as he had in the past—they must either adhere to the by-lay or become liable to punishment by fine the latter of which he would unhesitatingly impose henceforth.

REMINDERS.—The public School Board meeting this evening.

We learn from Owen Sound that the recent accident on the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway whereby three men were killed and several others injured, was caused by stones piled on the track by some fiend in human form. No blame is attached to the railway officials. We would suggest that a handsome reward should be offered by the company for the apprehension and conviction of the offender.
