Tours, Oct 28.—Advices from Le Mans represent General Bourbaki has visited and made a full inspection of all the strongholds in the district, and was engaged in reviewing troops and giving orders for defence. The Government considers that his march to the assistance of Metz saved that city from attack and bombardment. No official advice regarding the fall of Metz or the Army of the Loire is known to have been received today. Colonel Wickenstein, military attache of the Russian Embassy, left Tours today for Versailles, having received a severe reprimand from the Prussian headquarters. Dispatches just arrived here from London, and will be sent from Versailles to Paris. Minister Gambetta has issued a decree establishing in each department a centre of observation, so that the troops may no longer be liable to surprise by the enemy. Officers or parties will be held responsible under heavy penalties for constantly reporting the movements of the invaders. A Protestant pastor of Geneva, who has accompanied ambulances from the beginning of the war, is now in Tours. He gives a harrowing recital of the brutal conduct of the Prussian soldiery towards the defenceless country people. He says he has seen them wantonly destroy farming implements, looms and food, take away the aged cripples, women and children to starve. He concluded to address through the Press a letter to the kind people of Germany, giving details of these outrages. It is reported that the Kreisrat has issued a call for a meeting of a European Congress to arrange peace.

Tours, Oct. 29.—[illegible] following [illegible] has been received and made public:—

Metz has capitulated. The Army of Metz has been disarmed and disbanded. Twenty generals, 6,000 officers and 173,000 men have passed through the gates of Metz. The Prussians have taken possession of the city and forts.

Strasburg, Oct. 28.—A telegram from Versailles announces that the Prussians have sent a flag of truce between Mezieres and Sedan to Paris in disorder, taking with them many carriages filled with wounded, and leaving 800 killed on the field. They left the city of Metz on the 27th. They were disarmed and deprived of their colors.

Tours, Oct. 29, evening.—Gambetta has left for the seat of government, to remain permanently in the East, and Gen Aymard takes his place.

Tours, Oct. 30.—The Government sat in council last night until 2 o'clock in the morning. The following proclamation was issued this morning:—

"The French Republic—Liberte, Egalite, Fraternite. Fellow-citizens, Rouen prospects are improving. The French light. The fortunes which have fallen upon the country still depends upon us to mount above misfortunes, and show the world how great a people may be when we resolve not to perish, and whose courage increases in the hour of calamity. Metz has capitulated. General on whom France counted to deliver his country in its danger with more than a hundred thousand of her defenders—Marshal Bazaine has betrayed us. He has made himself the agent of the man of Sedan and the accomplice of the invader, and regardless of his honour, he has surrendered the army of which he had charge, without even making the last effort, one hundred and twenty thousand men, 20,000 wounded, forts, cannon, colours, and the strongest citadel of France—Metz. Such a crime is above even the punishments of justice. Meanwhile, Frenchmen, measure the depths of the abyss into which the empire has precipitated us for twenty years. France submitted to a corrupting power, which extinguished in her the springs of greatness and of life. The army of France, stripped of its national character, became without knowing it an instrument of tyranny and of perfidiude, and was swallowed up in spite of the heroism of the soldiers by the treason of its chiefs. In the disasters of the country in less than two months 250,000 men have been delivered over to the enemy, a disaster sequel to the military surrender of December. It is time for us to reassert ourselves at last, and under the aegis of the Republic, which we have determined not to allow to capitulate, within or without, to live in the extremity even of our misfortune, the preservation of our political and social morality and manhood, however shaken by disaster. Let us be found neither panic-stricken nor hesitating. Let it be seen that we are ready for the last sacrifices, and in the face of the enemies whom every day favours, let us swear never to give up so long as there remains an inch of sacred soil under the soles of our feet. Let us hold firmly the glorious banner of the French Revolution. Our cause is that of justice and of right. Europe sees it! Europe feels it in the presence of so many unmerited misfortunes! Receiving from us neither invitation nor encouragement, she has moved, and she begins to act. No illusion is now left. Let us no longer languish in grumble, but let us prove by our acts that we can ourselves maintain honour, independence, integrity, and all that makes a country proud and free. Long live the Republic, one and indivisible!

(Signed,) CREMIEUX,
GLAIS BIZOIN,
GAMBETTA.

The proclamation, placarded about the streets, attracts crowds of readers, and creates great excitement. Groups of people are discussing the treachery of Bazaine, who is denounced, and bitter imprecations are uttered against the Bonapartists.

London, Oct. 29.—The Prussian force of 200 men which tried to cut the Amiens and Rouen railroad at Formiere were repulsed after severe fight with the Mobile and National Guards, and retreated on Gournay. The Mobiles took one gun. The Prussians in retreating fired the village with torches and petroleum.

The Orleanist peace party counts as its leaders M. Thiers, Grevy, Guizot, Montpayroux and Lefevre.

The balloon post has ceased for more than a week.

The spoils captured at Metz include 3,000 guns, forty millions of francs of the French war fund, and twenty millions of the French Civil Government department funds.

London, Oct 30.—M. Thiers has declined a Prussian safe conduct to Paris because it requires him to go via Versailles.

London, Oct. 30.—The French troops that surrendered at Metz have been disarmed. The Prussians refused to parole the officers, because of General Ducrot's evasion of his obligations. Provisions were divided in large quantities at Metz.

It is estimated that the Germans have taken up to the present day 320,000 French prisoners.

London, Oct. 30.—Mr Wade, of the British Legation in China, telegraphs that Tienstsin is safe for foreigners, but famine prevails at Lenchang, and much exhaustion prevails among the native population.

It is reported that the Vienna Cabinet has sent despatches to Madrid approving the candidature of the Duke of Aosta.

Versailles, Oct. 29.—The North German Minister to Spain has been authorized to make the following statement to the Spanish government in regard to the nomination of Prince Amadeus for the throne. The King of Prussia, having heretofore admitted the right of Spain to choose her own sovereign, holds to that admission. Germany declines to imitate the example of France by interfering with Spain, and is ready to acknowledge any act of the Spanish people regarding its future sovereign.

New York, Oct 31. The Tribune's correspondent with the army of the Loire, says fears of treason are everywhere expressed. All thoughtful people are for peace while the army is for peace at any price. The real strength of this army does not exceed 60,000. The government is exceedingly apprehensive as to what may befall the army, admitting that they have created such hopes of its success that the consequences of failure would be terrible.

London, Oct 31. The Liverpool chamber of commerce complains of the losses caused by the inaccuracy and delay in the telegraphic service between Liverpool and America, they have resolved to petition the government for a direct line between Liverpool and Valentia Bay as it is between those points that the greatest irregularities occur.

Luxemburg, Oct. 31. A detachment of six thousand troops from the army of Prince Frederick Charles has gone to besiege Longwy, near the Belgian border.

Versailles, Oct. 31. Invitations have been sent to the rulers of the various states of South Germany to come forward to witness the bombardment of Paris.

Vienna, Oct. 31. As Prussia still demands the cession of territory from France as a precedent to peace, it is believed in diplomatic circles here that the war must proceed indefinitely.

London, Oct. 31. A Copenhagen despatch states that the North German Parliament has published 740,000 troops for the present war and the states of South Germany 160,000. Of this grand total of 900,000 men only all are now on French soil. They are expected to complete the conquest of France in a short winter campaign.
