Bishop Quintard of Tennessee, has collected $40,000 in England for the Southern Episcopal University.

It is reported in London that a Masonic archeological society has been established in order to elucidate and popularize the antiquities and history of Freemasonry.

A man named Maloney, a passanger from Queenstown on the City of Antwerp, was yesterday arrested in New York by request over the cable on suspicion of murder commited in Ireland.

The Grecian was pumped out on Tuesday, and the damage suffered by her hull so repaired as to keep it free from water. The steamer Highlander yesterday attempted to pull her off, but without success, and barges have, as a consequence, been sent up to raise her by means of screws. The Grecian met with a little accident at almost the same place two years ago, and her stern then went in thirty feet of water. Capt. Kelly, determined to avoid a like result, this time drove her upon the bank at full speed, and so kept all decks above the surface, but at the same time lifted her, from the wheels forward ,at least a foot above the low water line. The Highlander was attached by two nine-inch hawsers, having perhaps fifty feet of play, and at full steam brought them taut, snapping both as if they had been no stronger than whipping cord, without budging the Grecian an inch.
