London, March 25.—The British Government has addressed an official note to the Porte, intimating that it will hold Turkey responsible for the amount which English bondowners will have to pay through the recent increase of dues on the Suez Canal.

London, March 29.—The race with the Oxford and Cambridge crews was won by the Cambridge crew by three lengths.

NEW YORK DESPATCHES.

New York, March 28.—Catherine Kerrigan, a married woman, was this evening found in a liquor saloon No. 61. Washington street suffering from severe wounds. She was taken to Park Hospital, where she died ten minutes after being admitted. Her husband has been arrested on the suspicion of being her murderer. The couple resided over the saloon and were addicted to drink and constantly quarling.

St. Louis, March 28.—George Bryan, a negro, was hanged by a mob at Chillcom Mo., on Wednesday night for committing a rape on Miss. Fiske, a highly-respected white lady, living about twenty miles from that place.

San Francisco, March 29.—Last week the schooner Lark sailed from Sandiego for Kasmedos. Among the passengers were six convicted murderers to be taken to Lopez, Lower California. The bodies of four men have been found washed ashore and chained together. Pieces of a wreck have been picked up near where the bodies were discovered, and it is inferred that the vessel was lost with all hands.

INLAND NAVIGATION.

The St. Catharines Times says: "Our readers can judge of the rapid growth of the trade between Montreal and Chicago, when we inform them that in 1868, only five years ago, there were no more than three Canadian propellers, or one a week on that route. There now there will be eighteen, or one a day, belonging to St. Catharines and its growing suburbs." The impression intended to be conveyed by the foregoing paragraph is that St. Catharines is the only port which has sufficient enterprise to have a line of propellers between Montreal and Chicago, ignoring the fact altogether that other lines of propellers are running between Montreal and Chicago. By an advertisement in a St. Catharines' paper we find that the Merchants' Montreal and Chicago line numbers just nine propellers, not "eighteen," and we are informed that of the nine is owned in Toronto (the Huna). The Hamilton Lake and River Steamship line has ten boats, with another building, eight of which ply between Montreal and Chicago without breaking bulk, while the others in consequence of their size are too large to pass through the canal ply between Montreal and the Lake Ontario ports. The names of those capable of passing through the canal are the Lake Michigan, Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, Canada, Columbia, City of Buffalo, California, and Dromedary.—Hamilton Standard.

CONVERT TO THE BALLOT.

It is seldom we have it in our power to agree with Mr Alexander Mackenzie; his views are so narrow and selfish, and his political vista so circumscribed, and his manner so offensively dogmatic that very few men can agree with him unless they completely abdicate their right to private judgment; but on one point we do agree with the grim Irreconcilable—on the ballot. Just a year ago we stated that our membership was secretly in favour of this mode of voting; but the Almanac berated us roundly for accusing its master of a policy for which he had "no sympathy." It now turns out that we were right, and the organ wrong, for Mr Mackenzie stated in the House last week that he had become a convert to the ballot. We are glad to hear this. We have always been, and will continue to be, a supporter of voting by ballot, until the system has been fairly tried and pronounced a failure. In view of the wholesale corruption and intimidation infused by the parties into the last general election, some safeguard against a repetition of the evil is necessary. To some extent vote by ballot would be an improvement.—Sarnia Canadian.

GRAND TRUNK INFLUENCE.

In the House of Commons on Wednesday, Mr John Macdonald said: Perhaps the gentleman will not apply the rules of the House too strictly to allow of my making a personal explanation.' I observed by the Toronto Globe of Friday, the 21st of March, a letter from a London correspondent of that paper, from which I will read an extract which concerns myself. The correspondent states that a conversation which he alleged to have had with Mr Potter, President of the Grand Trunk Railway. The passage is this:—

'Politicians to be shaken off. I then referred to the universal complaint in Canada that the road was too closely allied with politicians and their manœuvres. Nothing could be more explicit than Mr Potter's reply. He seemed to feel the force of the allegation, and without the slightest attempt to beat around the bush, he goodnaturedly said, 'I can assure you I am most determined that politics shall not in any way interfere with the legitimate business of the road. I am aware that has been a ground of complaint, and during my visit to Canada I was repeatedly pressed to use our influence in different elections. I HAD PRESSING TELEGRAMS FROM JOHN A. AND HINCKS DURING MY JOURNEY, BUT I PAID NOT THE SLIGHTEST ATTENTION TO THEM.' I dare say we might have influenced eight or nine constituencies; but I care not what Government is in power, I am resolved that no political party shall use the Grand Trunk Railway as a machine to influence elections, or in any way divert the attention of its officers from their legitimate duties to serve politicians."

Well, Mr Speaker, I have only to say as regards myself, that I did not see Mr Potter when he was in this country; that I did not write to him; that I did not send any message to him by telegraph or otherwise; that I had no communication with him on election matters, or any other matter whatsoever, directly or indirectly, during his visit to Canada. (Cheers.) Now, sir, I sent him this message by cable on the 24th March, 1873—

"To Richard Potter, Gr. T. R., London.

"Toronto Globe's London correspondent states that you informed him I had sent you, when in Canada, pressing telegrams respecting elections. Did you say so.

"JNO. A. MACDONALD."

This was answered by Mr Potter on the 25th March, to the following effect:—

"Distinctly deny statement of Globe's correspondent (loud cheers) as reported in your telegram, and I authorize you to contradict it publicly.

"POTTER."

(The reading of the above was received with loud cheers.)

The Hon. Donald A. Smith, M.P., and Hon. W. J. Christie arrived here to-day. They have made the quickest trip on record, having left Fort Garry on Saturday morning last, and arrived in Ottawa this morning by the western train.

ANOTHER FIRE IN MONTREAL.

Friday morning at about four a.m. a fire was discovered in the rear of the British American Bank Note Company's building, corner of St. James and John streets. The origin of the fire is as yet unknown. The burned portion of the building was used as paint grinding shops—situated over Beckett's printing establishment—the upper room being less destroyed than the third flat, which is completely guttted. The building heated by steam makes it the more extraordinary how the fire started. The whole Brigade was promptly on the spot, and although the flames had gained great headway, they were soon extinguished by the firemen. Had there been any delay at this fire, situated as it was in the very heart of the city, it is hard to conjecture the disaster that might have arisen therefrom. The Steam Eire Engine was stationed in Notre Dame street, and did excellent service. The watchman in the building deserves credit for the assistance he afforded the Brigade, the members of which also worked remarkably well. The Bank Note Co., loses heavily on stock, &c., insured in the British American, Scottish Imperial, Liverpool, London and Globe, Commercial, Union, and North British and Mercantile, each for $1,400. Mr Beckett's stock in the two lower flats is damaged by water to about $2,000; insured in the Western, $3,000, North British, $3,000 and Scottish Provident, $2,000. The building is an addition lately built, and is owned by Harrison Stephens, Esq., and is insured in the London for $1,000.—Montreal Witness.

An application has been made to the heritors of the Abbey Parish of Paisley, on behalf of the Glasgow St. Andrew's Society, for liberty to fill in with stained glass a window in the Abbey Church to the memory of Sir William Wallace of Elderslie. The subject selected is Sampson assailing the enemies of his country single handed, and the artist is to be Mr James Ballantyne, Edinburgh.

On Tuesday night Mr Crooks floundered through an attempt to prove that the expenditures of the current year would not exceed the revenue. Mr Rykert having effectively replied, showing conclusively that, taking the Treasurer's own figures, the deficit would be at least $500,000, Mr Mowat put in his oar, and, utterly oblivious of his colleagues argument, said of course they were spending more than the normal receipts, but every one expected that, as they had a Surplus to distribute! Happy country! Thrice happy in being blessed with such a Government! Mail.
