[ADVERTISEMENT.]
To the Editor of the British Whig.
DEAR SIR—I wish to inform the public, through your widely circulated journal, that it is a great loss to all who are suffering with many disorders, that they do not know where they might be relieved in a short time, and at little expense. I was for some weeks this winter unable to stretch in my bed, but sat in a chair, nearly suffocated with Asthma; and my friends were alarmed lest I should drop off suddenly. They despatched a messenger in haste to Kingston, to Dr. Lanktree for medicine, and the very first day that I took it I was freed from danger, and was able to resume my business in a short time, for which I feel thankful.
JOHN NOWLAN.
Scott's Corners,
Township of Kingston,
24th April, 1852.

I wish to make it known the public, that I was suddenly afflicted with a complaint that was alarming to me and my little family; every second day, at the hour of 12 o'clock, I was out of my mind, and did not know what mischief I would do if allowed. I was advised to go to Dr Lanktree, and through the treatment that he used, and with the blessing of God, I had not a return of that complaint after.
