The Daily News.

SATURDAY EVENING, JANUARY 7.

Words of ours are scarcely necessary to expose the miserable misconstruction placed by the Whig upon a temperately written obituary notice of the late Mr Tandy. There was neither an open nor a covert sneer in our remarks, which were copied in full by the Belleville Intelligencer—cited as a model of good taste by the Whig. Fairness towards an opponent is not expected from the last mentioned journal, but it might have had more consideration for the memory of the deceased than to make such a topic the occasion of ill-natured and wholly uncalled-for comparisons.

The Whig's remarks on the Military College question are an additional illustration of the determination to misrepresent, for which our contemporary is famous. From the outset our position was that of an impartial outsider, desiring to let the public hear both sides, and subsequent explanations for the benefit of those, who, like the Whig, were too dull to understand this, in no way varied that original position. Again, although we have at times stated the grounds on which actions have been brought—an unobjectionable course—yet we have not followed the Whig's indefensible system of prejudging and prejudicing public opinion. When our contemporary, recalling its own methods, asserts that we are disingenuous in denying the authorship of Centurion's letter, it merely prints another falsehood. The letter in question was neither inspired, suggested, nor composed, in whole or in part, by anyone connected with the News office, notwithstanding that it was written in that fair and impartial spirit which it is so impossible for the Whig to understand that it calls it alternate slobber and attack.

Some of the transformations attempted by the Grit organs are happily hit off by the Hamilton Spectator. 1st. The tariff is a monstrous robbery; put us in office and we will retain the tariff substantially as it is. 2nd. The sugar duties are making millionaires of the refiners; in consequence of the unhealthy competition induced by the tariff, our sugar refineries are falling. 3rd. A surplus is a robbery of the people; the Ontario Government has a surplus, therefore it deserves popular support. 4th. The contract with the syndicate is infamous, because the terms are so much better for the country than those offered by Mr Mackenzie. 5th. The farmers are not sufficiently protected; put us in office and we will repeal the duties on agricultural products. To this the Mail adds. 6th. It was a patriotic resolve on the part of Mr Mackenzie to refuse to allow a North-West charter to go into operation as a rival to the Canadian Pacific railway; Sir John, it is stated, is going to follow the precedent, thus provided; this is fostering an infamous monopoly upon the country, and he ought to be turned out of office instanter for thinking of putting such a restriction upon trade.

The Emerson International wades into the Globe's affections in a lively fashion for its strictures upon the Government land policy in the northwest. The Globe has been decrying the manner in which squatters have been dealt with by the Government. There are two classes of these squatters. There are those who go west and squat in advance of surveys for the purpose of selling out after a time to later settlers when the land shall have increased in value with the opening of the country, or, alternatively, with the express purpose of taking the chance—which they carefully calculate on—of their claims becoming valuable from railways passing through them. These are most undesirable settlers, for they have not the most remote intention of permanent residence and are the very worst form of speculators. The trick adopted by these men is to pass themselves off as bona fide settlers until they obtain a squatter right which they can dispose of advantageously. They then sell out and are ready to play the same trick again farther west. They are not permanent settlers, and deserve no consideration from the Government. While these are treated as having no rights, the land regulations are so framed that every honest willing man can soon become independent.

BRITISH ASCENDENCY.

The tremendous competition of the United States with the English farmers in the matter of agricultural products is creating great havoc in the value of land in Britain, supplementing the injury inflicted upon British manufactures by the enormously high tariff of the American republic. The fair traders propose a measure calculated to bring the Americans to their senses by slightly discriminating against them in the matter of breadstuffs, and in favour of Canada. A large section of the American people persist in the desire to maintain a high tariff on the ground that the States are independent of England, but that England depends on them for food. Both these positions are fallacious, as was shown by Senator Beck in a recent speech upon the subject. He says:—

I went to Winnipeg last summer and there saw a thriving city of 15,000 people, with a railroad about finished to Lake Superior. It was being pushed with great energy and abundant means westward to the Pacific ocean to reach the trade of Australia, China, Japan and the Indies on British soil, with cheap ships ready to furnish free goods for transportation over this continent to Europe. I went west of Winnipeg nearly two hundred miles on that road and saw thousands and thousands of acres of wheat, clearing forty bushels to the acre, weighing sixty-three and sixty-five pounds to the bushel, and was assured by undoubted authority that on Peace river, wheat was being produced in immense quantity equal to the best I saw in Winnipeg, while great fields of cattle were being fed without cost on as fine grassy land as the world affords. In short between our northwestern line of 49 degrees and 54 degrees 40 minutes (Gen. Cass' fighting point), there is a country owned by England with greater grain and stock growing capacity than all the lands on the Baltic, the Black Sea and the Mediterranean combined. The land laws of Canada are now as liberal as ours, as to the homestead pre emption and free claims. People are crowding there rapidly, and towns are springing up as if by magic. Their great railway will reach the Pacific at the grand harbour of Puget Sound before our Northern Pacific will, and it will extend eastward promptly to Montreal. The distance to Liverpool will be six hundred miles shorter than any American line can get the wheat of Dakota there.

Senator Beck also admits that a trade federation between England and Canada would be a disastrous blow to his country. "If England," he says, "should impose a tariff tax of 10 to 20 cents per bushel upon American wheat and other grains, allowing Canadian wheat and other products to enter her ports free, she can bankrupt the farmers of our northwest. She can, by a like discrimination as to beef, pork, butter, cheese and other farm products, cripple, if not ruin, our farmers all over the country, because it is to apparent to need argument that, with our vast lands developed by it, our own people cannot consume what our farmers produce."

The authority, whose lines are here quoted, outlines the true policy to be pursued by England if she wishes to obtain a reduction of the American tariff. The stand and want policy acts too indirectly on the American policy.

THE COMTE D'EU.

Another Tory Promise Redeemed

The steamship Comte d'Eu, the first boat of the direct Royal Mail line between Canada and Brazil, calling at the West Indies, arrived at this port on Saturday. The Comte d'Eu is a handsome brig rigged steamer of about 2,000 tons register. She brought a full cargo, comprising 7,800 bags of sugar, 1,400 bags of coffee, tapioca, hides, cocoa, etc., etc., the bulk of which is for transhipment over the Intercolonial. She commenced discharging at Richmond wharf at midnight. The sugar is for Montreal and the coffee for Chicago. She touched at Rio Janerio, Bahia, Pernambuco, Ceara, Maranham and Para; also calling at St. Thomas, W.I. Quite a large portion of her cargo is on consignment, and is sent up for the purpose of opening up trade. Capt. Laperdrix reports having experienced a rough passage. This is his first trip to Halifax. He is enthusiastic about the large trade offering, says he was offered more cargo than he could bring and a large number of passengers, as well as a large local passenger and freight business, which he could not accept. He brought a large mail from St. Thomas, containing many orders for Halifax. He believes that within a year the trade will necessitate a fortnightly boat. The Comte d'Eu sails on her return trip on Thursday afternoon with the Canadian mails. Among her cargo will be fish, flour, grain, lumber and manufactures. A large quantity of samples of Upper Province goods are being sent. The Bahama, of the Cromwell line, which arrived last night, brought 1,850 drums and 300 half drums of codfish on a through bill of lading for the Comte d'Eu, for Brazil. The shipment of flour will not be as large as was expected, owing to the fact that Canadian millers have not prepared in time the special kind of barrels required for the trade; but a large shipment will go by the next steamer—the Tancorville. It is also probable that she will take out a party of Canadian business men and Newfoundland merchants.—Halifax Herald.

There is a lively fight going on between Toronto and London brewers, at which the saloon keepers rejoice. It is stated that Mr John Carling carried war into Toronto by underselling the brewers there. In retaliation the Toronto Brewing Company established an agency and made things lively in London.

Herring are scarce in St. Andrew's Bay, N.B., and it is complained that a new kind of torch, used principally by United States' fishermen, is driving the fish away. The torch is made of cotton batting, soaked in coal oil, and the oil drops on the water and spreads in every direction, and the fish will not come near where it is float.

GEN. FITZJOHN PORTER.

Removal of Disgrace After a Lapse of Twenty Years.

New York, Jan. 7.—The following account of the Fitzjohn Porter case, taken from the Evening News, will serve to elucidate our despatches: After the lapse of nearly twenty years, during all of which time Gen. Fitzjohn Porter has been enduring the deepest disgrace that can be inflicted on a soldier, there is a prospect that he may be fully vindicated. He was, it will be remembered, cashiered in 1862 for disobedience of orders and cowardice at the second battle of Bull Run. For all these long years General Porter, knowing that he was wrongfully accused, has been unremitting and even importunate in his appeals to the several Presidents for a rehearing of his case. Lincoln refused the request, but afterwards consented to examine the papers. The assassin's bullet, however, cut him off before he had time to attend to it. Johnston and Grant also refused, neither of them taking the trouble to look at the testimony. Finally Hayes consented that a court of enquiry be called. At this the evidence was so positive in Gen. Porter's favour that all the members united in the recommendation that he be reinstated in the army, and be allowed his pay and emoluments from the date of his dismissal. It is now stated that Gen. Grant, who as President refused to listen to Gen. Porter's appeal, has, as a private citizen, been induced to examine the records, and has given the opinion that they completely exonerate Gen. Porter from blame, and leave his name without a stain. Though tardy, this acknowledgment must be gratifying to Gen. Porter. If he is reinstated, however, it will become necessary under the regulations of the army to arraign two generals, Pope and McDowell, who were jealous of Porter's popularity and success, and conspired at his overthrow, for perjury committed at the original court-martial.

WEIGHT OF GRANT'S OPINION.

The Herald says the conclusions of Grant with regard to the Fitzjohn Porter case seem to have more weight among military men than among Congressmen. The weight of opinion seems to be that the letters of Grant and Terry will prove almost decisive in securing the passage of a bill for the relief of Porter. Members of the two Houses, however, who were prominent in opposition to such a measure in the last Congress, appear to be still holding very decidedly to their former views. Garfield, while a member of the House, in anticipation that its action would be assailed in debate, carefully prepared himself for a speech in vindication of the action of the court which tried Porter. He took counsel of the Judge Advocate General, Attorney General, and Secretary of War as to how far it would be proper for him as a former member of the court to make known what took place in its private deliberation. It is understood that a portion of this anticipated speech was written out and now exists, and other portions of it exist in the form of notes, and these may yet contribute to the forthcoming debate on the case.

GUITEAU.

An Offer made for the Prisoner's Body.

New York, Jan. 7.—The Post's Washington special says that what the Government has most to fear in the Guiteau trial is undoubtedly a disagreement of the jury. It is said that two of the jurors had insanity in their own families. It is also reported that Judge Cox has a distant relative whose mind was affected by an accident.

It is thought that after the Court rules on the law points in the defence in the Guiteau trial to-morrow an adjournment will be taken till Monday. The prayers of the defence have been subject to general discussion with the legal fraternity, particularly one stating that if the jury believe that the prisoner was responsible, and that he wilfully but without malice, in the District of Columbia, wounded the President, who subsequently died in New Jersey, then the jury should find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter. This is regarded as the last resort of the defence. It is not believed that the judge can rule favourably upon this prayer. It is very certain that the defence will yet make a desperate fight and advantage will be taken of every legal technicality.

Scoville has received a proposition from a medical gentleman for the body of Guiteau. He offers to pay immediately $1,000 of the amount of purchase money on condition that he shall have the body of the prisoner as soon as the exactions of the law have been met, to dispose of absolutely as he sees fit. He agrees to take the chances of waiting a month or twenty years for the consummation of the bargain. The proposition was submitted to Guiteau. He was favourably impressed with it, but thought some other fellow would offer $2,000. Then he could pay his debts, and if he got a new trial that miserable Corkhill couldn't bring his lot of fellows to swear how much he owed them.

Guiteau has already written several pages of his speech to the jury. He is well pleased with the law points raised by his counsel, and feels pretty sure he can get a new trial if acquitted. Scoville wants to make the closing argument for the defence in order that he may comment on the prisoner's speech if desirable, but Guiteau says he cannot jeopardize his case by allowing Scoville to have the last say.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Every seat was occupied to-day. An animated colloquy occurred between Reed and Guiteau, emphasized by the prisoner by blows with his feet on the dock rail. The Judge suggested that there was no necessity for keeping the jury in Court to-day; the Jury, however, expressed a desire to remain. Davidge opened his arguments upon legal points and was followed with the closest attention.

Paying the Penalty.

Elmira, Jan. 6.—Joseph Abbott, convicted of killing George Reed, a fellow prisoner in the State Reformatory here, in April, 1880, was hanged to-day. The prisoner passed a quiet night. He retired at twelve o'clock, having spent the early portion of the evening in conversation with reporters and friends. He arose at six o'clock this morning and partook of a hearty breakfast of beefsteak, potatoes, toast, cakes, and coffee. He conversed cheerfully with attendants and friends up to the time of the execution. The rope was cut by Sheriff Little at fifteen minutes past eleven. The prisoner's neck was broken. He struggled for five minutes. The heart stopped beating in fourteen minutes after the fall. The remains will be taken to Waterbury, Conn., deceased's former home. The great will-power and nerve the prisoner has shown throughout his confinement did not desert him at the gallows. He had always maintained that he would die like a man. His father is serving a life term in the Connecticut State Prison for murder. His brother witnessed the execution to-day. Less than a hundred were present.

Improving Lake Ontario Harbours.

New York, Jan. 7.—The estimates for the improvements of the New York harbours, rivers, and inlets submitted to the House by the Committee of Commerce include the following: Charlotte harbour, Lake Ontario, $18,000; Dunkirk harbour; Lake Erie, $21,000; Oak Orchard harbour, Lake Ontario, $40,000; Oswego harbour, $100,000. The entire estimates amount to thirty or more millions of dollars. The Superintendent of the Naval Observatory complains that the Signal Service bureau is interfering with proper observatory work.

Premier Chapleau says that Sir Hugh Allan has made no offer for the Occidental Railway.

DEATH AND DEPRAVITY.

A Drunken Wife and a Dead Husband in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—Yesterday forenoon, about eleven o'clock, Jeremiah Twohey, an old man over sixty years of age, was found dead in bed, and his wife lying in a drunken stupor across his feet. It appears that the deceased and his wife lived in a dilapidated old tenement, at No. 93 Jarvis street. He was a labourer, but some time ago became paralyzed, and had been unable to work since. For awhile he was confined at the House of Industry, but about six weeks ago his wife removed him home. He was entirely helpless and needed constant care, and his wife was obliged to take in washing to keep them both. She washed, and he put in his day the

BEST WAY HE COULD;

they lived in almost abject poverty. To make matters worse the woman is addicted to drink. As the story goes she rose early yesterday morning and went out to a neighbour's to get some kindlings to start a fire. She was under the influence of liquor then, and after a time when she went back she found her husband lying on the floor moaning. There was a severe cut over his right eye, from which the blood flowed freely. She immediately gave an alarm, and several parties came in and lifted the unfortunate man upon the bed. A messenger was dispatched for a clergyman and one responded and prepared the man for death. After he had left the woman took more liquor and then threw herself upon the foot of the bed and went to sleep. About eleven o'clock Mr Church, who has apartments adjoining, not hearing the man moan as usual, went into the room. Upon entering the little bedroom he was horrified to find Twohey dead and his wife

LYING DRUNK OVER HIS DEAD BODY.

Mr Church called in some people, and with difficulty aroused the woman. She got the people out of the door, which she locked and bolted, and refused to open. Constable Jamieson, who chanced to be passing, was notified, and he broke open the door. Coroner Riddel was subsequently called, and had the remains conveyed to the Morgue. The Coroner, when waited upon, refused to give the slightest information concerning the affair. Last night, however, Coroner Johnson, of Yorkville, notified the police authorities that a post mortem would be made, and that he would hold an inquest on Monday. It is said that the deceased was a sober man. He was assaulted some time ago on Duchess street by a man named Smith, and has never been well since.

DOCTOR YATES has returned to Kingston, to remain, and may be seen during office hours, at his office, William street, corner of King.

FIXING UP.—Men are engaged in fixing up the buildings in the Artillery Park, through which an effort is being made to run a street.

WILL you remove your pictures at once, or must we sell them by auction? We sell again to night some choice engravings. Celluloid Novelty Co.

A GREAT SMASH DOWN on watch crystals at the store of Wm. David, broker. He will supply the public with watch crystals at 10c. each.

TO BE SOLD at Wm David's broker store, Princess street, Kingston, opposite Parkhill's, watch crystals at ten cents each. Bring on your watches.

LECTURE.—Bishop Carman will deliver a lecture in the M. E. Church, on Monday evening at 7.30 p.m. Subject "Trade and get Rich." Admission free. Collection at close. B. M. Britton, Esq., will preside.

POLICE COURT.—The court is getting dull, now that the festive season is over. Ellen Pope was warned not to get drunk again and then discharged. Eliza Long has been disposed of at last. She was sent to gaol for five months to keep company with "True Blue."

HAY PRESSING.—Hay pressing in this vicinity is almost at a standstill. The dealers are awaiting the formation of an ice bridge in order to get what they have on hand across the border. Mr Going says he pressed less hay this week than he did during any week of the last year.

WON HIS BET.—A resident of Rideau Ward made a bet of $10 that a certain candidate in the elections would have the most votes, and in order to swell the candidate's list he gave him a plumper. When the figures were made known he found that he had won the bet by one vote—his own.

OUT OF DANGER.—Dr. Kidcaid, who was so badly assaulted at Peterboro, is now out of danger. He was not able to appear at the Police Court yesterday morning, and the case was adjourned until Monday next. There is not the slightest doubt that Dugan, his assailant, is insane. The case has created great interest here.

PROBABILITIES for the next twenty-four hours: Lower lakes—Moderate to fresh winds mostly between the south and east, cloudy mild weather, followed by areas of rain or snow to night. St. Lawrence—Moderate to fresh westerly to southerly winds, generally cloudy weather, not much change in temperature.

AN ACCIDENT.—Chas. Wilson, son of Mr T. C. Wilson, while coasting down Queen street was run over by a horse and cutter. The runner of the cutter struck him on the bridge of the nose and cut it completely through. The lad will carry a scar through life. The police have received orders to arrest all boys caught coasting on the streets. Their sleighs will not only be taken from them, but they will be fined by the Magistrate.

THE KRAMER TROUPE.—This specialty company, composed of thirty artists, appear at the Opera House to-night. The Ottawa Free Press says that the members of the troupe are all artists of first-class abilty, and the performance they give is far above the average of which is generally expected from a variety troupe. All their specialties are new, fresh and original, and all who witnessed them last night departed highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

CAPTAIN'S UNION.—The matter of organizing a union for the benefit of vessel captains is now being spoken of. They are complaining of low wages, and seeing the success which attends the Seaman's Union in keeping up wages they intend adopting similar measures to accomplish the same object. It has been said that some of our captain's (those paid small remuneration) have been compelled to speculate in order to make both ends meet. While this state of affairs is not flattering to the captains it shows that they do not receive their services worth.—Com.

The Missing Goulbourn Girl.

"The Garland Romance" was short lived, and it has finally and forever expired. The Carleton Place Canadian says that a cousin of the family was in town on Monday, who informed them that so far as he was aware there was still as great a mystery about the disappearance of the girl as ever. Thomas had not gone West, as was said, being unable; and the mother from the start did not believe any of the rumours. What seems to crush the last thread of truth out of the web is the fact that the brothers at Sarnia have not been heard from. If so near the Indian settlement reported as holding the lost one, it is reasonable to suppose they would make investigations, but nothing of the kind has been done. Mr Garland cannot imagine how the new sensation was born; it is quite likely, however, that one of the fertile city reporters heard the facts of the strange disappearance—facts sixty years old—and for the purpose of modernizing them, manufactured the Indian confession. As an illustration of the rapidity with which the ball of rumour gathers and grows: A man from Goulbourn was in Carleton Place on Saturday last who told the Canadian reporter he had heard that the woman was to return on New Year's day, and was to be a prominent feature in an Indian dance to be held in Ashton on that evening.

A MAJOR-GENERAL.

Colonel Strange Promoted—He Retires from the Army.

It has already been announced that Col. T. B. Strange has been promoted to the rank of Major General, and that it is his intention to retire from the army retaining that rank. Of course he will resign the command of B Battery, but will still retain the position of Inspector of the Dominion Artillery. He states that he now considers himself a good Canadian, having been long enough in the country to warrant him in making such a statement. Further, he has made up his mind to remain in Canada. When he retires, the army will lose a most efficient officer, and one who, by his own merits and perseverance, made his way to the position he now holds. Yesterday afternoon our reporter saw the Major General, and requested him to give him a short record of his life, as at this particular time it would be interesting to the public. He replied good humouredly saying, "I am not in the habit of blowing my own horn, but here is a printed record of the services of British officers, and you can take what you wish from it." We were compelled to hold our sketch of the Major General over till to day. From the record it was found that in the year 1851 he entered the ranks as a

SECOND LIEUTENANT;

in 1853 he was promoted to First Lieutenant; in 1858 to Second Captain, and in 1866 to First Captain. He remained in this position till the year 1871, when he was made Lieut. Colonel Inspector of Canadian Artillery, with rank as D.A.G., but in the following year he was promoted to Major R.A. In 1875 he received another recognition of his merits by being made Lieut. Colonel in the army (local), and two years later was gazetted as Lieut. Colonel R.A. Colonel was the next position to which he was promoted, the promotion being made on the 1st July, 1881, and on the 16th of this month he will be placed still another step higher—Major-General when he will CEASE ACTIVE MILITARY LIFE.

Col. Strange is not retiring without having won his spurs, as he served in several bloody battles during the Indian Mutiny, and on many occasions proved himself both a soldier and a strategist. He was present at the Battle of Chanda on the 19th of February, 1858, and after the fight was ended Col. Maberly's despatch referred to the subject of this sketch as follows: "From whom I received the greatest aid in the field." He was also in the battles of Sutanpoor and Moonshejunge, and the war despatch contained this allusion to him: "By whose personal labour and assistance the captured guns were carried off under a heavy matchlock fire from the loopholes." At Moonshejunge he, assisted by Captain Middleton, enabled the commanding officer to carry off two captured guns under a heavy matchlock fire from the loopholes. He also carried the powder bag to the gate of the interior retrenchment, and, with the assistance of Captain Middleton, fired it. At the siege of Lucknow Col. Strange, with assistance, endeavoured to empty a powder magazine in the great square, while the adjacent buildings were on fire. An explosion took place which of those who had undertaken the hazardous job. Shortly after this he was presented with a medal and a clasp. At Doadpoor Oude he captured two guns and sixteen horses. The other engagements in which he took part in the Mutiny were Koorsee, Nawajunge, Serargunge and Affairs, and passage of the River Goomteoude. On seven different occasions his services were mentioned in the war despatches.

QUEBEC RIOTS.

Our readers no doubt remember the Quebec riots that occurred a few years ago. The Lieut. General in making his report in this connection, says that his attention had been drawn to the able and efficient arrangements made by Lieut. Col. Strange, who was in command of the troops on that occasion. Major Short, of B Battery, was one of ten who were wounded at the riots, he receiving a deep cut in the head. After going into details the report ends by returning thanks to Col. Strange and the men generally for the admirable manner in which they performed a trying and difficult duty in aid of the civil power in Quebec.

WILL HE REMAIN IN KINGSTON?

Major General Strange says that he would like very much to remain in Kingston as he has many warm friends here. He has reason to believe that he will be continued as Inspector of the Dominion artillery. We believe none better could be found to supercede him, as it was he who founded the Dominion Artillery Association, besides giving his spare time to furthering all matters pertaining to this department of the military service. His ability, in this connection, no doubt will not be overlooked by the Government, and the duties of the office which he at present holds (Inspector of Artillery) will be still left for him to perform. Then, in all probability he will remove to Ottawa, where he will be in connection with the Department of Militia and Defence. Any city that secures him as a resident will be fortunate, as he is possessed of a literary mind, and is always willing to impart knowledge to the public by lecture or otherwise.

At Work.

Mr D. G. Wiggins of the Bethlehem Iron Works, is in the city. He states that the new compresser is now at work in the Levant Mines running two drills. In a short time four new drills will be put in, making six in all. When everything is in good running order 100,000 tons of ore per year will be taken from this mine. During next summer it is calculated to ship 30,000 tons.

BISHOP CARMAN.

His Biography Given Very Briefly.

As is announced in another column, Bishop Carman will preach in the College to-morrow afternoon, in the evening in the M. E. Church, and on Monday evening lecture on the subject, "Trade and get Rich." Bishop Carman has a very interesting record, and one that would be an excellent example for young men of ability to follow. He was born in Dundas county, near Iroquois, in June of 1833. From early youth he had a literary inclination and evinced a disposition for study. He attended the Grammar School at Iroquois, and afterward Victoria College at Cobourg, where he graduated, taking both degrees of B.A. and M.A. While attending college he became converted and gave up his former intention of following the legal profession. He returned to Iroquois where he was engaged for three years as Principal of the Grammar School in which he had received the ground work of his own education. While in this institution he received his candidature for the ministry of the M. E. Church, and after labouring successfully for some time was appointed Professor of Theology in Albert College, Belleville, and, on the retirement of the Rev. Joshua Johnson, M.A., he was made Principal. By his industry, zeal and perseverance he carried the institution safely through many trying financial difficulties until it finally became a college having university powers. For many years he occupied the distinguished position of President of the M. E. Conference, and, at the meeting of that body in Napanee in 1874, his services and merits were recognized by his being appointed Bishop, the highest position within the gift of the church. He was set apart for the work by Bishop Richardson, and when a suitable Principal for Albert College was found in Dr. Jacques, Bishop Carman entered upon the duties of his office, which duties he has performed to the entire satisfaction of his people. Since his appointment he has been travelling through his district lecturing, preaching and attending to his episcopal duty. His father (Philip C.) is still living at Iroquois, and for many years was a prominent man in the Counties of Dundas, Stormont and Glengary, at one time being Warden of the first named county. The Bishop's youngest brother is a physician, and he has another brother who is a rising lawyer at Cornwall. Bishop Carman is a good administrator, and is much respected and beloved by the church over which he presides.

St Paul's Sunday School Entertainment

This entertainment came off last night in Victoria Music Hall, and, notwithstanding the very stormy night, the hall was crowded, the parents and friends of the children turning out numerously. Rev. Mr Carey, pastor of the church, conducted the proceedings and said he was glad to see so many present. It showed that they took an interest in the school when they could come out on such a night. As there was quite a programme to get through with he would not keep them waiting. He then introduced the following programme:

Carol—"Deep the gloom," Sunday School scholars.
Piano solo—Ethel Metcalfe.
Recitation—Henry Elliott.
Piano solo—Maggie Gaskin.
"As with gladness"—S.S.S.
Recitation—Master Derry.
Piano solo—Etta Reid.
Duet—Flora McDonald and Louise Meek.
Solo—Maud Anderson.
Recitation—Master Perry.
Piano Solo—Dolly Trendell.
"Brightest and Best"—S.S.S.
Dialogue—Mamie Thompson and Francis Kane.
"Glorious Star"—S.S.S.

After which the curtain was drawn aside, presenting to view the beautiful "star" lighted and loaded with presents, which Mr Carey, assisted by Messrs Powers, McGann and Gooderel, distributed to the children and teachers. Mr Carey, at the close, made two special presentations—a handsomely bound copy of the revised New Testament and a very nice book called a "Key to the Bible," to Miss Bateson and Miss Power.

The "star of Bethlehem" is a great improvement on the Christmas tree, and the one last night looked very fine, hung with presents and brilliantly illuminated. The presents given to the children, of whom there were 200 in attendance, cost between $40 and $50.

After Mr Carey had again returned thanks for the large attendance the proceedings were terminated by the singing of a hymn.

Explosion of a Revolver.

John Crea, 14 years of age, son of the late John Crea, on the river road near Gananoque, on Monday night last, was sitting by a table with his mother, who was reading. In his hands he had a revolver cartridge which he was carelessly striking with a pair of scissors. The cartridge exploded, says the Recorder, taking off the thumb of the left hand to the second joint, and the fore and middle fingers of the same hand to middle joint; also slightly injuring the little finger. The thumb and first finger of the right hand also received flesh wounds. The fire from the powder caused considerable injury to his face, and more especially to the eyelids, which were inflamed to an extent that prevented his opening them up to last accounts. Dr. Hanna, of Lansdowne, was sent for, and he called in the assistance of Dr. Merrick, of Gananoque, who on Tuesday amputated the injured parts of the thumb and fingers; and the boy will not probably suffer any further loss. It is a warning against careless handling of cartridges.

John Toland, Treasurer.
W. Johnson, D. of C.

WASHINGTON INDICATIONS.—Lakes—Cloudy with rain or snow; winds mostly from southeast to southwest, falling barometer and rising temperature.

Vital Statistics.

Below will be found a statement furnished by the City Clerk of the births, deaths and marriages in Kingston during 1881:

Births	353
Marriages	160
Deaths	283
Total	796

The number registered during the month of December alone were:

Births	83
Marriages	27
Deaths	76
Total	186

The above shows the result of the City Clerk's threat to summon all who neglected to register. During former months not one-half the number were registered.

The fines and fees received at the Police Court for the past three years were:

1879—Fines, $600.75; fees, $369.65; fines in liquor cases, $200. Total, $1,170.40.
1880—Fines, $493.50; fees, $397.80; fines in liquor cases, $250. Total, $1,141.30.
1881—Fines, $524.25; fees, $443.20; fines in liquor cases, $369. Total, $1,327.45.

On the amount of the liquor cases fines the Government retain a certain proportion.

Police Commissioners.

The Police Commissioners met yesterday, all being present.

The Mayor introduced by-laws affecting cab-drivers, carters and livery stable keepers, which were read the first second and third times and passed. The gist of these by-laws has been published already.

A resolution was passed to the effect that each member of the the Police Force excepting the detective (the Chief included) be allowed the sum of $45 per year with which to keep himself in clothing, the clothing to be contracted for as usual.

An investigation was made into the escape of Pogue from the Station, and the result satisfied the Commissioners that he received assistance from the outside. In this connection the commissioners exonerate the police who were in charge of the station on that night from all blame.

A number of accounts were ordered to be paid, and the Board adjourned.

Installation of Officers.

Bro. P. Grand McAlister, of Cataraqui Lodge, No. 10, assisted by Bro. P. G. Fowler, Bro. P. G. Adams and Bro. P. G. Andrews, of Kingston Lodge, No. 59, I.O.O.F., installed the officers elect of the latter Lodge for the ensuing year, as follows:

B. H. Carnovsky, N.G.
E. Catterton, V.G.

Smelting Works.

If some of the schemes which have been talked about during the last three years with respect to the smelting of our native iron ore were carried out it would be a good thing for the country. As an evidence of the importance of this industry, it may be stated that through the port of Kingston alone for the quarter ending September 30th there were exported to the United States 5,316 tons of ore, valued at $10,283. In the district of Kingston, where this output came from, there are five mines in operation, as follows:—The Mississippi, employing 150 hands, the Levant, employing 75; the Caldwell, employing 80; the Madawaska, employing 25, and the Glendower, employing 25. Thus 325 persons are engaged in this work in the Kingston district, representing, according to ordinary average, over 1,600 souls. Now, if the smelting of the ore could be carried on in Canada, it will readily be seen what an important matter it would be to our manufacturing people. There is reason to believe that before long this exportation of our iron ore will largely fall off, and that the smelting will take place in Canada.

Pleasing Entertainment.

On Friday evening a very pleasing and instructive entertainment was given in School Section No. 1, Pittsburg, by Prof. Smyth and Fanner, of Kingston. The programme consisted of extraordinary mechanical tricks and delusions, mimicking and ventriloquism, which were loudly applauded, followed by about 150 views on the Afghan and Zulu wars, with the life and adventures of the Prince Imperial of France, the whole making a very pleasing entertainment and one of the best ever given in this locality. It is all that is claimed for it and well deserving the patronage of the public. The audience, for so stormy a night, was large and maintained order that would have done credit to any large city.

Charcoal.

All the buildings in connection with the charcoal works are completed, with the exception of a small one in connection with the chemical department. Mr Matthew, the patentee, of Syracuse, visited the works on Wednesday, and expressed himself satisfied with the way in which the buildings and arrangements have been made. The company are awaiting some specifications from him of certain chemical apparatus before they can proceed any farther. It will probably be the 1st of April before any charcoal will be manufactured.

Prayer Meeting.

Last evening the meeting in connection with the week of prayer was held in Sydenham Street Church. Short but excellent addresses were made by Dr. Smith and the Rev. Mr Cook, and intercession was made in behalf of the nations. The attendance was not very large on account of the unfavourable weather. A meeting will be held in Bethel Church to-night.

THE NEW REGULATION.—At a meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon, it was decided to allow each member of the Police Force $45 per annum with which to keep himself in clothing. The constables approve of the change. They will be allowed the $45 whether it takes that amount to clothe them or not, so that it will be to their advantage to be economical.

Rev. W. H. Shannon was the recipient of a handsome Christmas present from his congregation at Parkville, N.Y.

"THE BEAUTY" of having a bottle of Perry Davis' Pain Killer in the house is, that you are prepared for the "worst," Croup or Cholera. The Pain Killer is a sovereign remedy.

THE REASON WHY.—Mr Fellows, in his "Medical Monthly," gives reason for the peculiar action of his Hypophosphites in the cure of diseases, which seem to be borne out by facts. From tonic action of the Sympathetic Nerves all the Organic Muscles are strengthened and the patient overcomes his malady simply, pleasantly, and rapidly.

It is a pleasure, when afflicted with rheumatism, to cure yourself when it can be done so effectually and inexpensively, as with St. Jacobs Oil. Mrs Ann Dougherty resides at 364 E street, South Boston. She is an elderly lady, and has been afflicted with salt rheum between her fingers for over sixteen years. She suffered terribly, and tried all kinds of remedies without obtaining any relief. She used St. Jacobs Oil four times, and by that time she could sleep at night, which she could not do before. She used St. Jacobs Oil again and got better and better, until now she is entirely cured. She commenced the use of St. Jacobs Oil about two months ago, and now thinks there is nothing like it. Her hand used to swell terribly, but all that has gone now. Her disease commenced to abate about the time she first used the Oil, but she has had no swelling since.

Ease by day and repose by night are enjoyed by those who are wise enough to apply DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL to their aching muscles and joints. A quantity easily held in the palm of the hand is often enough to relieve the most exquisite pain.
