SAMARITAN NERVINE

Cures Alcoholism, Drunkenness and the habit of Opium Eating. These degradations he.ps are by the most evils that have ever befallen suffering humanity. Thousands die annually from these sickness drinks. The victims of opium habit not become be likes it, but for the pleasure of relaxing and treating his friends, little thinking that he is on his road to ruin. Like the Opium Eater, he does not think of the consequences of his pleasant antidote. The medicine that cures of the drug takes strong hold upon its victim, leading him on to his ruin and perdition. The taking of Opium Eating and Liquor Drinking are precisely what eating is to chlamydromania, so over-eating that induces the stomach, which redoubles the cravings until it paralyzes both the stomach and appetite. So every drink of liquor or dose of opium, instead of satisfying, only adds fuel to the fire of appetite, and increases only hates and thirst. Like the gentleman who wrote, it cries "Give, give, give." No never satisfied, yet you remain a coward unless SAMARITAN NERVINE gives instant relief in all such cases. It produces sleep, quiets the nerves, gives tone to nervous system, and restores body and mind to healthy condition.

By the Stream.

Sweet tangled banks arbors on eyed daisies grow
And musket poppies glean:
Breast changing lights, that over some sea I go
Up the quiet stream:

Once more I see the flash of splendid wings,
As dragon flies fly by;
Once more for me the small midge warbles sings
Beneath a sapphire sky.

Once more I feel the simple, fresh content
I found in streams and soil,
When golden summers slowly came and went
And mine was all the spoil.

I find amid the homeworks flowers,
And my target one set,
Of happy memories of lonely hours
Passed in this silent spot.

O, God of nature, how thy kindness keeps
Some sweetness things on earth
And like who toams for off and forts and seeps
Comes to earn their mirth.

Why vicious vanish, wantlife schemes may fail,
Hope power an life dream
But still the streams flourish, red and pale,
Bonie my native stream.

Horse Breeding

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Sir,—As horse breeding is rapidly receiving more attention at the hands of the people of Ontario, it is very pleasing to notice that the part of the Province is doing a sharp towards the production of a class of horses suitable for the road and the farm. Already we have several good types of the horse family in this neighborhood. The Allens, Morgans, St. Lawrences, Tippins and others, have been bred of late years in this vicinity. A son of the celebrated Lexington, Leaming second by name, and a brother to the celebrated Prince Arthur is now at stud in one of the country three years ago. None of his get are very promising horses. Prince Arthur, who now resides in Canada, has done a great deal to improve our stock of trotting horses. His son (Murray's Little Arthur) has stood some years and some of the best horses have found ready sale at large prices for the United States market, and several of them remain in the county and it is stated the fact that Little Arthur is a sire of no mean prominence. It will be heard with much pleasure by horsemen that a son of old Clay Lord has been introduced, for stock purposes, into this locality. He is a beautiful bay colt, rising three years old, over fifteen hands high, well proportioned and level headed. His head and neck are good, his body is deep and round, legs and feet without fault or blemish of any kind. This colt is "General Mack;" his dam is Aunt Betty, a daughter of the celebrated running horse Harper, second dam, Flora a Royal George and Morgan mare of distinguished pedigree. This colt will be a most useful addition to the stallions in this locality. The Clear Grit family traces to Lapidist, and are distinguished for superior horse called Blackhawk Morgan, who
