SAMARITAN NERVINE

Cures Alcoholism, Drunkenness and the habit of Opium Eating. Those degrading habits are sapping the vitals of all that have ever indulged, ruining humanity. Thousands die annually from these noxious drugs. The drunkard drinks delirious rum because he likes it, but for the pleasures of drinking and tempting fate, he pays the penalty, he gets drunk and loses his reason. Like the Opium Eater, he first uses the drug in small quantities as a beverage, unknown to himself, the quantities of the drug taken strong hold upon its victim, leading him on to his own destruction. The habits of Opium Eating and Liquor Drinking are precisely what nothing is to alkanoviness, an over-eating first inflames the stomach, which redouples the cravings until it (drink) can with the stomach and appetite, and the effects of liquor or dose of opium, instead of acting as a stimulant, it acts as a sedative, and the unfortunate victim turns up upon liquor. Like the gladiator fighting, it urges Nervine, give, give—his cover stimulant until the very capacity overcomes him. SAMARITAN NERVINE gives instant relief in all such cases. It produces sleep, calms the nerves, builds up the nervous system, and restores body and mind to a healthy condition.

An Amazon on a Train

This morning's train from Troy, N.Y., brought to Montreal a lady, who on the trip north caused considerable trouble to the train hands. The party in question does not bear the best of characters, and it is supposed left Troy for the good of the city. The first trouble arose between Rouse's Point and St. Johns. When Conductor Colombe presented himself before her to punch her ticket, she discovered that it was not at. After considerable trouble he made her pay as far as St. Johns. At that place she did not get off still searching for to Montreal. Conductor Colombe leaves the train at this point, but before he got off took pains to inform his successor, Conductor Pigeon, of the character of the woman he had on board. The gentleman in charge for her ticket was told to go to ——. He took him value as security for payment and deputed Brakeman Simpson to try and get the fare from her. When Simpson approached the dame he was received by a volley of abuse. Finding he did not get way, she laid aside her cloak, and attacked him in a highly scientific fashion. He grasped her hand and at the first pulling of the two handles. She accelerated his ear and ending him still obstinate seized his ear between her ivory teeth and almost chewed it off. Of course the brakeman had not been idle, and on the scuffle the female had her hair now sole down almost down off her back and her hat knocked out of shape. At last she succumbed overpowered by the dollar fare, and crawled back to her seat. When she stepped off the train at the Union Depot the presence of a crowd changed her appearance and seemed demonstrated, though it was hard to tell, which looked the worse herself or the brakeman.

Esthetic Tramps.

On July 4 the day on which the American eagle screams the loudest, a party of gentlemen left Williamsport Pa., for Montreal on foot. The original party is composed of Fred Gieogle G. Grell, W. H. Hassenplug, E. M. Strawbridge, W. M. Dreisbach, William P. Hunter, George A. Long, J. Merrill Linn and Philip Lorenz of Lewisburg, R. C. Drucker, Bloomsburg, C. L. Spaid and William Hunter, H. H. Bittinger and E. S. Heiser, Hollidaysburg, H. K. Russly and W. W. Wilson, Mount Joy. Two of these others joined the company along the route. The pedestrians are attired in linen white jackets, with knee breches and white stockings, and carry their own baggage, including light tents. Several of them were supplied with regular army knapsacks. They purchase their supplies on the route. The walkers took breakfast straight for Niagara Falls from Williamsport, which they reached on Friday last. A small portion of the journey was made by train. They then headed for Toronto, which they reached early yesterday morning over the Hamilton turnpike. The gentlemen attracted considerable attention on the streets yesterday. They went to leave for Montreal during the night. Toronto World.

Loborough Lake as a Summer Resort

Many of our citizens who went to the Thousand Islands and Shaftsbury Lake in the purpose of romanticating and falling, seem to totally ignore, or negligently not aware of, the fact that within a comparatively short distance from the city exists a lake which, for the beauty of its natural scenery, as well as for pecuniary deposits, can favorably compete with either. The numerous islands with which the surface of Loborough Lake is dotted, its shores here rising into romantic promontories and cliffy buildings, and there gently undulating and abounding in all the primeval beauty of nature, afford a view of an once striking and beautiful. Every facility is afforded to those who will wish to enjoy and the hotels at Battersea, as well as the hotel at Loborough Hedge under the management of Mr. Hayes, can accommodate visitors who, if a few weeks in a quiet and secluded spot, removed from the bustle and dust of the city, can afford any enjoyment, would well recommend by resorting thither.

Tassel all kinds are continually hovering on the placid bosom, and that it possesses an abundance of fish has long ago earned by the fact that two young men in the space of one week caught 15 bass averaging 1 lbs. Game is equally as fortunate many the daily seen wending their way from the shores. Boats may be obtained any where on the lake at reasonable rates.

Hanlan's Challenge

Edward Hanlan, the Richard just before after engagement on Bonnerith field, intends to be himself again. The champion is now in high health and feels pretty much as of old. He has made a proposal, which, in addition to being novel, will attract much attention. Last night the champion in the presence of a number of gentlemen and a representative of the World, expressed himself as follows: "I will now say in case in the whole world, two miles straightway or two miles with a turn for from $1,000 to $2,000 aside. I will row those two miles against Ages of 48 hours (one flip first of each other on any suitable waters on the continent of America. The challenge is open to the whole world. And further state that if he could get to these matches in America he would force, for the present, to extended visit to Australia. Here is a challenge that will make the ears ring, and the world watch their heels. The champion says that he is not a bit particular as to what water he rows on. Max and Hosmer on Hanlan's Island hotel.

Picnic at Sunbury

A picnic party was held at Sunbury grove, Sunbury, on Friday, July 7th, under the auspices of the Sunbury Sabbath School. The band was in attendance, and during the afternoon the thousand sweet music to those who wished to dance, for which purpose a spacious platform was erected. Boating and croquet were also indulged in. The weather and beauty of the country were well represented. The unfortunate effects of the rain, matter, under the general Secretary, Mr. Moulthan, are worthy the utmost commendation. The day's amusement terminated about 8 P.M. all agreeing that this was indeed the picnic of the season.

Yours, etc.

Haunted Me

A Nothing man says: Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, I was in a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. Every Heart Knoweth its Own Sorrow

This statement appears to contain both truth. In some cases, however, it is the heart of a nearly little cross, which, though small, is capable of causing much pain. This form of heart-ache is very common, and can be remedied. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor gives peace to the throbbing corn. Don't forget that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor.
