CABLE NEWS.

Constantinople, Jan. 11.—The Sublime Porte has officially congratulated the people of the Danubian Principalities on their loyalty during the recent crisis.

Madrid, Jan. 11.—Additional troops are to be sent to Cuba and will sail from Cadiz in a short time.

London, Jan. 11.—The indications of the Pope's session of the Conference on the Greek question leaves little, if any, doubt of ultimate success. The Turkish Government, through its representative, consented to maintain the present status until the close of the Conference. It is the general impression that but one more session will be held, and that war between Turkey and Greece will be obviated.

Paris, Jan. 11.—The budget of the Minister of Finance has been made public. It shows the floating debt has been reduced to 80,000 francs during the past year. The estimates for the fiscal year 1870, promise a surplus of 88,000,000 francs in receipts over expenditures, which surplus is to be devoted to reducing the extraordinary budget, and 12,000,000 francs are to be made applicable to the redemption of the rentes. M. Ollivier congratulates the country on the return of public confidence and the general extension of industrial pursuits; and concludes by declaring that the gratitude of the nation is due to the Emperor for removing the language of rupture between European powers and of international and domestic distrust.

Lisbon, Jan. 11.—The Duke of Saldanha has been summoned to Lisbon to form a Ministry.

Florence, Jan. 11.—The recent disturbances in various parts of the Kingdom, fomented by reactionists, have been suppressed. The unpopular taxes are now being collected without difficulty.

Southampton, Jan. 11.—The steamship America, from New York, has arrived.

Queenstown, Jan. 12.—The steamers the City of Baltimore, and City of Cork, from New York, have arrived.

New York Press Despatches.

Boston, Jan. 11—The Boston underwriters have presented one thousand dollars to Captain Murphy of the Cunard steamship Africa, as a testimonial to his seamanship in bringing his vessel into port with steering apparatus of spars and ropes after the vessel's rudder breaking.

Albany, N.Y., Jan, 11.—The water in the river is rising slowly, and a severe storm of rain and hail prevails. No heavy inundation is apprehended, but owing to a remarkably strong current that sets in from the east side of the river north of the city and pours into the basin in great volume, very serious damage is being done to property on the pier between the east end of Columbia street bridge and the cut through which passes the Hudson River and Harlem Railroad ferryboat.

Washington, Jan. 12.—A letter from Cuba says the opposing factions are about equally divided, although President Salazar's troops are under the best discipline, and have the best arms. Thus far President Salnave has not lost much ground, but the prospects are decidedly favourable for the success of the Revolutionary party.

The Tribune's special says the members of the Virginia Legislature have had a pleasant and satisfactory interview with Judge Underwood, Mr Fessenden, and other leading Republicans who are in favour of a settlement upon the basis of impartial suffrage and universal amnesty. The committee are therefore hopeful of good results. The Virginians say this movement looks simply to the restoration of order and an honest State Government which shall avoid proscriptions, and not oppress the people by burdensome taxation.

The latest style of the water velocipede consists of two floating tubes of tin, in the shape of cigars. They are connected by two bars of iron which support the wheel. This is moved by pedals like the fore wheel of an ordinary velocipede. The rider sits on a saddle just behind the wheel, and easily drives his machine at the rate of six or eight knots an hour.

Velocipede building now forms an important branch of trade in Paris. There are not only manufactories of these new locomotives, but foundries where the iron work of which they are composed is cast. One of these employs 250 workmen, and finishes 12 velocipedes per day for a coach builder of Lyons. A Lyonese velocipedist is willing to take any bet that he will beat the fastest trotter in a race.

Gen. Lander was a splendid buffalo hunter. Mounting an unsaddled pony—a lariat served him as a bridle—he would dash among a herd of buffalo. He was a wonderful two-handed shot, his right or left hand pistol being used with like result. Either meant meat, and the best that the herd afforded. "Cow beef for me," was a favourite remark of Lander; and if he shot the buffalo the cow was pretty young and fat.

Parson Brownlew, in taking his editorial leave of the Knoxville Whig, a paper established by him more than thirty years ago, and of which he has ever since been the editor-in-chief, says: "If in past life I have been violent on some occasions, my apology is, that, like the Apostle Paul, on many occasions I have fought with 'beasts at Ephesus.'"

The Press and the Public.—The Boston Transcript so happily states in the following paragraph a truth daily becoming more palpable, that we copy it entire:—In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred—perhaps we might say ninety-nine hundred cases out of a thousand—the conductors of public journals have no personal interest or personal feeling in doing their duty to the public by exposing frauds or denouncing rascalities. Hence the injustice as well as the folly of picking quarrels with editors, and attempting to visit libel suits and other vexations to gratify petty spite and mean vindictiveness. If the press happens to be mistaken in any instance it is always ready to make reparation and allow the injured party ample means to vindicate and put himself right. But on the other hand, when a supposed swindler is really a swindler, and his alleged irregularities are beyond a doubt, he will show a mad indiscretion in venturing upon a fight with newspapers. He will find them always too strong for him, and united in their strength he will find his demerits thoroughly ventilated, without mercy. From one end of the land to the other he will get an unenviable notoriety. There isn't money enough to be made by the luckiest of gamblers, there isn't pluck enough in the most reckless of operators, to frighten or conquer the host of journalists who will make a common cause in defending the freedom and independence of their vocation; and in their maintenance of right and denunciation of wrong, in their judicial capacity, public sentiment always sustains them.

The New York World says that Menard, the coloured member of Congress returned returned from Louisiana, is one of those who were prominent in the negro outbreak in Jamaica which resulted in the "Eyre" persecution, or "prosecution," as it is variably called. Speeches and letters of a compromising kind were found upon him, and he was deported from his native island. He is now a representative in the Congress of the United States.

Earl Spencer, the newly-appointed Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, arrived in Dublin on Wednesday, travelling privately in a first-class carriage attached to the mail train. The only object of the noble lord's present visit being to take the oaths, he will return to England immediately, his public entry being postponed for a while.

Advices from New Zealand state that a considerable portion of territory has been abandoned by the settlers. The local forces are still disorganized. Colonel Whitmore, who is commanding a large force of friendly natives, is advancing to attack the rebels.

Buchanan, the hero of the Merrimac explosion, works a small farm, labouring himself; the naval officer who saved Richmond when attacked by the Monitor and Galena, afterwards kept a dairy in Mobile, and it has been a familiar spectacle in the streets of New Orleans to see Confederate major-generals rolling boxes in their shirt sleeves.

Eugene Novlet of Buffalo is a shocking embodiment of the wrongs of man. His wife pelted him with dishes and otherwise abused him, on Wednesday, and though that miserable woman has been fined $5—which Eugene probably had to pay—he is still unreconstructed and disconsolate.

The Irish journals find satisfaction in the circumstances that Earl Spencer is connected with the county of Kilkenny. He is uncle to Lord Clifden; Lady Spencer being sister to the Viscountess Clifden. Earl Spencer is also one of the trustees for the management of the Clifden property during the Viscount's minority.

The New York Sun gives the snobbish and increasing custom of keeping private secretaries this severe cut: "The practice for nearly everybody to keep them has been introduced along with the Grecian bend and the Roman wriggle. We wonder that the busiest boot-blacks do not keep private secretaries. They have so much to do, and their hands are so black; it must be inconvenient for them to carry on their own correspondence."

Dr. Tait performed his last public act as Bishop of London on Wednesday, in consecrating Christ Church, Somers' Town. The church is in the midst of a very squalid neighbourhood, and, as it stands, it is a splendid example of English charity. Lord Somers gave the freehold of the site, and Mr George Moore, a member of the committee of the Bishop's Fund, erected the building and adjoining schools, at a cost of more than £12,000.

Henry Martin, a lumberman on the Upper Mississippi, in Minnesota, was attacked by wolves, and setting his back to a tree he fought them with an axe for over half an hour, when his comrade, attracted by his yells for help, came to his rescue. He killed eleven wolves and wounded a good many more, and was not much hurt.

The fifth number of the Republican and revolutionary paper De Commune Revolutionnaire, which is clandestinely circulated all over France, contains a very curious list of the secret agents of the Imperial Government in the principal cities of Europe and America. The names and addresses are given in full. Among the six agents named under the heading "New York and Washington," is an American journalist, who has published several volumes of reminiscences. One of the rest is a woman bearing a French name.

Fashionable Balls in New York.—The Americus Club ball, in the Academy of Music, on Thursday evening, heads the list of fashionable entertainments this season. The masked gatherings of La Coterie, the Cercle Francais, the Arions, Liederkranz, Teutonia Mannerchor, and the full dress entertainments of the Firemen's, the Charity, and the Seventh Regiment associations, will follow in rapid succession. Millions of money are spent on ball dresses and fancy costumes during the winter, giving profitable employment to thousands of working men. This season promises to outshine last winter, which was unusually brilliant. The dressmakers are unable to fill three-fourths of their orders. We learn that the value of the diamonds worn at the Americus Club ball exceeded $500,000.—New York paper.

Don't be a Lobster.—Your lobster, when left high and dry among the rocks, has not sense and energy enough to work his way back to the sea, but waits for the sea to come to him. If it does not come he remains where he is and dies, although the slightest exertion would enable him to reach the waves, which are perhaps tossing and tumbling within a yard of him. There is a tide in human affairs that casts men into "tight places," and leaves them there like stranded lobsters. If they choose to lie where the breakers have flung them, expecting some grand billow to take them on its big shoulder and carry them back to smooth water, the chances are that their hopes will never be realized.

"American Neutrality" is being remarkably exemplified in connection with the present Cuban "rebellion." A recent Havana letter says that a late American rebel, Colonel Bleethoff, about Christmas landed at Punta Lucrecia with 150 man, 500 Peabody guns, 500 Spencer carbines and a quantity of hand grenades with the needful moulds whereof to make more, in aid of the insurgents. It is added that these men, and not the patriots, destroyed the lighthouse.

During her visit to Paris, the Princess of Wales, who had never before seen that city, was usually accompanied on her "tour of inspection" by Miss Vaughn, daughter of the Hon. G. Vaughn, and sister of Madame Arcos. It seems to be the verdict of society, French and English, and, indeed, of every one who chanced to see the princess, that "never before was so gracious a lady seen there." To avoid giving trouble, and to give pleasure to everybody, seemed to be the self-imposed task of her royal highness.

As indicative of the growing prosperity of Vancouver, in August last, near Victoria, no fewer than six of the farmers, being citizens of the United States, took the necessary steps before the local magistrate for transferring their allegiance to the British Government. Most of these men have been in the colony since 1858, and are industrious settlers.

It is proposed to hold another International Exhibition. This time the city of Cologne is to be the place, and the year 1870 the time. It is just possible to overdo this sort of thing. Within the short space of three years we can hardly expect sufficient improvements in arts, machinery, &c, to justify the expectation of any very striking novelty; and to say nothing of the distance and the expense, it is hardly wise to repeat an old thing too often or too soon. There is danger that these frequent Exhibitions may degenerate into a medium for advertising puffs. Once in five or ten years is certainly often enough for an International Exhibition.

TRANSIENT ADVERTISEMENTS.—The large circulation of the Daily News renders it the natural medium for the publication of all small and transient advertisements, as well as larger announcements. Advertisements of religious notices and Sabbath services; situations wanted; situations vacant; houses for sale; houses to rent; houses wanted; board and lodging; rooms wanted; board wanted; articles lost; articles found; cattle wanted; cattle for sale; cattle strayed, &c., when set close, inserted for 25 cents each insertion, payable only in advance. When displayed, a proportionate price will be charged.

EFFECT OF ADVERTISING.—It is amusing at times to observe the stores of the merchants who don't advertise; to see the anxious proprietors looking into the streets and see the people go by, wondering why they don't come in, while the stores of their neighbours who do advertise are thronged with customers. Some people will learn by observation, others will not.—Daily Palladium.
