He protested against his exclusion, and appealed to the Grecian Government at Athens for instructions. The Conference awaits the action of Greece in this matter, and the session announced for to-day will probably be postponed for a time in consequence.

London papers contain full, true and particular accounts of the marriage of Earl Percy, son of the Duke of Northumberland, and Lady Edith Campbell, daughter of the Duke of Argyll. LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, Jan. 12.—After the presentation of petitions the report of the committee of supply was taken up.

Mr McKellar moved to refer back the report for a statement of particular servants to be dismissed and the respective amounts paid each.

The Attorney General complained that this was merely obstructing legislation, and a discussion followed, after which the motion was put and lost—yeas 24, nays 46.

The item of $5,000 aid for Red River was passed, and several items of charities, hospital grants, etc. On the item of $750 for the medical faculty of Victoria College, Mr Perry moved that the following be added to the resolution granting aid. Carried yeas 38, nays 34. The items to the Kingston and Toronto Schools of Medicine and other grants were passed.

A debate on the financial statement and estimates followed, after which some further items were passed.

The House adjourned at 1:15 a.m.

THE ROBBERY AT ST. CATHERINES.

St Catherines, Jan 12.—The quiet into which our town was lapsing after the elections was suddenly broken up last evening by the report that one of the most daring robberies that ever happened in this vicinity took place in the St. Catherines agency of the Bank of Montreal, and fabulous amounts were mentioned in connection with it. The following appear to be the circumstances of the case, as can be judged from the traces left by the robbery. Between the hours of nine and ten last night, some parties, by means of a false key, entered the bank. Their attention was immediately given to the safe, to the outside door of which they appear to have had a key. Nitro-glycerine, it is supposed, was then applied to the lock of the inner door. Before the explosion, the outer door of the safe was closed, so as to deaden the report in a great measure. The explosion appears to have scattered the gold, of which there was quite a quantity, over the floor. The robbers, however, paid little attention to this coin, as they seized some fifty thousand dollars in bills, which the safe contained, and then quickly made their escape. A boy named Kerrigan, who sleeps in the bank, came in about ten o'clock, and on perceiving the gold and the debris of the explosion lying around quickly gave the alarm, and the building was soon filled with a surging crowd. The whole affair appeared to be the work of professional robbers, and was managed throughout with consummate carefulness. Nothing was left which could implicate the robbers. This morning the excitement about the bank reached a high point, but those who were curious were unable to obtain anything in addition to what is already known. The robbers are still at large.

On the ice between Troy and West Troy there is a fight every day between the roughs of the two places, the weapons used being stones, sticks and fists. At last accounts Troy was ahead, though its general and four minor officers have been captured and jailed.

The newly elected senator in Pennsylvania commenced life as a tanner. But he wasn't content with his lot, and aspired to something higher; took to books; studied law; became distinguished for his legal abilities and eloquence, and now receives a parchment certificate to the United States senate.

Coloured people have a fair share of the municipal honours in Nashville. Two of the city magistrates, one constable, the gaoler, and six common councilmen, are negroes. One coloured man in the city owns real estate valued at $40,000. Another is worth $35,000.

Samuel Harris killed a panther in one of the streets of Hudson, N. Y. one day last week. The animal crossed the river upon the ice from Greene county after the carcass of a dead horse. Some boys observed and drove it into the city, where Mr Harris attacked and dispatched it with a bar of iron. After it had ceased to breathe it was measured and was found to be of the following dimensions: Length from tip of its fore foot to the extreme of its rear foot, four feet four inches; height, twenty-two inches.

The Scottish American says that the Fenian organization appears to be very nearly dead even in New York city. At a meeting of a Circle on Monday evening last, only sixty persons were present, yet the orators for the evening threatened another invasion of Canada "in a short while."

Another volume of the "Geological Survey of Canada," containing a report of progress from 1763 to 1866, has made its appearance, having been printed in the new capital, Ottawa. Sir W. E. Logan, the Director of the Survey, heads with his own report the statements and reports of his staff of surveyors, and presents to all who desire it ample information on the various geological strata of Canada,—on stones useful for building and constructive purposes,—on economic minerals,—iron ores of various kinds,—graphite beds and veins,—roofing slates,—copper ores,—the geology of petroleum, and of brine springs and salt,—on peat, and of the gold-bearing deposits which occupy so wide an extent of country. Besides all this, there are particulars of the manufacture of iron, of analyses, methods of assaying, of copper-mining in Michigan, of the hydraulic method of gold proving, and a long list of "copper localities in Eastern Canada," which add materially to the value of the book. Mr Bell's Report on the Manitoulin Islands embraces a group which to many readers will be quite new; and in the report by Dr. Sterry Hunt the student will find the question of cause and effect in geology discussed with suggestive arguments. The book is a praiseworthy example of science in Canada.—Athenaeum.
