Havana, Feb. 14.—Mail bags have been passed between here and Cairo for more than a year past, and detectives have been working up the case for some time. It was ascertained that the robberies were planned at Odin, Illinois, the connecting point of the Ohio and Mississippi, and Illinois Central roads. On Friday night two men were there, and while the mails were being transferred from one train to the other, a man appeared and undertook to throw some boxes. The officers sprang upon him, but two of the robbers made their escape, and the third one was shot before he could be secured.

New Orleans, Feb. 14.—Further particulars regarding the burning of the steamship Willie Stephens in the Mississippi show that most of the passengers lost were women and children. The number was stated at 63, and this is not contradicted by later telegrams. The fire originated in some way which was being transported for government.

There is known short interest of forty millions, and it is assumed the aggregate must be close to that amount, while free mention is made of a small room of four brokers who are daily short sales of twelve millions of gold. PROTESTANT WORSHIP IN MADRID.

The Siecle, commenting on the celebration of a Protestant service in Madrid, says:—"Yesterday, the 24th January, an event unprecedented in the history of Spain took place at Madrid. A Protestant temple was inaugurated by the celebration of a religious service in public. The ceremony took place in a most orderly manner. The sky was not obscured. There was no thunder. The population was as calm and serene as the sky itself. There was no stirring up of the population to throw stones. Thus are established, after 300 years of persecution, massacre, and torture, liberty of conscience and freedom of worship in the very land which had so obstinately repulsed them. Fumes of auto-da-fe, dungeons of the Inquisition, bars, chains, wheels, gibbets—the execrable instruments of agony and death—will you not now admit that you are powerless against the irresistible progress of justice? It may be long in coming, but justice is sure to come."

A house in Oswego was entered by burglars on Saturday night and a dressing-case and two chairs carried away. Next morning the articles were found in the street. Queer burglary, that.

A music seller was lately overpowered by a fastidious young lady, who wanted to purchase "Mr Hood's song of a gentleman's under garment."

The mail steamer Prince Alfred was overtaken by a dense fog, while on her passage from Fleetwood to Belfast, on Friday night, struck on a rock, and a few hours after went down. Happily her one hundred and twenty passengers and a part of her cargo were saved.

The Historical and Archæological Association of Ireland held its annual general meeting on January 13th, at Kilkenny. The report presented by the committee was hopeful. It gave the following retrospect of the Society's career: "The report of your committee for the year 1868 marks an important era in the career of this association. Twenty years have elapsed since it struggled into existence in the guise of a mere local society, whilst now it can proudly point to its ample roll of members in its operations as well as aspirations. Twenty years have since then passed away—a third part of the ordinary life of man—but not without some fruit being garnered for posterity. On the shelves of many a public and private library in the British islands, on the Continent, in the United States of America, and even in distant Australasia, may be seen a good rank of volumes with the name of the association blazoned on them; whilst that they do not represent a mere congeries of useless print and papar is testified by the equally gratifying fact, that their money value steadily advances, a perfect set fetching readily a sum far above the cost price paid as subscriptions by each original member. The roll of members extended to 660, showing an increase of 56 members during the year. The secretary reported that the works for the repair of the Lesser Round Tower at Clonmacnoise, on the Shannon, and the Belfry of the Franciscan Abbey, Kilkenny, had been successfully completed." Fifteen new members were elected, and many communications on Irish archæology were read.—The Athenæum.

California papers state that on the completion of the Central Pacific Railroad, the company intend to send grapes through to New York for $100 per ton, and furnish cars expressly for the purpose on their road. The price of table grapes—the white varieties—has ranged from 50 to 75 cents per pound, and scarce at that. In California they are worth three or four cents.

ISABELLA SEEING HERSELF BURLESQUED—At the Theatre of the Folies Dramatique—a comic operetta bouffe, entitled "Chilperic," is enjoying a famous run. One of the best vocal and dramatic scenes in the piece is that in which a Spanish princess arrives with her carpet-bag, followed by a magnificent major-domo, who accompanies her majesty on the castagnettes, and then proceeds to apply a warming pan to the bed destined for the royal couple at the inn. This diverting, if not instructive, performance has been recently honoured with a visit from Queen Isabella and her suite; while the young Prince of Asturias, the heir-apparent in partibus, who is finishing his education in Paris, has been taken to see the "Grande Duchesse de Gerolstein."

Worth, the fashionable man-milliner of Paris, is a dull-looking man, inclined to obesity, and concealing his baldness under a somewhat eccentric-looking wig. It is thought in well-informed circles in Paris that his stories about the immense sums which he claims the leading ladies of the aristocracy owe him are unfounded, and that he charges them very moderate prices for arranging their toilettes, in order to remain in vogue. The gudgeons whom he fleeces most unmercifully are the wives and daughters of the parvenus, who are anxious to gain access to the Imperial Court and to the circles of aristocracy. For visiting such ladies and giving the last finish to their ball toilettes, he will charge from three to five thousand francs. The only man in Paris who ever resented Worth's impudence was Prince Napoleon. He happened to come into his wife's dressing room one day when Worth was just giving directions to the Princess about the best manner of wearing a new fancy costume. Prince Napoleon, who had never seen and heard Worth, was amazed at his imperious and insolent tone, rang the bell, and told the footman to show him out, and never to admit him again. Worth went directly to the Empress to complain of the insulting treatment he had received at the hands of the Prince, but he was unable to obtain any satisfaction.

HOW THEY MADE FOOLS OF THEMSELVES!

'TWAS about 9 a.m. on Saturday last that two ladies entered my Store, and asked the price of my best FAMILY FLOUR. I told them in plain English. "Oh," said one, "we can get the best flour a quarter-dollar a barrel less at a little place where they have not near such a stock of flour as you seem to have." After a little further conversation they left. Ah! but how disappointed they returned about the same hour this morning, and told me how they made fools of themselves. Of course I was aware of it.

100 barrels of the same splendid FAMILY FLOUR as I have been selling lately, to hand. 50 barrels XXX PASTRY FLOUR just received at
