CABLE NEWS.

London, March 24.—It is reported to-day that Burke, a Fenian prisoner, will be set at liberty, on his giving a guarantee of his good conduct.

Madrid, March 24.—Later news from Rio Janeiro has been received. President Lopez is collecting his scattered forces at the banks of the Tebiquay. There were desertions of the Paraguayan army in the vicinity of Asuncion, which city was still held by the allies.

Paris, March 24.—At the last meeting of the Council of Ministers, the Emperor introduced the project of a law abolishing the system of workmen's registers. He expressed his satisfaction with the results of the progressive measures of the Empire. After reviewing the former laws infringing the rights and liberties of the working men of France, he said he would repeal the law he now proposed would place them in their proper position, restore their barred, and cause force to be used right. The Emperor's project was adopted by the Council, and the law will be submitted to the Corps Legislatif to-day.

New York, March 25.—The Herald's Madrid special says the committee appointed to frame the new Constitution have reported to the Cortes to-day. The new Constitution proposes that the form of government shall be monarchical; the Cortes shall consist of a Senate and Congress. The Senatorial term shall be five years, the Senators to be elected by the Ayuntamientos, Councils composed of four for each province. The sessions of Congress are annual, and universal suffrage is to be the rule in regard to voting. The reign of the King shall be limited to eighteen years.

The majority of the committee reported in favor of a separation of Church from State; but a minority report advocated the Catholic as the State creed, with toleration towards all other religious professions.

The Liberty of the Press and the right of public meeting will be guaranteed.

The Cortes yesterday passed the military conscription law.

New York, March 24.—The steamship City of Boston, from that port for New York, struck on the Schelldt. She will discharge cargo and repair damages before proceeding.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

London, March 25, p.m.—Bonds 82¼; Stocks unchanged.

Liverpool, March 25, p.m.—Flour 23s; Red Western, white wheat 9s 8d; Corn 30s for old for new; Barley 5s; Oats 3s 4d; Pork 100s; Lard 75s.

New York Press Despatches.

New York, March 24.—Captain General Pueblo issued a proclamation declaring vessels captured in Spanish waters within sea near this island with men, munitions of war on board, will be treated as pirates.

A British man-of-war has brought to Key West Mary Lowel from Nuevitas. The value of the cargo of the prize is estimated at $200,000. It consists of small arms, ammunition, and military material.

No news has been received of a heavy battle between the government troops and the rebels in the Central Department. No details have been received, but the Spaniards claim that 800 rebels have been killed.

San Francisco, March 24.—Oregon papers state smoke is issuing from the volcanoes, Mount Hood, Mount Jefferson, the Three Brothers, and earthquakes are apprehended in consequence.

The prospect of good crops is encouraging throughout the state. Wheat and barley farmers are better than in any previous year.

Washington, March 25.—Ex-President Polk is dangerously ill at his home in Nashville, Tennessee.

Mr. Schaller, treasurer of St. Paul's German Evangelical Protestant Church, arrived in Cincinnati across from Detroit Saturday. He spent New Year's day with several families of church funds.

Mr. W. Hodges, a bank clerk at Southampton, shot and killed himself Saturday morning. The details were correct and no cause for the act is known. He was eighteen years of age.

The drum of the Queen's own band was the most feature in the Hibernian Society's parade at Toronto, on Wednesday, the big drum itself officiating. The leader having fainted before a court-martial for taking the drum without leave, has been kicked out of the corps, to the tune of the Rogue's March.

A DEFENCE OF DESTRUCTIVE WARFARE.

The Poughkeepsie Eagle condemns as barbarous and foolish the burning of sugar plantations by the Cuban revolutionists.

When Sheridan burned the barns, farming tools, and stores of grain and hay in the Shenandoah Valley in 1864, there were plenty of amateur warriors and statesmen who denounced his act as foolish and barbarous. Nevertheless, it resulted in the surrender of Appomattox Court House and the termination of the war. It struck the enemy at a vital point. It destroyed the chief source of his supplies. It made it impossible for him to continue the war, for it took from him his stock of corn, beef, and bacon. This Sheridan well understood when he executed that work of devastation, hardly less shocking and awful than the wounds and death of a battle. So did Grant when he gave the order; and the event amply justified their judgment.

In turning the sugar-mills and other buildings of those plantations, the Cuban revolutionists simply borrow a leaf from the book of Grant and Sheridan, just as in the abolition of slavery they had borrowed one from Lincoln. Sugar is the great resource of Spanish tyranny in Cuba. It furnishes the Spaniards with money. It cannot be used for food. Its only employment in the war is to be shipped abroad and sold for the benefit of the Spanish treasury. Besides, as long as it can be cultivated, it may serve to seduce from the patriotic army thousands on thousands both of white and black men who should be engaged in fighting for their country. Let it be put out of the way for the present then, just as Sheridan put all farming out of the way in the Valley. When the Spaniards have met their Appomattox Court House, it will be quite time enough to restore the buildings and to begin sugar planting again.—N. Y. Sun.

CHIEF JUSTICE HAGARTY ON THE QUEBEC TRAGEDY.

At the Wentworth Assizes Chief Justice Hagarty referred to the recent tragic events in Quebec as follows. He said:—Public attention has been called during the last few days to an event in a neighbouring Province. We are told that one man has openly, and in presence of several persons, slain another in revenge for an alleged private wrong. The law, in tenderness to human infirmity, looks mercifully on crimes committed in the heat of sudden passion, in personal conflict, or on the discovery of an offender in the actual commission of a great crime, or a great social outrage. But it abhors the assassination that it perpetrated with preparation and with full time to reflect. No matter which the original wrong may have been, it is simply a dreadful state of public opinion that can sanction a cool preparation for vengeance—a providing of weapons—a lying in wait for an intended victim. The law is amply powerful to punish crime. If female virtue be outraged we still retain the death penalty on our statute book. If the crime be committed by means of drugs or anything producing insensibility or inability to resist, its guilt is not diminished. There are cases before you in which the full crime is charged; there are others which involve an assault with intent to commit such crime. The punishment for the latter is also most severe. Where the matter is simply that of improper intercourse between an unchaste man and an unchaste woman, we will do well to pause before bringing such matters within the reach of the criminal law—at least without declaring the guilt of each party to be equal. You and I, gentlemen, have nothing to do with criminal cases outside this court; but we have a vast interest in the maintenance of a healthy public opinion in every matter relating to the sanctity of human life. I need hardly say that I know nothing, beyond what the public journals have told us, of the event that has caused so much discussion; its merits or demerits have yet to be disclosed. But I have been pained beyond expression at the tone and manner in which I have heard and read the matter discussed. Those who talk lightly of the taking of human life—of sending a fellow-sinner, with all his sins upon him, into the presence of his Maker, reflect but slightly on the terrible state of society which may be created by the prevalence of such sentiments, or the encouragement of such conduct. If it be once considered that each man is justified in becoming his own avenger—in stabbing or shooting his wrong-doer when he meets him in the street, and looks to public opinion for approval of his act—I can only say, woe to the country in which such things are tolerated. We should hope and pray that our children may not grow up with the idea that for any wrong done to a member of their family, they are to seek satisfaction from the bowie-knife or the revolver—to seek out the wrong-doer and assassinate him on the spot. We have long ago been relieved from the odious practice of duelling; but with all its sins and abominations, it had a faintly redeeming quality of courage and manly matching of life against life. Let us earnestly trust that a practice so un-Christian has not passed away only to be succeeded by the viler and more cowardly crime of private assassination.

An incident, almost ludicrous, occurred in the sleeping car to which the accident happened last week at Beachville. The car was provided with new patent stoves, and it so happened that the patentee of the stove was a passenger in the car at the time. Immediately after the inmates had recovered from the first confusion of the upset, the liability to conflagration which usually follows a railway accident in the winter season occurred to some of the number, and immediately the cry of "fire" was raised. The patent stove man proved equal to the emergency. Gaining an elevated position he proclaimed in a stentorian voice: "Ladies and gentlemen, don't allow yourselves to experience the least fear of fire; those are my patent stoves on board the car, and there is no danger of the fire getting out." The assurance restored order among the affrighted passengers, and the stoves fully answered the advertisement so gratefully improvised by the patentee.

The three elections about to ensue in Nova Scotia will, probably, show an altered state of public opinion in that Province, as there are indications which go to prove that the sober second thought of the people is leading them to abandon the useless and pernicious agitation for Repeal. Amongst the many evidences of this state of feeling, we select from the monthly summary of general events, published in the Halifax Church of Scotland Record for March, the ensuing sensible paragraph:—"In this Province the Hants election interests all classes. It is strange to see how the course of events have placed politicians and political papers in altered positions. Nothing can now be gained by a repeal agitation, and, if it means anything, it is annexation. This is both undesirable and unattainable. Reciprocity is what we want. A continuation of the present stagnation will utterly ruin this province, and reciprocity the American Government will never give so long as there is the least hope of creating an annexation feeling through repeal. Such obvious considerations ought to induce people to lay aside even very strong feelings, and accept the situation. Those who want repeal ought, by this time, to be convinced that all that can be done in that direction has been tried."

Mr Greeley declared in his lecture on co-operation, recently, that he bought the identical white coat that he wears at this moment at a co-operative store in London, twenty years ago "come the 24th of the present month."

Certain Protestant Episcopalians in the diocese of Illinois have issued a protest against what they believe to be the Romanizing tendencies of Bishop Whitehouse and others of his school. A convention of all who sympathize with this protest is called to meet in Chicago in June next, for discussion and consultation.

Allison Smith, an old resident of Spencerport, N.Y., was almost instantly killed on Sunday afternoon, while entering the Congregational Church in that village, at the head of a funeral procession. The trap-door of the belfry of the church was taken off its hangings by the wind, and hurled upon his head with great violence, crushing his skull and rupturing an artery.

The Prince and Princess of Wales will not, of course, leave Egypt without visiting the Pyramids of Gizeh. A fine broad carriage road has been made thither, and in strange juxtaposition to the marvellous monuments of antiquity their Royal Highnesses will find a pretty pavilion, especially erected for them. Thus, thanks to its being no longer incumbent to ride there on donkey-back, and thanks to the hospitable halting place, which will prevent needless exposure in the sun, the only really laborious portion of the excursion will be climbing up to the summit of the great Pyramid.

MANUFACTURE Leffel's celebrated American DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical water wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:

Springfield, Ohio, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada that we have sold and furnished Mr F. W. GLEN, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patterns, Formers, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel, and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated ourselves to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence, feeling sure he will manufacture a wheel in all respects equal to our own

(Signed) JAMES LEFFEL & Co.

WARANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running them 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both ways, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light, and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.

☞ We also manufacture all kinds of Saw and Flour Mill Machinery, including Steam Engines and Boilers, English and American Gangs, Hand-setting and Self-setting Circular Saw-Rigs, Upright and Oscillating Mulay Saw-Rigs, Gearing, Shafting, Pullies and Hangers, &c. &c.
