New York Press Despatches.

New York, April 2.—The Herald's Paris correspondent says that Mosquera's friends are gaining strength in Congress. A proposition for the impeachment of President Gutierrez will probably be introduced in the Senate soon. The small pox is raging in Panama. The cholera epidemic had been checked by the sanitary measures of the authorities. A severe shock of earthquake was felt in Salvador. An investigation of the attempt to poison President Jerez of Nicaragua has been forbidden by President himself. The tobacco monopoly has been abolished in Costa Rica. The term of election for a President, to take place on the 1st of May, has been issued.

New York, April 2.—A large fire has been raging for the last four days in the forests of Sagadoro and East Hampton, estimated by some to have burned over one hundred acres and has caused thousands of damage to both standing timber and wood. The fire is supposed to have been kindled by some boys who started to boil potatoes.

New York, April 2.—The Herald's Washington letter says:—A correspondence has been in progress for some time between prominent men in the British Provinces and leading men in this country relative to the prospective annexation of those provinces to the United States. Enough has been developed to warrant the belief that some members of Congress thought the matter could be reached in an amicable way, and that proposals would eventually be made by the United States looking towards annexation.

The following resolution was sought to be introduced in the House to-day, but, objection being made, failed. Resolved, that the Committee on Foreign Affairs be and hereby instructed to inquire into the propriety of investigating the condition of affairs present and prospective in British America, and that they be authorized to report to the House at any time.

A letter from Washington special says:—Friends of repealing the Tenure of Office act are greatly mortified at the complexion it has had. All the Senate wished to restore a suspended officer is to report on a nomination, and the suspended officer will have to be re-instated. It is stated that Attorney General Hoar intends to show that the bill ought not to have been passed at all.

New York, April 1.—The steamship City of Boston to-day, took $27,000 in specie. The Ella, for Havana, had $158,000.

Chicago, April 2.—A heavy snow storm prevails in parts of Wisconsin and Minnesota, and it still continues.

St. Paul, Minnesota, April 2.—The boiler of a Saw Mill, near Sunk Rapids, exploded on Tuesday afternoon and wounded five men; two of them, named Albright and Cook, will probably die from their injuries.

Memphis, April 2.—Richard D. Wood, one of the oldest merchants in this city, died yesterday. He was 70 years of age.

New York, April 2, 3 p.m.—The Commercial says the President has determined to send Motley to England.

Charleston, April 2.—The most severe earthquake we have had since the 14th of Oct. last occurred this evening at 8 o'clock. As far as ascertained no damage has been done to buildings.

New Brunswick paid $120 as bear bounties last year.

The peanut trade of North Carolina amounts to more than the cotton trade in value.

The Quebec papers notice the death in that city of Mr Pierre Boisseau, aged 70. He was a retired merchant, and had been one of the partners of the firm of Massue, Boisseau, & Co., at one time the largest dry goods importing and retail establishment in the old capital.

At the Bishop of Down's diocesan meeting on Tuesday the bishop spoke of preparing like prudent men for the coming day, and having an honourable conference with Mr Gladstone. Upon this the whole assembly of clergymen and laymen rose to their feet, shouted "No" and hissed. The mention of the word "negotiations" at a later stage of the proceedings produced similar demonstrations.

The Evenement Canadien says that one day last week three cars from Montreal brought 500 French Canadians to St. Albans, and that there are never less than 100 every day. Yesterday 75 heads of families are said to have taken the cars at one of the south shore stations of the Grand Trunk. Supposing the emigration by all other routes to be only as much more, this would give us a minimum total of 60,000 per annum,—a rate which would materially affect our population.—Montreal Witness.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Journal de Quebec contradicts the rumour that Mr Desbarats has made arrangements for rebuilding his printing establishment. The writer says that he will not undertake such a thing unless he is permanently appointed Queen's Printer; that Sir G. E. Cartier is ready to secure to him the situation, but that much opposition is expected from the Hon. Mr McDougall, who has always shown his aversion to the institution of the Queen's Printership.

La France reports that at a dinner party, which took place at Lisbon, at which were present the French and Italian Ministers, as well as some English naval officers, King Ferdinand unhesitatingly repeated his determination to allow no political consideration to induce him to accept the Spanish crown, even were it offered to him by the unanimous vote of the Cortes.

The trade of Toronto, both inwards and outwards, exhibits a steady expansion. In 1851 the total value of goods entered was $2,778,288, yielding a duty of $377,520. The highest point reached since was in 1867, when the value of the imported goods was $7,352,336, yielding a duty of $1,008,318. The exports, which amounted to $525,982 in 1858, increased to $2,607,084 in 1865; since which time there has been a slight falling off.

It is not generally known that the true crown of King Theodore of Abyssinia was bought at the capture of Magdala from a common soldier by Herr Von Roffe, a Prussian officer, attached to the expedition, and was by him presented to King William. His Majesty having had his attention drawn to Lord Napier's order forbidding the sale of articles taken by the army, has now forwarded the trophy to this country.—Ocd.

Prince Arthur is to arrive in Dublin on April 5, and remain at the Viceregal Lodge until the 13th. An official letter to this effect has been received by the Lord Mayor. The Prince will, it is expected, attend Punchestown Races, and the annual grand Masonic ball in Dublin, and subsequently be the guest of the Marchioness of Ely, at Ely Place, Enniskillen. He will travel for three or four months through Ireland, and probably return to Woolwich at the end of the summer, and continue his military duties till winter, when he will leave on a visit to Canada.

No one will regret the increased stringency which has been given to the clause in the Habitual Criminal Bill against the harbourers of thieves and the receivers of stolen goods. Any occupier who knowingly harbours thieves in his house will be liable to a penalty on summary conviction, and it is satisfactory to learn from Lord Kimberley that such an offence will involve the forfeit of an excise licence. Lord Shaftesbury proposed the addition of words which would strike with equal severity against "fearing-houses," and the Government expressed a readiness to accept the addition on the report. The clause which throws the burden of proof on the receivers of stolen goods after they have been once convicted is substantially retained, and will place a most stringent check on these great allies of the thieves.—London paper.

The Charivari suggests that to the Musee des Souverains now existing at the Louvre ought to be added another containing the various instruments made use of to assert sovereign authority; as, for instance, the arm properly called "coulevrine," with which Charles IX. fired on his Protestant subjects from the balcony of the Louvre; the iron mask with which Louis XIV. extinguished an inconvenient existence; a phial containing the poison used by the Medici queen; the chains found in the Bastille, the hatchet with which Clovis murdered a rebel; the sentence of Marshal Ney; the scaffold on which the four sergeants of La Rochelle, and the poniard with which Admiral Coligny was stabbed on Bartholomew's Eve; the pen which signed the revocation of the Edict of Nantes; the collection of the lettres de cachet now extant at the library of the Conciergerie, and the iron cage in which Louis XI. imprisoned Cardinal Balue and other special favourites, &c.

Portugal, which, like Spain, still tolerates slavery in its colonies, has also taken a step forward toward emancipation. The official journal of the kingdom announces that the Ministry have submitted to the King a decree declaring all the slaves of the Transoceanic Colonies free, but requiring them to work as freedmen for their former masters until 1878.

Harpers' Bazaar contains an illustration which represents the new secretary of the treasury looking around his department. He is just entering a room in which female clerks do the work. The clerks, unconscious of his presence, are "working," as usual undoubtedly. One is holding up for inspection and admiration a "duck of a bonnet;" another is reading the fashions; another is building a book pyramid; others are perched upon stools or lounging in easy positions around the room.

A letter from Batna, in the province of Constantia, states that the country is again menaced with a plague of locusts, as immense heaps of the eggs of that insect have been discovered underneath the soil. A reward of 500f. for every 100 kilogrammes has been offered by the authorities, and the natives arrive daily with mules heavily laden. The eggs are then carefully crushed and mixed with quicklime.

There were 9,195 cases in bankruptcy in England and Wales last year. Of these, 3,193 were in the London Court, 1,841 in the Provincial District Courts, and 4,161 in the County Courts. Of the total number, 817 adjudications were made on the petition of the creditor, 6,679 on the petition of a debtor, 1,152 by registrars at the prisons, 532 on petitions in forma pauperis, and 15 on judgment debtor summonses. The gross product realized from bankrupt estates was £852,039 11s., of which creditors' assignees realized £542,309 8s. 11d, and the official assignees £309,730 2s. 1d.

A Washington paper says with surprise, and evidently with an inclination to put the largest notes of admiration after the paragraph—"Mr Johnson and his family left the White House in a very good condition, and did not carry off anything belonging to the United States." Are we to understand that it is customary for a retiring President to spoil the Official residence? Does he depart with a library table and the fire irons? Does Mrs President appropriate the window curtains and stair carpets, while the hope of the family walks off with the biggest spittoon? Then do the whole family generally perform a demoniac dance in the principal apartments before leaving, smashing the windows, breaking the mirrors with pokers, and bringing the fixtures generally about their ears? Because if so, it is creditable to Mr Johnson that he has refrained from purloining or injuring, but not otherwise.—Evening Star.

The New York Democrat describes a newly invented velocipede for ladies. It is said to differ from the ordinary machine in having the perch lower, and in the arrangement of the spring, making it more convenient to mount and dismount. Instead of a saddle there is a seat of wicker work neatly woven. The fore wheels are about thirty-two inches in diameter. The cranks are worked with both feet, in the same manner as with men. The Democrat has no doubt that this velocipede will come into extensive use among the ladies, who will find it an attractive means of healthful exercise, in halls set apart for the purpose.

The Queen received on Monday an Address from the Corporation of the City of Dublin, in favour of the establishment of Religious Equality in Ireland. The Lord Mayor of Dublin, attended by the Town Clerk and Secretary, and accompanied by the members of the deputation charged with the presentation of the Address, wearing their State robes, arrived at the Castle at half-past two o'clock, and were conducted to the Dining-room, where luncheon was served. The Queen, accompanied by Princess Louise, entered the White Drawing-room at three o'clock. The deputation, with the Address, was introduced by the Right Hon. H. A. Bruce, Secretary of State for the Home Department. Her Majesty's reply was as follows:—"I receive with pleasure your loyal Address. The condition of Ireland has ever been to me a subject of deep and anxious interest. It is my earnest desire to promote by just and wise legislation that spirit of contentment and peace on which the welfare of the people of Ireland mainly depends."

HURRAH FOR ANNEXATION!

NUMBERS of the people of the United States wish for Annexation to Canada, and it's a burning shame for the Government of that country to prevent it. Then they could get PURE FLOUR from MORRISON, instead of adulterated stuff as now. Come on, Uncle Sam; we will show you a free and happy land in the true sense of the term. But mind every one of your soldiers and officers, including the President, must attend the Military School here at least three months before you are allowed to handle firearms.

100 barrels XXX FLOUR at Morrison's.
400 bags FAMILY do. received to-day at Morrison's.
25 barrels Kiln-Dried OATMEAL at Morrison's.
10 " WHEATMEAL received at Morrison's.
5 " CRACKED WHEAT at Morrison's.
ROLL BACON, just to hand at Morrison's.
