FARMERS' MARKET.

Kingston, April 10.

There was a tolerably well attended market to-day, but the produce offered was not present in the usual large variety and quantities. Many of the farmers present complained of the condition of the roads.

FLOUR—One load only present, which found a very slow market at old quotations.

GRAIN—Arrivals confined to one load of oats which was offered at 51 cents, but we are not aware of its having found a purchaser at that figure, although that grain is showing just now a firmer aspect.

MEAT—A poor supply in each department, and very little done in the way of sales.

POULTRY—As usual, dear and scarce; a few pairs of wild ducks were exhibited, for which high prices were asked.

EGGS—Down to 15 cents per dozen, and still on the decline.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter dull, and an immense amount of wretchedly poor stuff displayed. Quotations uncertain. Cheese none.

TALLOW AND LARD—No remarks.

MAPLE SUGAR AND SYRUP—A fair supply offered to-day, the first from 17c to 20c per lb., the latter $1 per gallon

VEGETABLES—Cabbages—miserable specimens were selling at from 8 to 15cts each. Potatoes and roots unchanged. Early lettuce and radishes the same as last week.

FRUIT—Confined to apples, which obtain old prices.

HIDES AND SKINS—The market is steady and prices unaltered.

HAY AND STRAW—There was a good supply of the former to-day, and the whole market was cleared out by one o'clock; the prices ranged from $12 to $15 per ton, only one load being sold below the former figure, and the quality of which was exceedingly poor. There have been no arrivals of straw with the exception of an occasional load disposed of by the bundle in the streets.

FUEL—Wood—a fair supply to-day; loads of hardwood on waggons were sold at $2,50 to $3 per load, while soft wood realized from 50 cents to $1 less, regulated by quality. Coal unchanged since last report, when the first decline in price was quoted at $2 per ton. It should have been $1 per ton.

CORPORAL PUNISHMENT IN A NUNNERY.

The people of Lyons have been greatly scandalised by the discovery of the atrocious system of punishments practised in a convent in that city, where girls of the lower classes are brought up and trained to learn some trade, chiefly millinery. Their bringing up is gratuitous, and the only profit the convent reaps is from the sale of work of the girls during their apprenticeship. It seems that a woman belonging to the poorer classes, on going to the convent to see her daughter, found her looking very ill. On being pressed with questions, the child burst into tears, and exclaimed, "Oh take me away, take me away: I'm frightened." The nuns here interposed, but the mother having a will of her own took the child away with her, and on getting her home found that she had been beaten black and blue, her poor little body being a heap of bruises. Another woman, who had a child at the convent, insisted on having her child back immediately. She appears to have made a great disturbance in the convent parlour, and as she refused to leave four men made their appearance and removed her. She went to the police to lodge a complaint and claim her child. She was restored to her after some demurring, and was also found to bear the marks of conventual discipline. The judicial authorities instituted an inquiry which is likely to lead to a trial. From what has transpired of the inquiry it appears that this clerical establishment entertains such a high opinion of corporal punishment as to make it the groundwork of their whole system of education. The sisters are so fond of the children that they can't have too much of the rod, and actually keep a functionary to administer the lash—a lay "whipping-sister." This female Calcraft was dubbed L'Ange de Marie, and appears to have been an experienced practitioner. She put the heads of her little victims in a sack, so as to stifle their shrieks, and then flogged away to her heart's content. The children subjected to this atrocious treatment averaged ten years of age, but a few were a good deal older.

The Galatea, with the Duke of Edinburgh, arrived at Freemantle on the 2rd of Feb.

An effort is about to be made to stock the rivers of P. E. Island with salmon.

The 15th of May is the date fixed for the ball at Ottawa to members of Parliament, at which the Governor-General is to be present.

EFFECT OF ADVERTISING.—It is amusing at times to observe the stores of the merchants who don't advertise; to see the anxious proprietors looking into the streets and see the people go by, wondering why they don't come in, while the stores of their neighbours who do advertise are thronged with customers. Some people will learn by observation, others will not.—Daily Palladium.

When displayed, a proportionate price will be charged.
