A CHANT FOR COLLEGE ATHLETES.

How doth the busy Undergrad
Improve each shining hour,
Loving each new athletic "fad,"
To show his muscle's power!

To learn to row and feather well,
What awful pains he takes!
But just to see his name in Bell,
Full compensation makes.

To pull stroke-oar, to coach a crew,
He aims to be a dab;
And such disgrace he never knew,
As when he caught a crab.

The cue, the leaping pole as well,
Have each their charms for him;
Or at the gloves he takes a spell,
To keep his lungs in trim.

At cricket, racquets, or at fives,
He yearns his skill to show;
And little time to spare he strives,
To pass his Little Go.

In feats of strength and games of skill
His time must all be passed,
Heedless that, 'spite of cram, he will
Be sorely plucked at last.

THE RAPACIOUS MAW OF THE REPUBLIC.

On a recent occasion Mr Orth, of Indiana, made an elaborate and interesting speech in the House of Representatives in favour of the annexation of the Dominican Republic to this country. Doubtless this portion of the island of Hayti would, in many points of view, be a valuable acquisition to the United States, and by and by we may obtain it. But what we most need in the West Indies at present is Cuba. It is the largest and richest island in the Caribbean sea, and holds the key of the Gulf of Mexico. When we shall have obtained Cuba, then, unless England shall propose to cede to us Jamaica in part payment of the Alabama claims, the public mind will perhaps crave nothing more in the West Indies for some years.

With Cuba in our possession, then, if England should refuse to make reparation in regard to the Alabama piracies, we might turn our eyes northward in search of land whereon to levy in satisfaction of our demands. According to the law of geographical affinity, the entire territory south of the St. Lawrence, from the point where that river leaves our northern boundary, belongs to the United States. This territory, with the adjacent islands of Prince Edward and Newfoundland, gravitates toward this country. The possession of this large domain, with the control of the southern half of the St. Lawrence from the lakes to the ocean, would be an acquisition of considerable worth and importance, as the following statistics will show:

That part of Lower Canada which lies south of the St. Lawrence contains about 45,000 square miles, and a population of about 650,000 souls. The portion immediately north of New York and Vermont is rapidly increasing in wealth, and is very inviting to settlers. New Brunswick has 28,000 square miles and 253,000 inhabitants, and Nova Scotia contains 19,000 square miles and a population of 330,000. Both these provinces are closely identified with this country in all their material interests; in fact, they are but an elongation of the State of Maine. Prince Edward, which lies in the very mouth of the St. Lawrence, contains 2,000 square miles and 82,000 inhabitants, and is steadily increasing in wealth and population; while Newfoundland, which may be regarded as the seaward sentinel of the great river, has 35,000 square miles and 125,000 people.

Here, then, are five provinces, containing an aggregate of 130,000 square miles, or nearly three times as large as the State of New York, and a population of 1,440,000 souls, whose every interest is identical with those of the Northern and Eastern States of this Union, and whose progress and destiny are closely connected with the prosperity and perpetuity of this nation. Why should not England, with the consent of a majority of their people, cede them to us in payment of her just debts? That the masses of the population would rejoice to become citizens of the Great Republic, is unquestionable. Doubtless, a small minority, perhaps a considerable one, would object to severing the tie which binds them to the British throne. If such should choose to cross the seas to their native isle, their places would be more than filled by the hundreds of thousands who would swarm into these new acquisitions from the teeming hives of population in New England, New York, and Pennsylvania, carrying thither capital, labour, skill and energy, that would speedily lift those provinces to a height of prosperity and power of which their present inhabitants have never dreamed.—N. Y. Sun.

A letter has been received from Bishop Bourget, who is now in Rome, in which he speaks in high terms of the Canadian Zouaves in the Pontifical army. General Kanzler had called upon them to enter the artillery, and had consented that they should do so by companies, and only serve three instead of four years, with quarters in Rome. It was also proposed to enlist an additional number of Canadian recruits; and as an inducement, the committee which has charge of the recruiting service in France had offered to defray their passage both to and from France. But this latter proposition Bishop Bourget was scarcely disposed to accede to, holding, we gather from his communication to the Chairman of the Montreal Committee, that the faithful of Canada should contribute money as well as men in defence of the common cause.

Australia has suffered a fearful drought. The accounts from Sydney and Melbourne detail the fearful effects of the heat and lack of moisture. One farmer in Victoria has lost 3500 sheep which died of thirst, and the mortality in all the region has been fearful.

A Leavenworth paper thinks it "an evidence of the westward march of civilization" that the Kansas Legislature appropriated $1,400 for tobacco for the penitentiary prisoners, and only $300 for preaching the gospel to them.

During the present week over a dozen women have called upon Mr Parslow, undertaker, Hoboken, to inquire about missing daughters, having read an account of the finding of a woman in the sectional dock. In each case the missing daughter is between 15 and 18 years of age.

Mr Roebuck has received from the people of Sheffield, England, a testimonial for his services, in the shape of a present of £3,000, invested in the Funds in trust for his daughter, Miss Roebuck. In return, he has made what he calls his political establishment, in the shape of four pieces of advice to the people of England: "Beware of Trades' Unions," "Beware of Ireland," "Beware of the United States," and "Beware of Mr Gladstone." His running commentary seems to explain that "Beware of Trades' Unions" means, beware of Councils of Conciliation, or letting in any mediator between masters and men: that "Beware of Ireland" means, beware of the Catholic priests, and rectifying at their request imaginary grievances. "Beware of the United States" means, divide them if you can; at all events, beware of their ambition, and their passionate desire to crush us. "Beware of Mr Gladstone," means, beware of a statesman who changes his mind.

A sentry on duty at Fort Macon, N. C., received strict orders, on Monday of last week, to challenge every one approaching him. One of the garrison chimneys took fire, and Lieutenant Alexander, under the excitement of the moment, ran toward the sentry, who, it is said, after challenging fired. A sergeant who, upon seeing the officer fall, ran to the spot, only to meet the same fate, for the sentinel had reloaded his gun, and he too, was brought to the ground. Both men were killed almost instantly by the stupid sentry.

At Divine service in the Chapel of the Tuileries, on the occasion of Palm Sunday, large branches, which had received the benediction of the Church, were presented to the Emperor, Empress, and Prince Imperial, whilst others of smaller size were given to the rest of the congregation.

Mr J. Stuart Mill prescribed an essay to be competed for by the students of St Andrew's University, the subject being the "Theory of the Association of Ideas." Being a difficult subject, only three students were found to compete for the prize of $125

Queen Isabella has given orders to the effect that no more newspaper reporters and editors shall be admitted to her new palace. She is greatly displeased with some of the stories which several of these enterprising Bohemians have published about her. Father Claret is likewise dissatisfied with the attention which the newspapers of Paris have been bestowing upon him. In January last the ex-Queen hinted that she would not be displeased if the French Government would prosecute certain Parisian editors for slandering her immaculate character. The French Government, however, did not take the hint.

A curious incident lately occurred at St. Petersburg. A clerk in the bank had to convey 2,200,000 roubles to the Post Office. He sent for a cab and placed the money in it, but recollecting that he had forgotten his overcoat, he shut the door and returned into the building to get it. When he came back he found the vehicle had left! The whole establishment was in intense excitement, the police were communicated with, and a search commenced in every direction. In a short time the coachman was discovered travelling quietly toward his destination, having started with the full conviction, from hearing the door shut, that his fare was inside.

EFFECT OF ADVERTISING.—It is amusing at times to observe the stores of the merchants who don't advertise; to see the anxious proprietors looking into the streets and see the people go by, wondering why they don't come in, while the stores of their neighbours who do advertise are thronged with customers. Some people will learn by observation, others will not.—Daily Palladium.
