

Downtown Milton BIA welcomes new executive director

A new face has joined the ranks of the Downtown Milton Business Improvement Area (BIA) team.

Rachel Shuttleworth is settling into her position as executive director of the local organization, which works to enhance and restore downtown Milton and promote the core as a vibrant and growing business community.

With a background in strategic management, marketing and communications, Shuttleworth brings a passion for community engagement and a true desire to support local business to her new role. She has a wealth of experience working in the non-profit and public sectors. Most recently, she worked at Futurpreneur Canada promoting and managing programs to help young entrepreneurs start, buy and grow businesses.

"Downtown Milton is increasingly recognized for its growing and vibrant business community. With Rachel's leadership, the Downtown Milton BIA will continue to fuel the momentum we see downtown by running great events, beautifying the district, building strong partnerships and attracting and engaging businesses," said Eric Chabot, chair of the Downtown Milton BIA Board of Directors.

Positioning downtown Milton as a destination neighbourhood is important to the local business group.

Shuttleworth's fresh perspectives and strong business and marketing background will assist the downtown BIA in accomplishing just that, said BANG! Creative founder David O'Connell, vice-chair of the Downtown Milton BIA.
