TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 10.

LONDON IRISH ADDRESS TO THE QUEEN.

Digby Seymour has received the following communication from the Home Secretary:—"Whitehall, Feb. 15, 1868.—Sir, I have had great satisfaction in laying before the Queen the loyal and dutiful address of her Majesty's Irish subjects resident in London and its vicinity which you, accompanied by a large deputation, placed in my hands. And I have the honour to inform you that her Majesty has been pleased to receive the same most graciously.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, GATHORNE HARDY. W. Digby Seymour, Esq., Q.C., M.P."

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF THE EARL OF DERBY.

Of the morning papers on Monday one only has a paragraph about the health of Lord Derby, announced that "the noble Earl, according to the official papers, which are sent out in the regular course; and they are published, not without having received the personal attention." We are sadly afraid that the Earl's condition does not admit of the extension of his reading to the public, or we would have been surprised by a paragraph devoted to his memory in that issue of Tuesday. A few days previous to his being carried out of existence as a Minister, he was expected to be was definitely laid up, but in Tuesday he was definitely struck off the roll of life. After a career of the most brilliant character, a memoir has appeared in the Times containing the particulars of his career set forth, and his character expounded with all the general commendation which is customary, there would be an obvious indecency in coming forward again under present circumstances of being alive. Nevertheless, Lord Derby, contrary to expectation, is recovering.

Lord Derby had a serious relapse on Sunday, and it was deemed right to telegraph to London to Lord Stanley to hasten from his residence in Knowsley Park. The Foreign Secretary accordingly started in the morning for the latter place, taking a London physician with him. On the following day his lordship was considered better, and his improvement has continued to improve. On Monday telegraphic messages were received at Knowsley, from the Queen and from the Prince of Wales, asking to know the Lord Derby's state; and, in her replies, Lady Derby made a favourable report. The patient had passed a good night, the symptoms being regarded by the medical attendants as peculiarly favourable. Lord Stanley returned to town in the afternoon. The Premier is still making satisfactory progress, but is scarcely expected to leave Downing St. for some weeks.

MR. STUART MILL'S STRANGE IDEAS ON IRELAND.

Mr. Mill has followed the venturesome example of others in propounding an answer to the question, "What is to be done with Ireland?" According to his plan the first thing is to have fixity of tenure. The rent of the land is to be fixed by a parliamentary commission, which may raise or lower the present rates of tenancy. The landlord is to be secured by a state guarantee. The result which will be attained is that "every farm not farmed by the proprietor would become the permanent holding of the existing tenant, who would pay either to the landlord or to the State the fixed rate which had been decided upon." Heavy taxation of the general public would be required to support this system. This, or something like it, is proposed by Mr Mill to be the only condition on which we can escape the fast hastening doom. He assumes that we have no choice but to grant these revolutionary demands, or hold Ireland by brute force. The latter, he declares, is now impossible to the face of Europe and America; and, in fact, it comes to this—that the Irish peasantry will either force us to grant his demands or force us to separate. Mr Mill has evidently a great deal too much for his own peace. For if it is necessary that we should give Ireland according to Irish principles, and if one of those principles is that the man who cultivates the land is its real owner, it is clear that Mr Mill's scheme of a kind of peasant copyhold system of land tenure does not meet the required conditions. If the Irish right is to be interpreted in the Irish sense—that is, in the Irish tenants' sense—then we must not only give fixity of tenure, but we must yield absolute property. There is nothing to show that a system of copyholds is in accordance with Irish ideas; it is quite certain that it would be no remedy for Irish disaffection. It is not for the privilege of paying rent in perpetuity that the tenants are agitating. They are agitating at all; but it is the immunity from all payment that they desire. Nothing less would satisfy any such national yearnings as are represented in Fenianism.

A SHOCKING INDIAN ATROCITY.

One of the most cold-blooded Indian murders which ever occurred, and which very illustrates the fiendish nature of the savages, took place less than three days ago, not many miles from here.

Chas. R. and Amos Scott, two brothers, were hunting with them five horses, were hunting on the Dearborn river, and on Sunday last were in their camp on the banks of that river about six miles above the crossing on the Boston road, and something less than two miles from Helena. At about 4 o'clock two Indians—at first supposed to be Kootenay Pend d'Oreilles, of whom there were a number not a great way off—came to the camp of the brothers and partook of hunger. Having two antelope, and the Indians having nothing, they kindly prepared supper for them, and gave them as much as they could eat. The Indians still loitered about the camp, and about 10 o'clock, went to Mr. Charles going so far as to give them a couple of blankets, fearing they had not enough with which to keep warm.

Amos was somewhat suspicious of the savages, but Charles assured him that there was no necessity for fear, inasmuch as, after being treated so well, no Indian would ever harm them. The brothers then lay down together a few feet from the Indians, between whom and them there was only a log. About 2 o'clock, both the whites heard a noise on the hills, sounding something like a whoop, and immediately thereafter one of the Indians, resting his gun upon the log, fired a shot which took effect in C. R. Scott's heart, and which was evidently intended to pass through the bodies of both brothers, but which failed to harm the latter. Both the whites jumped up—Charles exclaiming, "It's all my fault!" (referring to his advice not to keep watch) and immediately expired. Amos snatched up a squirrel rifle (they had a Henry rifle also with them) and drew it on the Indians, but it merely snapped. The Indians had but one gun between them, and this they had fired without killing both, as they had expected to do, and so took flight.

Amos at first intended to remain and protect his brother, but, finding that he was dead, he made all haste to the nearest ranche for assistance. During his absence the Indians—who, it was ascertained, were Blackfeet—returned to camp and stole everything of value, taking even the blanket covering the dead body of their victim. They stole their five horses—the murder having been perpetrated, doubtless, more for the purpose of securing these than anything else. It was thought, indeed, that the wolf-like noise which was heard just previous to the firing, was made by a third Indian, whose tracks were found the next morning as a signal that the horses had been secured, and that the whites should be murdered to prevent pursuit. One of the Indians—the one who had the gun, and who doubtless did the shooting—was about forty years of age; the other, not over fifteen years of age, was armed with a bow and arrow.

Amos caused the body of his brother to be brought to town on Wells, Fargo & Co.'s coach, and it arrived here yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, and was laid out at Dr. Truesdale's private hospital on Cutler street. We saw it there last evening, and as we looked upon the handsome features, the intelligent face and noble form, and thought that, less than forty-eight hours before, the now cold body was full of life, and that that life had been taken by one of those fiends that receive yearly from the Government presents that we all help to pay for, we could not but wish that every member of our Congress might look upon this work of the "Poor Indian," and thereby receive a lesson that could in no other way be conveyed to him.—Helena (Montana) Herald, Feb. 12.

A TRAGEDY AT RIO JANEIRO.

Some seven months ago a family named Cuyas transferred their residence from Montevideo to Rio, and with them came Heitor Monetta, who, having become enamoured of the eldest daughter, Genoveva, determined to cast his lot with them and was betrothed to her soon after his arrival here. According to his tale, upon the strength of these intimate relations existing between them, the father of the Cuyas family borrowed at various times what money he possessed, and from that time he says a coldness was manifested to him by the parents, which finally induced him to leave his residence in their house and remove to an hotel. Becoming more and more annoyed at the increasing coolness of their connection, he at last determined to bring the matter to a crisis, and he wrote a note to the young lady, asking her to come to see him in a neighbour's house, the answer to which was that she could not, and did not wish to see him. He waited half an hour and then departed, leaving a note for the girl. Apparently, however, his anxiety overpowered him, and he went to the Cuyas' house. There in the kitchen he found the mother, and on demanding whether the marriage was or was not to take place he asserts that she began to abuse him. He then appealed to the girl, who was sitting in the parlour, but she remained silent, and the mother, still more angry at the appeal, gave him a slap in the face. Furious at his reception he hurried to his hotel, and, taking a revolver from his trunk, returned to the Cuyas' house, where, finding the mother reposing on a sofa, he beat her upon the face with his fists and then shot her in the shoulder. At her cries Genoveva rushed in, and was received with two shots which laid her dying. He then proceeded towards the stairs, but returning, shot a younger sister in the lungs and another in the stomach, and ran into the street (Rozario). Pursued he directed his course to Rio Direita, but as he still carried the revolver in his hand no one ventured to stay him, and he was lost in the nightfall. For several days no trace of him could be obtained, but at length an intercepted letter revealed that he was staying at the Hotel d'Italia at the Botanic-gardens. On the afternoon of the 10th a party of police, disguised as excursionists, drove to the hotel and managed to examine the house and grounds without being suspected, but without finding Monetta. Seventy more men were sent on from Rio during the night, and by 3 a.m. the grounds and house were surrounded. At 3 the house was entered, and, after searching the rooms in vain, he was discovered on the roof, from which, after being summoned, he came down and surrendered quietly, and was taken to the city. Of the victims to his fury, Genoveva died on the day succeeding the catastrophe, but the other three, although severely injured, it is believed will recover. Another daughter, who was fortunately out of the house at the fatal hour, thus escaped, but the father, who was likewise absent, was so overcome by the shock of the misfortune which had fallen on him that he died during the night of the 8th from an attack of cerebral congestion.—Anglo-Brazilian Times.

There is something almost unseemly in the spectacle of a half-dozen young married women walking off with some of the best partners in the room, while a row of girls are sitting neglected against the wall! Neither ignorance nor thoughtlessness can be pleaded in excuse. Women, thoroughly know women, whatever else they may know; and there is not one of them that is not vividly conscious of what heart-burning it causes to a poor girl to hear the music and watch the many twinkling feet of a ball-room, and play the most ignominious part of the spectator. Grown-up women clutching at all the toys or sweatmeats off a Christmas tree at a juvenile party, would not be a more unnatural spectacle. Grown-up men eager to win the skates at a round game got up for the lads at home for the holidays, would not be more cruel or inhuman. We are constrained to plead for tenderness and consideration on the part of young women who are married toward young men who are not. Might not Sidney's words, as he handed the draught of water to the dying soldier at Lutzen, be profitably remembered? "Thy need is greater than mine."—Imperial Review.

CAUTION.

THE perfection and cheapness of the American (Waltham) watch have given it such a world-wide celebrity that unscrupulous dealers years ago imitated its style and pirated its trade marks. Irresponsible dealers are occasionally found who furtively trade upon the popularity of the American watch by selling a base imitation under the name of the genuine article.

It is hardly necessary to state that such watches are worthless as time-keepers, and when bought for the genuine are calculated to injure the high reputation which our watches have attained. The several grades of the American watch (except the lowest grade marked Home Watch Co.) are guaranteed by special certificate bearing the number of the watch and the signature of the Treasurer of the Company, R. E. ROBBINS. The purchaser should in all cases require one of these certificates, which is furnished to all dealers in the genuine watches.

The following are the trade marks on the several grades of our manufacture:—

AMERICAN WATCH CO.
APPLETON, TRACY & CO.
WALTHAM WATCH CO.
P. S. BARTLETT.
WM. ELLERY.
HOME WATCH CO.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD CO.

Office of the General Superintendent, Altona, Pa., 15th Dec., 1866.

GENTLEMEN—The watches manufactured by you have been in use on this Railroad for several years by our engine men, to whom we furnish watches as part of our equipment. There are some THREE HUNDRED OF THEM CARRIED ON OUR LINE, and we consider them GOOD and RELIABLE TIME-KEEPERS. Indeed I have great satisfaction in saying YOUR WATCHES GIVE US LESS TROUBLE and have worn and do wear much longer without repairs than any watches we have ever had in use on this road. As you are aware we formerly trusted to those of English manufacture, of acknowledged good reputation, but as a class they never keep time as correctly, nor have they done as good service as yours.

In these statements I am sustained by my predecessor, Mr Lewis, whose experience extended over a series of years.

Respectfully,

EDWARD H. WILLIAMS, General Superintendent.

Locomotive Dep't Western Division, Roebester, Dec. 24, 1866.

GENTLEMEN—I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the great majority of locomotive engineers have found by experience that WALTHAM WATCHES ARE THE MOST SATISFACTORY of any for their uses. They RUN WITH THE GREATEST ACCURACY AND STEADINESS, notwithstanding the roughriding of an engine; and as I have NEVER KNOWN ONE TO WEAR OUT, they must be durable. I hope to see the time when railway companied will generally adopt your watches, and furnish them to all engineers and conductors. In my opinion it would greatly tend to promote regularity and safety.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES WILSON, G. Chief Engineer,

TESTIMONIAL

From Sig. Carlo Mora. Professor of Music. Kingston:

HAVING had ample opportunity of testing Mr Reyner & Son's Tuning and Repairing of Pianofortes, &c., since I have been in Kingston, I heartily recommend them to all those having Instruments to tune or repair, and would further advise those that have Instruments that are not in good order, to give them a call at once, as delay will only occasion more work and money when it is done.

SIG. CARLO MORA, Professor of Music, Kingston.

FROM MR RIDDELL.

MR REYNER has recently re-covered the Hammers of the Pianoforte used in my family with the new improved patent leather, and otherwise repaired it. He has also tuned it, and it is altogether much improved, the quality of the tone being greatly better than before the Instrument was put into his hands. I shall certainly continue to keep the piano under his charge for the future.

Toronto, Sept. 13, 1866.

Messrs MUSGROVE & WRIGHT,

B. A. Com. College, Toronto.

Dear Sirs,—We have much pleasure in testifying to the order of training for commercial pursuits obtained by the young men educated at your College.

We have now in our employment one of your graduates who, notwithstanding the fact that he never had any previous experience, has proved himself a most reliable, accurate, and efficient Book-keeper.

We may further state, that having had occasion to engage another office hand we gave a decided preference to one of your graduates. In short, we have no hesitation in saying, that as far as our experience goes, your course of training is eminently adapted to make a thoroughly efficient office man.

Yours truly, LYMAN & MACNAB.

Toronto, May 21, 1867.

Messrs MUSGROVE & WRIGHT,

B. A. Com. College, Toronto.

Dear Sirs,—We can eminently recommend your establishment to the business public, from which to select their Book-keepers. The young man in our employ bears testimony to the efficient system taught in your College, and the accurate habits derived therefrom, and though different houses pursue different methods, yet the general principles, rules, and varieties of commerce are so thoroughly inculcated by your system of tuition as to render the knowledge applicable to each new feature in each peculiar system.

Your efforts are worthy of every appreciation in founding a sound Commercial Emporium of the intelligent youth of Canada, and though occasionally students fail to become proficient, it can only be attributed to lack of ability on the student's part, and not the incapacity of the tutor. We shall ever give and advise preference to your pupils for an office, and feel glad to thus attest our experience of the same.

We remain, Gentlemen, yours, &c.,

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS AND HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

THE GREATEST REMEDIES FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE Liver, Stomach, or Digestive Organs.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

Is composed of the pure juice (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.

Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use

Hoofland's German Bitters

Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters, as stated, will use

Hoofland's German Tonic.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the Stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and the Great Depression of Spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skilfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well-known remedies—

Hoofland's German Bitters,

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic

PREPARED BY Dr. C. M. JACKSON, Philadelphia, Pa.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Disease of the Kidneys and all Diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY,

Resulting from any Cause whatever

PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone of vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,

And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC an elixir that will instill new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

NOTICE.

It is a well-established fact that fully one-half of the femal population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression "never feel well." They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.

To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the Tonic, is especially recommended.

WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN

Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.

Thousands of certificates have accumulate in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

Testimonials.

HON. GEO. W. WOODWARD, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:

Philadelphia, March 16, 1867.

"I find Hoofland's German Bitters is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system. Yours truly,

GEO. W. WOODWARD."

HON. JAMES THOMPSON, Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, April 28th, 1866.

"I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion for Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience in it. Yours, with respect.

JAMES JOHNSTON."

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D. Pastor to the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I declined; but with various instances in my own family, and particularly of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.

Yours, very respectfully,

J. H. KENNARD, Eighth, below Coates St.

FROM REV. E. D. YENDALL, Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philada.

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.

Yours truly, E. D. YENDALL.
