Initiatives target aggressive driving in Halton

The Halton Regional Police Service answers your questions as they relate to traffic, crime and community policing. This month, concerns focused on aggressive driving on rural roads and safety surrounding U-turns at the crosswalk near the Milton GO station.

By Staff Sergeant Craig Platt
HALTON REGIONAL POLICE SERVICE

The Halton Regional Police Service (HRPS) recognizes the concerns of residents related to aggressive driving on rural roads throughout the region.

In response, officers conduct comprehensive patrols across their districts to engage those driving aggressively. Also, we have launched unique initiatives such as the Reducing Rural Speeds Project, Operation Decoy and Rural Impact, targeting aggressive drivers who routinely present the greatest risk.

These initiatives resulted in hundreds of Provincial Offence Notices being issued. Additionally, a number of charges were laid for stunt driving due to excessive speeds, resulting in a seven-day vehicle seizure and a licence suspension.

Traffic safety is raised as a community concern and Halton police designs and delivers services with this in mind. At times, we need your help as our partners in community safety and encourage residents to visit our website (www.haltonpolice.ca) if they wish to register an online complaint, through our Road Watch program, a community-driven initiative that allows for anonymous online reporting of traffic concerns.
