ESTATE OF $150,000 FRADULENT-LY HELD FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

From data before us, it appears that Mrs. Holt and Mrs J. W. Brigham, of this city, with a brother residing at Chicopee, were the sole heirs to an estate of $150,000, left by a brother who died in Detroit, about twenty-six years since. Jonas Brigham, the brother referred to, son of Luther Brigham, of Chicopee, Mass., resided in Detroit about the year 1838, and worked in the dry goods business. Some time later he invented, and procured patent on certain machinery for generating steam and entered into a contract to supply the city, but in experimenting, one day, an explosion occurred, and he was instantly killed. At the time of his death he was betrothed to the daughter of Jonas Brooks, a wealthy gentleman, and brother to a custom-house officer. Col. Brooks immediately wrote to Brigham's father, informing him of the death of his son and that, if he desired, he (Col. Brooks) would act as administrator in settling up the estate, and forward him the money. The elder Brigham, however, fearing some foul play, would probably be very much annoyed would probably be very much annoyed at this. He was accordingly made administrator, and after a little time had passed he informed Mr Brigham that his son left behind him a gold watch and clothing, which the administrator thought should be given him for his trouble. Knowing nothing of his son's business affairs, Mr Brigham accepted the statement as true, received the watch and clothing, and never thought so much as one penny from the estate. These matters have rested for years, none of the heirs for a moment suspecting of fraud and unfairness until a few months since, when Mrs Holt and Mrs Brigham received a letter from a person who acted as Judge of Probate at the time the estate was settled. He kindly to inquire their given names, as they might be made parties in legal proceedings in regard to property once belonging to Jonas C. Brigham." Their suspicions were at once aroused, and without waiting to the letter, a friend was sent to the office to search the records, and obtain a record of all property standing in their fathers name. The investigation revealed the fact that there is standing upon the records in the name of Jonas C. Brigham the equal of property in the heart of the city, one worth $40,000; nine lots, also in the heart of the city, worth $50,000; forty acres of land a few miles out, worth about $3,000; a store, house and lot, and two acres of land, in Newport, and a 160 acres of land in Illinois. The total value of the property is about $150,000. Judge Brigham, attorney for the heirs, has been in town for some days and has written a letter confirming the above. Col. Brooks died ten years since. The relation has never been common, and the gallant Colonel and Judge have been collecting the rents, playing a good thing. Since the death of the Colonel, the Judge has had it his own way, and his object in visiting Detroit was, doubtless, to buy them off and stop further proceedings. When his term of office expired he violated the law by conveying the property in this case to his home, where it remained until he was forced to give it up recently. It seems that seven years after Brigham's death an individual came forward and presented what purported to be a bond for a deed to the property, signed by Brigham, for $40,000; but the instrument was not sealed and witnesses, and the heirs consistently refused to issue an instrument conveying the title. The bond is believed to be a forgery, and the property will undoubtedly be divided among the original heirs.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Osservatore Romano reiterates the report that Italian emissaries are present in Rome, seeking to encourage desertion among the Papal troops. It says:—"Spies have recently arrested two priests and other individuals who had this object. Emissaries are also visiting several Italian cities for Rome, where the Pontifical Government will be on the watch for their intrigues."

The population of this city in 1860 numbers were born in the United States, 3,831 in the foreign countries of which two thirds are Irish nationalities. The annual number of marriages is 8,500, of births 11,000, and of deaths 22,448. There are 40,000 houses, with an average of three families to each dwelling, and five persons to each family living in the city, and 13,000 business houses, containing 40,000 persons. Pauperism is annually supported by the city at a cost of millions for crime.—New York Sun.

Lord Byron's correspondence has been published of late. A pet ape belonged to the monks of the Armenian convent of San Lazzaro island, in the Venetian lagoon, and personally sketched in his "Venetian Life," was the cause of the discovery. This ape, with his master, took refuge on a monk's bookcase, and being pursued, fell head of the brother a roll of manuscript, which proved to be Byron's letters. It is supposed that they were stolen, but no hint is given as to the thief.

INSINUATION RESPECTING THE POPE.—The Albany correspondent of the Rochester Democrat says that a bill was hastily passed by the State Senate, giving to the election of Wardens and Vestrymen of the Episcopal Churches, the communicants and pew holders only, all who contribute any thing to the support of the church during the year. It was passed has its aim, the election of the Senators; the bill passed, the clergy and laity of the church at once bore down with a blow at the dignity of the Episcopalians, and the Episcopal Church has become the Quakers or Quakers. It was a blow at the dignity of a vestry, and on the motion of Mr Cornwall, the bill was taken from the Subject of the Whole of the Assembly, and committed to the Committee on Religious Societies, for a few words, it is dead and buried.

HOME-MADE BAROMETERS.—Take two sheets of pasteboard paper of any convenient size, say three feet long by two feet wide. Bring the ends together, and paste or glue them tight, each sheet by itself; and they would look like two pieces of paper stovepipe. Cut thin, round boards exactly to fit in the ends of these paper cylinders, carefully glue or nail them tight. Now you have two air-tight paper drums with wooden heads. Take a pole of any length you desire—three feet or twelve feet; let one drum be fastened to each end of the pole. Now balance this pole with the drums on each end, on nice pivots, in the middle. Then bore a gimlet through the end of one drum, and you have a good farmer's barometer. One drum is air-tight; one has a hole in it; so there will be more or less air in one drum than there is in the other, according as the the surrounding air is dense or rarefied. Consequently in dense or heavy air, the tight drum rises, while the one with the hole in it goes down. Crosswise through the bar or pole should run a stick as large as one's finger, a foot long, with wire gudgeons, on which the instrument should vibrate or teeter. Let the ends be slightly lower than the middle, that the whole do not make a sumerset; smear all with glue or oil, so that no air enter, only in the puncture mentioned. Have something you can slide through the bar, to keep it nearly level. Mark if you please figures along the pole, to show how far you have moved the balancing poise; though for this there is but little need. This is instrument may not be so perfect as a costly barometer; but for all practical purposes it is all one could ask. I have had one more than a year. I look at it a dozen times a day. They could be made and afforded for fifty cents a piece. They could be made as long as a barn, and placed in the loft, with an indicator to show the distant mower when to make his hay. —Boston Journal of Chemistry.

When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs incident to our climate.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.

The following is an extract from a letter written by the Rev. C. Z. Weizer, to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburg, Penn.:

A Benefactress.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs Winslow will prove the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are sure, that we will teach our "Susy" to say "A Blessing on Mrs Winslow," for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking, and teething siege. We confirm every word set forth in the Prospectus. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. Away with your "Cordial" "Paregoric" "Drops" "Laudanum," and every other "Narcotic," by which the babe is drugged into stupidity and rendered dull and idiotic for life.

We have never seen Mrs Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for children teething." If we had the power, we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the Infant Race. 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Be sure and call for

"Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup,"

Having the fac-simile of "Curtis & Perkins" on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations.

A "Cough," "cold," or Irritated Throat.

If allowed to progress, results in serious Pulmonary and Bronchial affections, oftentimes incurable.

TESTIMONIAL

From Sig. Carlo Mora, Professor of Music, Kingston:

HAVING had ample opportunity of testing Mr Reyner & Son's Tuning and Repairing of Pianofortes, &c, since I have been in Kingston, I heartily recommend them to all those having Instruments to tune or repair, and would further advise those that have Instruments that are not in good order, to give them a call at once, as delay will only occasion more work and money when it is done.

FROM MR RIDDELL.

MR REYNER has recently re-covered the Hammers of the Pianoforte used in my family with the new improved patent leather, and otherwise repaired it. He has also tuned it, and it is altogether much improved, the quality of the tone being greatly better than before the Instrument was put into his hands. I shall certainly continue to keep the piano under his charge for the future.
