The Daily News,

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 26.

☞ SEE FIRST PAGE.

The Moniteur devotes five columns of its space to an account of the religious ceremony which took place on the 8th of May, in the chapel of the Tuileries, on the occasion of the Prince Imperial receiving his first communion.

Chicago, like New York, has its Printing House square. Within a radius of one hundred rods are, or in a few months will be, the offices of the Post, Tribune, Staats Zeitung, Times, Republican, Journal, Advocate, Little Corporal, Standard, Presbyterian, Churchman, Christian Advocate, Herald of Peace, Journal of Commerce, Christian Freeman, New Covenant, Railroad Gazette, and some twenty lesser weeklies and monthlies.

An eminent French naturalist, Mr Pasteur, has been employing the microscope in the practical treatment of silk-worm disease. The crysalis, perfect insects and eggs are carefully examined, and those attacked with the disease are rejected, the choice being restricted to the healthy ones. Out of one hundred worms hatched from eggs selected as above, ninety-five were perfectly healthy, and were retained for silk raising, while the others were destroyed.

THE HERO OF ABYSSINIA.—The London Spectator says: Sir Robert Napier, to whom the unexampled success of this expedition is mainly due, will, it is said, be offered a peerage—which he will probably be obliged to decline, having many children and a slender fortune—will receive from Parliament the usual pension for three lives, and will succeed Sir W. Mansfield as Commander-in-Chief in India. He is the first engineer, indeed the first scientifically trained officer, ever appointed to independent command, and his success is considered at the Horse Guards almost a calamity. Imagine a man who has studied mathematics, and is unconnected with any great family, being acknowledged in the British army as a great General! We shall have commands distributed according to capacity next, and then where will the British Constitution be? The Horse Guards, however, does not venture to resist the nation openly, and accordingly Sir R. Napier, who has conquered a kingdom, has been with marvelous promptitude gazetted to the G. C. B.-ship which he ought to have had, and would have had, if he had been uneducated, after his China campaign.

A GENIUS IN A SCRAPE.—An ingenious lunatic in San Francisco lately invented a self-propelling vessel. It was a combination of three boats, hitched together tandem, and the theory was that as the leading and hindmost boats each descended a wave, their impetus would draw and push forward the middle one out of the trough; the latter, in turn, pushing its leader up the next wave, and so on. At a cost of $8,000 or $9,000 a working model was constructed of this odd variation of the old idea of a man lifting himself up in a basket; and an experimental trip was undertaken. The thing was turned loose, with the inventor and two or three confiding companions on board; it drifted down the harbour with the tide, and met the waves outside which were to demonstrate the success of the invention. Five minutes had sufficed to show the party the utter absurdity of the plan; five minutes more placed the establishment keel upward, and the adventurers contrived to get into a small boat, and were returned to the city, sadder, wetter, and something wiser than when they started. A tug offered to take the self-propeller back to port for $500, but the inventor had fooled too much money away on it already, and declined the offer. At last accounts, the queer establishment was drifting Sandwich Island-ward, and we shall next hear of it, probably doing duty in the exciting narrative of some shipmaster as the latest and most indisputable specimen of the sea-serpent.

DRUNKEN BOYS ON THE RAMPAGE.—Three young men, returning from a duck shooting expedition in the town of Greece, N. Y., committed a series of outrages upon unoffending persons whom they met on the way, which should subject them to severe punishment. The Rochester Union thus describes their doings: While returning in a waggon along the Ridge road, and when opposite the residence of Mr Budd, they saw some little boys playing in the yard. Culross took up a gun and aimed at the boys when about three rods distant from them. The gun missed fire, and the young man who held it stooped down in the waggon either to put a cap on or to take up another gun. Meanwhile the team moved on, and when about eight rods distant, Culross fired. One of the shot penetrated an eye of a little son of Mr Budd, only 10 years of age, and destroyed the sight. The lad is in a critical condition, as inflammation has followed. These fellows did not stop to see what mischief they had done, but drove on a little way, and, seeing a boy standing behind a gate, they gave him notice that they would shoot him, and fired. Fortunately the gate post behind which the lad concealed himself took the charge of shot. Passing on still further, these fellows met two little girls in the highway and called to them to stop, saying they intended to shoot them, but they scampered away and got out of danger. These young fellows soon after met a man in the highway, of whom they demanded money, and toward whom they used insulting and indecent language. When they got to Hanford's Landing they were arrested, fortunately for themselves and for those whom they might have met upon the highway.

The Catholic World says, in its number for June:

"There is no doubt that there is quite a party in the Episcopal Church which upholds the practice of auricular confession, and seeks to extend it. There are ministers of that communion who are anxious to set up the confessional, and disposed to teach its necessity. In the city of New York it is well known that the clergy of St. Albans are solicitous to hear confessions, and love to be styled 'Fathers,' on account of their spiritual relation to their penitents. The Rev. Dr. Dix, the respected rector of Trinity Church, the oldest and most influential corporation of his denomination, is said to have quite a number of penitents, and to be the most popular confessor, especially among the higher class. We presume he makes no secret of his practice, while his position as the spiritual director of the 'Sisters of St. Mary' is notorious." And it adds, further on:—"How many of the bishops favour auricular confession does not appear. So far as we have heard, no one has openly recommended it; but the Right Reverend Dr. Potter, of New York, has allowed a manual to be dedicated to him, in which the practice is strongly urged, and devotions for its use are extracted from Catholic prayer books. While he has rebuked the Rev. Mr Tyng for preaching in a Methodist church, he goes openly to St. Albans, and, to say the least, gives sanction to ritualistic performances. We have a right, then, to conclude that he favours the confessional, and is willing to see it set up in the churches which he superintends."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL.

DR. DE JONGH'S Oil is convincingly proved by an overwhelming weight of medical testimony, and by the practical test of successful experience for twenty years in all parts of the world, to be, beyond all question, the purest, the most efficacious, the most palatable, and, from its rapid curative effects, the most economical of all kinds.

Hence the universal celebrity of Dr. de Jongh's Oil, and the unparalleled demand for this universal preparation.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR HENRY MARSH, BART., M.D.,
Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil. I consider it to be a very pure oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

DR. EDWARD SMITH, F.R.S.,
Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light-Brown Oil supplied by Dr. de Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst a much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness."—(Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

DR. LANKESTER, F.R.S.,
Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this oil is secured in its preparation, by the personal attention of so good a chemist and intelligent a physician as Dr. de Jongh, who has also written the best medical treatise on the oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

DR. LETHEBY,
Medical Officer of Health, and Chief Analyst to the City of London.

"In all cases I have found Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil possessing the same set of properties, among which the presence of cholaic compounds, and of iodine in a state of organic combination, are the most remarkable. It is, I believe, universally acknowledged that this oil has great therapeutic power; and from my investigations, I have no doubt of its being a pure and unadulterated article."

DR. BARLOW, F.R.S.,
Senior Physician to Guy's Hospital.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. de Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it to be a very pure oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use of that substance is indicated."

DR. GRANVILLE, F.R.S.,
Author of the "Spas of Germany."

"Dr. Granville has found that Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil produces the desired effect in a shorter time than other kinds, and that it does not cause the nausea and indigestion too often consequent on the administration of the pale oil."

EDWIN CANTON, ESQ., F.R.C.S.,
Surgeon to Charing-cross Hospital.

"For several years past I have been in the habit of prescribing Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil, and find it to be much more efficacious than other varieties of the same medicine which I have also employed with a view to test their relative superiority."

NEW STYLES OF TYPE HAVE been added to the DAILY NEWS JOB PRINTING OFFICE. Our two Steam Presses and Automatic Platen Printing Machinery enable us to turn out work in good style, with quick despatch, and at cheap rates. Inquiry solicited.

ARRIVAL OF THE CHINESE EMBASSY.

For the first time in the history of the Celestial Empire it has deigned to send its representatives to treat with foreigners. The Embassy arrived in New York by the steamer Arizona, of the Pacific Mail line, from California. The party were met at Quarantine by a revenue cutter under the direction of the Custom House officers, Mr Burlingame and his secretaries were received and landed at the foot of Nineteenth street, North river, whence they were conveyed in carriages to their hotel. The steamboat dock and pier were crowded from an early hour with spectators and those waiting to receive expectant friends, and as the steamer approached her decks were alive with handkerchiefs gave evidence of their enthusiasm. The party arrived at the Westminster Hotel. The Embassy is composed as follows: His Excellency Anson Burlingame, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, and His Excellencies Che-Tanjin and Swun-Kelo, Minister of the second rank; John Bowlby, Esq., first Secretary of Embassy; Emile de Champs, Esq., Secretary; together with Messrs Kevei, Tsian, and Ting, and their secretaries, Messrs. Yang and Kang, and seventeen servants. The party, a company of thirty-one days' passage from Shanghai, and twenty days from Yokohama. It is said that the Japanese Government is also to send its representatives to the United States, and that its ministers will be able to treat with these Powers in their own languages, without the aid of interpreters, the employment of English or American Ambassadors. The former visits of Embassies to this country created such a furore in literature, that many of the nation have been and are now studying the English language. Several of those who saw the sun now with the Chinese Embassy can also write and speak the English language fluently. [N. Y. Sun.

DUELLING IN PARIS.—A strange fight took place in Paris. Everybody has been in the French capital knows that around the old barriers of that city cluster numerous groups of various kinds of eating and drinking houses. At the Barrière of Fontainebleau, so-called because it was the portal by which the traveller for Fontainebleau quitted the capital, a party of men entered a low drinking shop and ordered wine. They were served, when they entered it. The wine mounted their spirits to a still higher pitch, and by the time each one of them had two in his waistcoat, they began to sing at the top of their voices. Their merriment was at its height, when three men entered the room in which hitherto had been alone, and in a hoarse, strong voice of the lower classes of Paris, the roughs said to the blind man, "Old glass eye, are you going soon to quit squatting?" The blind men stopped singing, and one of them said: "Who is the fool who would make us silent?" The roughs answered: "Put on your spectacles, old horse, and you will see." His friends delighted with the reply, laughed, and continued to ridicule the blind, each jest being greeted with peals of laughter. The blind men's anger became great. They rose. One of them felt his hand and took the lamp from the side of the wall which lighted the room. He extinguished it, and then exclaimed, "Now we are equal. Joseph, tyle the door so that no one goes out." Joseph put his stalwart back against the door, and his companions seized the roughs by the throat. The blind men laid about them with their canes, and knocked them against the tables, the floor, and kicked them with the terrible uproar brought the master of the shop, who, finding himself unable to force open the door, went for assistance. At last when entrance was gained, the room was found in a state of wreck. Tables and chairs were thrown over one another; bottles broken in a hundred fragments were scattered everywhere; the roughs, completely cowed and bruised, were crouching in corners, while the blind men were greatly elated with their victory.

DRUNKENNESS BY CALIFORNIAN CHINAMEN.—This morning a Chinaman was seen lying along Bryant street, near Fourth, apparently drunk, when some boys came out, turned him over, and shouts and yells attracted the attention of the man with the star. The savage brute, who, having nothing else at hand with which to defend himself, took off his boot and hurled it at the dog's face. This did not stop the dog, but he turned to the brute, still yelling and barking, and seized him by the legs and pulled him down. The boys, seizing the opportunity, pulled him down, and, as he rose, his pants fell off, and he turned to run, but he could, but the dog, seizing the skirts of his brutal masters pants, again pulled him down. The Chinaman succeeded in keeping the dog off by his threats, but his hands were badly, and his clothing torn to shreds. Four or five times the man down, and a large crowd gathered to aid of whom did not stand by to see the poor fellow, who was so badly frightened, he could not run. The noise attracted the attention of gentlemen working on Kimball's carriage factory, near the place, and they hastened down from the factory and drove the dog and his coward master away. He obtained the names of those who were foremost in the outrage, and, with the Chinaman with his bag, to the City Hall, where warrants were issued for the arrest of the parties. Thus the list of cruel and cowardly assaults on these people swells daily. Only last week Mr Walton, a Chinaman, was attacked by a burly ruffian, who, when a burly ruffian, who, when a stone and hurled it at his head, knocking him down, put his hand up and the blood streaming from the skin and flesh. Many such cases have been made known, this escaping the attention of the police; but they are almost many similar cases of outrage, to the disgrace of our city, increases, to the disgrace of our city. It has been suggested that a man who happens to be a foreigner of such unprovoked and brutal
