FEARFUL DISASTER ON LAKE ERIE.

Portland, June 21.—The sidewheel propeller Morning Star, of 1000 tons burthen, built by Captain Edward Vager, left here for Detroit, at eight o'clock on Friday evening, having on board forty cabin, a crew of thirty, and 200 tons pig and bar iron, with light freight.

About eleven o'clock last night, when twenty miles from this port, and some miles from shore, she collided with the Corsican, bound for Cleveland, iron ore, and having on board a crew and persons.

The night was dark and the weather foggy, was dark and the weather a northeast wind blowing and a heavy sea running. The Morning Star was about forty feet from the stern, with that both vessels sunk in five minutes.

Boats of the steamer and a portion of the upper works floated off. Many of the passengers clung to the floating pieces, were picked up by the boats. In this way the passengers and crew sustained themselves through the night.

About 3 and 4 o'clock this morning Capt. R. N. Rice, running in the Erie, and on alternate nights with the Morning Star, came along, bound for Detroit. She saw the boats and immediately gave assistance, bringing the saved here.

Captains remained through the night as near the vicinity of the wreck as possible. In the morning were scattered several miles, but one is still unaccounted for. The wind has been blowing a gale, and nothing has been heard from it.

The masts were down in 60 feet of water, their masts being covered.

One of the crew of the barque was injured by the collision, but no one was killed.

The loss of life is estimated at from 20 to 30. All the officers of the steamer were saved. Mr. James Morton, the clerk, lost his life endeavouring to save Mrs. Clark, wife of Captain Hackett, of Detroit, both of whom were passengers.

Among the lost are Miss Carrie Patchin and Miss Emma Patchin, daughters of William V. Patchin, formerly residents of Troy, and now of Troy, N. Y. They had been in Cleveland to attend the wedding of Miss Julia Tiffany, and were en route for home, on the fatal night. Captain Vager remembers assisting them a stateroom in the upper cabin, but though that part of the steamer broke off, all those who were stopping in it were picked up by the R. N. Rice, and the Misses Patchin are not among those missed. No other Buffalonians are known to have been on board.

SAVED FROM THE BARQUE.

The following were saved from the barque Corsican:—Capt Lawton, Geo C. Hogan, Thos Anderson, M. Frederick, Wm. Smith, James Hanson, Andrew Brough, Christopher, J. Thompson, J. Lenyon, J. Smith—Eleven in all.

SAVED FROM THE MORNING STAR.

The following officers and crew were saved from the steamer, and are now here:—Edgar Vager, J. Havelick, second engineer, Wm. Russell, Thos Flanagan, L. Bang, Wm. Smith, J. Stevens, John Saxton, P. Smith, J. Burns, P Barrett, John Conant, Thos. Tindall, J. Distin, A Curry, H. Gragg, Wm. Wilkins, second mate, D McLaugh, Wm. Brooke, D McLaughlin, wheelsman, Thos. Dempsey. Twenty-one in all.

PASSENGERS SAVED.

Mrs Ellen Chittenden, Chicago; Mrs Burke, Cleveland; Capt Hackett, Mich; S H Gurley, Marietta; W Downey, Detroit; J Pouillet, Detroit; P Pomeroy, Chicago; Capt Blanchard; V Hongesky, Rochester, N Y; S A Thorp, New York; H Smith, New York; J Donavan, Chicago; C J Newman, Washington, D C; Mr Parsons; Capt Harbottle, Hamilton, Canada—13.

Several of the crew of the steamer, whose names are not known, were saved.

MISSING.

The following are known to be missing:—Mrs Hackett, Detroit; James Morton, clerk Morning Star; Major Hutchings; Miss E Patchin, Troy, N Y; Miss M Patchin, Troy, N Y; Albert Iddings, Cleveland; Mrs Wamick, Cleveland; Mrs Parker and child, Marietta, O; Capt Ballentine and wife, Detroit.

One of the boats of the Morning Star is still out, and may contain other survivors.

"The Homœopathic Society" is the title adopted by a new charitable organization in Boston. They have an annual in Portland, Me., the largest sweet potato ever raised on the Island of Cuba. The mammoth weighs 40 lbs., is 24 inches long, 9 inches in diameter, and 29 in circumference.

A little boy, aged eight years, was killed lately at Blaydon, Westmoreland, in a somewhat remarkable manner. He ran near the railway in order to see a goods train pass, when, there being a very high wind at the time, he was struck across the back of the train, and killed. The verdict was one of accidental death.

A new steam whistle of a foundry in Oswego has a rope attached to the valve which passes outside the building. The tension on the rope is just sufficient to keep it straight. The moment the rain came down, wet this rope, it is sufficiently to open the valve, and the whistle commenced blowing at midnight and blew without ceasing until two o'clock in the morning.

Society as far back as 1825, insured her life for the benefit of her relatives. She died a few months ago; but on coming to look at her age, as given by herself at the time of effecting the insurance, with the certificate of births required by the office, to be obtained after death, in the parish register, it was found that, though the lady was in reality forty-two years old in 1825, she only owned to thirty, and paid premiums on that scale for forty-two years. The office, had it been so minded, might have declared the policy forfeited. It took a more generous course; the policy was admitted as a claim, but from the amount that would have come to the legatees, if all had been paid, was deducted the difference of premium between thirty and forty-two, for forty-two years, from the period that each premium became due, was deducted. The legatees thus received not more than half the assured amount stated on the policy.

When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs incident to our climate.

Who is Mrs. Winslow?

As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who, for upwards of thirty years, has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her, especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—try it now.—Ladies' Union, New York City.

Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
