On the 7th ult, G. F. Train was announced to deliver a lecture in the Concert Hall, Boston. When the lecturer appeared he was met with a storm of hissing and hooting, and he was only too glad to retire.

An eye-witness gives the following account of Prince Napoleon's visit to the artillery at Vienna. When he arrived at the Arsenal the Colonel in command ordered a target to be shot with the Wenzl musket at a distance of 800 paces distant. The two shots were forty-three balls in one minute and hit the mark every time. The Prince and the officers of his suite were extremely astonished at this result; he had asked if the Austrian breechloader could do the same a minute, and he saw himself that it did three times as much.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF COMMON SCHOOL TRUSTEES TO THE CITIZENS, TO THE 31st MARCH, 1868.

The total number of pupils on the rolls of the schools in 1867 was 2,327; boys 1,189; girls 1,138. Total aggregate daily attendance first half year 169,228; do. second half year 158,641. Average attendance first half year, 1,343; do. second half year 1,286. The schools were kept open full time during the year. This shows a slight diminution in the number of pupils on the rolls from the previous year, but a considerable increase in the average attendance of the pupils, a proof of the efficiency of the schools, and their appreciation by the pupils and their parents.

The number of teachers employed by the Board in 1867 was 27, seven of whom were male, and twenty female teachers. Two of the junior male teachers left the service of the Board since last report, who e places have since been fil ed up, the one by an experienced female teacher, long in the employment of the Board, and the other by a very promising male teacher. The head female teacher in Wellington street school resigned her situation at the close of 1867, as did also the head female teacher of Queen street school, the latter in consequence of ill health. The Board advertised for a properly qualified teacher to fill the vacancy in Wellington street school, and engaged a head female teacher, who maintains the status which this school in all its departments has hitherto held. The vacancy in Queen street school has been temporarily filled from the staff of the school.

The amount paid for salaries by the Board in 1867 was somewhat less than the previous year, the high st salary paid to a male teacher being $600, the lowest $225. The highest salary paid to female teachers was, however, only $300, while the lowest was $80, the former being $60 less than the highest salaries to females paid in former years. The average salary for teachers has not differed materially from last year, being about $350 per annum for male, and $150 per annum for female teachers.

The Board throughout the year has pursued as usual a policy of strict economy in its expenditure, so far as consistent with the interests of the schools and the maintainance of their efficiency. Bearing steadily in view the completion of the important work which has been an object of the first importance to them for some years, namely, to secure comfortable, convenient, and well ventilated school houses without which it was impossible to hope for good schools and efficient teachers, the Board, towards the close of 1867, purchased a large and conveniently situated lot, on Rideau street, on very favourable terms, and gave out the contract for the erection of a school house, much required in that locality. The saving of rent now paid for Princess street school will more than pay the interest on the capital thus invested, while a school house is secured the increasing population of the neighbourhood

The financial position of the Board is still further improved since last report, by the payment of the last of the three debentures for $1,000 each, issued with the consent of the City Council, for the building of Queen street school house.

The following memorandum of the Assets and Liabilities of the Board on the 31st December last, shows its finances to be in a most satisfactory condition, and enables the Board to assure the citizens that now their buildings being almost completed, the expenses thereof will no longer burden their budget, and the school tax will be considerably reduced, while the Protestant children of the city will receive a sterling education, the best gift which their parents can bestow upon them, and under circumstances equal if not superior, to those afforded by any Common Schools in the Province.

Being $2,843 more than last year, by increase of assets and decrease of liabilities, and showing a clear surplus of $23,003, a position comparatively which it is no vain boast to say is not surfor Cataraqui Ward, capable of accommodating passed by that of any Board of Common Schools in the Dominion.

The Common School Library, which lends its books free to all Common School Taxpayers, and their children, increases in popularity and usefulness yearly. On the 31st December last the number of books on the shelves of the Library was 2,338, while the number lent out amounted to about 400, making together 2,728 volumes, all well selected, interesting and instructive reading. As an adjunct to the Common Schools, the value of the Library cannot be over-estimated; indeed it is a school itself, where the young people learn to appreciate the instruction which they have received, and the enjoyment as well as advantages which are laid open to them, through the inestimable boon of education.

THE IMPROVED CHARCOAL PIPE.
The Beau Ideal of the Smoker.
THE CHARCOAL PIPE is composed of no other ingredient than Pure Carbon in the form of Charcoal, and is manufactured in such a form and manner as—while imparting all the requisite hardness, strength, and durability—to preserve its remarkably porous and absorbent quality. It is also calculated, by its great absorption of heat in the bowl of the pipe, to cool the smoke effectually. Tobacco of a coarse and harsh description may be used with impunity; and no waste of the Weed will be experienced, as the charge may be smoked till completely consumed.
These Pipes require no inflated statements to recommend them, and need only be tried once in order to establish to the satisfaction of every smoker their great superiority over all others.
When purchasing be sure they bear the stamp, Pat'd. Feby. 12th, 1868.
