GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN.

Leave was given in the Court of Queen's Bench at Dublin on Tuesday in the case of G. F. Train, when Judge Miller stated the history of the transaction with the Vale Iron Company. The Company was only as to the sufficiency of the security, of the alleged settlement made with Mr W. Henry there was none. Mr Miller said a particle of evidence was returned in the shape of debts, doubtful, or bad. Having regard to the fact that the admitted debt to the Company was due since 1861, and Mr Train's Australian property, amounting to £18,000, and his American property, £30,000, were alleged to be his wife without any real information given, he must adjourn the case. Mr Train finished a long altercation with the judge by a protest against the proceedings leading to end. I protest, in the name of the American Government, against your lordship stated that there is no appeal from your decision in law, but I appeal to the army and navy of the United States of America, and yet have the power to remove from the bench. There has been no trial from the commencement." Amid repeated bursts of applause from the crowded gallery whilst Train was uttering this "protest," and a mob accompanying him from the court as he went, first to the Marshalsea Prison, and finally. The police ultimately dispersed.

VISIT OF THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH IN ENGLAND.

Her Majesty's screw frigate Galatea, with His Royal Highness Ernest, Duke of Saxe, K.G., K.T., arrived at Spithead on 8th June, about half-past 12 off Sydney. The arrival of the royal party days earlier than had been expected, and her guns as she saluted the flag of the Admiral commanding caused a little excitement ashore. The Galatea looked brightly, Com. G. Allen, commanding the frigate by Admiral Sir Alex. Milne, with despatches and letters, and was at once directed to place his vessel under the orders of the Captain of the Victoria. The Portsmouth authorities were less prompt, the Mayor and Town Clerk were in London, but the ex-Mayor, who happened at the time after the arrival, was young over a meeting of the Town Council of Portsmouth, which was held in a hall, where a brief and hearty congratulation to the Duke of Edinburgh on his recovery and marriage was proposed, seconded, and carried with the greatest enthusiasm. The Duke landed at the new landing place in Portsmouth in undress uniform, to celebrate the arrival of his ship. Among the first at the head of the steps were ladies and gentlemen, who had met the most profound bow. The Duke glanced along the lines and returned their salutations apparently with a feeling of pleasure that he suddenly recognized Mr Anderson, the conductor of Her Majesty's private band, and, shook him by the hand most heartily. The Duke looked robust, and seemed to have recovered from the effects of his late illness. He also appears somewhat taller than when he left England. The Duke was afterwards engaged at the office of the Port Admiral, the reception of the corporate body of Portsmouth, who were in full official costume, with the utmost decorum, and craved an audience of His Royal Highness, to present them with a loyal and dutiful address of congratulation, &c. This was begun by the Duke at an early hour in the morning. But the application was acceded to, and the members were ushered into Lady Pasley's drawing-room, where they were introduced for the purpose, after which Mr Alderman Hellard read an address to the Corporation. The Duke in reply, briefly and in grace, thanked the Corporation, and assured them that he should take an early opportunity of acquainting Her Majesty with the expressions of personal feelings towards himself, and of attachment and loyalty to the Queen contained in the address. The members then retired, and the Duke was received by the Equerry, the Hon. Mr Yorke, and the ship's clerk, quietly at the military office entrance, crossed the lodge gates, and, in his gig, was pulled to Gilkicker. Between 4 and 5 p.m. he again disembarked "on shore" and landed at the Southsea Pier, where he was received by a considerable number of ladies and gentlemen, and greeted with enthusiastic cheers on his welcome. His Royal Highness left London and Windsor. The Galatea sailed from Sydney on the 9th April last, and has run the distance of 12,000 miles in 22 days. Light winds have prevailed throughout the voyage, but a good passage has been made by the vessel, having been used only on Sunday during the entire voyage. The Galatea sighted at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, and 11 a.m. yesterday the Needles between Hurst and Isle of Wight were passed through. On Friday, 8 30 p.m.—In the morning a telegraphic message was forwarded to Her Majesty the Queen announcing the safe arrival of his Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh in the Galatea, off Hurst Castle. The Prince's return to England is very soon spread among the people of the Royal borough, who decorated their houses, and by 4 in the afternoon the High street, streets, and other principal streets were a mass of bunting. As night fell, were ornamented till late in the afternoon for the Duke might be expected, and the different trains on the Brighton and London and South-Western lines were anxiously watched by crowds.

(By Telegraph.)

The Duke of Edinburgh has left Hurst Castle. There was an immense crowd at the Great Western station. The Duke's carriage to the Pavilion, and Church bells pealed merrily.

Who is Mrs. Winslow?

As this question frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who, for upwards of thirty years, has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do RISE UP and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No MOTHER has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it mothers—TRY IT NOW.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City.

Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

RAPPE, WEBER, & Co.

MANUFACTURERS OF

GRAND OVERSTRUNG SQUARE

PIANOS,

Corner of King & Princess Streets

KINGSTON, ONTARIO.

RAPPE, WEBER, & Co. announce to the Public that they are now in possession of facilities for manufacturing Pianos unsurpassed, if equalled, by any in the Dominion.

The members of the Firm are Practical Piano Makers, and are anxious to establish their success in manufacturing enterprise on careful workmanship rather than by mere speculation. They are able skilfully to superintend every department, and are prepared to guarantee every instrument they sell.

For strength of manufacture and materials, beauty of finish, and durability and excellence of tone, they challenge the Dominion to produce superior Instruments; and while they claim for their work every excellence that can be expected from skilful and enterprising workmen, they beg to announce that their resources are sufficiently ample to enable them to compete in prices with any speculator in Pianos.

The Subscribers keep no Travelling Agents. All orders addressed to the Subscribers, or sent through any respectable Music Dealer, will receive attention. Orders through mail will be attended to as if selected in person.
