TINY QUEEN TO REIGN OVER 16TH ANNUAL KIWANIS KIDS' DAY PEANUT SALE

A diminutive seven year old charmer with a sunny smile and a personality to match won the hearts of keen-eyed judges in the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel Saturday, August 20 to win the crown of "Kiwanis Little Miss Peanut" for 1966.

Claudia Gray, 301 Circle, Island Lake, Ill., was selected from seven finalists who had won local and divisional Little Miss Peanut contests sponsored by Chicago-land Kiwanis Clubs. She was sponsored by the McHenry, Illinois Club.

Claudia will reign as Queen over a series of events during the coming month, culminating in the 16th Annual Kiwanis Kids' Day Peanut Sale, September 23. She will receive more than a thousand dollars in prizes.

The six other finalists in the Little Miss Peanut Contest will serve as the queen's royal court, assisting her in a round of public appearances over the next four weeks.

John Naser, manager of the Chicago office of the Veterans Administration and Chairman of the 1966 Kiwanis Kids' Day Peanut Sale, noted that the money raised during the sale is retained by the club that collects it for youth programs in its own community.

"Nearly 300,000 boys and girls, five to eighteen years old, in Illinois, Northern Indiana, Eastern Iowa and Southern Wisconsin-- especially the handicapped and underprivileged-- have benefited from this program since it started in 1950," Naser said.
