

BREAK FAITH WITH YOUR FELLOWMAN, AND YOU'LL NEVER BREAK EVEN

and having faith that He will give me the wisdom and strength I need to fulfill the wishes of our founders and to keep our democracy alive and working.

As a student I have other roles in keeping our democracy alive and working. It is important that the student body, as well as the representatives, take active part in the Student Council, which acts as a democratic government in school. By participating in mock elections held at school, I can learn more about what's happening in Washington, what our representatives in our country are striving to achieve. Furthermore, if I keep abreast on the news with the vast sources of newspapers, television, and radio, I find myself being more interested and concerned with the affairs of my country.

My generation is in its youth; therefore, we are fortunate that our bodies are strong. We can take active part in keeping America strong and free by defending her to the best of our abilities in the armed forces. People are always watching other people for actions and words; thereby, we can have a bright testimony that will show others around the world about America, our free country of democracy.

While sitting in class, I often gaze through the window thinking about the beauty and strength that waves in our flag, through the open blue sky. I think of the patriots who longed for
