MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 11, 1850.

Harper's Magazine for November—No. VI. Armour & Ramsay, Kingston—three dollars per annum.

This number completes the year's volume of the new popular American periodical, which, in spite of its numerous faults, has attained a reputation and circulation hitherto unequalled on this continent. It is confidently asserted that 50,000 copies are distributed every month; a supply not found equal to the demand. The present number is an average one; many of the articles are new, being advance publications in America of English writings not yet published. Among the many "contents," the following we recommend to the attention of the reader:—

"The State of the World before Adam's time."
"The Salt Mines of Europe."
"The Iron Ring."—A German Tale.
"A True Ghost Story"
"Sketches of Life."—By a Radical.

Were the publishers of Harper's Magazine to take the hint we gave them some time ago—that of reducing the number of their articles, making those they retained longer, and therefore more interesting, and entirely omitting the selections from "Household Words," which every one reads; the original, or in the Daily Press—they would make their periodical fully deserving of the success it has met with. At present it is too much cut up into morsels to please our fastidiousness.

The most interesting item of intelligence is the report of a trial for murder, arising out of the Orange procession of the 12th of July last at Caledonia. The murdered man was named James Cambell, and the accused were Mich. Dougherty and John and Denis O'Rourke.—The facts of this case were few. On the 12th of July, after the conclusion of the ceremonies of the day, the orangemen who had taken part in the procession dispersed in order to proceed to their homes. One party of them, amounting to six or seven persons, were thus walking in company, keeping together in case of attack, and being armed with a sword, two pistols and a gun. When they came to a certain concession road they had, it appears, to pass a number of houses inhabited by Catholics; but there was no evidence to show that on that occasion they committed any act calculated to insult their neighbors, unless it were the playing of party tunes and discharging of guns in a previous part of the day.—When they had passed this place a short distance, a witness named Howitt, who appears to have been a mere passer, spoke to them, and told them the Catholics were coming, numbering ten to their one. Shortly after the Catholics did come up, as one of the witnesses swore, to the number of forty-seven. They immediately commenced an attack, and Jas. Campbell, the deceased, having been struck down, was beaten about the head with cudgels and died three days after. The evidence to connect the prisoners with these proceedings, as far as the O'Rourkes were concerned, seems to have been wanting altogether. That against Dougherty, was that he had been seen acting as the leader of the Catholic party by two witnesses, and beating the deceased by a third, who, however, was at some distance from the two men. To this it was attempted to add the declaration of the deceased himself, upon his death bed; but this last testimony seems to have been rejected by the court, on the ground that the dying man's knowledge of his condition was not sufficiently made out.—The defence on the other hand brought up a number of witnesses to prove that Dougherty was so drunk a short time before the fight that it was impossible for him to take an active part in it, and that in fact he was lying incapable of motion on the floor of his own house. Similar evidence was adduced in the case of the O'Rourkes. It was sufficiently shown, however, that both parties—Orangemen and Catholics—had made complete provision for some murderous work of the kind. A son of the principal prisoner, proved that his father had laid a deliberate plan to stop the orangemen; that he had made him clean a gun, which it appeared from another witness had been borrowed for the occasion; that he provided powder and shot; and that he sent him (the witness) round on horseback to call all his neighbors to turn out, and bring as many arms as they could; another son being despatched on the same errand in another direction. This person stated the number assembled at seventy-five. They acquitted all the prisoners.—Hamilton paper.

CANADIAN NEWSPAPERS.—The Provincial Industrial Exhibition Committee propose sending to the London Exhibition a copy of each Journal published in this Province, if agreeable to the members of the Fourth Estate. We have no doubt that all publishers of newspapers will acquiesce, and in compliance with the request of the Committee, that they will not fail to send a copy of their first number published in January, 1851. The idea is, in our opinion, a good one, as the various matter contained in a newspaper, perhaps, give a better idea of the true state of a place than any description that could be published.

THE HARBOUR.—At the Town Council on Monday several members expressed their dissatisfaction at the manner in which the dredging of the Harbour is going on. It appears, from what we could gather that a contract had been entered into with the parties owning the dredge to remove all the sand and mud &c. from the Harbour, at a fixed price per cubic yard; that they were to set one machine to work this fall, and two next season.—A machine was set to work accordingly and a large quantity of sand removed, but unfortunately it was from that part of the Harbour where its removal is of the least comparative advantage at present, the bar at the entrance being as yet we may say untouched. That dredge however, being a powerful one, was doing its work well, and would have cleared out a large space before winter had it been left, but some time ago the owners removed it to Port Hope, and sent one to replace it which does not work so well. Those dredges, being worked by horses, can do nothing when there is the least swell on the lake, and consequently except in a perfect calm, can do nothing on the bar, which is outside the piers. Now it is all important that the bar be removed, and a Steam dredge is the only kind fitted to remove it. We are aware that several of the Councillors have been from the first of opinion that a Steam dredge ought to be built at the cost of the Town, which, when the Harbour is completed could be sold, or chartered to other parties requiring one, and that the money expended in labour would thereby be retained amongst the townspeople, and not as now given to strangers to take away. We are satisfied that this is the only plan, and also that before long the whole Council will be of the same opinion, at least for the good of the Town, we sincerely hope so.—Coburg Star.

THE PUBLIC WELLS.—It will be seen from report of the proceedings of the Town Council on Monday last, that the construction of the Wells for supplying the Fire Department with Water, has been postponed until next spring, the contractor, Mr. Tunney, having been unable to procure brick, although he sought them even as far as Port Hope. The several brickmakers in this vicinity cannot supply the demand, and the season is now too far advanced to make more, and thus the town has to run the risk of fires without a supply of water for another winter. Providence, however, we trust will protect us as heretofore, but every caution should be observed, and the utmost care taken in the setting up of stoves and stovepipes, cleaning flues, seeing that ashes are deposited in such places as will ensure safety, as very many fires arise from their being thrown out carelessly. It is to be regretted that the Wells could not have been sunk this fall, as the springs are now very low, which would tend greatly to the securing a good supply of water, but otherwise, we believe they can be better done in the spring. Of one thing at least we can assure our friends in Town, namely, that the Council, now that they have determined on procuring a supply of water, are in earnest about it, and that at the earliest possible time the work will be commenced.—Coburg Star.

THE LONG SAULT RAPIDS.—We find, in a Cornwall paper, a certificate signed by Captain Maxwell of the New Era and 18 others, certifying that they "passed through the North Cannal of the Long Sault, with the steamer Oldfield, towing two large tenders, lashed apart with timber, on which poles were suspended drawing ten feet water—covering a width of nearly forty feet. That there is every appearance of fifteen feet water throughout; and we believe this Channel to be as safe as any other rapid in the St. Lawrence." Upon this the Cornwall Freeholder remarks:—"Up to this time all lake vessels have been towed or sailed down to the entrance of the Cornwall canal, in the natural channel. It is proposed, as we are informed, to employ, during the coming season, two powerful tugboats to take those vessels direct from Kingston or Prescott to the Beauharnois canal; and so soon as the two or three obstacles which are known to exist at Prison Island, Split Rock, and Lachine Rapids, are removed, the same arrangement will enable a vessel to reach Montreal from Kingston in 24 hours; and return through the canal with increased facilities. This accomplished, and we have little to fear from the rivalry of canals, railroads, or any other mode of competion."

LONDON.—An English pen thus characterizes the greatness of London:—"Within a circumference, the radius of which does not exceed five miles, there are never fewer than a million and a half of human beings; and if the great bell of St. Paul's were swung to the full pitch of its tocsin sound, more ears would hear it then could hear the loudest roar of Etna and Vesuvius. If we take our station in the ball or upper gallery of that great edifice, the wide horizon, crowded as it is with men and their dwellings, forms a panorama of industry and of life more astonishing than could be gazed upon from any other point in the universe. It is alike the abode of intelligence and industry, the centre of trade and commerce, the resort of the learned and inquiring, the spot that has given birth to and where have flourished the greatest kings, statesmen, orators, divines, lawyers, warriors, poets, painters, and musicians, besides historians who have immortalized them. London is now not merely the largest city in the known world, but it exceeds in opulence, splendor, and luxury (perhaps in misery,) all that ever was recorded of any city. Indeed, it may be safely affirmed to be the largest congregated mass of human life, arts, science, wealth, power, and architectural splendor that exists, or, in almost all these particulars, that ever have existed, within the known annals of mankind. London is equal in extent to any three or four other European capitals united, and superior to thirty of the largest towns in the United Kingdom, if brought together. It would require sixty cities as large as Exeter, of 534 towns as large as Huntingdon, to make another metropolis; and it is computed that a population equal to that of Salisbury is added to London every three months."

A monster steamer, 400 feet in length, has been contracted for at Cincinnati, to run as a regular ten day packet between Louisville and New Orleans. She will cost $420,000, and will be the most splendid craft afloat at the west.

COPPER TO ENGLAND.—Yesterday the Minesota passed down the Welland Canal, with 300 tons of Copper Ore, from the Bruce Mines, on Lake Huron, for Swansea.—St. Catherines Journal.

On Monday morning at an early hour, a male infant, of a few hours old, was discovered lying on the ground, immediately behind a privy, in this town. The child was instantly, on its discovery, removed to a neighboring house, and died in a few moments. A Coroner's Inquest was holden before Dr. Raymond, and a jury sworn on the occasion; the result of which was, that a young woman, named Delia Potter, was arrested on the charge of maternity and exposure, and having confessed, has been kept under arrest. This is the first instance of this nature that has occurred in this vicinity, and of course has produced considerable excitement. We are precluded from giving the evidence in this case, as it might have a tendency to prejudice public opinion. Desertion, exposure, or infanticide, are crimes of such magnitude, that when they do occur it is desirable that conviction should ensue. The sagredness of human life must be protected by the laws society has thrown up for that purpose.—St. Catherines Journal.

MR. VARDEN'S DEFALCATION.—Mr. Varden, the defaulting accountant of the Indian Department has been dismissed. The amount of the defalcation is said to be £1,500. There is a rumor that Mr. Varden's friends have made up the amount. A previous defalcation in the same department still remains unadjusted; no effort so far as we are aware, having been made to obtain from the securities of Mr. Jarvis, the previous defaulter, the amount missing.

YORK ROADS.—The Road Company which purchased the York Roads, turns out to be moonshine. The name of Mr. Hoople of New York has been withdrawn from the concern. Thereupon, Mr. Jackes, the Warden of the County, has protested against the legality of the purchase by the fictitious Company.—Patriot.

TOO WHITE.—The Milwaukie Courier tells us that Frederika Bremer, the other day, in Wisconsin, was invited to sit near the fire where some other ladies were seated, replied, "No, no; you American ladies are very handsome, but you are too white. You sit down by a fire of your own making, and neglect the great fire which God has placed in the heavens, which would give you health and better color." Quite right.

"Apropos to the Lind lunacy," writes the London Correspondent of the Liverpool Albion, "it is said that Carlyle is about to bring out a Latter Day Pamphlet on it, as he regards it as the crowning proof of the futuitous cant and quackeries he has been denouncing, unexampled since the day the Roman monarch gave his horse gilt oats, and made him secretary of state, and portending a swift return to the universal abasement which preceded the degeneracy of the Lower Empire. However, it is quite a lark to see what a vulture the Stockholm goldfinch is proving to the English warbler. As long as her name is on the wing there's no use in any other bird uttering a note, for such notes will produce no cash, and well they know it. London is as destitute of vocal music at the present time as if a general quinsy had permanently made the acquaintence of the whole English operatic corps, if any of that awkward squad be still alive, which is a matter no one seems to care a farthing about, though some delirious individuals appear to believe that the public are very much concerned therein indeed."

SINGULAR OFFER, IF TRUE.—A lawyer, in extensive practice in Boston, has been offered $12,000 per year for two years, the payment guaranteed by security on real estate in New York, to go to California and exercise his talent in defending an association of burglars and thieves. The condition of the offer was that any money received by him for defending others, or for services rendered to others than members of the gang, should be credited to them as part payment of the salary. He peremptorily declined the offer.—Norwich Courier.

CORN IN INDIANA.—The Leport (In.) Whig says the farmers of Laporte co. are in ecstacies over their extraordinary good corn crop. It is considered the best that was ever raised in that part of the State, being superior to the crop of last year which was excellent. In addition to its being a better crop this year, there was a much larger number of acres planted.

STEAM DIRECT TO LIVERPOOL.—It is understood that two of the principal mercantile firms of Montreal have offered to take stock to the amount of near £40,000 in the projected line of steamships between this port and Liverpool

The duties collected at the port of Quebec from January 1st, 1850, to the 10th of October, amount to $281,163, while the amount during the same period last year, was $227,675, showing an increase of $53,428, or about 30 per cent., during the year.

If you transpose what ladies wear—VEIL,
'Twill plainly show what bad folks are—VILE.
Again if you transpose the same,

Transpose the letter yet once more,
What bad men do, you'll then explore—EVIL.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION

Has until within a few years been generally considered INCURABLE, although many medical men of the highest standing, among whom we might mention Laennec and his friend Bayle—both distinguished authors, admit that this much dreaded disease MAY BE CURED, even in its advanced stages, when the lungs are not completely disorganized. The remedy which we now offer, WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, not only emanates from a regular Physician, but has been well tested in all complaints for which it is recommended. A Physician in Maine says:—

"I have recommended the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry for diseases of the lungs, for two years past, and many bottles to my knowledge have been used by my patients, all with beneficial results. In two cases where it was thought confirmed Consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure."

From the Boston Daily Bee, March 28th, 1850.

"CURE YOUR COUGH.—Are you afflicted with this distressing annoyance, get rid of it. You have only to procure a bottle of Dr. Wistar's Wild Cherry Balsam to ensure this. It seldom fails when taken in season to effect a cure, and always relieves even the worst cases of diseased lungs.—Many physicians recommend it to their patients, and speak of it in the highest terms in letters to the proprietor, citing cases of cures where other means had failed."
