POLICE COURT, Wednesday.—A very interesting docket this morning. Margaret Cook, a good looking squaw, James Deacon, a stranger in the city, Patrick Fitzgerald and Martin Kelley, also two strangers to the court, were brought up for celebrating Her Majesty's Birth-Day beforehand, by a jovial drunk. The squaw and Deacon was let off and their companions in trouble were fined $2. Margaret Spooner, a crusty old vagrant, was committed, for about the hundredth time, for 30 days. Catharine Murphy, a very good match for Margaret, was fined $2, or in default, to be committed to gaol, for drunkenness and vagrancy.—Wm. Baker, was charged with being drunk by the Police, and with using abusive language by the Clerk of the Market. He alternately begs and gets drunk on the proceeds of his hat, and his abuse sometimes is intolerable. He was ordered to be sent to Belleville at his own request. Pass him round—he's an imposition on the public.

PROF. VELPANI.

Who is PROF. VELPANI? He was a man of obscure birth, but he has given the world a Remedy for bald heads and grey hairs, that will make his name immortal. Hair Restoratives are multiplying on every hand, but the great desideratum is to find an article that will accomplish the purpose for which it is designed without a thick, unpleasant and offensive sediment.

Prof. Velpani has discovered a method of dissolving the ingredients, and holding them in solution, so that there shall be no deposit, and yet without destroying the essential properties of any of the ingredients. It is pleasantly perfumed, may be used at any time, is a splendid hair dressing without oil, and absolutely prevents the hair from falling off or turning prematurely gray.
