A. H. HANLY & SONS have been putting in a new Twenty Horse Power Engine, which they propose to use to run the Feed Stone at their Mill, and also for the purpose of sawing wood, thrashing etc. Their water power has not been sufficient to do the flouring and seed grinding at their Mill, but with this additional power they will be able to accommodate their customers promptly at all times.

W. H. FORD, formerly of the Riverside House, in this village, has leased the Ralysa House, at Vinton, Iowa, and moved with his family to that place. During his residence in this village, Mr. Ford and his estimable lady made many warm friends who very much regret their decision to leave here. The citizens of Vinton will not only be sure of a good hotel while it is under the care of Mr. Ford, but will find his family a valuable addition to society in that place. Their many friends here wish them success in their new home.

P. CONWAY has leased the farm of Thos. Lumley, on Ringwood Prairie, for a term of five years, and will take possession of the same December 1st. This farm contains 335 acres and is one of the best farms in the county. As the farm is in part one of the most industrious and hard-working, young farmers in this section. He proposes to keep from thirty-five to fifty cows, and as he is sure to run things in a business like manner, and will attend to matters himself, he is bound to succeed, and will come out at the end of the five years with a handsome sum to his credit. Mr. Lumley is fortunate in being able to get so good a man to run his farm as P. Conway.

For the past week acts of lawlessness have been committed in our village that would disgrace the most hoodlums of the Five Points of New York. Street lamps have been broken, fences and gates torn down, pickets broken, and in one instance the cap to one of the posts on the iron fence belonging to Fred Schorrer was torn off and carried away. The board have taken this matter in hand, and have determined that the perpetrators, whether boys or men, shall receive the punishment such acts merit. A close watch will be kept and a liberal reward will be paid for evidence that will lead to the detection of the miscreants. A few months in the county jail might prove a good lesson.

BARNES & SMILEY is the name of a new law firm in Woodstock, C. F. Barnes and David F. Smiley being the principals. Mr. Barnes has the well earned reputation of standing at the head of his profession, and by strict attention to business, together with his bright legal talent, he has won for himself a place in the front ranks of the profession in this county, and a practice that any young man might well feel proud of. His partner Mr. Smiley, is well and favorably known in this part of the county, having formerly resided at Spring Grove. He has been reading law in the office of Mr. Barnes for the past year, and was admitted to the bar a short time since, passing at the head of his class. He is a young man of ambition and we predict will make a creditable mark in his chosen profession. The new firm is certainly a strong one and any one having legal business to transact can put it in no safer hands.

An Exchange contains the following which, in a good many cases is true to a letter. "If we ever get promoted from the editorial tripod to the legislature, we will sit up nights to secure the repeal of the law which compels a farmer to turn out in the fall and spoil the highway contiguous to his farm. The way roads are worked now it amounts to nothing more than a hindrance to travel. Tons of loose earth and dried chunks are piled up in the middle of a smooth road in the fall, and the rains and the early snow convert this deposit into an interminable mudhole. If a few more rag weeds were cut down each year along the highway and a little less dirt piled up promiscuously on a good road, the traveling public would not be slow in appreciating the change."

WOODSTOCK, ILL., Nov. 23rd, 1888.

J. VAN SLYKE, ESQ.

DEAR SIR:—As much dissatisfaction existed as to the cause of death in the case of John Winkels, it was thought best that the body be removed from its resting place and that a post mortem be held that the true cause of death might be determined. Acting on this an examination was held by Dr. Fegers, of McHenry, and Deputy Coroner Cook, of Woodstock, November 19th, 1888. As a result of which, it was demonstrated that he did not die, as was first thought, from the effects of liquor, but from failure of heart action as a result of fatty degeneration.

Geo. Augustus Sala, the well known English writer, on his last Australian trip wrote as follows to the London Daily Telegraph:

"I especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medic indeed, who tended me most kindly through a horrible attack of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down upon us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescriptions and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the tropics, and in particular, a couple of Allocock's Porous Plasters clipped—on—on—the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

The dry cold weather of the early winter months is productive of a great deal of croup among children. Mothers should be on the lookout for it, and be prepared to arrest it as soon as the first symptoms appear. True croup never comes without a warning; a day or two before the attack the child will appear hoarse, and that symptom is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as this cough or hoarseness appears, all danger and anxiety may be avoided; it has never failed, even in the most severe cases. There is no danger in giving the remedy for it contains no injurious substance. For sale by G. W. Besley.
